1 Iqaluit, Nunavut

2 --- The hearing starts on Tuesday, September 11th, 2018 at 3 8:16 a.m.

4 (OPENING REMARKS/PRAYER)

5 MS. LISA KOPERQUALUK: Nakurmiik. Thank 6 you. I'm teaching you. Thank you. Masicho. Miigwech.
7 Tiniki.

8 (Speaking Inuktitut). We are here in 9 Iqaluit. This is the second day of the Institutional and 10 Knowledge Keeper Hearing. My name is Lisa Koperqualuk. I 11 am a staff member in the research team of the National 12 Inquiry Into Missing and Murdered Indigenous Women and 13 Girls. Please be welcome.

14 I am going to present or introduce the kind 15 of work we are doing in Iqaluit now. First, in Inuktitut, 16 to explain this process of the hearings that is occurring 17 right now.

18 We are here in Iqaluit to -- for the 19 Commissioners to have the hearing here. Good morning.
20 And there are four of them.

21 When it started in 2016, the Inquiry on 22 Aboriginal missing women and murdered women, and after the 23 Inquiry has been known by the people, the mothers and 24 their grandparents have lost their -- or lost their loved 25 ones. A lot of them have lost their loved ones in Canada.

1 And they wanted the inquiries to be done because our loved
2 ones are just being murdered and missing. How come? Why 3 -- what's the reason? And that was the question that was 4 being raised for quite a long time.

5 Let's start it -- and the loved ones
6 started to -- wanted to be heard. "Listen to us. Let's 7 get some inquiries done. Let's get federal government to 8 do inquiry." And they didn't get an approval for longest 9 time, but they didn't give up for the inquiry to happen.
10 And there are still missing women for those reasons.

11 In 2016, the Inquiry started, and since 12 then the Commissioner -- the Commissioners that were 13 chosen from the Aboriginal, from the Métis, and ordinary 14 people represent -- that will be representing the women, 15 and this started in 2016. And they hired staff and all of 16 us, and -- because they wanted to start this Inquiry.

17 So 2017 to -- part of 2018, there were 18 inquiries in First Nations lands, Inuit lands. In 19 February, we were also in Rankin Inlet, and also down 20 south. We are going across Canada, from north and south, 21 British Columbia over to Newfoundland -- down to 22 Newfoundland. And they were also in Happy Valley, Goose 23 Bay, just to go and listen for those who have lost their 24 loved ones or murdered. And for those reasons, the people 25 talked about your loved ones being missing, and this is a

1 good place for the people who are missing your loved ones
2 to be heard right here. But, the Inquiry is continuing 3 with experts on the Commission, and also who are 4 representing the other organization and who have been -- 5 the people who have been representing Inuit for a long 6 time, and that's why we're here in Iqaluit, so that the 7 people who are listening will understand the process of 8 this Inquiry and the work of the Commission is continuing.

9 And, they also made a proposal or a 10 request to continue this Inquiry, so it's going to go up 11 to April, and we'll probably get a report at the end of 12 April or April. And, I wanted this to be understood, and 13 before we continue with our work today.

14 Today, I just introduced rapidly to 15 listeners in Iqaluit what the whole hearing process has 16 been before we begin our day today. So, we are into the 17 Institutional and Knowledge-Keeper hearings here in 18 Iqaluit as the Commissioners have finished the section on 19 the community hearings that occurred 2017 and into 2018.

20 Aujourd'hui, on dit merci à nos
21 commissaires qui sont ici à quatre et puis tout le monde, 22 bienvenue encore à la deuxième journée des audiences des 23 institutions et des porteurs de connaissances.

24 Alors, les commissaires avaient fait
25 leur travail dans les communautés, les audiences

1           communautaires, en 2017 et jusqu'à 2018 et on est
2           maintenant dans une section d'audience des institutions et 3           de porteurs de connaissances. Bienvenue, tout le monde.

4                           And, we also had a question period
5           yesterday, and we're going to proceed with that. So,
6           let's get on with our qulliq lighting, and we have Louise 7           Haulli from Igloolik who is lighting our qulliq this 8           morning.

9                           GRANDMOTHER LOUISE HAULLI: Thank you, 10          and I'm very pleased that we're able to get together on 11          this beautiful morning. It's a very good morning in my 12          dialect, and over here down in south Baffin Bay. It's a 13          beautiful morning, and we are going to proceed today on 14          this beautiful day. We will be lighting up the qulliq, 15          and it is going to be of benefit to us.

16                           Maybe I'll give a brief overview of 17          the qulliq. A long time ago, the nomadic Inuit used to 18          bring the qulliq everywhere when they were travelling by 19          dog team. It is an essential tool, and with that, we have 20          brought it here to this conference.

21                           There's people from all over Canada, 22          and again, we brought the qulliq light long time ago. We 23          have established our camp here and we are now lighting up 24          the qulliq. And, even though it's not a qulliq, there is 25          a source of heat that is brought everywhere, no matter

1 where you go. It has been -- the qulliq has been in use
2 for thousands of years by the Inuit. It is very 3 important.

4 (Grandmother Louise lights the qulliq)

5 And the other person who will be 6 lighting up the qulliq at a later date will give you a 7 brief overview. I'll leave it at that and have a good
8 morning.

9 MS. LISA KOPERQUALUK: And, good
10 morning. Thank you very much, Louise. And, again, we 11 have invited Meeka to say the opening prayer.

12 ELDER MEEKA AMAKAK: And, good
13 morning. Let us rise. Let us pray. We have to accept 14 when God has given us a task to do, and let us pray.

15 (Opening prayer in Inuktitut)

16 MS. LISA KOPERQUALUK: Merci pour
17 cette belle prière, Meeka.

18 Thank you, Meeka. Yesterday, 19 (inaudible) who was not here yesterday and who has joined 20 us this morning. Nous avons un commissaire qui est avec 21 nous ce matin et qui va nous adresser. Elle n'était pas
22 avec nous hier, mais comme promise par Chef commissaire 23 Marion qu'elle sera avec nous aujourd'hui, alors 24 bienvenue, Michèle.

25 Vous pouvez commencer vos

1 présentations. Michèle Audette is part of the Commission
2 who is from Quebec, representing the people of Quebec.
3 Michèle.

4 COMMISSAIRE MICHÈLE AUDETTE: Makomik,
5 Lisa. Merci beaucoup.

6 Alors, je vais parler en français,
7 alors si vous avez des écouteurs, je vous donne le temps
8 de pouvoir vous mettre dans la traduction.

9 Alors, avant de commencer, c'est
10 toujours important de dire un gros, gros merci au peuple
11 qui nous accueille sur les terres ancestrales. Alors je 12 salue le peuple Inuit et je salue aussi le peuple Wendat.
13 Alors, je suis ici à Québec, près de Wendake, alors deux 14 belles nations qui nous accueillent.

15 Merci beaucoup aux aînés pour les mots
16 pour l'ouverture hier lors de la première journée de cette
17 audience à Iqaluit. Merci encore de nous accueillir sur
18 votre terre ancestrale et j'aurais beaucoup, beaucoup aimé 19 ça être avec vous aujourd'hui et au courant de la semaine.

20 Je tiens à saluer mes collègues, la
21 Commissaire en chef Marion Buller, Qajaq Robinson et Brian 22 Eyolfson. Merci beaucoup d'être là physiquement. Merci 23 beaucoup d'être là physiquement, ce qui me permet, moi, 24 aujourd'hui d'avoir la possibilité d'être une commissaire
25 mais aussi une maman à temps plein cette semaine. J'ai la

1 culture et aussi de la guérison Inuit, et ça pour moi
2 c'était un bel enseignement en tant que commissaire et en
3 tant que femme. Et c'est ce qui a dominé toute, toute, 4 toute la discussion, les échanges au courant de la journée
5 et j'espère que ceux et celles qui nous écoutent à travers
6 le Canada, que ce soit les gouvernements ou les gens qui 7 s'intéressent aux questions autochtones, ont appris de 8 bonnes leçons que malgré de vieilles politiques 9 aujourd'hui, on en subit encore les conséquences.

10 Alors, merci pour avoir partagé ce
11 grand savoir.

12 L'automne s'annonce une saison très,
13 très, très chargée pour plusieurs d'entre nous, la même
14 chose au sein de l'équipe de l'Enquête nationale et de mes
15 collègues, les commissaires, des audiences sur différents
16 sujets, différents enjeux à travers le Canada encore une 17 fois, des tables rondes, des groupes de travail, une 18 analyse judiciaire sur des cas bien précis et évidemment
19 la rédaction du rapport. Alors, je le répète, nous allons 20 avoir un automne et un hiver très chargé.

21 Pour terminer, j'aimerais rendre
22 hommage à toutes les familles, à toutes les survivantes 23 qui continuent de demander réponses, demander justice, de 24 demander à ce que le Canada change la façon qu'on fait les 25 choses auprès des femmes et des filles autochtones. Vous

1       avez tout mon amour et mon admiration pour ce que vous
2       faites au quotidien.

3                   Je dis merci aussi à ces familles qui 4       nous guident dans nos travaux, dans nos réflexions et dans 5       ce grand défi, dans ce grand projet de société.

6                   La semaine passée, j'étais avec trois
7       jeunes, trois jeunes, deux autochtones de l'Ontario et une 8       femme des États-Unis, des jeunes qui ont quitté l'Ontario 9       le 31 décembre dernier, donc il y a huit mois de ça, qui 10      sont partis pour marcher à travers le Canada afin
11      d'éduquer et de sensibiliser tout le monde sur cette 12      grande tragédie qui est la question des femmes assassinées
13      et disparues. Alors, je les remercie de marcher pour ceux 14      et celles qu'on aime et qui sont nos sœurs d'esprit.

15                  Lorraine Granger, une femme du Québec, 16      qui marche 8 000 kilomètres pour sensibiliser les 17      Québécois, les Canadiens, sur ce que les femmes Inuit 18      vivent dans le grand nord du Québec, du Labrador et du 19      reste du Canada, et c'est une femme qui doit avoir peut-20      être 70 ans qui marche pour vous, peuple Inuit. Elle a 21      toute mon admiration.

22                  Alors, je vais continuer encore, à 23      partir de Québec, de vous suivre sur la CPAC, de préparer
24      mes questions d'où je suis et de faire en sorte qu'on 25      puisse, ensemble, encore une fois, trouver une façon pour

1 amener les meilleures recommandations dans un rapport
2 important, un rapport historique, pour faire en sorte
3 qu'enfin les choses bougent.

4 Félicitations à tous ceux et celles
5 qui ont participé à différents rapports dans le passé, 6 différentes commissions, qui nous permettent aussi de nous 7 éduquer.

8 Je vous envoie beaucoup d'amour, ici
9 avec ma petite famille et mes collègues de l'équipe de 10 Québec. Au revoir. Nakumik.

11 Mme LISA KOPERQUALUK: Merci beaucoup, 12 Michèle de Wendake. C'est loin, mais tu es tout près. On 13 vous entend très, très bien.

14 (Speaking in Native language)

15 Have -- each have a staff, but usually 16 travel around with the crew. They each have a grandmother 17 that they can look up to, or somebody, or a wise
18 individual. Marion has Cathy, Brian has Lou, and Qajaq
19 has Louise. They have a wise person that travels around 20 with the Commissioners, their grandmothers, and we thank 21 them very much for -- they support, the moral support that 22 they've provided.

23 Je viens d'expliquer comment nos
24 commissaires sont toujours accompagnés par les grands-
25 mères ou les aînés. Donc, chacun a quelqu'un proche d'eux

1 qui les accompagne à chaque voyage, chaque audience qu'ils 2 voyagent.

3 Donc, merci à toutes les grands-mères
4 et les aînés.

5 We are going to take a brief break and 6 again, at lunchtime we're going to be having -- there's 7 lunch available in this same building. It will be at the 8 Stonehouse Bar and Grill.

9 Vous pouvez avoir le dîner aujourd'hui
10 encore servi au même restaurant comme hier. Alors, une 11 petite annonce de logistique, ça.

12 Alors bienvenue tout le monde. On va
13 prendre une pause pour cinq minutes. Five-minute break.

15 --- Upon recessing at 8:40 a.m.

16 --- Upon resuming at 8:52 a.m.

17 MS. LILLIAN LUNDRIGAN: Good morning.

18 (Speaking Indigenous language). We are going to continue 19 this morning with the cross-examination. Good morning, 20 Commissioners, oo-kla-kut (phonetic). Commission counsel 21 would like to call on Beth Symes who is representing 22 Paukuutitut, Saturviit, AnânuKatiget Tumingit, Ottawa
23 Inuit Children Centre and Manitoba Inuit Association.
24 Beth will have 62 minutes, please.

25 --- CROSS-EXAMINATION BY MS. BETH SYMES:

1                   MS. BETH SYMES: Thank you, Lillian. And,
2 with me today is Parniga Akeeagok. That is the closest I
3 can get, and I apologize, who is a member of Paukuutitut's 4 board. I haven't been in Iqaluit for 20 years. And, as 5 Commissioner Robinson said yesterday morning, in 20 years,
6 this place has been transformed. I am simply overwhelmed 7 by the changes in this community.

8                   Elisapi, Inukshuk and Hagar, thank you so 9 much for sharing your wisdom with us yesterday. And, I am 10 going to ask you -- begin with the QTC reports and focus 11 my questions on housing. I have got to acknowledge the 12 really high quality and the acceptance of the findings of 13 fact in these reports and the wisdom in the 14 recommendations. And, as you are -- you two are tasked 15 with implementing the recommendations, it must be clear
16 that QTC is blessed by having had the Commissioner, a 17 well-respected Inuk judge, who was clearly trusted by the 18 Inuit people who came to tell their stories. And, the 19 independence of the Commissioner must be key to the 20 acceptance of his findings.

21                   And, I want to mark it so much in contrast 22 to the report of the RCMP on the sled dog slaughters where 23 it was "we did nothing wrong", or the INAC report from 24 2006, Canada's relationship with Inuit, which is, I would 25 say, "we did our best". And, I contrast your reports as 1 being so exceptional for their clarity and their truth.

2 I am going to focus then on two of your 3 reports, Exhibit 8, which is the final report, and Exhibit 4 5, which is the report on relocation as it relates -- as 5 they both relate to housing. So, I want to just explore, 6 first of all, the speed with which the transformation in 7 living occurred. I understand, and please correct me if 8 I'm wrong, that in 1950, Inuit lived in approximately 100 9 seasonal camps or places on the land in small family 10 clusters; is that correct?

11 MS. HAGAR IDLOUT-SUDLOVENICK: Yes.

12 MS. BETH SYMES: And, by 1975, almost all of 13 the Inuit lived in only 13 communities, 12 hamlets and 14 Iqaluit; is that correct?

15 MS. HAGAR IDLOUT-SUDLOVENICK: Yes.

16 MS. BETH SYMES: And so, the change then -- 17 I mean, this is a radical transformation for any society.
18 The transformation occurred in less than 25 years.

19 MS. HAGAR IDLOUT-SUDLOVENICK: Yes.

20 MS. BETH SYMES: And, Commissioners, we have 21 heard across the north whether it was Rankin Inlet or 22 Happy Valley-Goose Bay or in Montréal from Inuit who they, 23 themselves, were born when their families lived on the 24 land and have seen, lived out, this transformation.

25 In some cases, the relocation was done with

1 little or no notice; is that right?

2 MS. HAGAR IDLOUT-SUDLOVENICK: Yes.

3 MS. BETH SYMES: And, Inuit left behind the 4 important things in their life either because they thought 5 they would be going back to pick them up, was that one 6 possibility, or that they wouldn't need it, because 7 everything would be supplied in the new settlement; right?

8 MS. HAGAR IDLOUT-SUDLOVENICK: Yes.

9 MS. BETH SYMES: And, in some cases, where 10 they were relocated to was so very different from where 11 they had lived for centuries in terms of different land, 12 different climate, different animals that the adjustment
13 was painful or, in some cases, unsuccessful; right?

14 MS. HAGAR IDLOUT-SUDLOVENICK: Yes.

15 MS. BETH SYMES: Now, I want to talk next 16 then about what was the deal or the understanding; right?
17 What was the agreement between the government and the 18 Inuit? And, let's, first of all, talk about what did the 19 government get from this deal; right? The deal to move 20 into settlements.

21 Of course one of the things that we don't 22 much talk about was asserting sovereignty in the High 23 Arctic, and that was an important thing for Canada at that 24 time, or even today; right? Sovereignty establishing 25 presence on the land. So, that was one thing Canada got;

1 is that correct?

2 MS. HAGAR IDLOUT-SUDLOVENICK: Yes.

3 MS. BETH SYMES: And, in the other thing 4 was that they achieved efficiencies, administrative 5 efficiencies and cost; is that correct? In other words, 6 it was way easier to serve Inuit with health, education,
7 other kinds of services in 13 communities rather than 100 8 communities across the land. Could you just say yes for 9 the record or no, or anything else? Thank you.

10 MS. HAGAR IDLOUT-SUDLOVENICK: Yes.

11 MS. BETH SYMES: And, that centralizing the 12 services in 13 larger communities made it just easier to 13 deliver the services for the government?

14 MS. HAGAR IDLOUT-SUDLOVENICK: Yes.

15 MS. BETH SYMES: And, of course, it 16 significantly reduced the cost of providing those 17 services?

18 MS. HAGAR IDLOUT-SUDLOVENICK: Yes.

19 MS. INUKSHUK AKSALNIK: Yes.

20 MS. BETH SYMES: And so, we now figure out 21 why it was in the government's interests to relocate Inuit 22 from their traditional way of living into modern 23 settlements, and that that happened in 25 years or less.
24 Okay. So, then, what did the government promise the 25 Inuit, right? In order to get -- in order to get the

1 Inuit to relocate, was one of the promises, education for 2 the children, education in the communities for their 3 children?

4 MS. HAGAR IDLOUT-SUDLOVENICK: Yes.

5 MS. BETH SYMES: A second promise,
6 healthcare for the families in their community?

7 MS. HAGAR IDLOUT-SUDLOVENICK: Mm-hmm.

8 MS. BETH SYMES: And, as I reviewed all of 9 the reports, am I correct that many Inuit told the 10 Commissioner that they had been promised housing?

11 MS. HAGAR IDLOUT-SUDLOVENICK: Yes.

12 MS. BETH SYMES: Some said we were promised 13 good housing. Some said that they were promised free or 14 low-cost housing. Some said the housing would cost no 15 more than $2 or $6 a month; right?

16 MS. HAGAR IDLOUT-SUDLOVENICK: Yeah.

17 MS. BETH SYMES: Now, there's -- would you 18 agree with me that there's very little in writing in which 19 the government said, we, the government, Canada, promise 20 that there will be housing for you when you relocate to 21 Pangnirtung or to any other place? Is there anything in 22 writing?

23 MS. INUKSHUK AKSALNIK: It was all oral.

24 MS. HAGAR IDLOUT-SUDLOVENICK: Yeah, we 25 have never seen that.

1                   MS. BETH SYMES: But, it is undisputed from 2                   -- there must be more than 20 references in your reports 3                   of different Inuk telling the stories that they had been 4                   promised housing; right? It's not that the same person 5                   said it over and over again, but the promise of housing 6                   was told by many different people; right?

7                   MS. HAGAR IDLOUT-SUDLOVENICK: Yes.

8                   MS. BETH SYMES: And, no one has ever 9                   denied -- to your knowledge, no one has ever denied that 10                  the promise was made by Canada.

11                  MS. HAGAR IDLOUT-SUDLOVENICK: Yes.

12                  MS. BETH SYMES: Now, of course, the other 13                  thing that happened is when -- if an Inuit family was not 14                  persuaded to relocate, the government then used a stick to 15                  compel them to relocate; is that fair? In other words, 16                  they forced them by, in some cases, shutting down services 17                  to where they lived.

18                  MS. HAGAR IDLOUT-SUDLOVENICK: Yes.

19                  MS. BETH SYMES: In other cases, they 20                  threatened them that if you don't relocate, you won't get 21                  a family allowance.

22                  MS. HAGAR IDLOUT-SUDLOVENICK: Yes. Yeah, 23                  I think the more common than normal was that if you don't 24                  send your children to school, you won't get your family
25                  allowance. And, I remember that, government officials

1 telling my parents the same thing through interpreter, 2 because I wasn't going to school yet but, you know, they 3 would come in a plane in the summer to pick up my older 4 siblings, and they would, you know, count how many kids
5 are a certain age that have to go to school. And, then 6 telling them that if you don't send children to school, 7 then you don't get the family allowance, because you have 8 to send so many kids. And, that was told to them, but 9 again, in the testimonies, that was repeated by other 10 people.

11 MS. BETH SYMES: Absolutely. And then 12 let's look at the next step, then. When families 13 relocated to one of the 13 communities, is it fair to say 14 that for some of those families, maybe even a significant 15 number of families, there was absolutely no housing 16 available for them in the new community?

17 MS. HAGAR IDLOUT-SUDLOVENICK: Yes. Again, 18 based on the testimonies starting between '50s and '60s,
19 there was very little housing provided. At a later date, 20 in the later '60s and '70s, they did provide -- started 21 providing more housing. But, in the early part of the -- 22 when they first started moving people to this community, 23 it was very little or almost none for some families.

24 MS. BETH SYMES: And, even in the '50s and 25 '60s when they began to provide housing, there was just

1 not enough for the families who had relocated; is that 2 fair?

3 MS. HAGAR IDLOUT-SUDLOVENICK: Yes.

4 MS. BETH SYMES: Would you agree with me
5 that the housing provided was not of good quality? It 6 was, in fact, of poor quality?

7 MS. HAGAR IDLOUT-SUDLOVENICK: Some of the 8 houses that were provided were very small, and multi-9 families had to live in the same house for certain years 10 or even, you know, during -- at least most -- during the 11 cold winter months. And, in the summertime, they have the 12 option of being in a tent. But, the first part of the 13 group of housing, they were very small, also known as 14 "matchboxes". So, they had no plumbing. They had very 15 little -- what we know today, like, very little 16 electricity, or it was just very basic shelter.

17 MS. BETH SYMES: Hagar, these matchbox
18 houses were 12 feet by 24 feet. That is, 288 square feet, 19 and housed sometimes 20 families?

20 MS. HAGAR IDLOUT-SUDLOVENICK: Multiple 21 families, yes.

22 MS. BETH SYMES: 288 square feet and 23 multiple families is not acceptable housing; right?

24 MS. HAGAR IDLOUT-SUDLOVENICK: Yes.

25 MS. BETH SYMES: And, would you agree with

1 me that the construction of these matchbox houses was 2 simply not suitable for the arctic, whether it was the 3 materials used or the design, but they deteriorated 4 rapidly?

5 MS. HAGAR IDLOUT-SUDLOVENICK: Yes.

6 MS. BETH SYMES: And, at that time, there
7 were DEW line posts in this area, right, across the north?

8 MS. HAGAR IDLOUT-SUDLOVENICK: Mm-hmm.

9 MS. BETH SYMES: And, they were largely 10 staffed by Americans?

11 MS. HAGAR IDLOUT-SUDLOVENICK: I believe
12 they were staffed by Canadians and Americans.

13 MS. BETH SYMES: And, the Americans were 14 very critical, very publicly critical of Canada's efforts 15 or lack of efforts to house Inuit?

16 MS. HAGAR IDLOUT-SUDLOVENICK: Yes.

17 MS. BETH SYMES: And, in fact, Americans 18 publicly said that Canada had built slums or created slums 19 for Inuit?

20 MS. HAGAR IDLOUT-SUDLOVENICK: Yes.

21 MS. BETH SYMES: And so, the story with 22 respect to housing, then, for Inuit starts out very badly.
23 I want to not fast forward, but come forward in terms of 24 where is Canada's obligation with respect to housing 25 today. In Quebec City, on the human rights framework, we

1 had Exhibit A21, which was the updated data from the 2016
2 census. The population of Nunavut is growing very 3 rapidly, do you agree?

4 MS. HAGAR IDLOUT-SUDLOVENICK: Yes.

5 MS. BETH SYMES: And, the 2016 census shows
6 that the population of Nunavut grew at 22.5 percent over 7 10 years from 2006 to 2016. That must be the fastest 8 growing community or area/province/territory in Canada.
9 But, has the rate of housing kept up with the population 10 growth?

11 MS. HAGAR IDLOUT-SUDLOVENICK: No.

12 MS. BETH SYMES: The same 2016 census says
13 that in Nunavut, 34.3 percent of Inuit live in dwellings
14 in need of major repair. What are those kinds of repair?
15 What is the state of housing in Nunavut?

16 MS. HAGAR IDLOUT-SUDLOVENICK: I think I
17 would have to go back to the exact details of the report 18 from the -- you know, the one -- the most recent one, but 19 generally, it would be overcrowding. Because of such 20 overcrowding, the houses tend to -- you know, the wear and 21 tear tend to be much higher, and larger communities tend 22 to have the more overcrowding than smaller communities.

23 So that's kind of the general -- usually 24 the need because there's such high use, you know, people 25 cooking, so them [sic] all tend -- you know, people

1 cooking, sometimes poor ventilation. And also, the 2 climate also tend to be part of the -- in the cold winter
3 months there is less ventilation, so there would be more 4 moisture build up around windows, doors, and that tend...

5 I know this because in a previous -- past,
6 I used to be a house manager, so that -- you know, that 7 was, you know, 20 years ago, but it's still the same issue
8 that is being addressed by people. You know, Nunavut -- I 9 said all that, it's still the same issue, it's the same
10 situation. They're small. There's you know, poor quality 11 doors and windows that are -- you know, that are -- that 12 leak, frost build up. So it's ongoing.

13 MS. BETH SYMES: And that same census said
14 that in Nunavut 56.4 percent of dwellings are overcrowded.
15 So I presume occupied by more people than they were 16 designed for?

17 MS. HAGAR IDLOUT-SUDLOVENICK: M'hm.

18 MS. BETH SYMES: You talked yesterday about 19 couch surfing. How prevalent is it?

20 MS. HAGAR IDLOUT-SUDLOVENICK: Well, 21 actually, I think that was Elisapi's presentation from 22 Tukisigiavik? Yes.

23 MS. BETH SYMES: So let me just -- I'm 24 going to ask you questions after.

25 So what is your sense of the rate of 1 homelessness in Nunavut?

2 MS. HAGAR IDLOUT-SUDLOVENICK: I think
3 there's a lot -- you know, Elisapi's presentation
4 yesterday was -- I guess we could look at it two ways.
5 There's hidden homelessness from the -- again, based on 6 the reports that we've -- you know, we -- I have read or 7 we've have taken -- we have participated, there's hidden 8 homelessness. Many others -- people who have inadequate 9 housing that still live with families, extended family 10 members, but they don't have their own rooms, they don't 11 have their own bed to sleep on, but they still are housed, 12 but they don't have their own place.

13 And then in Iqaluit, it's different as -- 14 based on Elisapi's report yesterday, and you know, again
15 being from the community, that there is actual homeless 16 people that have no place to go.

17 MS. BETH SYMES: And down on the water, 18 there are a number of what look like pretty-temporary 19 structures. Are they occupied year round?

20 MS. HAGAR IDLOUT-SUDLOVENICK: Some are.

21 MS. BETH SYMES: And so that's -- if that's 22 not homelessness, it's got to be the very next thing to 23 it, because they are inadequate in terms of heat, 24 sanitation, warmth, et cetera; right?

25 MS. HAGAR IDLOUT-SUDLOVENICK: M'hm.

1                   MS. BETH SYMES: In Québec City, Tim
2 Argetsinger from ITK was qualified by Commission Counsel
3 and the Commissioners as an expert witness. And he said
4 that there is housing crisis in Inuit Nunangat. Do you
5 agree that there is a housing crisis in Nunavut?

6                   MS. HAGAR IDLOUT-SUDLOVENICK: Yes.

7                   MS. BETH SYMES: Now, the Government of 8 Canada -- the evidence was the Government of Canada
9 committed $240 million over 10 years to build new housing 10 in Nunavut. So that's $24 million a year. Hagar, from 11 your past experience, what would be the average cost of a 12 unit of housing in Nunavut?

13                   MS. HAGAR IDLOUT-SUDLOVENICK: I can't say 14 at this point, because it changes from year to year, so I 15 couldn't really pinpoint the exact dollar, but, you know, 16 that's something that can be looked up through a housing 17 corporation, through the website that, you know, what the 18 cost of building is in Nunavut. Again, it's based on 19 which community because higher -- North Baffin communities 20 will have higher costs.

21                   MS. BETH SYMES: Would it be somewhere in 22 the neighbourhood of $500,000 a unit?

23                   MS. HAGAR IDLOUT-SUDLOVENICK: Probably on 24 average.

25                   MS. BETH SYMES: On average.

1                   MS. HAGAR IDLOUT-SUDLOVENICK: Yeah.

2                   MS. BETH SYMES: And as you said, more 3 expensive the further north you go and the more remote?

4                   MS. HAGAR IDLOUT-SUDLOVENICK: Yes.

5                   MS. BETH SYMES: Okay. If my math is 6 correct, and I divide $500,000 per unit into $24 million a 7 year, that's only 18 new housing units a year. If you 8 want to check my math? Lots of zeroes. At that rate of 9 building new housing units, will the gap in adequate 10 housing for Inuit in Nunavut be closed?

11                   MS. HAGAR IDLOUT-SUDLOVENICK: It would 12 take a long time.

13                   MS. LISA KOPERQUALUK: Sorry, Beth. I
14 think we need to take a small recess. Five minutes, 15 please.

16                   CHIEF COMMISSIONER MARION BULLER: Yes.
17 Certainly. Stop the clock please, and 5 minutes. Thank 18 you.

19                   MS. LISA KOPERQUALUK: Thank you.

20 --- Upon recessing at 9:17 a.m

21 --- Upon resuming at 9:24 a.m

22                   MS. LILLIAN LUNDRIGAN: (Speaking 23 Indigenous language). Thank you for your patience. We 24 can continue.

25                   MS. BETH SYMES: Thank you. I want to then

1 move on to the impact of substandard and overcrowding.
2 So, if a child is living in overcrowded housing, do you
3 agree with me that that could have a profound negative 4 effect on her schooling?

5 MS. HAGAR IDLOUT-SUDLOVENICK: Yes.

6 MS. BETH SYMES: Maybe there is no place
7 for her to do her homework?

8 MS. HAGAR IDLOUT-SUDLOVENICK: Yes.

9 MS. BETH SYMES: Maybe there is not enough 10 place for her to have a good night's sleep?

11 MS. HAGAR IDLOUT-SUDLOVENICK: Yes.

12 MS. BETH SYMES: Do you agree with me that 13 for women fleeing violence, ending marriages that they and 14 their children can be homeless?

15 MS. HAGAR IDLOUT-SUDLOVENICK: Yes.

16 MS. BETH SYMES: That if women and her 17 children are living with extended families -- family in a 18 dwelling, that she may have no right to stay there; right?

19 MS. HAGAR IDLOUT-SUDLOVENICK: Mm-hmm.

20 MS. BETH SYMES: And, are there immediate 21 places for her to go with her children?

22 MS. HAGAR IDLOUT-SUDLOVENICK: It's very 23 limited. There are very limited options.

24 MS. BETH SYMES: And, as a result of that, 25 do some women and children have to leave? Go south?

1                   MS. HAGAR IDLOUT-SUDLOVENICK: Yes.

2                   Occasionally, yes.

3                   MS. BETH SYMES: Would you agree with me
4                   that overcrowding also has profound negative effects on 5                   health?

6                   MS. HAGAR IDLOUT-SUDLOVENICK: Yes.

7                   MS. BETH SYMES: And, one of the challenges
8                   of overcrowding is the spread of communicable diseases 9                   like TB?

10                  MS. HAGAR IDLOUT-SUDLOVENICK: Yes.

11                  MS. BETH SYMES: And, that has had an 12                  unfortunate, in fact, tragic resurgence in Nunavut?

13                  MS. HAGAR IDLOUT-SUDLOVENICK: Yes.

14                  MS. BETH SYMES: Does it also, 15                  overcrowding, have a profound and negative effect on 16                  mental health?

17                  MS. HAGAR IDLOUT-SUDLOVENICK: Yes.

18                  MS. BETH SYMES: And, is it one of the risk 19                  factors for suicide?

20                  MS. HAGAR IDLOUT-SUDLOVENICK: I couldn't 21                  answer that.

22                  MS. BETH SYMES: Fair enough.

23                  MS. HAGAR IDLOUT-SUDLOVENICK: Yes.

24                  MS. VIOLET FORD: Commissioners, can we 25                  stop the clock for a minute? Commission -- Commissioner -

1 - I mean, sorry, legal counsel, if we can just keep your 2 questions to those that they have provided evidence for 3 yesterday in direct examination? Some of these questions 4 are not related, even though this information that you are 5 basing some of your questions on are in the reports. Some 6 of the more specific information, they did not speak to 7 yesterday and they do not have the particular knowledge in 8 certain areas. And, it is getting to the point where it 9 is almost -- you are getting them to speculate. So, if 10 you can just kindly rephrase some of your questions?
11 Thank you.

12 MS. BETH SYMES: With respect, I don't 13 agree at all. All of this information is in the various 14 reports that QTC has provided, and these are very 15 sophisticated witnesses. You have heard them say "I can't 16 answer that", "I don't know". Of course, if they say 17 that, I don't press, I don't ask again. But, these 18 questions with respect to the status of housing and its 19 impact is vital as these people are mandated to -- it's a 20 job to try and implement the recommendations of the QTC.
21 So, I submit that I have been entirely appropriate basing 22 my questions simply on the reports and their implications
23 for Inuit women and girls.

24 CHIEF COMMISSIONER MARION BULLER: Anything 25 further from Commission counsel? Well, just a reminder to 1 counsel that when a witness answers "I don't know" or "I'm 2 not sure" or is asked to speculate in their answer, their 3 answer -- their testimony, not the question of course, but 4 their testimony is of little probative value, not relevant 5 perhaps, as far as not relevant, and also of little 6 weight, so of little assistance to us and our fact 7 finding, our conclusions and our recommendations. So, 8 bearing that in mind and the need for getting to the 9 point, I understand your strategy in your cross-10 examination, however from our perspective, much of the 11 testimony is of little weight, little probative value when 12 a witness can't provide an answer. So, I know counsel is 13 experienced, understands the difficulties of cross-

14 examination, I don't intend to lecture experienced counsel 15 in that regard. However, when a witness can't answer or 16 has to speculate, as I have said, little probative value, 17 not relevant and really not helpful. Thank you.

18 MS. BETH SYMES: Thank you. Going back 19 then to overcrowding in housing then, would you agree with 20 me, from your experience, that overcrowding and inadequate 21 housing is a risk factor to family violence?

22 MS. HAGAR IDLOUT-SUDLOVENICK: Yes.

23 MS. BETH SYMES: Now, we started the story 24 in 1950, as the government -- as Canada tried to and 25 compelled Inuit to move from living on the land, in

1 housing that was suitable to the climate and to their way
2 of life, into 13 settlements where it was inadequate, 3 through to the present day where you said that there is a 4 housing crisis in Nunavut. As the people in charge of 5 trying to get the QTC's recommendations implemented, 6 what's the way forward for Nunavut in terms of housing?

7 MS. HAGAR IDLOUT-SUDLOVENICK: For QIA,
8 this is something that one of our mandate under QIA, kind 9 of stepping aside from QTC, is to represent Inuit in 10 Qikiqtani region on, you know, any matters to the Inuit, 11 the needs, aspirations, culture, language. One of them, 12 you know, we advocate on behalf of the Inuit in various 13 areas including housing, and this is something that we 14 will always advocate for, and also working with various 15 government departments, both federal and territorial, to 16 advance or -- how would I say? To make sure that, you 17 know, the needs are being -- they are doing their best to 18 meet the needs of Inuit in the Qikiqtani region.

19 MS. BETH SYMES: Hagar, I have no doubt
20 that you are a fabulous advocate and the QIA is in fact a 21 powerful force, a voice on these issues, but why is the 22 progress so slow with respect to much needed -- undisputed 23 need of many, many more housing units? Why so slow?

24 MS. HAGAR IDLOUT-SUDLOVENICK: I would say 25 it was mainly to do with money, inadequate programming.

1 And, the building of houses is costly in the regions, 2 especially in the more isolated communities, and that is 3 something that, you know, may probably be like that in the 4 foreseeable future, but the -- there is some progress, but 5 it's just going to take time.

6 MS. BETH SYMES: And, how long did you work 7 in housing?

8 MS. HAGAR IDLOUT-SUDLOVENICK: Ten years.

9 MS. BETH SYMES: Yesterday, you called for 10 a recommendation that the RCMP examine its history with 11 Inuit. I'm correct on that?

12 MS. INUKSHUK AKSALNIK: Yes.

13 MS. BETH SYMES: I wanted to ask you why 14 are you asking that the RCMP examine its own history given 15 the RCMP's report on the sled dogs slaughter. Why are you 16 asking, in essence, for the RCMP to examine itself?

17 MS. INUKSHUK AKSALNIK: That sled dog
18 report was forensic, and the QTC focused on individual 19 testimony or oral history. So, with both of those styles 20 combined, the RCMP should take that approach into looking 21 into the history of their relationship with Inuit.

22 MS. BETH SYMES: So, my puzzlement is, why 23 are you not asking for a recommendation that an 24 independent fact-finder, like your Commissioner was. Why 25 aren't you asking for that to be done as opposed to the 1 RCMP to examine themselves?

2 MS. INUKSHUK AKSALNIK: Has it been asked
3 yet? I don't think so. I don't know.

4 MS. BETH SYMES: I see the Commissioners
5 looking. We would like to support your recommendation, 6 but we don't understand why you are calling for an 7 internal examination as opposed to an external independent 8 examination.

9 MS. INUKSHUK AKSALNIK: Yes, I'm not sure
10 what that question is. Yes.

11 MS. BETH SYMES: Okay. So, thank you.
12 Those are my questions I have about the housing. If you 13 come up with an answer as to why you are recommending to 14 the Commissioners an internal examination, that would be 15 helpful. They may, in fact, ask you more about that.

16 Elisapi, my next questions are to you and 17 of the work that you are doing in terms of reclaiming 18 culture, heritage, and as a result, empowering women, 19 Inuit women. You told us yesterday that the programs that 20 you run are dependent upon funding from several different 21 sources; is that correct?

22 MS. ELISAPI DAVIDEE ANINGMIUQ: That's 23 correct.

24 MS. BETH SYMES: And, that much of the 25 funding is time limited grants. A grant for a year, or

1 something like that?

2 MS. ELISAPI DAVIDEE ANINGMIUQ: Yes, most 3 of them, except for one.

4 MS. BETH SYMES: Does that mean that your 5 organization is always chasing money to fund?

6 MS. ELISAPI DAVIDEE ANINGMIUQ: Yes.

7 MS. BETH SYMES: You're always looking for 8 your next dollar?

9 MS. ELISAPI DAVIDEE ANINGMIUQ: Yes.

10 MS. BETH SYMES: Can you give us any 11 estimate of the percentage of time that, say, your 12 Executive Director spends on chasing money?

13 MS. ELISAPI DAVIDEE ANINGMIUQ: Majority of 14 his time is spent in the report writing and also writing 15 proposals and -- so quite a bit of time.

16 MS. BETH SYMES: And so, therefore, if you 17 had your forever funding and adequate funding, but even 18 just a little bit less than that, but long-term funding, 19 that that would free up significant portions of time in 20 order to do your real work, is that fair?

21 MS. ELISAPI DAVIDEE ANINGMIUQ: It would 22 free up more time to concentrate on the programs and 23 delivery for sure.

24 MS. BETH SYMES: And, in fact -- or 25 sometimes, are you, sort of, trying to fit your programs

1 into somebody else's box? You know, make them look like 2 what the funder is prepared to give money for?

3 MS. ELISAPI DAVIDEE ANINGMIUQ: Yes, that 4 has happened.

5 MS. BETH SYMES: And, when you do that, 6 does that sometimes change your program and not for the 7 better?

8 MS. ELISAPI DAVIDEE ANINGMIUQ: Change our 9 program not for the better? I'm not sure what you mean.

10 MS. BETH SYMES: If you try and make 11 programs that the funder wants, does that sometimes 12 distort what you actually deliver?

13 MS. ELISAPI DAVIDEE ANINGMIUQ: It could, 14 but when we are open to including culture, then we have 15 that option of doing it -- according to their mandate, but 16 doing it in a way that suits us too.

17 MS. BETH SYMES: Okay. Now, are there
18 other organizations in Nunavut running similar programs, 19 like not necessarily making kamiks but similar programs,
20 culture programs for women. There are several programs 21 across Nunavut. And is an added problem then for each of 22 you that you are going to the same funder for scarce 23 resources?

24 MS. ELISAPI DAVIDEE ANINGMIUQ: True.

25 MS. BETH SYMES: And because of the -- I

1 don't want to say piecemeal, but I can't think of a better
2 word -- approach to this very important issue, are there 3 some glaring gaps?

4 MS. ELISAPI DAVIDEE ANINGMIUQ: I'm not 5 sure what you mean. Would you explain that?

6 MS. BETH SYMES: For example, communities
7 that don't have any such programs.

8 MS. ELISAPI DAVIDEE ANINGMIUQ: For 9 communities that don't have programs? I can't speak for 10 the communities, but I do know that some communities can 11 lose out if they don't have the resources to put these 12 proposals together and to do the research.

13 MS. BETH SYMES: Now, your class on kamiks 14 was three -- three evenings a week; is that correct?

15 MS. ELISAPI DAVIDEE ANINGMIUQ: It's two 16 evenings a week ---

17 MS. BETH SYMES: Oh, two.

18 MS. ELISAPI DAVIDEE ANINGMIUQ: And about 19 seven hours on Saturday, on the weekend.

20 MS. BETH SYMES: And that would be a really 21 big commitment for someone who was working or going to 22 school?

23 MS. ELISAPI DAVIDEE ANINGMIUQ: The reason 24 why we have them in the evenings is to meet the time for 25 people that have full-time work. So we hold it in the 1 evenings starting at 6:30 to 9:00, and then Saturday ones

2 are from 11:00 until 6:00.

3 MS. BETH SYMES: Wow. Now, your target 4 audience or students then, are anyone who is interested in 5 the project?

6 MS. ELISAPI DAVIDEE ANINGMIUQ: Anyone who 7 is interested. It's open to anyone.

8 MS. BETH SYMES: Okay. But in fact, you
9 have attracted women who are on income support?

10 MS. ELISAPI DAVIDEE ANINGMIUQ: Yes. Also 11 yes.

12 MS. BETH SYMES: And women who have had 13 problems with addictions?

14 MS. ELISAPI DAVIDEE ANINGMIUQ: Yes.

15 MS. BETH SYMES: And that, in fact, is the 16 people who maybe have benefitted the most from your 17 programs, the cultural, the self-confidence building, et 18 cetera?

19 MS. ELISAPI DAVIDEE ANINGMIUQ: I think 20 anybody that learns a cultural skill, if it's their 21 background, or even if it's not their background and they 22 are exposed to it and they learn it, that they get a 23 deeper understanding. So the understandings can be 24 different for different people. But I think are very 25 important for all.

1                   MS. BETH SYMES: Your programs are taught
2 by Elders; is that correct?

4 correct.

5                   MS. BETH SYMES: Elders are present?

6                   MS. ELISAPI DAVIDEE ANINGMIUQ: Yes.

7                   MS. BETH SYMES: And so your Elders then -- 8 you pay your Elders?

9                   MS. ELISAPI DAVIDEE ANINGMIUQ: We pay our 10 Elders.

11                   MS. BETH SYMES: Which is -- it's not 12 realistic to expect that Elders would volunteer their time 13 for free?

14                   MS. ELISAPI DAVIDEE ANINGMIUQ: Elders have 15 volunteered their time enough.

16                   MS. BETH SYMES: Yes.

17                   MS. ELISAPI DAVIDEE ANINGMIUQ: So it's 18 high time that we honour them.

19                   MS. BETH SYMES: And Elisapi, in fact, many 20 of your Elders depend upon the money that they receive to 21 feed, and clothe, and house their families?

22                   MS. ELISAPI DAVIDEE ANINGMIUQ: Yes.

23                   MS. BETH SYMES: And the second thing is 24 that the materials that you use, I have learned, are very 25 expensive, right? They are not free. The moose hide, or

1 the seal, or sealskins, or caribou or whatever. They're 2 not free, you have to pay for them.

3 MS. ELISAPI DAVIDEE ANINGMIUQ: You have to 4 pay for them. We don't use moose hide when we make a pair 5 of kamik. We use only two different types of skins, and 6 the process to clean that, to get that is very timely.
7 First, you have to go out hunting, butcher it, then after 8 it's butchered the women has to clean it, take out the 9 blubber, take out the membranes, and that takes time and 10 skill. And then dry it, and after it's been dried the 11 person who purchases it now has to stomp on it, wash it, 12 stretch it, and finally cut out. And then there's another 13 process for the sole.

14 So it's -- you think that it's -- when you 15 think of money that it's expensive, it doesn't really 16 honour the time that it takes to pair it -- to prepare it 17 to that stage.

18 MS. BETH SYMES: And you'll forgive us, but 19 many of us here are southerners, and other than seeing the 20 seal, or beautiful seal products, have no idea the amount 21 of work, and skill, and time, and effort that it takes to 22 produce a useable product. But they cost money.

23 MS. ELISAPI DAVIDEE ANINGMIUQ: They do.

24 MS. BETH SYMES: And again, it's not 25 realistic to assume that they'll be donated to this

1 project.

2 MS. ELISAPI DAVIDEE ANINGMIUQ: Some women
3 have been very generous in donating, and there are women, 4 just -- not everybody can clean a sealskin. When you make 5 a commitment to do -- to work fulltime at a, you know, 6 government job anywhere, you know, you're sacrificing that 7 cultural skill that you may have learned at home. And I
8 think that is why one day my mother said, "Stay at home, 9 you are going to learn more." And I think she meant that 10 learn her culture more.

11 MS. BETH SYMES: And Elisapi, aside from 12 that gorgeous picture in your material of the women with 13 their legs out and their kamiks on display, which is you 14 know, a really affirming photo, what you -- your programs 15 do is provide women with a connection to culture, to their 16 culture, do you agree?

17 MS. ELISAPI DAVIDEE ANINGMIUQ: Yes,
18 definitely.

19 MS. BETH SYMES: It provides them with a 20 pride that they have made something as beautiful as the 21 kamik, do you agree?

22 MS. ELISAPI DAVIDEE ANINGMIUQ: I agree.

23 MS. BETH SYMES: It also increases their 24 self-confidence. If I can make a kamik, maybe I can do 25 other things as well?

1                   MS. ELISAPI DAVIDEE ANINGMIUQ: True.

2                   MS. BETH SYMES: It, through the process, 3 creates community.

4                   MS. ELISAPI DAVIDEE ANINGMIUQ: Yes.

5                   MS. BETH SYMES: The women are supported by 6 the Elders and each other in this journey?

7                   MS. ELISAPI DAVIDEE ANINGMIUQ: Yes.

8                   MS. BETH SYMES: And there's a period in 9 which there is sufficient trust in this community that 10 they begin to share, the women begin to share?

11                   MS. ELISAPI DAVIDEE ANINGMIUQ: Yes.

12                   MS. BETH SYMES: And is this community then 13 part of the healing process?

14                   MS. ELISAPI DAVIDEE ANINGMIUQ: It really 15 is, because as I mentioned, learning a cultural skill is 16 very therapeutic, and it builds self-confidence. It 17 builds that bond between the Elder and the participant or 18 student. So it's very valuable to the learning, as well 19 as building that person up.

20                   MS. BETH SYMES: Now, in preparation for 21 today, I was talking to Anne Curley from Hall Beach, who 22 advised me that there is a sewing program in Hall Beach, 23 and how many people would live in Hall Beach?

24                   MS. ELISAPI DAVIDEE ANINGMIUQ: I don't 25 know.

1                   MS. BETH SYMES: Is it small?

2                   MS. ELISAPI DAVIDEE ANINGMIUQ: It's small.

3                   MS. BETH SYMES: It's very small?

4                   MS. ELISAPI DAVIDEE ANINGMIUQ: Yeah.

5                   MS. BETH SYMES: Okay. And so, you said
6 that not every community in Nunavut has such a program, 7 like your kamiks, or sewing, or whatever. Would it be 8 your recommendation that these kinds of programs be funded 9 across Nunavut, across Inuit Nunangat, to create community 10 for women and develop skills, and confidence, et cetera?

11                   MS. ELISAPI DAVIDEE ANINGMIUQ: I can speak 12 for the Centre and for the community of Iqaluit where it 13 comes to cultural skill, development programs and stuff, 14 and I can't fully speak for the communities. But I do
15 know that there is a value in learning a culture and I 16 have heard many times on the radio how people are wanting 17 programs such as these.

18                   MS. BETH SYMES: Okay. Now, last week -- 19 last weekend, sorry, the CBC News reported on a research 20 project of Professor Terry Bear, who is a professor at the 21 University of Alberta, who CBC said is examining the 22 question of why Indigenous women and youth are so 23 resilient. And she's studying First Nations women and 24 youth in the south. And the CBC report was that her 25 hypothesis for the research is that resilience depends

1 upon being part of, and building, community. And her
2 workshops that she used, so the report said, were making 3 ribbon skirts, which is culturally tradition in her 4 community, but of course not here.

5 I don't -- her research is not finished;
6 her research is not published. It's just an article of 7 interest.

8 But given that a professor at the 9 University of Alberta is studying exactly what you have 10 been doing for 20 years, how do you feel about that?

11 MS. ELISAPI DAVIDEE ANINGMUIQ: It's not 12 just 20 years. I think the last 20 years is when we have 13 started doing programs. But it is something that was 14 practised or done by generations.

15 The reasons why programs seem to be very 16 important today is everybody -- a lot of -- I should say 17 not everybody but a lot of people are in the workforce, so 18 they don't, therefore, have time for that one-to-one 19 teaching that they may have received at home traditionally 20 in the past.

21 MS. BETH SYMES: Well, Elisapi, it looks 22 certainly as though you have been, and you continue to be, 23 on the cutting edge of creating community and resilience
24 for Inuit women and girls, and for that we say thank you.

25 MS. ELISAPI DAVIDEE ANINGMUIQ: I think

1           there is a lot more women that do the same thing and I
2           think, you know, they're just not known. There's a lot of 3           women that are doing it in their own communities, in their 4           own ways.

5                       MS. BETH SYMES: You're very generous in 6           sharing the thanks.

7                       I want to ask just a couple of totally 8           isolated questions. We've heard certainly the role that 9           Elders play in Inuit communities; for their wisdom, their 10          practical knowledge, et cetera. Can you tell me, as 11          Elders age and become less robust and need care, what's 12          the status of Elder care in Nunavut?

13                      MS. ELISAPI DAVIDEE ANINGMUIQ: There needs
14          to be more. There needs to be more Elder care. There 15          needs to be more communication to the Elders, and I think 16          there are needs that aren't -- that the Elders need but 17          are not met.

18                      MS. BETH SYMES: For example, having had a 19          mother with dementia for many years, is there any 20          treatment or housing facilities for Inuit Elders with 21          dementia?

22                      MS. ELISAPI DAVIDEE ANINGMUIQ: Not with 23          dementia, not that I know of in the territory.

24                      MS. BETH SYMES: And so where do they go?

25                      MS. ELISAPI DAVIDEE ANINGMUIQ: From what I

1 have seen in the community, and I'm not an expert on it,
2 is there are people from Iqaluit and other communities
3 that are in Ottawa right now because there is no other 4 facilities up here that they can be in.

5 MS. BETH SYMES: That must be very 6 difficult as a family.

7 MS. ELISAPI DAVIDEE ANINGMUIQ: Both for 8 the Elder and the individual for sure, yes.

9 MS. BETH SYMES: Especially as you begin to 10 lose your facilities. Okay.

11 The other thing I wanted to ask about, you
12 were asked some questions yesterday about TB and forcible 13 removal from communities with respect to it. When this 14 happened in -- I guess maybe in the early 1900s, moving 15 more rapidly into the 1950s, did the Inuit understand that 16 TB was a communicable disease? Does anyone know?

17 MS. ELISAPI DAVIDEE ANINGMUIQ: I'm not 18 sure who you're referring the question to.

19 MS. BETH SYMES: Any of you.

20 MS. ELISAPI DAVIDEE ANINGMUIQ: Oh.

21 MS. BETH SYMES: I just want to follow-up 22 about sending Inuit south for treatment for TB. Do we 23 know if this was of general knowledge that this was a 24 communicable disease?

25 MS. HAGAR IDLOUT-SUDLOVENICK: I think it

1 did later on. There weren't -- you know, there weren't 2 any extensive public health education or information being 3 provided, because at that time, too, there was limited 4 interpreter available.

5 So there was always -- even now, there is - 6 - always there's language barrier between the healthcare 7 professionals and, you know, Inuit. So I think that would 8 be part of that. But, you know, there weren't widespread 9 public education at that time, so when people went to the 10 -- to city health, you know, or got picked up by plane to 11 go to the communities or settlements, you know, they would 12 do a screening and they would just be told, "Well, you 13 have TB so we're going to have to send you out."

14 There wasn't wide public education being 15 taught at that time. I think they understood to a certain 16 point but, again, because information was limited.

17 MS. BETH SYMES: Okay. And we heard in 18 Winnipeg the story of Annie Bowkett who, when she was not 19 yet three, was taken from her -- where her family lived on 20 the land. The nearest place would have been Pangnirtung, 21 and flown down to Toronto, we think. She has a very -- 22 she has a child's memory of that.

23 And after she was well again, she was lost.
24 She just got lost in the system and it took maybe 14 years
25 before she came back to Nunavut.

1                   Are these stories with families in Nunavut,
2 these kinds of stories of, you know, long stays in the 3 south. Annie said she lost her language; she couldn't 4 stand eating raw meat or raw fish when she came back, and 5 that she was unable to talk to her mother. She had 6 nothing; she was unable to communicate.

7                   Are these common stories in many families?

8                   MS. HAGAR IDLOUT-SUDLOVENICK: Yeah.

9 Again, based on the testimonies, there are some people who 10 testified that, you know, this was -- for those people 11 that were sent south, you know, especially when they were 12 younger children ---

13                   MS. BETH SYMES: Yes.

14                   MS. HAGAR IDLOUT-SUDLOVENICK: --- they 15 became -- language became -- when they came back language 16 became an issue because they had forgot a lot of their 17 languages.

18                   And also for people that were -- even older 19 people that had gone, sometimes they would come back and - 20 - because sometimes it would be many years and some of the 21 family, you know, situation may have changed. Some of the 22 family members that, you know, would have passed away.
23 And so it was a very different environment when they came 24 back.

25                   MS. BETH SYMES: Those are my questions.

1 Thank you very much, to all three of you, for your wisdom
2 and your time, and we're counting on you to continue.

3 Thank you.

4 MS. LILLIAN LUNDRIGAN: Nakurmiik, Beth;
5 thank you.

6 Commission counsel would like to now call 7 on the final counsel to come up to the podium to ask her
8 questions. Carly -- I'm sorry; I don't know how to say 9 your name, last name; Teillet? She is representing the 10 Vancouver Sex Workers Right Collective.

11 Carly will have 12 minutes, please.

12 --- CROSS-EXAMINATION BY MS. CARLY TEILLET:

13 MS. CARLY TEILLET: (Speaking in Native 14 language); bonjour, and good morning.

15 I'd like to thank the community for 16 welcoming us to their Inuit territory. And I'd like to 17 take a moment, on behalf of myself and my clients, to 18 acknowledge the survivors, the families, the Elders, the 19 sacred objects, the medicines, and all the people that are 20 here today to help us do our work in a good way.

21 Before coming to this hearing, I was 22 asked by my clients to keep something in mind; to remember 23 this as we go forward. I was asked to think about this 24 statement; "That without a voice, I feel like my life 25 doesn't have value." And so with that, I'd like to thank

1 all of the panelists today for your voices and for the 2 strength and for the knowledge that you brought to the 3 hearing and to the panel. Thank you.

4 I would like to start, Elisapi, by 5 asking you some questions about some of the services that 6 your organization provides. Now, I understand the 7 organization provides counselling and services for women 8 and children and other members of the community. There is 9 knowledge sharing, there is culture revitalization and 10 many other programs. Now, is your organization sometimes 11 asked to be part of a healing plan for a mother to get her 12 children back?

13 MS. ELISAPI DAVIDEE ANIGMIUQ: To be a 14 healing, what?

15 MS. CARLY TEILLET: So, if a mother's 16 children are taken away, are you sometimes asked to 17 provide that mother with counselling or help to heal so 18 that she can have her children back home?

19 MS. ELISAPI DAVIDEE ANIGMIUQ: We have 20 many women that come to us from all walks of life, and we 21 have had mothers who have had their children taken away 22 come to us.

23 MS. CARLY TEILLET: Okay. So, is it 24 the mothers that asked for help or is it the -- like the 25 child and family -- the people that takes the children

1 that are asking you to provide the service?

2 MS. ELISAPI DAVIDEE ANIGMIUQ: We have 3 people that come to us and we also have referrals that are 4 given to us.

5 MS. CARLY TEILLET: Okay. Now, when a 6 woman is trying to escape violence, do those women come 7 and get services from your counselling or a safe place to 8 be?

9 MS. ELISAPI DAVIDEE ANIGMIUQ: A lot
10 of times we would see women after they have gone to a 11 shelter or are in a shelter. But, a lot of times too, we 12 have women that just come up with absolutely no place to 13 go to.

14 MS. CARLY TEILLET: Okay. And, is 15 your drop-in program an overnight program? Is it during 16 the day?

17 MS. ELISAPI DAVIDEE ANIGMIUQ: It's a 18 day program.

19 MS. CARLY TEILLET: A day program?

20 MS. ELISAPI DAVIDEE ANIGMIUQ: It
21 starts at -- we open at 9:00 and open till 5:00 for our 22 day programs. And then we have the two evening programs 23 in cultural skill development and also the Saturday for 24 the cultural skills.

25 MS. CARLY TEILLET: Okay. And so,

1 women who have come up with nothing, who are -- have 2 experienced violence, where do they go when your drop-in 3 program is finished, do you know?

4 MS. ELISAPI DAVIDEE ANIGMIUQ: Where 5 do they go?

6 MS. CARLY TEILLET: Where do they go?
7 Like, where can they spend the night? Is there somewhere 8 -- is there a shelter in Iqaluit they can go to?

9 MS. ELISAPI DAVIDEE ANIGMIUQ:
10 Unfortunately, a lot of times, it is the choice of the 11 women. We have been able to make referrals when we have 12 to. But, a lot of times, if they are not asking for the 13 help, we can't force them either.

14 MS. CARLY TEILLET: Okay. So, when 15 children are removed from women or when women come because 16 they are escaping violence, do you have specific funding 17 or programs to deal with that?

18 MS. ELISAPI DAVIDEE ANIGMIUQ: Not 19 that in particular.

20 MS. CARLY TEILLET: Okay. Would that 21 be helpful?

22 MS. ELISAPI DAVIDEE ANIGMIUQ: That 23 would be helpful. But, it would take, you know, more 24 human resources.

25 MS. CARLY TEILLET: Of course.

1                   MS. ELISAPI DAVIDEE ANIGMIUQ: Yes.

2                   MS. CARLY TEILLET: Of course. I have 3 the pleasure of going last. So many of my excellent
4 colleagues have already asked lots of my questions, so I 5 will be trying to narrow in on some specific areas. And 6 so, I would like to jump to talk a little bit about the 7 importance of language and -- in your funding proposals.

8                   So, specifically, you mentioned the 9 word "love" in a community proposal. And, you said that 10 that funding proposal was screened, and you were told that 11 the word "love" shouldn't be part of the proposal, that 12 that word had to be erased. And so, I want to ask you a 13 little bit about the importance of language in those 14 proposals and how funding is still being used as a tool of 15 colonial violence.

16                   I'm going to start by sharing. My 17 clients provide services for Indigenous women in 18 Vancouver's downtown Eastside. We -- one of my clients 19 have a drop-in shelter with 300 women that come every 20 night because they have nowhere else to go. They have 21 described the process of applying for funding as a form of 22 colonization, those were their words.

23                   They said that the funding determines 24 the programs and services that are offered, and that the 25 services tend to respond to the funding instead of being

1           what the community really needs, and that they are having 2           to take their truth, the truth of their experience, their 3           lived experience and the needs of their communities are 4           being erased, like the word "love", or having to be 5           sculpted to fit into what people want to fund. And, they 6           are saying this is harmful.

7                               And so, I'm wondering about that 8           specific example of erasing "love" from your proposal, 9           that you talked about community consultation. And, it 10          seems if you put love in a proposal, there was a need for 11          funding for love. And so, would you agree that having to 12          shape these proposals in a way where you actually get the 13          funding means that important things like love get left off 14          to the side and that can be harmful?

15                           MS. ELISAPI DAVIDEE ANIGMIUQ: I'm 16          glad that you asked that question. I have been doing 17          healing retreats and healing programs even before the 18          creation of the centre that I am currently doing the 19          programs in, there's other programs. But, years ago, I 20          was talking to a friend, and we were saying that, "You 21          know, what a great thing it would be if there was a love 22          centre for children." And, I'll elaborate a little bit on 23          that, because I think the first years of your life really 24          shapes you to become the adult that you can become in a 25          healthy way.

1                   So, I think a love centre just where 2 children can receive love would be a really -- you know, a 3 valuable place to be, because there are a lot of children
4 who don't receive love, who don't receive the hugs, you 5 know, who don't just feel that presence of being 6 themselves and being children while they are children.

7                   MS. CARLY TEILLET: That's a wonderful 8 idea. Now, a lot of people have brought up the issue of 9 short-term funding. And so, I just want to ask something 10 kind of specific about that. When we're dealing with 11 bigger issues, kind of larger issues of the massive impact 12 of colonization on our Indigenous people, on our 13 communities, are you able to do long-term bigger projects 14 to actually make change and heal from generations of 15 trauma with this short-term funding?

16                   MS. ELISAPI DAVIDEE ANIGMIUQ: I think 17 even the short-term funding can be, like, the starting 18 point ---

19                   MS. CARLY TEILLET: Okay.

20                   MS. ELISAPI DAVIDEE ANIGMIUQ: --- to 21 create more bigger things. But, it really also depends 22 on, you know, if they are granted the funding. So, it's 23 important -- like I said yesterday, it's important for us 24 to be understood rather than as always trying to be the 25 ones to understand.

1                   MS. CARLY TEILLET: Thank you. I
2 would like to turn to ask some questions about the QTC.
3 So, Inukshuk and Hagar, yesterday you mentioned that many 4 of the recommendations of this report have yet to be 5 implemented. And, the report was issued in 2013, so we 6 are now five years later and you are still working on 7 implementing some of the recommendations; is that right?

8                   MS. INUKSHUK AKSALNIK: Yes.

9                   MS. CARLY TEILLET: Okay. So, in 10 Vancouver, we had the Missing Women's Inquiry Commission.
11 It was also called the Opal Commission or the Picton 12 Inquiry looking into the murdered and missing women in the 13 Vancouver's downtown Eastside. And, they produced a 14 report in 2012. It is now six years later and many of 15 those recommendations have not been implemented. And, 16 here we are again looking to make more recommendations.

17                   But, I believe you hold this wonderful 18 knowledge of trying to implement recommendations. And so, 19 I'm hoping you can share with us some lessons you have 20 learned on the other side of the report. So, you have 21 recommendations in hand, how do you get them? What has 22 worked to get them implemented?

23                   MS. INUKSHUK AKSALNIK: Through meaningful 24 collaboration by all parties, by all -- like just by 25 working together. And, I think I mentioned this

1 yesterday, just breaking the cycle of the silos of public, 2 territorial governments and Inuit organizations. So, by 3 working together we can implement some of these 4 recommendations that do call upon the Government of Canada
5 and the Government of Nunavut and working with QIA. And, 6 of course some of these ones, like Hagar had mentioned, we 7 will always advocate for, such as housing.

8 MS. CARLY TEILLET: Okay. So, if 9 collaboration is the goal to get them implemented, are 10 there things that you have tried to get recommendations 11 implemented that have not worked?

12 MS. INUKSHUK AKSALNIK: Sorry?

13 MS. CARLY TEILLET: Are there steps that 14 you have taken to try and get the recommendation done, to 15 check it off, that have not worked?

16 MS. INUKSHUK AKSALNIK: I don't think so.

17 MS. CARLY TEILLET: Okay.

18 MS. INUKSHUK AKSALNIK: Yes.

19 MS. CARLY TEILLET: Thank you. That's my 20 time. Thank you very much. Tashi.

21 MS. LILLIAN LUNDRIGAN: Thank you, Carly.
22 That concludes the cross-examination of the parties with 23 standing. If we can ask for a few minutes for counsel to 24 ask a couple of re-direct questions to the panel.

25 CHIEF COMMISSIONER MARION BULLER: Do you

1 want to do that before or after our morning break?

2 MS. LILLIAN LUNDRIGAN: What is easiest for 3 you?

4 CHIEF COMMISSIONER MARION BULLER: It's 5 unanimous up here. Let's take the break. 15 minutes, 6 please.

7 --- Upon recessing at 10:12

8 --- Upon resuming at 10:33

9 MS. LILLIAN LUNDRIGAN: If we can get 10 started again, please. So, for Commission Counsel to re-11 direct, we don't -- I don't think we are going to need the 12 full allotted time. We just have a couple -- a question 13 or two. So, if Registrar can put 20 minutes on the clock, 14 we can begin.

15 --- RE-EXAMINATION BY MS. VIOLET FORD:

16 MS. VIOLET FORD: Thank you. My re-direct 17 question is to either Hagar or Inukshuk, or both.
18 Yesterday, we were talking about power relationships
19 between Inuit and government agencies, including the RCMP
20 and others. In the Nuutauniq Report, where they talk 21 about moves into the communities and relocations, the 22 report outlines that there were cross-cultural challenges
23 to the interpretation of consent and what affected
24 consent. And, the report indicates that government 25 agencies, and others such as nurses, believe that

1 relocations were -- they were consented to by Inuit
2 because Inuit never said, I will not go.

3 Now, before the relocations, there was 4 already an established power relationship between the RCMP 5 and the government agencies and Inuit at the time of those 6 relocations. And, yesterday, there was much discussion on 7 the whole concept around intimidation and fear of Inuit 8 from those type of authorities and others in power. And, 9 my question is a question of recommendation, what 10 recommendation, if any, could you give to the 11 Commissioners around the whole cross-cultural complexities 12 of the concept of consent? And, what would you recommend 13 to the Commissioners around those cross-cultural 14 challenges of consent and the future building of 15 relationships between Inuit and governments in the future?

16 MS. INUKSHUK AKSALNIK: Violet, can you 17 ask that again? Sorry. I just want to write a couple of 18 things down.

19 MS. VIOLET FORD: I won't give the 20 background again, I'll just ask the question. What 21 recommendation would you give, if you had any 22 recommendation to give, to the Commissioners as to the 23 future way of receiving consent from Inuit regarding any 24 future relationships or relationship building between 25 Inuit and government agencies because of the complexities

1 around cross-cultural ways of showing consent, that the 2 RCMP and others misinterpreted in the past. What would 3 you change or what would you recommend how those agencies
4 obtain consent from Inuit?

5 MS. INUKSHUK AKSALNIK: I think by 6 providing a really good and comprehensive orientation into 7 Inuit culture, which is actually one of the 8 recommendations that the QTC Commissioner made, because 9 like in the Nuutauniq Thematic Report, qallunaat may have 10 mistaken silence or withdrawing as compliance, which is 11 not true or which didn't happen or which did happen. And 12 so, that is one of the things that, personally, I am very 13 passionate about is ensuring that newcomers to Nunavut 14 have a proper orientation into who we are.

15 MS. VIOLET FORD: Hagar.

16 MS. HAGAR IDLOUT-SUDLOVENICK: Nakurmiik.
17 One -- I think one of the -- it's the cross-cultural 18 differences. I think that is often the -- I think we need 19 to orientate the people that come to our regions, to make 20 sure that they recognize and respect Inuit culture through 21 education, through orientation, or if you are going to go 22 to another community or region, try to give them 23 orientation as to their way of living and what their 24 cultures are, and what the problem have been. ...and these 25 are the things that should be looked at, just like the 1 government has produced some written materials on the 2 problems that we faced. There's some reports available.

3 If they can look over these reports, or -- because we can 4 correct these -- some of these wrongdoings or 5 misunderstandings. That's the way I would say it.

6 Don't repeat the past wrongs, because if 7 this still happens. Get a bit of knowledge of, you know, 8 who Inuit are, what our communities are, and also, working 9 with people, work in partnership, work in collaboration, 10 so that the mistakes are not repeated from the past. That 11 will be my recommendation.

12 MS. VIOLET FORD: Nakurmiik to both of you.
13 Thanks.

14 That's my question -- time.

15 MS. LILLIAN LUNDRIGAN: Qujannamiik. I 16 don't have any re-direct questions for my witness. So if 17 you want to -- if the Commissioners have any questions for 18 Elisapi, Hagar and Inukshuk, you may begin.

19 CHIEF COMMISSIONER MARION BULLER: Just so
20 that the record is clear, the first Commissioner to cross-21 examine is our dear colleague, Commissioner Dr. Audette, 22 followed by Commissioner Eyolfson, then myself, and 23 Commissioner Robinson will be the last.

24 Go ahead, Michèle. Doctor.

25 COMMISSIONER MICHÈLE AUDETTE: Merci

1 beaucoup.

2 --- QUESTIONS BY COMMISSAIRE MICHÈLE AUDETTE:

3 COMMISSAIRE MICHÈLE AUDETTE: Alors, je
4 vous entends, mais je ne vous vois pas car l'image est
5 gelée. Vous avez un très beau visage, une chance.

6 Alors, suite à vos témoignages hier dans le 7 courant de la journée, vous avez parlé de l'impact du 8 colonialisme et où ça m'a vraiment frappé, et c'était la 9 première fois que j'entendais de façon... dans le cadre
10 des audiences de l'Enquête nationale, que le gouvernement 11 fédéral, déjà en 1958, était au courant de la violence
12 sexuelle, des abus envers les femmes, et je crois que
13 c'est Hagar qui a souligné une série de situations
14 auxquelles les femmes Inuit, soit par le viol ou abus 15 sexuel ou violence, qu'elles auraient subi.

16 Ma question pour Hagar, est-ce que...

17 CHIEF COMMISSIONER MARION BULLER: Michèle?

18 COMMISSAIRE MICHÈLE AUDETTE: Oui?

19 COMMISSAIRE EN CHEF MARION BULLER: Un
20 moment, s'il vous plaît. The witnesses need their 21 headsets, les écouteurs, and you'll have to start again, 22 please, when they're ready.

23 Okay.

24 COMMISSAIRE MICHÈLE AUDETTE: O.k.

25 CHIEF COMMISSIONER MARION BULLER: Okay.

1                   COMMISSAIRE MICHÈLE AUDETTE: Faites-moi
2                   signe parce que l'écran ici est gelé, les visages des 3                   témoins.

4                   CHIEF COMMISSIONER MARION BULLER: Can you
5                   start again with your question, please? We're ready.

6                   COMMISSAIRE MICHÈLE AUDETTE: Maintenant?

7                   COMMISSAIRE EN CHEF MARION BULLER: Oui.

8                   COMMISSAIRE MICHÈLE AUDETTE: Parfait.

9                   Alors, comme je disais dans mon
10                  introduction, malheureusement, je ne peux pas vous voir 11                  car... parce que vous avez... l'image du Skype, vous êtes 12                  frozen, gelés, mais vous avez quand même un beau visage.

13                  Alors, dans vos présentations, dans vos
14                  témoignages, vous avez parlé de l'impact du système
15                  colonialiste, des lois colonialistes. Et ce qui m'a 16                  frappé dans le cadre des audiences de l'Enquête nationale, 17                  on m'apprend hier que le gouvernement fédéral, dans les 18                  années '50, '60, était au courant que des femmes Inuit 19                  vivaient une violence sexuelle, le viol ou une 20                  exploitation sexuelle.

21                  Déjà là, dans ces années-là, vous nous 22                  partagez que le gouvernement est au courant, même un 23                  officier, un policier de la GRC dénonce l'exploitation 24                  émotionnelle et sexuelle envers les femmes Inuit.

25                  Ma question s'adresse... je crois que c'est

1 Hagar qui a présenté cette série de situations dans ces
2 années-là. Est-ce que depuis, le gouvernement a réparé
3 les torts faits envers les femmes Inuit suite à ces 4 dénonciations-là?

5 MS. HAGAR IDLOUT-SUDLOVENICK: I don't 6 believe that it has. I don't believe there has been any 7 acknowledgement. As I mentioned yesterday, on all those 8 QTC recommendations on the report, we still have not 9 received acknowledgement. That's what QIA was asking for.
10 The acknowledgement piece is asking the government to 11 acknowledge what is the content of this report, but to 12 date, we still have not received that.

13 COMMISSAIRE MICHÈLE AUDETTE: Dans ce cas,
14 est-ce que l'Enquête, comme commissaires, nous devons 15 amener comme recommandation de faire suite au rapport à 16 QTC auprès des autorités fédérales?

17 MS. HAGAR IDLOUT-SUDLOVENICK: I believe
18 so. I think we -- QIA has been asking for (speaking 19 Inuktitut) -- has been asking for the acknowledgement and 20 apology. And I think that, you know, this would be just 21 another avenue that would help us, you know, get to what 22 we have been seeking. Qujannamiik.

23 COMMISSAIRE MICHÈLE AUDETTE: Merci
24 beaucoup. Merci.

25 Au Québec, les Inuits, ma compréhension,

1       sont reconnus comme des municipalités, les villages,
2       depuis la Convention de la Baie James.

3               Est-ce qu'à travers tout le Canada où il y
4       a les Inuits dans leurs villages et leurs communautés,
5       est-ce que les institutions financières canadiennes sont
6       très actives pour financer le logement? Vous avez souvent
7       parlé du logement, de l'habitation, et des avocats, en
8       contre-interrogation ont mentionné aussi les enjeux 9       entourant la question du logement.

10              Est-ce que les institutions financières
11       canadiennes vous financent de façon active pour contrer 12       cette pénurie-là ou cette réalité-là?

13              MS. HAGAR IDLOUT-SUDLOVENICK: It's kind of 14       hard to answer that in one answer, I think, because the 15       housing we talked about is public housing, or social 16       housing. So the stats are responsible -- the Nunavut
17       Housing Corporation, through funding from CMHC.

18              The Homeownership and Other Form of Housing
19       Limited, you know -- we all know that in order to get a 20       mortgage you need to -- you know, from a financial 21       institution, you need to have a steady job, you need to 22       have income. And often, in the smaller communities, you 23       know, it's -- the implement rate is very low. High 24       unemployment, so to seek, you know, a mortgage, that's 25       near impossible. So they have to rely on public housing

1 or social housing for their families.

2 So -- and also, financial institutions like 3 the banks, many communities in Nunavut, in -- 4 particularly, (indiscernible) region, do not have banks in 5 their communities. You know, the main one we have is in 6 Iqaluit and Rankin, as far as I know, Cambridge Bay.
7 Other communities, you know, it's absent in -- you know, 8 you just can't go down the street and go to a bank and 9 apply for a mortgage; it's just not possible.

10 So those are some of the limits -- 11 limitations that people face. I know that most southern 12 Canadians do not -- you know, it's not an issue for them.
13 But this is, you know, this -- some of the impediments to 14 better housing, even if you had a job, you know, just 15 trying to get a mortgage you're having to go through 16 electronic means sometimes. Again, there's other areas 17 that comes up, another issue is broadband and so forth.
18 So they can access, you know, mortgages, but again, it's 19 through limited means.

20 --- SHORT PAUSE

21 COMMISSAIRE MICHÈLE AUDETTE: Merci
22 beaucoup, parce que c'est important la réponse que vous
23 nous donnez. Comme vous le savez sûrement, un des 24 objectifs de l'Enquête nationale c'est aussi le volet
25 éducationnel. Les gens du sud malheureusement sont,

1       incluant moi, très, très perdant à ne pas connaître la
2       richesse du peuple Inuit mais aussi l'histoire, tout
3       l'impact du colonialisme qui se rend jusqu'à chez vous,
4       malheureusement. Donc, c'est important d'expliquer aux
5       Canadiens qui écoutent, aux gens du sud, les différences
6       comment vous êtes traités versus les Canadiens qui ont une 7       banque à tous les trois coins de rue, ce que vous n'avez
8       pas. Alors, ça l'a un effet majeur.

9                Pour terminer, vous avez parlé hier, des 10       témoignages très puissants, très profonds sur la culture, 11       sur votre richesse. Je m'entends; excusez-moi, je dois 12       couper mon son.

13               Et croyez-vous que les états, le 14       gouvernement fédéral, les provinces et territoires doivent 15       contribuer avec vous pour maintenir votre culture, vos 16       traditions et votre guérison pour faire en sorte que vous 17       ayez votre place au même titre que ceux du sud?

18               Ensuite, pour terminer j'ai besoin 19       d'entendre de vous, pour notre exercice au niveau du 20       rapport final et des recommandations, vous, comme experte, 21       quelles sont les recommandations qu'on doit absolument
22       mais absolument mettre dans le rapport final? Vous êtes 23       les expertes, pas moi.

24               MS. ELISAPI DAVIDEE ANINGMIUQ: I think 25       it's absolutely important that there is continual funds

1 available for people to regain self-esteem, resilience,
2 and dignity amongst the communities. And if we start now,
3 and we have started, but if there is more funding 4 available to deliver the programs that are needed in the 5 communities. It's so important to include the children 6 too as well, because they are our future and they are the 7 ones that need -- that place of confidence that they are 8 going to grow up loving, healthy, and positive 9 contributors to their families, community, and the 10 territory.

11 So it's so very important that funds are 12 available to all of the territory in order for us to gain 13 our dignity and to continue healing. It has started, but 14 it's just come a very short way yet. There's a lot of 15 work to be done to all the damage that has been done in 16 the last 50 years. Thank you.

17 MS. HAGAR IDLOUT-SUDLOVENICK: On the 18 second part of the question, about what is the most -- 19 what would be the -- what kind of recommendation would we 20 like to bring forward or -- I think in that -- in the 21 recommendation we would ask this inquiry about consider 22 asking the RCMP to examine the history of the forces
23 interactions with Indigenous women and girls in a 24 collaboration with Indigenous scholars. And fairly 25 shedding light on the darker historical moments in the

1 force's history, as well as times when the RCMP supported 2 our women and girls. It would be transformative for the 3 RCMP and serve knowledge the truth that you are hearing.

4 We would also ask that it be done quickly,
5 before more records and memories are lost. And this 6 history would be one way to serve those who have waited 7 for so long, to see themselves in the history of one of 8 the Canada's oldest and most pervasive institutions. That 9 was part of our presentation yesterday, so I'm just re-
10 reading that as part of the recommendations. Nakurmiik.

11 MS. INUKSHUK AKSALNIK: And if I may add, I 12 think one of the counsel had asked earlier -- so an 13 independent inquiry, while it's ideal, I think -- we think 14 it's important that the RCMP do an internal investigation 15 to look at themselves and how they treated Indigenous 16 Peoples, Inuit.

17 COMMISSIONER MICHÈLE AUDETTE: Merci
18 beaucoup. Thank you so much.

19 Very powerful recommendation. And I know 20 my colleagues are here with you in the same space, and 21 from here where I am, I will make sure that -- and we'll 22 meet next week in Quebec, and we'll continue this 23 discussion regarding recommendation of the -- well, I took 24 note of everything you said, and I wish I was able to hug 25 all of you. Nakurmiik.

1                   CHIEF COMMISSIONER MARION BULLER: Thank
2 you, Michèle.

3                   Commissioner Brian?

4                   --- QUESTIONS BY COMMISSIONER BRIAN EYOLFSON:

5                   COMMISSIONER BRIAN EYOLFSON: Thank you
6 very much. Elisapi, Hagar, Inukshuk, thank you so much 7 for your evidence. I have some questions for you. A lot
8 of the questions I had, have already been asked or asked 9 in part or perhaps in a slightly different day, and I
10 don't want to be repetitive, but I do have some follow-up 11 questions for you just to seek some clarification, if you 12 don't mind.

13                   Elisapi, you talked about when the 14 centre, ITC, was getting started, you talked about a focus 15 on factors such as wellbeing, dignity and self-esteem.
16 And, I know you have been asked a couple of questions 17 related to those principles and values, and the 18 programming of the centre. And, you have also talked 19 about resilience as well.

20                   I just wanted to ask you if you have 21 anything to add in terms of how the centre's programming 22 makes a difference in the lives of the people that access 23 that programming, in particular the lives of Inuit women 24 and girls, if you had any other examples or things to add 25 about how it helps. I just want to give you that

1 opportunity, any observations you have?

2 MS. ELISAPI DAVIDEE ANIGMIUQ:

3 Nakurmiik. Thank you. The centre has been opened for a 4 number of years now. And, I think almost on a daily basis 5 there is some kind of reference to Tukisigiarvik in the 6 community, just how valuable it is and the things that it 7 has contributed to the community and to the lives of many 8 people.

9 The centre, I think, sometimes it is a 10 very focal place for people that have no place to go. As 11 I mentioned yesterday, like, we have had to move out of 12 the place that we were renting, because development is 13 taking place in that area, and -- but the owners were good 14 enough to extend that for a bit for us. But, because we 15 have nowhere else to go, we have taken -- moved into the 16 (indiscernible) I hope just for a time, and I hope it's 17 not too longer than a year.

18 But, just last week, you know, some of 19 the people that come to the centre regularly were just 20 coming in, even before we -- because we have had to do 21 some upgrades to the centre, and they are telling us, "We 22 have nowhere to go." So, it is a very crucial centre for 23 the folks that are using it, people that are homeless. We 24 have a breakfast that starts (audio technical difficulty).
25 And, we have the shower and laundry facilities that people

1 -- that are used daily when we are open, the days that are 2 open.

3 And, for the other programs that we 4 deliver, I get constant requests or questions as, "When 5 are you going to start the kamik making program again?" I 6 get that very regularly. I get a lot of questions like 7 that regularly. So, the use and the importance of these 8 centres is so crucial in all of the communities, I 9 believe.

10 COMMISSIONER BRIAN EYOLFSON: Okay.

11 So, a major part of our mandate of the National Inquiry is 12 to identify practices that are effective in reducing 13 violence and increasing the safety of Indigenous women and 14 girls. So, in your experience, can programming, such as 15 that provided by the centre, help women and girls to be 16 less vulnerable to violence and increase their safety in 17 their lives? Can you comment on that?

18 MS. ELISAPI DAVIDEE ANIGMIUQ: Yes.

19 We have people from all walks of life that come to the 20 centre. And, I mentioned earlier, too, that sometimes 21 people will not seek help or want help unless they want it 22 themselves. But, when we see that there has been 23 unhealthy practices happening and it's visual, you know, 24 be it physical violence, then we can say, "Is it okay 25 that, you know, you -- that we talk to you and support

1       you, anything that you might need, because we see that you 2       have been in a lot of stress."

3                       And so, we are able to do that with 4       the people that come there, although they are not asking 5       for it, because a lot of times people are shamed -- 6       ashamed to ask for help. And, it's so important that 7       these centres also provide a place where there is 8       confidential entrances, because the type of the centre 9       that we are is a drop-in counselling centre, and the 10      people that we serve are mostly homeless, and we have more 11      homeless men in this community than women. Some families 12      will be hesitant even to come to a centre that they know 13      will help them, because of confidentiality, of -- just 14      confidentiality meaning just them going to the centre 15      discreetly.

16                      COMMISSIONER BRIAN EYOLFSON: Okay.
17      You also testified yesterday that land programs are so 18      important. I'm wondering if you wanted to say a little 19      bit more about that, about land programs.

20                      MS. ELISAPI DAVIDEE ANIGMIUQ: The 21      land programs really connects us to who we are. There is 22      no escaping for an Inuk in their culture and who they 23      really are. And, getting out on the land gives you that 24      space of reconnecting with yourself in a place that, you 25      know, nothing else but nature, nothing else but nature

1           happening around you. It is so serene and so, again, 2           healing and therapeutic.

3                           And, you sometimes have to be out
4           there in order to see it. It's very hard just to describe 5           it in words. But, if you need a time-out, that's when you 6           get the real time-out for a place that is going to 7           strengthen you, is going to give you that piece of space.
8           And, I have had people where -- we have had people out on 9           the land. And, we have had -- when it's our time to come 10          back, people say, "No, can we stay longer?" I have had 11          children that said, "I wish it was summer all year-round."
12          "Why?" "So we can be at your cabin." So, I think that 13          speaks volumes, and I think it's -- there's a lot of 14          learning that happens.

15                           There's a lot of community building, 16          team building with the whole family, children to the 17          elders. And, they learn a lot of safety. They learn 18          things that, you know, they are not normally exposed to in 19          the city, which is like nature walks, berry picking, 20          fetching water, how to even light a stove, how -- you 21          know, to make sure that before you get in the boat, you 22          remove all -- try and remove as much sand as you can and 23          stay away from danger areas. So, there is a lot of 24          learning out there. It's outdoor education, if I can say 25          that.

1                   COMMISSIONER BRIAN EYOLFSON: Okay.

2                   And, just to clarify, I think you also said at one point 3                   yesterday that, earlier on, you realized there was no 4                   support for single mothers and children to go out on the 5                   land. And so, have -- has that been able to happen then 6                   since then?

7                   MS. ELISAPI DAVIDEE ANIGMIUQ: Mm-hmm.

8                   And, I think it's happening. It's happening not only in 9                   Iqaluit, in other places too, that I hear. And, it's so 10                  important because, as a single mother, you are going to be 11                  very hesitant to ask a family to take you out if you have 12                  children. So, it's important, you know, that there are 13                  programs that people who are disadvantaged, marginalized, 14                  whatever, to be able to be in a program that they can call 15                  their own and not feel intimidated or a burden.

16                  COMMISSIONER BRIAN EYOLFSON: And, 17                  yesterday you were also talking about the example of women 18                  having to come to Iqaluit to give birth when they were 19                  eight months pregnant, and leaving their children where 20                  they could be vulnerable, and that also separations happen 21                  and that can do damage. I'm wondering if you could 22                  comment a little bit more on those issues.

23                  MS. ELISAPI DAVIDEE ANIGMIUQ: I don't 24                  think that I can really because it's, you know, away from 25                  my expertise, and it -- but it is something that I have

1       seen and I shared that yesterday.

2                   COMMISSIONER BRIAN EYOLFSON:   Okay.

3       Thank you.

4                   MS. ELISAPI DAVIDEE ANIGMIUQ:   Okay.

5                   COMMISSIONER BRIAN EYOLFSON:   I'm 6       wondering -- yesterday, you also talked about the lack of 7       mental health services.  You said that there were mental 8       health offices...   ...but they were so overwhelmed, there 9       was a long waiting period to see a mental health worker.
10      Are you able to comment based on your experience?  Does 11      the lack of timely mental health services contribute to 12      the vulnerability of women and girls, make them less safe?

13                  MS. ELISAPI DAVIDEE ANINGMIUQ:   Are we 14      able to, what?  I'm sorry.  I missed that.

15                  MS. BETH SYMES:   I'm sorry.  Are you 16      able to comment on whether or not the lack of timely 17      mental health services contributes to women and girls 18      being more vulnerable or less safe?

19                  MS. ELISAPI DAVIDEE ANINGMIUQ:   Yes.

20      There are situations that I have seen where men needing 21      help, wanting help, with the mental health here.  But, 22      when the appointments are so long and then they just say, 23      no, it's not worth it.  I can't wait that long.

24                               And, to be able to have that choice of 25      services to go to when you are in those needs is so

1 important. We provide counselling services, but like I
2 said, some people want a place that is more discreet to go
3 to sometimes, too. So, it's so important to have those 4 options. And, when you don't have those options, a lot of 5 times there's going to be more layers of stuff happening 6 inside you if you don't deal with it.

7 COMMISSIONER BRIAN EYOLFSON: Thank 8 you, Elisapi. Nakurmiik.

9 MS. ELISAPI DAVIDEE ANINGMIUQ:
10 (Speaking indigenous language).

11 COMMISSIONER BRIAN EYOLFSON: I think 12 I have one question for Inukshuk or Hagar. Going back to 13 the recommendations around the RCMP and the history of the 14 RCMP in terms of their interaction with Indigenous women 15 and girls, I think, Hagar, you referred to pregnancies by 16 RCMP officers when husbands were away hunting.

17 Could either of you comment a bit more 18 on the interaction between the RCMP and women and girls in 19 terms of the ongoing impact of that, what that interaction
20 has meant for Inuit women and girls, and what does it mean 21 today in terms of the relationship between Inuit women and 22 girls and the RCMP in your region?

23 MS. HAGAR IDLOUT-SUDLOVENICK: One
24 second. I guess I'll try and answer it broadly. Again, 25 it's based on the testimonies that were given, you know,

1 during the hearings. You know, some of these things, 2 these interactions did happen. I think a lot of it is 3 also public knowledge. You know whose father is who. So, 4 it's something that I think is quite known to a lot of 5 (Speaking indigenous language) these things did happen.
6 They are your own children that were fathered by RCMP 7 officers.

8 And, now, I think the policy is 9 different now, and I'm not sure what has been done to 10 address it from -- you know, from these -- from the past.
11 But, like we said on the recommendation, it would be ideal 12 if that can be -- you know, based on the research and the 13 history that was done, if they can re-examine that.

14 And then, I don't know -- to now, I 15 don't know if that has taken place, further examining 16 their policies or the past wrongs. But, as far as, you 17 know, the testimonies that -- you know, these things did 18 happen and then sometimes felt that they haven't been 19 addressed.

20 COMMISSIONER BRIAN EYOLFSON: Does 21 this continue to affect, for example, say, the trust that 22 people would have in the RCMP today?

23 MS. HAGAR IDLOUT-SUDLOVENICK: I think 24 this is one of them. There are many other issues that we 25 mentioned, you know, when it comes to relationship with

1 the RCMP. There are many other issues that also 2 contribute to that mistrust and the relationship that they 3 have today.

4 COMMISSIONER BRIAN EYOLFSON: Okay.
5 Thank you, nakurmiik, for answering my questions.

6 --- QUESTIONS BY CHIEF COMMISSIONER MARION BULLER:

7 CHIEF COMMISSIONER MARION BULLER:
8 Well, first, Inukshuk, Hagar, Elisapi, thank you so much 9 for being here. I'm very grateful to have learned from 10 you over the last day or so, maybe even longer. So, I'm 11 very grateful that you are here.

12 Hagar and Inukshuk, to start, I have a 13 question based on the document about policing, and if you 14 could turn to page 44, please? Just a few things I would 15 like your help with. Right at the top of the page there 16 is a quote from one of the witnesses, and in that quote, 17 it says, amongst other things, "If the DNA of RCMP 18 officers were to be looked at, they would be found 19 everywhere because people were forced for sexual favours.
20 We Inuit know that. When they accept it, the child was 21 told what happened in tradition, but with the RCMP, the 22 child would not be able to talk to the father."

23 So, I just have a few questions about 24 that, and maybe you're read other testimony going through 25 the various reports. Why was the child not able to talk

1 to the father, do you know?

2 MS. INUKSHUK ALSANIK: I think it was 3 because of the policy, that there were no interactions
4 allowed between the RCMP and Inuit women. So, even though 5 they may have fathered children, they were standing by 6 that policy of not being able to talk to their biological 7 father.

8 CHIEF COMMISSIONER MARION BULLER:
9 Okay. Then, it goes on to refer to that quote, that the 10 speaker linked the negative energy from the RCMP relations 11 with Inuit women to problems within families, including 12 abuse. And, we've heard testimony that husbands, men 13 would go away, maybe for TB treatment, and come home and 14 find their wives were pregnant, or to go hunting and come 15 back and find their wives were pregnant.

16 So, did that situation of women
17 becoming pregnant while their husbands were absent
18 contribute to the abuse that Inuit women suffered?

19 MS. INUKSHUK ALSANIK: Yes, I believe 20 so. Yes.

21 CHIEF COMMISSIONER MARION BULLER:
22 Okay. So, these children that were born of RCMP fathers 23 and Inuit women, were they accepted by their families?
24 Were they outcast? What happened to them?

25 MS. INUKSHUK ALSANIK: I'll just read you

1 one of the people who gave testimony, Elisapi Ootova
2 (phonetic). She told the QTC, "I have an RCMP father. I
3 am different from my sister. I am ...an illegitimate 4 child and it is embarrassing. I was so close with my non-5 biological father, and when I started learning that I have 6 a white father, when I started getting -- going older, I
7 was very agitated by it. And, that's just one testimony 8 out of almost 350.

9 CHIEF COMMISSIONER MARION BULLER: Okay.
10 Thank you. Elisapi, I have some questions for you. I 11 would like to learn more about the programs that you have 12 at your centre, specifically the counselling programs.
13 And, I noticed that you have counselling for incarcerated 14 individuals, does that include women and girls?

15 MS. ELISAPI DAVIDEE ANINGMIUQ: It could 16 include if the request came. And, how the incarcerated 17 individuals get counselling is through the phone system
18 with our male counsellors, because it's mostly men that do 19 request it. So, they either go to the Baffin Correctional 20 Centre here in Iqaluit, or if it's a southern institution, 21 it is done by phone calls with our male counsellors. But, 22 we are there if there is any other referrals from the 23 court, the justice system.

24 CHIEF COMMISSIONER MARION BULLER: Without 25 breaching any confidences, what type of counselling would

1           that be?

2                           MS. ELISAPI DAVIDEE ANINGMIUQ: I think a 3           lot of times, we think that specialized counselling is 4           needed for all, but sometimes that is not always the case.
5           Sometimes individuals will want just a listening ear, just 6           somebody that they can confide in some of the stuff that 7           they are going through. So, I can't speak for our men 8           either, because they don't share with us either, what it 9           is that they talk to the people that are incarcerated.
10          So, it's -- but I do know that it's very important to be 11          able to speak your mother tongue when you are going 12          through the counselling.

13                          CHIEF COMMISSIONER MARION BULLER: Your 14          centre also offers parenting and relationship skills 15          counselling. Can you tell us a little bit more about what 16          that involves?

17                          MS. ELISAPI DAVIDEE ANINGMIUQ: Right now, 18          we are running a program this year called Strengthening 19          Families program. It's a recognized program throughout 20          different places in North America, and we have been able 21          to implement that here and we have taken the training.

22                          So, we have parents, mothers especially, 23          and a youth program. We have sessions for the parents and 24          sessions for the youth or children, and what it is it
25          teaches communication skills. It's not counselling

1 sessions per se, but it teaches communication skills 2 between the parents and the children, and it gives 3 affirmations as to the strength that the youth might have 4 or the things that a youth appreciates with the parents.

5 And, it's -- there's games, it's like a
6 skill building program that is so valuable. In fact, I 7 think, you know, the first time that we were delivering 8 it, we said, I wish we had this when I first started being 9 a parent. So, it's quite effective because we can also 10 make it more culturally relevant if we want, and I think 11 it would be something quite strong to implement in the 12 communities, because it's so important to be able to 13 communicate with your children but we don't always know 14 how. But, same thing with the youth, how, you know, it's 15 hard for themselves to express themselves too, with 16 parents. So, it teaches those skills.

17 CHIEF COMMISSIONER MARION BULLER: How 18 often are these sessions held? Is it ongoing?

19 MS. ELISAPI DAVIDEE ANINGMIUQ: We have 20 eight week sessions, once a week. And then we can have 21 follow-ups, if they so request it on individual cases.
22 And then we are able to deliver these twice a year to 23 different people.

24 CHIEF COMMISSIONER MARION BULLER: And, how 25 many people can attend?

1                   MS. ELISAPI DAVIDEE ANINGMIUQ:

2                   Comfortably, about eight parents and little bit -- around 3                   there too for children, because we don't have the proper 4                   spaces to hold these sessions. And, when we hold these 5                   sessions, we also provide child care. If there are 6                   children under 6 that need child care, we also provide it.
7                   So, we need, like, three different sections to be able to 8                   hold these and it's important to hold the sessions where 9                   it's -- you know, you don't have the distraction of their 10                  children in the same building if the building is small.
11                  So, we have to physically hold the child care in a 12                  different location, where we deliver the other programs.

13                  And, we start with a meal. We start with a 14                  meal with all the groups, and then we break out into the 15                  sessions, and then everybody comes back. Everybody 16                  meaning the youth and the parents come back, and are able 17                  to share what it is that they have learned or, you know, 18                  whatever. And then the children come when we are 19                  finishing off, so the whole family get -- is together when 20                  we finish the programs.

21                  CHIEF COMMISSIONER MARION BULLER: Thank 22                  you. Two things you said yesterday I would like to 23                  clarify a little bit. I'm not sure if I understood 24                  correctly. You said that a lot of elders are -- this was 25                  in the context of mental health services and the lack of 1 timely mental health services. You said that a lot of 2 elders in communities were working underground due to the 3 lack of mental health help, and they were not being 4 recognized for this and not being paid for it.

5 What if anything would you recommend about 6 recognizing the work that elders do in mental health 7 counselling or helping people with mental health issues?
8 Do you think they should be properly paid, recognized?
9 Can you help us in that regard?

10 MS. ELISAPI DAVIDEE ANINGMIUQ: Mm-hmm. In 11 fact, years ago, and the elder has passed on now, was the 12 one that said, it seems like us elders' work is done 13 underground because people don't see us -- we don't see 14 them working, they are working at home, people go to them 15 or they give counselling over the phone.

16 So, I think, yes, for sure there needs to 17 be recognition of the elders that are providing the help.
18 It's so important to recognize and acknowledge the 19 services that the elders are bringing. And, as I said 20 before, a lot of elders have volunteered their time for so 21 long, their knowledge, their wisdom, and if we honour them 22 with -- you know, just honouring them, they are very 23 appreciative. They are very appreciative.

24 The elders are amazing. Indigenous elders
25 are amazing. I have grown to know, once we ask an elder

1 to participate, and as soon as they find out exactly what 2 we are looking for, they are able to contribute so much.
3 And, that communication needs to be very clear with our 4 elders of what it is that we want from them, because the 5 better that they understand, the deeper understanding we 6 will get from them too as well.

7 CHIEF COMMISSIONER MARION BULLER: And,
8 finally, yesterday, you were talking about homelessness 9 and couch serving that happens here in Iqaluit. And, 10 there was one thing I didn't quite understand, you talked 11 about safe homes for children, so that the children could 12 stay for extended hours. Could you explain a little bit 13 more about these safe houses, please?

14 MS. ELISAPI DAVIDEE ANINGMIUQ: What it is, 15 is there are homes in the community where children visit 16 and feel safe. They are not recognized. And, even when 17 we ask them if there were ways to help these families that 18 the children were extending their visits at, they did not 19 want to be recognized in fear of being retaliation, you 20 know, in fear of being approached by the parents, and they 21 just wanted to be discreet. They didn't want to be known.
22 They didn't want any kind of recognition. But, what we 23 did was we started supporting them with snacks, toys for 24 children, healthy snacks, bannock ingredients just to 25 acknowledge that, you know, there were contributing

1 members of the community and, yet, did not want to be 2 recognized. And, unfortunately, we don't have that money
3 anymore, but I'm sure it still exists. But, we saw that 4 when we were doing the community consultations.

5 CHIEF COMMISSIONER MARION BULLER: Well,
6 because they want to remain quiet.

7 MS. ELISAPI DAVIDEE ANIGMIUQ: Mm-hmm.

8 CHIEF COMMISSIONER MARION BULLER: I won't 9 ask any more questions.

10 MS. ELISAPI DAVIDEE ANIGMIUQ: Thank you.

11 CHIEF COMMISSIONER MARION BULLER: Thank 12 you so much.

13 --- QUESTIONS BY COMMISSIONER QAJAQ ROBINSON:

14 COMMISSIONER QAJAQ ROBINSON: Thank you. I
15 have a question or several questions. And, Marion asked 16 you, to Inukshuk, I just want to further add. And,
17 because she was asking in English, I will proceed to speak 18 in English as well. With respect to the QTC, and I'm 19 looking at the thematic report on policing, and I just 20 want to ask a follow-up question to Marion's question 21 about the issue of forced sexual favours for the police.
22 And, we have also -- you shared with us yesterday in the 23 report when it comes to the special constables talked 24 about just all the expectations and the demands that were 25 put on them and their families.

1                   During this process, was there any evidence 2 brought forward about sexual favours and expectation of 3 that of the wives of the special constables? It seems 4 that they were expected to do everything, and I'm 5 wondering if it extended to this.

6                   MS. INUKSHUK AKSALNIK: Not that I can 7 recall reading. But, traditionally, there was sharing
8 between families of spouses. And, I think when the RCMP 9 saw that or Qallunaat, in general when they saw that, they 10 didn't ask really. They didn't, because it might have 11 been agreed upon behind closed doors by those families.
12 In the case when the RCMP saw it, they didn't -- I don't 13 know if you can help me elaborate on this.

14                   MS. HAGAR IDLOUT-SUDLOVENICK: I guess 15 (speaking Indigenous language), you know, when -- because 16 they are talking about wife sharing, in Inuit society, 17 that had happened. That has happened, but often it's 18 agreed upon. It is consensus between the two men that 19 this would happen. But, that was Inuit tradition.

20                   However, when the RCMP came, they saw that 21 this was happening, so they assumed that was accepted 22 practice. But, normally, it was -- it had to be 23 consensual, in this case, by the parties. In this RCMP
24 situation, that did not happen. So, that's -- I think 25 that's one of the reasons why it has been brought up,

1 because, yes, Inuit custom did, you know, did that 2 practice, but it would normally be between the three 3 parties would have to be consensus among them. But, in 4 this situation, it was different.

5 COMMISSIONER QAJAQ ROBINSON: Particularly 6 because of the power imbalance?

7 MS. HAGAR IDLOUT-SUDLOVENICK: Yes.

8 COMMISSIONER QAJAQ ROBINSON: Okay.
9 Nakurmiik. There are so many findings and information
10 within the QTC, and I'm really disappointed that no 11 response has come from the Government of Canada to even 12 acknowledge the content. That being said, it's a 13 tremendous wealth of information and government, capital 14 G, may not acknowledge it, but agencies, departments that 15 are providing services in the north could gain so much 16 knowledge and do such a better job with that knowledge.

17 So, I'm wondering, just looking at the 18 community histories, for example, have any of those been 19 incorporated into, say, RCMP orientation, teacher 20 orientation or orientation for nurses going into any of 21 these communities?

22 MS. INUKSHUK AKSALNIK: I don't know what 23 the RCMP or NTA, what kind of orientation they have. I
24 can speak to what I have done as the QTC implementation 25 coordinator. We -- in February, there was a TB clinic in

1 Qikiqtarjuaq, and we were approached by the GM Department
2 of Health to orientate the first cohort of specialists, x-
3 ray techs and stuff going to that community to talk about 4 the history of health in that region, as well to give a 5 community history on Qikiqtarjuaq itself. So, that is 6 what we have done. And, it was very well received, 7 because many of these professionals, it was their first 8 time in Nunavut and their first time even dealing with 9 Inuit. And so, it was very well received. But, 10 unfortunately, I can't speak for the RCMP or the teacher's 11 association.

12 COMMISSIONER QAJAQ ROBINSON: Did you get 13 any feedback from the community of Qikiqtarjuaq and those 14 that dealt with the nurses about the quality of the 15 service they got?

16 MS. INUKSHUK AKSALNIK: Unfortunately not.
17 Yes.

18 COMMISSIONER QAJAQ ROBINSON: I would like 19 to thank all of you for reporting on the Qikiqtani Truth
20 Commission, and this is very important to our work, and it 21 gives more information, more understanding why the 22 situation is so (indiscernible). I think even without 23 mentioning QTC around 1930's up to 1970's, they used to 24 give numbers to each person as a project surname.
25 Although it's not written in the QTC report, do you have

1 any -- can you give us some information? My name is Qajaq 2 and they didn't have last name, and having last name is 3 very important. And, it has been brought up to us that 4 they had these numbers, dog tag numbers, like, when they 5 were having project surname. This has also hurt some 6 people. Can you elaborate a little bit on that?

7 MS. ELISAPI DAVIDEE ANIGMIUQ: I am Inuk
8 woman. When I was born, my name -- I was named Elisapi, 9 and there are a lot of part of my family -- I'm named 10 after some of my families, and my name is -- and somebody 11 asked me, "Are you Elizabeth?" I'm not Elizabeth. I was 12 born by my father -- when my parents weren't able to speak 13 English, so my name is Elisapi, and my name has been 14 misspelled in so many ways.

15 Then, later on they give us -- my tag
16 number is E7333, and my -- my friend whose name is also 17 Elisapi, was also E7344. We used to be called 344 and 18 333.

19 I don't think -- I don't remember being 20 hurt over that, but today, yes, it -- some people have 21 been disappointed being given some numbers. I don't think 22 anybody overly reacted in having a number, but it was the 23 wrong way to do it, I think, giving numbers to people.
24 And my parents -- I still have my parents' numbers. It's 25 called the Eskimo Identification Tags.

1                   And I have different names, and I've -- we 2                   have kinship names. And it's very important to us, 3                   because my mother -- I never mention my mother's name. If 4                   I'm going to speak to my mother, I just call her mother or 5                   father; my sister, my older sister, my younger sister.
6                   This is how we call each other, and that's how we learned 7                   to how we are related.

8                   My daughter is named after my mother.
9                   Although she is my child, but I call her my mother. And 10                  when I thought about how important this is, so next child 11                  -- and I keep calling them Ilnuk (ph), means -- meaning 12                  "son". And when I got another, I call him my younger son.
13                  And the oldest also call me -- who also call us his 14                  sister-sister, and he has a brother and a younger brother.

15                 And all my grandchildren, I try to get them
16                 to know how we call each other, us relatives, or kinship.
17                 And it gets us closer. Because I have uncles -- I have a 18                 lot of uncles in Cape Dorset, and I have -- I also have 19                 lots of cousins, and same thing. Because my mother had 20                 more relatives in Kimmirut Lake Harbour.

21                 So Inuit do get closer, and -- to see, and 22                 also it gives you an idea where you came from and who 23                 you're related to. So the kinship naming is very 24                 important. So I decided to look into it to be more 25                 interested and find out.

1                    Maybe I answered part of your questions, if 2                    it's the right answer.

3                    COMMISSIONER QAJAQ ROBINSON: The law or 4                    regulations don't recognize any relations. When we were 5                    in Rankin Inlet, someone was speaking that the kinship 6                    name meaning -- when the -- these institutions, like 7                    nursing station or police, when they don't answer or 8                    understand -- if the people that are administering the 9                    Inuit don't understand the way Inuit relations are in 10                   place.

11                   If a little girl is taken away by social 12                   services -- usually, when a child is apprehended, the 13                   Inuit family system is not recognized, and there's 14                   confusion. There's also loss or custom loss that should 15                   be recognized.

16                   If I should say it in English. The 17                   definition of family in laws, needs to reflect the Inuit 18                   understanding of family in relationships. Would you agree 19                   with me that traditional laws or custom laws should be 20                   recognized and applied in today's world?

21                   MS. ELISAPI DAVIDEE ANINGMIUQ: Yes. Inuit 22                   family system is very important, and the recognition of 23                   it. When we find that we are related, usually -- "Oh, I 24                   wonder how the families like what that person that I'm 25                   related to family is like and how we are related?"

1                   Being related -- for example, I'll use
2 Iqaluit as an example where there's a lot of people from 3 all over the world, and we have -- we call, for example, 4 if I have an uncle on my mother's side or an uncle on my 5 father's side, there's a different word for it. And if 6 you say my angak, again, that's an uncle, but we know that 7 it's from my mother's side. And if it's akkak, it's on 8 the father's side.

9                   They're both uncles, but when you refer -- 10 we have slightly different names which indicate whether 11 that uncle is from my father's side or from my mother's 12 side. And also, your in-laws, and -- it's still applied 13 today, and we have to apply it and teach it so that it 14 will be passed on.

15                   COMMISSIONER QAJAQ ROBINSON: And again, 16 we've been told on more than occasion, for -- on more than 17 one occasion where if you lose a sister, an older sister, 18 a younger sister, or a relation, the government should 19 provide counselling or addiction services. And usually, 20 it's on a one-and-one basis without looking at the other 21 members of the family. We have to look at counselling for 22 the whole family instead of focusing just on one
23 individual.

24                   And is that -- do you have a problem with 25 that up here too?

1                   MS. ELISAPI DAVIDEE ANINGMIUQ: Yes. For 2 example, this -- if one individual is seeking counselling, 3 and what I would like to see is not to just focus on that 4 one individual but also to include the nuclear family. It 5 would be a benefit for the whole -- the family as a whole.

6                   The counselling system in the European 7 culture focused on confidentiality, but in the Inuit 8 culture, we have a different system where you don't just 9 focus on one individual. If you focus on one individual 10 without including the family, the individual who is being 11 counselled is not going as far ahead as they can. We have 12 the family counselling program. We look at both the -- 13 including both the young or the -- and the elders.

14                   Again, we hear on the radio, and not 15 only on the radio, but also on other -- through other 16 media means, we hear news or an announcement, and then we 17 hear it on the radio, and then we say to ourselves, "I 18 could have helped."           COMMISSIONER QAJAQ ROBINSON: If 19 I was to make a recommendation, should we include focusing 20 on the entire family be it mental issues -- or mental 21 counselling or addictions counselling, should we recommend 22 that we focus on the family as a whole and not just on one 23 individual?

25 would be a benefit for the whole family and it would --

1 the confidentiality issue would be out, because if you 2 only focus on one individual, it contributes to the 3 breakage of the family. If it was possible -- and myself, 4 personally, I think it would be more of a benefit if we 5 focus on the family and not just on one individual.

6 COMMISSIONER QAJAQ ROBINSON: Looking 7 at the programs and services that you provide through 8 Tuksigiarvik, programs -- if I said it in English and 9 saying the word "program", it's like -- it's not like -- 10 it's what you do after work, it's what you do recreation, 11 and what you do focuses on the way of life. And, at the 12 Tuksigiarvik, you set up programs, does that hinder the 13 work that you do?

14 MS. ELISAPI DAVIDEE ANIGMIUQ: I can't 15 say a hindrance, but it's focusing on the -- taking a 16 holistic approach. I know exactly what you mean, but it's 17 not just a program. And, I do apologize that I am putting 18 in English words here and there. My life is not a 19 program. It is my way of life. Our life is not a 20 program. It is the way of life and that has to be 21 recognized. It is our way of life.

22 COMMISSIONER QAJAQ ROBINSON: It's -- 23 (Speaking Indigenous language). It's health and social 24 services. It's justice. It's corrections. It's all 25 those services that are funded by the state not on a year-

1 by-year basis. I think that has to be changed. And, I'm 2 not very comfortable with the word "program". I think 3 those are all the questions I have at the moment. My 4 gratitude is huge and I show you my gratitude. Thank you.

5 CHIEF COMMISSIONER MARION BULLER: We 6 have learned from people all across Canada, and now from 7 the north. Part of what we do, every place we go across 8 Canada, is to give our speakers gifts because you have 9 given us so much. It is the least we can do in return.

10 We were told by matriarchs on the West 11 Coast of Canada in Haida Gwaii to give all of our 12 witnesses eagle feathers because, across Canada, eagle
13 feathers stand for many things, but mostly to lift people 14 up, to hold people up and help them soar even higher than 15 they are doing now on those days that you can. Because 16 you are already doing such wonderful work, we want to 17 maybe even lift you up a little higher if we can with our 18 eagle feathers.

19 The eagle feathers we are giving you
20 today were donated by an elder in Regina, Saskatchewan.
21 He took his ceremonial regalia and took feathers out of 22 his regalia so that we could give them to our guests. So,
23 on behalf of all of us, the Commissioners, and I know
24 Michèle, if we could hear you, you would be using saying, 25 "Yes," -- no, you would be saying, "Oui, oui, oui. Moi

1       aussi." Thank you very much. We have learned a great 2       deal from you, and we are in your debt for what you have 3       done. So, on behalf of all of us here, staff included, I
4       want to thank you for what you have done and our gratitude 5       also to all counsel today. Thank you. And, we also have 6       some arctic cotton and Labrador tea for you. Thank you.

7                   MS. LILLIAN LUNDRIGAN: If I can make 8       a quick announcement too to the parties with standing?
9       Thomas Barnett is -- will be sitting at the Commission
10      counsel table. You can bring your numbers for the draw 11      for the next panel cross-examination at 12:45. After 12      lunch, you can bring your numbers to Thomas Barnett. And, 13      we will break for lunch and we still start again at 1:00.

14                   --- Upon recessing at 11:58

15                   --- Upon resuming at 13:07

16      --- Panel II: Indigenous Peoples' Resilience

17                   MS. CHRISTA BIG CANOE: Good afternoon, 18      Chief Commissioner and Commissioners, Commission Counsel 19      at this time would like to call our next witness. Just as 20      a manner of introduction to this territory, my name is 21      Christa Big Canoe, I am Commission Counsel, and part of my 22      job is to lead evidence of the witnesses and put evidence
23      before the Commissioners. I am very glad to be here today 24      on this beautiful land and territory. The witness that we 25      are calling next is Dr. Janet Smylie. Before we begin,

1 Dr. Smylie would like to be affirmed and on her own eagle 2 feather.

3 CHIEF COMMISSIONER MARION BULLER: Dr.
4 Smylie, do you solemnly affirm to tell the whole truth
5 today and nothing but the truth?

6 DR. JANET SMYLIE: Yes, I do.

7 --- DR. JANET SMYLIE, Affirmed:

8 CHIEF COMMISSIONER MARION BULLER: Thank
9 you very much.

10 --- EXAMINATION IN-CHIEF BY MS. CHRISTA BIG CANOE:

11 MS. CHRISTA BIG CANOE: And so, the first 12 matter that I would like to do is it is my intention today
13 to qualify Dr. Smylie as an expert. And, before we start, 14 is it okay if I call you Janet?

15 DR. JANET SMYLIE: Yes. Yes.

16 MS. CHRISTA BIG CANOE: So, I will be 17 referring to Dr. Smylie as Janet for the most part. And 18 so, Janet, can you just give us a little bit of 19 background, as comfortable as you are, about who you are 20 and where you come from?

21 DR. JANET SMYLIE: I am a Métis woman, I'm 22 a mom of six, grandmother of two and I'm a family doctor
23 in my professional life. I have been practising for 25
24 years, and for the last 15 years, I have also been engaged 25 in health research and Public Health research in

1 partnership with diverse First Nations, Inuit and Métis
2 communities. I currently sit as an applied Public Health 3 Chair funded by the CIHR at St. Michael's Hospital and 4 University of Toronto where I hold an appointment as a 5 full professor in the Dalla Lana School of Public Health.

6 It's also important to acknowledge that I 7 have had opportunities to work, and share and learn from 8 diverse First Nations, Inuit and Métis in urban Indigenous 9 communities both in my clinical work and in my research 10 work, and I have had a number of teachers, including my 11 mother, and my grandmother and my sister, and I currently 12 am a member of a ceremonial lodge for the past 10 years.

13 MS. CHRISTA BIG CANOE: Thank you. I note
14 that you had provided us two, not one, CVs, curriculum 15 vitae. Just a quick question, why two?

16 DR. JANET SMYLIE: So, for my work career, 17 it's quite paper dense. And, in fact, there are two 18 things that are needed in my role as a research scientist
19 and academic in public health. So, the first one, I 20 think, is a big CV that's for the University of Toronto, 21 because they have a special format of academic CVs and it 22 draws on something that I put together for my promotion to 23 full professor. And then the second CV is generated by 24 what's called a common CV, so the research funders like to 25 have that large CV.

1                   MS. CHRISTA BIG CANOE: And, I think 2 something that's fair to say is it is also large in girth 3 given the academic and written work you have done over the 4 course of your 25 year career. Is that a fair statement?

5                   DR. JANET SMYLIE: Yes, that would be a 6 fair statement.

7                   MS. CHRISTA BIG CANOE: Okay. And,
8 obviously I'm not going to make you walk through -- the 9 one CV is 55 pages and the other one is over 20, but I 10 think it clearly indicates that you do have a lot of 11 expertise in particular areas of your -- in your career in 12 health.

13                                 But, specifically, you had mentioned you 14 are a practising physician, family physician, and you 15 listed a number of the current leadership titles you hold, 16 but what are some of your areas of focus over the last few 17 years?

18                   DR. JANET SMYLIE: So, I have been focused 19 in applied Public Health research. I actually have been 20 involved in supporting Indigenous midwifery in Canada for 21 about 20 years. And, I like to say that I practise as a 22 consulting family physician in an Indigenous focus 23 midwifery practice now in Toronto, and I have been very 24 fortunate to see this most recent wave of growth in 25 midwifery practice and have been able to partner to 1 actually do consultations with urban communities about 2 midwifery, speak to knowledge keepers and elders in 3 Saskatchewan and Ontario about traditional Indigenous 4 midwifery, and also look to see what there is in the 5 published literature about Indigenous midwifery and 6 reproductive care.

7 I am also very interested in hearing from 8 First Nations, Inuit and Métis communities, urban 9 Indigenous communities, what their actual health needs 10 are, so I have engaged in partnerships with multiple urban 11 Indigenous health services and other provincial 12 stakeholders in Ontario to conduct detailed Indigenous 13 health assessment surveys that are actually run by 14 Indigenous communities.

15 And then the other thing that I have been 16 working pretty hard on is to examine racism as it happens 17 within health care systems and to try to figure out how we 18 can change that.

19 MS. CHRISTA BIG CANOE: Thank you. And,
20 again, they are very large, so I am not going to ask you 21 to walk us through it. But, in addition to what you have 22 shared, is there anything you want to highlight from 23 either of your curriculum vitae?

24 DR. JANET SMYLIE: I think in the non-25 Indigenous academic world, things that seem to be

1 important if you are a research scientist in academic is 2 publishing in journals and also getting research grant
3 funding, so I have been quite successful in research grant 4 funding. It's an unusual skill perhaps for an Indigenous 5 woman, but I am pretty good at writing grants for research 6 funders.

7 And then fortunately, communities have been 8 generous, so we always do try to make sure, like our 9 community partners, First Nations, Inuit and Métis 10 partners, hear first about the collective knowledge that 11 we gather, but also in partnership with the communities, 12 we have been able to publish some of those things in 13 academic journals.

14 MS. CHRISTA BIG CANOE: And, I know you're 15 modest on this too, but I noted there is over 100 16 publications ---

17 DR. JANET SMYLIE: That is correct.

18 MS. CHRISTA BIG CANOE: --- that you have 19 either authored or co-authored?

20 DR. JANET SMYLIE: That's correct.

21 MS. CHRISTA BIG CANOE: Chief Commissioner,
22 Commissioners, I would kindly request and tender both 23 curriculum vitae as one exhibit, please.

24 CHIEF COMMISSIONER MARION BULLER:
25 Certainly. Both curriculum vitae will be marked

1 collectively as the next exhibit, and that will be Exhibit
2 No. 14.

3 --- EXHIBIT 14:

4 Two Curricula Vitae of Dr. Janet
5 Smylie 1) CV dated August 17, 2018 (55
6 pages) & 2) CIHR CV dated August 30,
7 2018 (47 pages)

8 MS. CHRISTA BIG CANOE: Thank you. If I
9 may ask just a couple of more questions.

10 DR. JANET SMYLIE: Sure.

11 MS. CHRISTA BIG CANOE: In your 25 years of 12 experience in working with a number of these Indigenous, 13 as well as remote communities, you have had an opportunity 14 to travel a lot across the country. I understand you have 15 actually even done some work up here?

16 DR. JANET SMYLIE: That's correct. I think 17 this is my third trip to Iqaluit. Unfortunately, I 18 actually have only had brief visits, so that's my error
19 and challenge in terms of actually trying to get the gear 20 shifts of a busy life with the actual visiting life which 21 I will speak to a little bit later. But, yes, I have also 22 had an opportunity -- so working with Inuit community in 23 Ottawa was very early on in my career, so I had the 24 opportunity to actually spend time at the Inuit Family 25 Resource Centre, and my very first research project was

1 with Tungasuvvingat Inuit in Ottawa.

2 MS. CHRISTA BIG CANOE: Nice. And, just if 3 I may clarify one question. When you shared a bit of your 4 background, you had mentioned that you had -- that you
5 were a member of a lodge for 10 years. Can you just tell 6 me a little bit about the lodge?

7 DR. JANET SMYLIE: Sure. So, the lodge is 8 led by Elder Maria Campbell, she is a Métis elder, and I
9 met her in 2005 I want to say, 2004/2005. So, she started 10 this lodge 35 years ago, and that will be a big piece of 11 the testimony because I've been working with her on it to 12 share it here as a potential strength-based best practice.
13 So I've been in that lodge since that time. So that 14 includes includes -- yeah -- attending regular ceremonies
15 in Saskatchewan at Gabriel's Crossing.

16 MS. CHRISTA BIG CANOE: And I understand 17 that you will be sharing more about the lodge with us
18 later, but I understand that you won't actually be talking 19 about specific ceremonies of the lodge because that's 20 something that is not done sort of in public discourse, 21 but you will be able to speak a little bit about the lodge 22 in your testimony?

23 DR. JANET SMYLIE: Yeah, I've been working 24 carefully with Maria and then some other senior lodge 25 members so that I can share some of what we do. But of 1 course, even if it was appropriate to share the specific 2 aspects of the ceremonies I wouldn't be the one to do 3 that.

4 MS. CHRISTA BIG CANOE: Thank you. And 5 also, I know that we'll be walking through a slide 6 presentation later, and one of the things that struck me 7 is in every single slide when you've had a picture of 8 someone, you've explained to me that you sought the 9 consent of the individuals to put the pictures in. So 10 obviously, consent and working with people is an important 11 part of what you're going to be sharing with us today as 12 well; right?

13 DR. JANET SMYLIE: That's correct, and I've 14 -- yeah -- used a lot of images of my own family, and even 15 my 10 year old boys have given me permission.

16 MS. CHRISTA BIG CANOE: Thank you.
17 Chief Commissioner and Commissioners, based 18 on the knowledge skills, practical experience, training 19 and education as described by Dr. Janet Smylie, and as 20 evidenced in her curriculum vitae, I'm tendering her as a 21 qualified witness in the field or area of Indigenous 22 health, with specific knowledge in public health research
23 as it relates to First Nation, Métis, and Inuit; research
24 and practices as it relates to Indigenous child and family
25 health and well-being; midwifery and Indigenous midwifery

1 best practices; and as a practicing family physician and 2 teacher.

3 But further, I'm going to request, in 4 addition to qualifying Dr. Janet Smylie as an expert, I 5 also request that she's qualified as a knowledge keeper.
6 This request is made because of her experience working 7 with the Indigenous Elders at the Well Living House at St.
8 Michael's Hospital in her capacity as the Director of the 9 Well-Living House, in addition to -- sorry -- her use of 10 informing and connecting western medicine to traditional 11 knowledge.

12 And based on her practice with 13 Mitakwayataokim (ph), which is the lodge -- and I
14 apologize in advance if I've mispronounced it -- 15 Dr. Smylie will modestly admit that she is still learning, 16 but she has a requisite knowledge of ceremony and practice 17 to enable her to speak as a junior knowledge keeper in 18 these proceedings.

19 So on that basis, I please ask that she is 20 qualified as I have submitted.

21 CHIEF COMMISSIONER MARION BULLER: Well,
22 let's start with the junior knowledge keeper. I've never 23 heard that before.

24 Certainly, based on the evidence that we've 25 heard this afternoon, Dr. Smylie is more than well-

1 qualified to give expert opinion evidence in the field of 2 Indigenous health, with specific knowledge in public 3 health research as it relates to First Nations, Métis, and 4 Inuit; research and practice as it relates to Indigenous 5 child and family health and well-being; midwifery and 6 Indigenous midwifery best practices; and as a practicing 7 family physician and teacher.

8 And I'm not sure if I am qualified to do 9 this part, but certainly, Dr. Smylie has the knowledge and 10 experience to be a junior knowledge keeper, or knowledge 11 keeper in training. Thank you.

12 DR. JANET SMYLIE: Thank you.

13 MS. CHRISTA BIG CANOE: Thank you.

14 MS. CHRISTA BIG CANOE: Dr. Smylie, I
15 understand that you've actually -- for ease of walking 16 through the number of topics we want to talk about today - 17 - have prepared a slide presentation. At this point, I'd 18 kindly ask the audiovisual crew to pull it up for us.

19 And will you be able to see that one?

20 DR. JANET SMYLIE: Yeah, I can see that 21 one.

22 MS. CHRISTA BIG CANOE: Okay. Great. So
23 with that, I would actually just invite you to start 24 please.

25 DR. JANET SMYLIE: Okay. Thank you, very

1 much. It's an honour to be here. And I just want to 2 start by acknowledging the reason that we're here, and to 3 keep in mind, as I'm sure everybody has, all of those 4 loved ones who have been lost and their families and their 5 communities. And I also need to acknowledge Maria
6 Campbell and my lodge and the Grandparents Council at Well
7 Living House, who you'll get introduced to shortly.

8 If I could have the next slide, please.

9 This slide helps me self-locate, though
10 I've already been pretty self-located, but it also helps 11 me to acknowledge what a privilege and opportunity it is 12 to be here in Iqaluit in Nunavut in the Inuit territory of 13 Nunavut in the Inuit Nunaat. And what a beautiful 14 territory it is.

15 It reminds me to talk about my homelands on 16 the Prairie. So this is a little road near the place of 17 Gabriel's Crossing, which is our ceremonial grounds. And 18 I was actually out picking sage here a couple of weeks 19 ago, so it's a communal property farm. And actually, if 20 you follow that road down, you get to a very historic 21 Métis land site on the Saskatchewan River.

22 Next slide please.

23 And this is my family, and of course, these 24 were my first teachers. So that lady there in the white 25 cap, that was my mother who was born Mavis Whitford in

1       Saskatoon, and then in the middle there, that's my 2       grandmother, Ruby, who was born Ruby Whitford in a place
3       called Philip, Alberta.

4               We're having a little family debate about 5       whether it was a road allowance or actually just a 6       homestead on a settler's farm. So we'll hear a bit about 7       Ruby. And then that's Ruby's mother, Marguerite Sothay
8       (ph), who was actually born in Victoria Settlement.

9               So it's an interesting thing. I'll share a 10      tiny little about Métis people and Métis history just 11      because I think it's an important thing to do so that 12      people can understand the perspective that I'll share.

13              But I have an unbroken maternal kin line
14      and we're matrilineal. So sometimes that's not the way
15      that people think about Métis people, but I feel lucky
16      that I've been able to face maybe some of the internalized 17      external ideas of who Métis people are and learn a little 18      bit more about that kin line. And of course, I call on 19      those ancestors and all the ones before them and all the 20      ones that go into the future as I submit my testimony.

21              Next slide please.

22              And then of course, just a tiny little bit.
23      I understand that there may have been one or two other 24      people speaking about Métis people, but of course, we're 25      relatives to the Cree and other First Nations communities.

1 And we know that if we look at the history -- and in fact 2 we were called in Cree Otimpemswik (ph). And my 3 grandmother actually never told me that she was a 4 Y-dialect Cree speaker, which is why I stumble on the 5 words.

6 So I hope that there's at least one or two 7 people listening who have that gift of language still, and 8 I know I'll work my life to have a couple of words. But 9 the people who own themselves; right? And that was 10 because we -- at least a large majority of us we're not 11 Treaty people but we're related to and we come from Treaty 12 people. And then, of course, there's a paucity of good 13 images of Métis people. This one I like because it 14 actually shows the women at work as well.

15 And I can track my relatives. So we did 16 come from the Red River and then push out across the 17 Prairies in Red River carts, which was really my first 18 knowledge translation innovation. I was like what is 19 there that we use that came from Europe that actually 20 we've adapted? So these Red River carts, we adapted them 21 from Scottish carts, as far as I understand. And because 22 we didn't always have blacksmiths on the Prairies we would 23 replace the metal parts with wooden parts. So apparently 24 you could tell who was coming by how squeaky their cart 25 was.

1                   Next slide.

2                   So -- and then just so that people can see,
3 because I think we hear a lot about status. I certainly 4 do when I work in health information systems. But for 5 Métis people and my -- many of my ancestors, when I was in 6 medical schools in my mid-20s, I actually went to Ottawa 7 to try to find out a little bit more about my people, and 8 I always wonder about it. So I was able to get -- there 9 was a nice archivist there, so all of sudden these half 10 breed scripts started appearing.

11                   So anyways, this is interesting. This is 12 Marguerite's grandmother, Nancy Lebon, and this is her 13 half breed script, actually, from January of 1885. And I 14 guess some -- that was like a pretty big year for the 15 Métis because it's the year the Battle of Batoche. But 16 here she is going into the Half Breed Script Office.

17                   So again, my mother grew up probably 18 getting beaten up and getting called a half-breed. So 19 it's interesting -- and I imagined in my twenties what 20 would it be like to go into the Half Breed Script Office.
21 And there's others much more qualified than me that can 22 speak about script and what it meant to Métis people.

23                   Next slide please.....And so, then just 24 here, what's interesting -- so, again, because I said, 25 well, we're not all Treaty people. So, here you can see

1 Nancy Lebon (phonetic) at the age of 50 ceased to be a 2 Treaty Indian. So, she actually was a member of what was 3 called the Edmonton Stragglers Band, which is now known, I 4 think, as Papaschase. It's interesting because in 5 Ontario, then, I actually hid this scrip for about 20
6 years because I was embarrassed that my treaty ties were 7 to a band called the Half-breed Scrip, because I was 8 living in Ontario and it seemed like there was many 9 distinguished First Nations communities, indeed, there 10 are.

11 But, one time, my Auntie Maria, I brought 12 this scrip down one day because she was at my kitchen 13 table. Finally, I said, "Well, I have scrip. Have you 14 ever heard about the Edmonton Stragglers?" And, like 15 we're going do today, and -- she has a way sometimes of 16 turning things that one might be ashamed of into something 17 beautiful, and maybe that is the power of narrative in our 18 stories.

19 So, what she said was, "Well, those 20 stragglers, they were actually the ones that were really 21 resilient during treaty times," okay? And, you see, 22 because January 1885 was not a good time on the Prairies
23 for Indigenous people, for First Nations and Métis people.
24 People were starving and dying. So, she said, "Well, the 25 stragglers were the ones that actually could survive a

1 little bit longer during these very difficult times, so 2 they straggled in to sign treaty."

3 Next slide, please. So, that's a little 4 bit about my family. Just a tiny little bit about where I
5 work as well because, really, it's a collective effort.
6 So, anything that I share today is because I have had good 7 help and support and knowledge shared through my ceremony
8 lodge, and then, also, I have an amazing team of people.
9 I was speaking to them this morning, so all of those 10 different projects and things on the CVs, they are running 11 while I'm up here.

12 And, at the core of it is this Grandparents
13 Council. So, you will see in that picture there in front 14 of that beautiful Christi Belcourt mural, which we will 15 talk about in a moment, Madeleine Dion Stout, Jan Longboat 16 and Carol Terry. So, one of the interesting and strategic 17 things, actually, Maria Campbell advised me to do is when 18 I move to St. Michael's Hospital in 2007, I had to get 19 back to Toronto from the Prairies for family reasons, and 20 I was tasked with setting up an Indigenous health research 21 unit, she said, "Well, you should get a council of 22 grandparents to advise you on the research."

23 And so, what we try to do -- and, again, 24 it's very easy to put things into words, so I would 25 encourage you to talk to some of the different First

1 Nations, Inuit, Métis and urban health service provider
2 partners we had worked with. We're definitely imperfect, 3 but we do try to conduct Indigenous-led. So, not only is 4 at least half our team Indigenous, I'm in Indigenous, but 5 also our community partners are Indigenous, and we try to 6 make it applied health research, because it seems silly 7 just to do research that isn't doing anything that has 8 tangible results. And, the focus is on nurturing places 9 and spaces where Indigenous children can find peace, love 10 and joy.

11                   Next slide. So, one of the things that 12 happened early on is actually -- I think we're the only 13 hospital in the country -- and correct me if I'm wrong, 14 I'd be glad to hear if there was another one, the only 15 hospital-based research unit that actually has a 16 Memorandum of Understanding with the Council of Indigenous 17 Grandparents. So, I actually have two sets of bosses, and 18 that's not supposed to be a very good thing to do in 19 mainstream business. But, actually, there is a Memorandum 20 of Understanding that co-governs our work at Well Living 21 House.

22                   So, I report to the Council of 23 Grandparents. And so, now you know them. And, if you 24 don't like what I do here today, please -- you can tell me
25 or you can tell them, and they will tell me. They know

1 that I am imperfect. And then I also report to the chain 2 of command, which really is a hierarchical chain of 3 command in a big hospital-based teaching research unit at 4 St. Michael's Hospital.

5 So, there, you see Jan Longboat at the MOU
6 signing ceremony. And then to her side, the guy with the 7 fluffy grey hair, that's Art Slutsky, who has actually 8 just stepped down as VP Research at St. Mike's. So, then 9 the next person beside them, Pat O'Campo, who has been an 10 amazing mentor has stepped into the acting VP Research 11 role. So, I report to the people at St. Mike's and the 12 Council of Grandparents.

13 Next slide, please. Okay. So, I think now 14 I'm going to just try to move into the core of the 15 testimony. I like -- I say I'm not supposed to be too
16 much stand-up comedy at such a serious occasion, but I -- 17 see, I like to challenge stereotypes about Indigenous 18 people not speaking that much or having a long pause time.
19 So, Christa and I have worked on this, and I will try not 20 to talk too much. A little bit of laughter, not too much.

21 Okay. So, what I was instructed to do and 22 inspired to do was try to present a strength-based 23 testimony, because I think that we have heard a lot about 24 the problems already and I guess I was hoping that this 25 would be a piece of the puzzle that I could bring. I say

1       that with humility, of course, because I work as a medical 2       doctor, so we are pretty trained at thinking about 3       deficit- or illness-based things. So, I have learned all 4       about strength-based by working in the community and the 5       ceremony lodge.

6                       We are also always bridging worldviews, and 7       I guess that is kind of where the core of the work is.
8       And, Christa hinted at that, like the core of the work
9       that we do at Well Living House is really trying to bridge 10      worldviews, so I will speak a little bit about that. And 11      then I just want to share some information about what we 12      need to do to optimize Indigenous family and community
13      wellbeing. And, I am going to start in the early life 14      space, share a Métis perspective on how we get there, and 15      then talk about the disrupters, the colonial violence that 16      has disrupted, what I believe, every First Nations, Inuit 17      and Métis household and community had and still has, which 18      is the ability to create spaces and places where infants 19      can feel love, peace and joy.

20                      And then the core of the testimony which, 21      hopefully, we will get to before too long, is just going 22      to be some strength-based examples, which I have had 23      permission to share today. And then finally some 24      recommendations, which I kind of have regrouped and 25      streamlined from what went out in the summary.

1                   Next slide, please. So, there is this 2 lovely quote. And, actually, it took me a little while to 3 unravel to the original source, and I was delighted to see 4 that it was Scott Momaday, the beautiful Native American 5 writer, around imagining ourselves richly. So, in a lot 6 of the work that I present on Indigenous anti-racism, we 7 talk about stereotypes about Indigenous people. And, of 8 course, even within my own mind and family and community, 9 those things can get internalized. So, as something as 10 simple as diabetes; right? But, then, of course, there 11 are other terrible stereotypes about us that kill us;
12 right?

13                   So, the strongest stereotype we have 14 evidence about this, about Indigenous people, is around, 15 like, alcohol misuse and other substance misuse. So, then 16 we get misdiagnosis in the Emergency Department. And, 17 somebody who is having a stroke or other medical health 18 problem that would be treatable is misdiagnosed as being 19 intoxicated; okay?

20                   But, what if we imagine ourselves richly;
21 right? So, this gift that we have, we are who we imagine 22 ourselves to be. The greatest of gifts is to imagine 23 ourselves richly, so this power of our stories and our 24 imagination and this strength-based approach.

25                   Next slide. So, the challenge that we are

1 facing -- and, again, my apologies. I'm -- my day job -- 2 my first day job was as a family doctor, so you have about 3 five to 10 minutes to try to navigate through and figure 4 out what the plan might be. I never worked that fast.
5 But, Approach A; right? Dig into what is wrong within 6 colonial systems and within our own communities as a 7 result of colonial systems fight to change colonial 8 systems and seek restitution; right? So, I think that's a 9 lot about what this Inquiry is about.

10 Approach B, we have the answers. So, the 11 answers lie in our communities. And, I am quoting former 12 National Chief Phil Fontaine when he was giving a plenary 13 at an Indigenous Health Conference. So, it's in our 14 communities, in our stories, in our lived environments and 15 in our blood memory. So, we all know, as First Nations, 16 Inuit, Métis, urban Indigenous people, what we need. We 17 have it still. We know what we need.

18 And, actually, just like anything else, the 19 truth lies somewhere in between; right? So, I'm not 20 saying one approach is better than the other. It's just 21 for this afternoon, if you'll indulge me a little bit, I'm 22 going to focus on the answers that lie in our communities.

23 Next slide. And, of course what happens 24 is, as we navigate, like, these challenges, not only are 25 we faced with these different approaches, one to, kind of,

1 change the machine, right, and seek restitution --
2 machines like biomedicine, the Canadian legal system,
3 they're pretty big machines. University systems; right?
4 And then the other is just to know that we already have 5 what we need in our communities. We also have to deal 6 with different worldviews, because they are not going 7 away; right? My European settler ancestors are not going 8 back to Ireland, right?

9 So what I'd like to do, and I use this 10 slide all the time, and actually did try to contact the 11 author or the cartoonist, so if anyone sees him -- 12 apparently he lives in Ottawa -- he can call me up; he 13 gets at least five big dinners.

14 But anyways, this slide actually refers to 15 tensions in the legal world and how we resolve them, 16 though it could be applied to medicine. And people are 17 nodding but -- because there's quite a few lawyers in the 18 room, I thought I would use this slide. And I think it's 19 actually quite useful to speak about differing world views 20 that also we navigate.

21 And also when I share about the ceremony
22 lodge, like one of the things that Elder Marie Campbell 23 has tried to do in that lodge is help us learn how to 24 bridge those things together. And I guess part of the 25 work that we need to do is to figure out how to bridge

1           these things together better, right, so that our women and 2           girls and two-spirit people are safe and can thrive.

3                       So this cartoon is actually based on a 4           famous legal case, the Delgamuukw decision where the 5           Gitksan people actually wanted their oral history accepted 6           of the land in a court of Canadian law. And here you can 7           see these two knowledge systems.

8                       And of course early on, and early on in my 9           work in medicine, my biggest question is how can I be a 10          Métis woman and practice biomedicine? Because it seems 11          like these worlds really collide. But in fact as we drill 12          down in specific First Nations, Inuit, and Métis knowledge 13          systems we understand that each one is diverse and 14          incredibly complex in a local way. And then there's some 15          synergies and some tensions, right?

16                      So, for example, like I work a lot with 17          counting; you'll see I even brought the Count from Sesame 18          Street in my slides a bit later on. So, like, I work in 19          numbers and health information systems. So some 20          Indigenous people say, "Oh, well, that's colonized, only 21          qualitative research, right, can be decolonized." I say, 22          "Oh, no, I think we always counted," right? Like, we had 23          to count or we wouldn't have survived.

24                      When I show this slide and we talk about 25          whether or not local indigenous knowledge of the land

1       should be accepted in a court of law, I say, well, what 2       would have happened if on my flight up her from Ottawa we 3       had to do an emergency landing? Like, what would I like; 4       all those books, right, or a local person that knows how 5       to survive on this land, right?

6                       So we just have to match the knowledge 7       system that we use to the challenge and the problem that 8       we're facing.

9                       And I'm fortunate in my work that I get 10      this opportunity to sit in between these knowledge systems
11      and try to bridge them back and forth; though, again, I 12      probably do that somewhat clumsily. But we'll see how I 13      do this afternoon.

14                      Next slide.

15                      Okay. So we've talked a little bit about 16      why strength-based. Let's speak a little bit about what 17      we need to optimize individual family and community
18      wellbeing.

19                      I was struck by a photograph of this 20      painting, which is actually a large mural which is 21      currently in the Thunder Bay Art Gallery but which is 22      owned by Seven Generations Midwives Toronto, an 23      Indigenous-focused midwifery practice.

24                      But one day I was very lucky at my kitchen 25      table to have Christi Belcourt and Maria Campbell, and she

1 had just painted this and she showed it to me and I was 2 just stunned.

3 And I'm going to speak a little bit about 4 the interconnections that I think are important for Métis
5 people in that we're woven into the fabric of Métis 6 families and communities, but one can speak but a picture 7 literally here tells a thousand words.

8 We'll notice the muskrats there so this 9 picture is named after the Muskrats, some which Christi 10 calls her helpers. So of course this is a bit about the 11 creation story.

12 But we also see, like, then Turtle Island 13 and then what could be a sweat lodge but what struck me as 14 a placenta, of course, because of my experience delivering 15 babies. And I said, "This needs to be in a place where 16 women are coming for reproductive healthcare, women and 17 their families."

18 Next slide.

19 Okay, so why do we need to focus on peace,
20 love, and joy in these early relationships? So why am I
21 focused on it? It's because when I started Well Living 22 House, this Council of Indigenous Grandparents, we were 23 talking -- there was four of them at that time, so Maria 24 sat with Jan, Madeleine, and Carol. We now have our first 25 grandfather, Albert Dumont. And I said, "Well, what's the 1 most important thing; where can we start?" And of course, 2 it's very overwhelming; if you start thinking about First 3 Nations, Inuit, Métis health, it can be very overwhelming.

4 But anyways, the guidance was that we 5 needed to focus on early relationships. If we could get 6 those early relationships right, then we would be okay.

7 And, in fact, the other important message,
8 though, is because many of us had different -- difficult 9 things happen in our early relationships, we can get at it 10 as adults as well, right?

11 So to know peace, love, and joy is to 12 experience a context, then, within which physical 13 emotional, social, and spiritual needs are being met. And 14 this is essential work, so that's why I'm focusing on it.

15 Next slide.

16 Okay. So -- and I guess the process, as I 17 understand it, in terms of human beings, so what we 18 actually need to optimize health and wellbeing, at least 19 in my understanding as a Métis woman, is these high-20 quality early relationships, because what that builds in 21 is a sense of love, security, and belonging. And then 22 that translates into a feeling of self-worth, self-23 acceptance, compassion and strong abilities to engage in 24 relationships. And if relationships is the fabric and 25 glue that holds us together, then this investment is a

1 critical thing.

2 Next slide.

3 So the other pieces of this, though, if we 4 start to layer on a Cree Métis perspective, is to 5 understand and experience our connection to this larger 6 web of family, community, and land. And of course if we 7 go out of the Cree Métis realm and look at psychotherapy
8 and other kinds of philosophies we'll find that this sense 9 of being connected to something larger is actually what 10 would be like current thinking in terms of helping people 11 who are feeling depressed or people who have been through 12 severe trauma or helping people who are feeling suicidal.

13 And, of course, as I mentioned if we can 14 feel this connection not only in this time and place but 15 across generations past, present, and future, it can be 16 quite powerful.

17 Next slide. Next slide, please. Yeah.

18 So the other pieces of it, though, are the 19 word "self" is always interesting. And, again, I can be 20 quite selfish and, like, I'm very good at adapting to some 21 perhaps less collective ways of living.

22 But what I understand, and what I get told 23 and sometimes scolded about when I think I'm doing good by 24 working too hard or not taking care of myself because I
25 think I'm taking care of others -- classic caregiver

1        syndrome -- is that I need to take care of my own
2        physical, mental, emotional, and spiritual wellbeing
3        because I'm no good to anybody, right, like if I'm doing 4        too much and running around and getting grumpy, right?

5                        So it's not actually selfless to be out of 6        balance and running around and doing too much. It's 7        actually important that I try to stay balance and grounded 8        because it will optimize my ability to contribute to the 9        larger wellness of family and community.

10                      And, yeah, we'll speak about this a bit
11        later but you can't fake those things, right? So, yeah, 12        one of my areas of development is to try to set balance 13        limits and not do too much. We live in a world that 14        encourages us to do a crazy amount of stuff, right? But, 15        yeah, my Auntie will know within about three seconds if 16        I've been taking care of myself or not.

17                      So this also, then, includes the ability to 18        understand and process emotions and manage behaviours so 19        that individual and collective harmony is maintained. So 20        as I raise I have, of my six children, five of them are 21        boys, right, and one girl. So part of my job is not only 22        to learn how to manage my own emotions but to teach. So I 23        have these 10-year-old twin boys, that you'll see soon on 24        the slide presentation, I need to teach them how to manage 25        their emotions.

1                   So on our kitchen wall -- I didn't make a 2                   slide of it -- is like a little thing from the internet.
3                   It's like how to manage big feelings, right? So, yeah, we 4                   have lots of people with big feelings in our families and 5                   we'd look at that regularly together.

6                   So taking care of all of our relations, 7                   including all living things, the land and the water, is 8                   another way of ensuring collective and sustainable 9                   wellbeing.

10                  So that's very briefly, in a nutshell, my 11                  early understanding of what we need to be well.

12                  Next slide.

13                  And then again, of course, one thing that I 14                  really love about my day job looking at health and being 15                  able to spend time with Knowledge Keepers and Elders from 16                  diverse First Nations, Inuit, and Métis communities...
17                  ...and then also my responsibility is to, kind of, look 18                  and see what's happening out there in non-Indigenous 19                  Public Health and population health science is that often 20                  there is synergies, and often -- well, I think my day job 21                  is a lot about actually just demonstrating what is already 22                  known in community. And, sometimes that feels a bit 23                  dangerous or disrespectful, because why would elders or 24                  knowledge keepers need me to do that. I think we need to 25                  do it so we can punch out a bit more space, so that we can

1 do the things we need to do and have the resources to do
2 it. But, I am always delighted when I see, oh, this elder 3 has been -- like, come about 200 years ahead, right, like 4 of what mainstream science is showing.

5 But, anyways. This bonding is important in 6 Public Health as well, and it's emerging is increasingly 7 important, especially in this time of epigenetics; right?
8 So, there is something called an adverse childhood 9 experiences study, and it's a large study, a cohort study, 10 those are big popular, powerful kinds in Public Health.
11 And, it showed that if you experienced adverse childhood 12 experiences, there was a disproportionate rate of chronic 13 illness and premature death among adults. That's a bit of 14 a depressing thing, that's why I'm not digging into it, 15 and it can actually affect our genes.

16 But, if we flip it around, right, we have 17 always known in our communities that it was really 18 important, right, to have this balance and harmony in our 19 home and that would set us well for our life. So, here, 20 we can see that what we have always been saying is now 21 something that's becoming increasingly important in 22 population and Public Health. Next slide.

23 And then of course I am delighted to be 24 here, as I mentioned, in Iqaluit. And, I had the good 25 fortune to work with Kappak Atagutsiak (phonetic), and of

1 course I am not saying her name very well. But, she is 96
2 now. I think she is the only person in Arctic Bay that 3 still heats her home with a qulliq. And, my very first 4 research project, as I mentioned, was with Tungasuvvingat
5 Inuit, also Métis Nation of Ontario in Pikwakanagan First 6 Nations, and I was interested in this understanding 7 knowledge, sharing knowledge which was called knowledge
8 translation then, in Indigenous knowledge, very ill-9 equipped.

10 But, what we did with that project is 11 Kappak (phonetic) had a number of relatives in Ottawa and 12 had been delivering babies, and there was no Inuit 13 specific pre-natal resources. So, actually, all that 14 happened is Kappak (phonetic) came to visit us in Ottawa,
15 and that was really smart, so I just spent the research 16 dollars having her come for visits. And, she knew 17 everything about how to share information in Inuit 18 communities, so I didn't really need to do anything. And, 19 actually, that's a picture, we made a CD-ROM because we 20 didn't have YouTube then, and she was perfect.

21 And, at that time, you will see in that 22 article, that came out many years later, Kelly McShane is 23 actually a professor in psychology at Ryerson, she was 24 doing her PhD at Concordia University, looking at 25 developmental psychology. And, she was all excited

1           because she said, well, Kappak (phonetic) is talking about 2           how it's both the baby and the mom that impact the bond;
3           right? That the baby is very interactive. And, she said,
4           this is cutting edge psychology; right? So, some of you 5           will know earlier on, the psychologists had been just 6           talking all about the mom in the role of bonding.

7                           And then, of course, as Indigenous people, 8           we have also known for a long time, and this has emerged 9           since that time as well, that it's not only the mom; 10          right? It's multiple people in an infant's life. And,
11          infants are so awesome and programmed. If I can't provide 12          my boys with something, they can get it from another 13          caregiver in their circle of caregivers, if there is 14          somebody with that. Next slide, please.

15                          And then later on again, I will spend some 16          time speaking on Indigenous midwifery, but of course, here 17          you see my friend and colleague, Cheryllee Bourgeois, who 18          helped me with this presentation as well. And, you can 19          see that she's talking about bonding and how important it 20          is. Next slide.

21                          Okay. So, we have -- perhaps I have tried 22          to present a compelling argument then, that this early 23          life space is the place to start, and it's the place that 24          has been a priority at least in -- for the grandparents
25          that I work with. So, how do we get there? And, again, I

1 just would present my own Métis perspective on that. And,
2 of course, there are my sons, Jay and Quinn, and that's at 3 their Cree naming ceremony.

4 So, I mentioned earlier, like my 5 grandmother Ruby, you saw her picture, right, and she -- 6 her mother tongue was y-dialect Cree, but in her whole 7 life, and she lived until her 80s, she never spoke Cree in 8 front of me or even told me that she was a Cree speaker;
9 right? She was born in 1918, in that place called Philip 10 (phonetic); right? So, she just didn't think it would be 11 a useful thing to teach her three daughters, including my 12 mother.

13 And, yes, I guess now I try to get my mouth 14 around some of those Cree words and I feel a sense of 15 grief and shame, but maybe some celebration as well. But, 16 here are my boys, right, getting their Cree names. And,
17 other people have been able to maintain our y-dialect Cree 18 language, like my auntie Maria Campbell. And then they 19 have their Métis sashes. So, they are getting those 20 things that will hopefully help them feel that they belong 21 and provide them access to that heritage that they have as 22 Cree Métis boys. Next slide.

23 Okay. And then again, because it's my 24 story and my perspective, you have to understand that, you
25 know, this is something that I am still trying to learn

1 and develop in my lifetime. So, there I am as a very 2 young physician, I worked at Anishnawbe Health. So, this 3 picture was taken in 1996, so I was doing a year of extra 4 training. It was funny, because I was called a women's 5 health scholar, but I wanted to do Indigenous health, so 6 of course we don't separate out the women's health from 7 the men's health. But, anyways, that little baby, Bonnie, 8 now has her own children and I have kept in touch with her 9 grandmother who lives in Toronto.

10 And, when I was at Anishnawbe Health, I had 11 that opportunity then to work with traditional healers, 12 and Jan Longboat was there as a herbalist, and I was 13 running around delivering babies. There was a lot of 14 things going on. I was anxious in my first year of 15 clinical practice, just feeling that gift that it is to 16 attend births. And, I said to Jan, well -- and I had to 17 do a research project; right? And, I said to Jan, well, I 18 need to do a research project, and I'm busy and on-call, 19 what should I do? And, she said, well, if you want to 20 understand the health of the infants, you have to 21 understand the health of the grandparents. And, that was 22 a bit overwhelming at that time for me, but it stuck with 23 me. So, what I ended up doing is asking grandparents 24 about infant wellness for about the next 10 or 15 years, 25 and I still do that. Next slide.

1                   So, again, in my, kind of, junior or -- 2                   like, learning knowledge keeper role and with that 3                   experience that I've had, what I would think is how we get 4                   there, at least in my kind of perspective, would be 5                   teachings from an early age about these natural laws or 6                   protocols, like about respect, honesty, truth, wisdom, 7                   love, strength, humility. Some people call those 8                   grandfather teachings. We think they are laws.

9                   Learning love in relationships from an 10                  early age; including everyone, which provides a sense of 11                  belonging; visiting and sharing stories. So, Dr. Anna 12                  Flaminio actually has a whole PhD thesis on visiting.
13                  It's a law thesis, she just published it at U of T.
14                  Connections with land in place, so connections with 15                  natural ecosystems. We see that in Christie's painting.
16                  I've talked about my kitchen table, I've talked about 17                  Maria's kitchen table, Maria will talk about her 18                  grandmother's kitchen table as places where you can find 19                  security and love. I'll speak about our grandmother's 20                  kitchen in a minute.

21                  Ceremonies, big and small. Experiential, 22                  and I put in quotes, "slow learning". There's actually 23                  slow and fast thinking now, in the pop psychology books, 24                  but I have spoken already about how I think that this 25                  quick pace that I engage in in my day job, I choose to 1 engage in that, these phones, and 200 e-mails and 2 travelling all around the place, coming to a place like 3 Iqaluit just for a couple of days, interferes actually 4 with what would help me get there or learn how to help 5 better others to get there.

6 And, in all of this, there is prohibitions
7 and taboos against violence. So, just in the same way
8 that I spoke about how actually taking care of my own
9 health and well-being is important, so that I can have a 10 better collective contribution; right? So, if I am 11 running around and start getting, you know, out of 12 balance, and my biggest flaw is then I, kind of, get 13 direct and grumpy with people, that's, yes, not helpful; 14 right? And then of course -- like, for others, sometimes 15 that escalates. There's other things happening, so we get 16 violent; right?

17 So, there was strong prohibitions and 18 taboos against that because it just interfered with the 19 collective well-being. We didn't have time for that.
20 And, there was ways of managing it, and I'm sure there's 21 other expert witnesses who have talked about that. Next 22 slide.

23 Okay. So, then, we have some disruptors.
24 And, I am just going to keep checking the time here 25 because -- it's good. Okay. So again, I don't want to 1 focus on disrupters because you've heard a lot about them.

2 But to name a few historic and current colonial policies -
3 - and I've actually had the opportunity to drill down on 4 those, as well as I could in health, and extraction 5 economies, inequities in the social determinants of 6 health. And these should not be rushed through, but I 7 think there's other people who have spoken about them, 8 right?

9 So right here I went to the store, right?
10 If it costs like, $10 to buy lettuce, or other healthy 11 food, right, like that's a disruptor and a social 12 determinant of health. If you have, like, a considerable 13 portion of the community that's food insecure, if you have 14 like, overcrowded housing, right? That's going to disrupt 15 because it's hard to live in balance and harmony when 16 you're hungry. Or you have illnesses and chronic diseases 17 related to an imbalanced diet because you can buy, I think 18 12 bags of chips for the same cost of like, making a salad
19 in this city. But again, I -- I'm just a visitor here.
20 So I think there's also a lot of fishing boats and country
21 food, right? That's happening.

22 Racism, the ongoing family disruption, and 23 so I estimate in the city of Toronto, 50 to 100 Indigenous 24 infants are still being apprehended in the first year of 25 life. And of course, we know in the City of Winnipeg it's

1 one a day. Deficit based understandings and approaches
2 which we've spoken about, and then these fast technologies
3 and lifestyles. Next slide.

4 In the exhibits, you'll see the executive 5 summary. So and we were encouraged. So I wrote this 6 report a couple years ago with a wonderful person named 7 Dr. Billy Allen, who's a professor now at the University
8 of Victoria. So I think that's exhibit ---

9 MS. CHRISTA BIG CANOE: Actually -- yeah, 10 if I may?

11 DR. JANET SMYLIE: Yeah.

12 MS. CHRISTA BIG CANOE: Janet, in the 13 materials, marked under the schedule as Schedule C, is 14 actually an executive summary of "First Peoples Second 15 Class Treatment". As Janet has just explained, she's one 16 of the authors. During a hearing in -- our hearing in 17 Toronto on racism, Dr. Barry Lavolie as part of his 18 evidence, actually put in the full paper and document.
19 But at this time, I would kindly request that we put the 20 executive summary in as an exhibit to Dr. Smylie.

21 CHIEF COMMISSIONER MARION BULLER: So
22 Exhibit 15, please.

23 --- EXHIBIT 15:

24 Executive Summary of "First Peoples, 25 Second Class Treatment, The role of

1 racism in the health and well-being of 2 Indigenous peoples in Canada," by Dr.
3 Billie Allan and Dr. Janet Smylie,
4 Well Living House / Wellesley
5 Institute, 2015 (20 pages)
6 Authors: Dr. Billie Allan and Dr.
7 Janet Smylie, Copyright 2015

8 DR. JANET SMYLIE: So we were encouraged as 9 scholars, by Maria, to actually drill down. So you can't 10 just have this black box of colonization. You have to try 11 to understand exactly each policy and how it effected our 12 diverse First Nations, Inuit, Metis, and urban Indigenous 13 communities across the country and we've just, like, maybe 14 been able to start that process. Next slide.

15 And then here, and you'll see in a minute,
16 we actually flip in my strength-based examples. We're 17 trying to flip and break this cycle. So I mentioned this 18 concern that we would all share about the ongoing 19 disruption of our families. Because how can we rebuild 20 like, a feeling of love, peace, and joy, right, and 21 security, and belonging, if our infants keep getting 22 apprehended, right?

23 So basically, this cycle where the green 24 circle is these underlying determinants of Indigenous 25 maternal health. So we have unmet material needs in the 1 City of Toronto. There's a housing crisis too. The work

2 we've done is showing that, like, over eight out of 10 3 families is living below the low income cut off, and then,
4 like, a lack of positive social supports. So people go 5 and ask for help, try to get healthcare and they get put 6 down, or somebody calls child protection.

7 And then, of course, mental health and 8 addictions can challenge people, as we're in this 9 multigenerational cycle that we're just recovering from.
10 And then somebody get pregnant in that context and then 11 they try to get help and there's a whole bunch of 12 barriers. So one of the stories I like to tell is about a 13 client I had in Ottawa who came to see me and she had 14 missed an obstetrician appointment, and the obstetrician 15 had called the child protective services on her, and 16 because she missed the appointment.

17 And I said, "Well, why did you miss the 18 appointment?" And it's because she didn't have bus fare 19 and it was hard to travel with her two other kids that 20 were under the age of five. So I think all obstetricians 21 and family doctors, and other health care providers should 22 have to take public transit across the city with three 23 kids under the age of five. And then they could keep that 24 in mind before they get upset at someone for missing their 25 appointment.

1                   You can see then that this cycle, because 2 what happens, and we know this, we end up embodying these 3 social challenges. And there's actually a whole field of 4 research about that. They used to call it weathering the 5 premature aging of African-American women in the 6 literature. Now they call it allostatic load and they 7 actually can draw blood and say, okay, you're stressed 8 out.

9                   And now we have epigenetics too, so not 10 only the allostatic load is all about showing different 11 hormones and chemicals in our blood, natural chemicals
12 like cortisol that occur when we're stressed out. But now 13 they actually look at our DNA. So it translates into 14 adverse health outcomes, right? But wouldn't it be a good 15 idea if we could address some of the underlying 16 challenges, even in this time, some of the unmet material 17 needs.

18                   And of course, other groups of people in 19 Canada have benefitted from this. So the idea that 20 housing first, right, is a national program and strategy 21 that was used as a -- so provide people with housing first 22 and then see if their mental health improves, right? So 23 provide people with housing first and see if our family
24 strength and integrity improves. So -- and then the cycle
25 just continues because the babies get apprehended. So

1 we're going to talk very shortly about how to change that.
2 Next slide.

3 Okay. So big breath, and now we're on to 4 our strength-based examples. So as I mentioned, the 5 answers lie in our communities, and I'm quoting our former 6 National Chief Phil Fontaine when he said that at his 7 plenary talk at an Indigenous health conference I happened
8 to attend in Toronto. And here I am, so this is the thing 9 that we miss, right?

10 This is like, this could be the plain -- 11 like, somebody just called me up, I'm not a skilled enough 12 clinician anymore, but there's maybe a small community 13 nearby that's short a family doctor. So they're like, 14 "Okay, Smylie, we need you to get to work. Enough of this 15 sitting around in conference rooms. Like, we're going to 16 fly you out to this community." So there I am. I could 17 land in that community and I can say, "Oh, by the way, you 18 know, I've been in practice for 25 years, I've had a focus 19 on young families. I'm very concerned and want thriving 20 homes." Right?

21 Maybe I could work with you to try to 22 figure out, like, which homes and which infants maybe need 23 some help in this community, right, and which ones are 24 okay, right? So if I was to use all my medical training 25 and clinical experience, and my fancy graduate degree from

1 Johns Hopkins, and all the like, non-Indigenous research, 2 like, say I'd never joined the ceremony lodge. I could do 3 that. And there's people probably that are funded to 4 that. I could spend five years doing a big project in the 5 community to try to figure out how to differentiate, like, 6 which homes and children might need some help and supports 7 and what supports they are, and which ones didn't.

8 Or -- this is what gets missed and the 9 answer is already in the community. In like, five 10 minutes, if I had the right connections and a knew how to 11 listen, I could talk to about three aunties in that 12 community and they would tell me the same thing, right?
13 So really sometimes we're spending a lot of time and 14 resources, and forgetting, like, about that. That's that 15 same thing I say.

16 My auntie Maria comes, and she can know
17 within like, 10 seconds, what my personal health and well-18 being is, right? But because I spent a lot of my time 19 trying to figure out how to assess health and well-being, 20 right, we should not underestimate the value and the 21 knowledge, right, that's in our aunties and our uncles.
22 Next slide.

23 Okay. So everyday ceremonies. So I asked
24 and called my auntie and Elder Maria Campbell and I asked 25 her, what should I speak about? And she talked about

1 everyday practices in the home. And so also, all of the 2 Elders and knowledge keepers did encourage me to speak
3 from my own experience. I'm not just showing my family
4 because I'm lonely and want to show them, actually I feel 5 a bit vulnerable doing that. But because then you can 6 understand and it's my story, not their story.

7 So that's my son, Jay. That's a little 8 beaver, they had a little mascot in their class that they 9 got to take home. So that's him making pancakes with my 10 partner, Nancy, and then that's his twin brother Quinn and 11 we're out on some land. Nancy owns some land, which is a 12 very special piece of land in her family on her 13 traditional territory. She's Anishinaabe and he's just 14 carving a stick there with his little pocket knife.

15 So I'm just going to switch to reading 16 for a minute, and this is really the core piece of the 17 testimony. So, if I've put you to sleep, try wake up for 18 this part.

19 Okay. So, I spoke to Maria, and she - 20 - first of all, ceremony is a funny word, she said. It 21 doesn't translate into our languages. Making a meal can 22 be a ceremony. Making bread can be a ceremony. These 23 small day-to-day ceremonies are important. Story telling 24 over a cup of tea, as I mentioned, it's so important that 25 Dr. Anna Flaminio just did her whole Ph.D. thesis in law

1 at U of T on it with Maria. Visiting, because if we don't 2 visit, we can't build relationships. So, I think the 3 thesis is about visiting as an intervention; right? So, 4 visiting is even more important given these current-day
5 distractions of video games, cell phones and technologies.

6 The small ceremonies ensure we are 7 ready for the bigger community ceremonies, ensure we can 8 learn from them what we need from them. And, one thing 9 that is important to point out, then, is actually 10 outsiders, and sometimes insiders, we miss that all these 11 things that we do are ceremonies; right? Because we think 12 that if we don't understand ceremonies, and actually, the 13 most important piece of the ceremony which is that 14 interaction, the process; right? What happens
15 spiritually; right? And, collectively, and collectively
16 could be with other human beings or with our lived 17 environments and we just see the costumes; right? We see 18 the tools; right? And so, those are important. They help 19 us in ceremonies, but we miss the essence; okay?

20 And, if we engage in these small 21 ceremonies, they actually ensure we're ready for bigger 22 community ceremonies, and ensure that we can learn what we 23 need from them. And, I know this because I arrived to the 24 ceremony lodge at Gabriel's Crossing often ill-equipped;
25 right? Because I had forgotten. I had been running

1 around. I haven't been valuing or engaging in the every 2 day ceremonies perhaps as much as I should. I saved it 3 all up.

4 So, for example, Maria Campbell
5 remembers gathering together as a family in the home at 6 the end of the day around 7:30 or 8:00 p.m. The whole
7 family would gather, the adults with tea, and the children 8 might have cocoa. There would be a quiet conversation as 9 the family came together. Plans would be made for the 10 next day, and it would help people slow down and create a 11 sense of security before bed.

12 Maria can remember her grandmother
13 giving each child half a turnip and they would scrape it 14 with a knife and eat the scrapings. And, while this 15 happened, Maria's grandmother would tell stories. It 16 provided closure at the end of the day and calmed the 17 children down.

18 It is very important to do this in our 19 families, Maria said. These peaceful experiences provide 20 a basis of grounding and centering in place; the ability 21 to imagine ourselves richly as we have these beautiful and 22 rich memories. Then, throughout our lives, we can come 23 back to this place, this body of memory and experiences 24 when times are tough. It also helps us as adults when we 25 work with our elders. Their stories and teachings will 1 remind us.

2 So, for example, when I heard the 3 story of the turnips, I remembered my mother and 4 grandmother and aunties giving me pieces of turnip to chew
5 on. There's also a funny story because my grandmother Ruby 6 had a house in Saskatoon but, of course, like most of my 7 Métis family members, she had a garden. Even when she 8 moved into a small apartment, she had a huge garden.

9 So, as a small child, I ate carrots
10 from the garden, and then there was a funny story about 11 me, because the carrots were so big, kind of putting the 12 carrots back in the dirt and hoping that they would keep.

13 It also reminded me about a story
14 about my grandmother that was very special because I did 15 lose my mom as a teenager, but my grandmother lived into 16 her 80's. So, I would recurrently visit her in Saskatoon, 17 and I would come in exhausted from medical school and I
18 would just sleep, and she would always have food cooked 19 for me and she would give me her bed; right? Well, into 20 her 70's she would give me her bed and sleep on the couch.
21 So, those are just very special memories, but there was 22 also values and teachings in there, protocols for me.

23 So, I grew up visiting family and 24 attending large extended family gatherings, and I try to 25 do this with my own family and children today. Even

1           though I no longer lived in the big extended family as 2           Maria did when she was little, every evening at home, my 3           partner and I spend time with our twin boys, provide them 4           with a bedtime snack and read them stories. When they 5           were younger, we would sing songs with them as well.

6                           My older sister and I, even though we 7           live on opposite ends of the City of Toronto, which is a 8           bit of a point of debate; right? Because some of you that 9           know Métis history too, know we lived in sister 10          communities; right? So, we're matrilineal and matrilocal.
11         So, sisters should live in the same communities. But, of 12         course, my sister and I can't agree on which side of 13         Toronto to live on.

14                           But, that said, we still make an 15         effort to get together for at least one shared meal a 16         week. And, we see our children then building their 17         relationships, and our relationships get nurtured and 18         strengthened, and we've done that on purpose for about a 19         year now. And then we have many larger family gatherings 20         throughout the year that include all of my siblings and 21         their children and my parents, and spend time visiting our 22         in-laws in B.C. where we're always welcomed with a large 23         gathering of extended family.

24                           So, maybe this sounds very simple.
25         People are, like, why is Dr. Smylie with all these 1           qualifications talking about these every day ceremonies?

2           But, actually, that's a thing. That's the knowledge.
3           That's the knowledge that the aunties have. So, it seems 4           simple until you've lost it; right? And, you're trying to 5           recover it, and I believe it is important for me to speak 6           about these small ceremonies that we have, because I think 7           that if we could nurture them and realize that they're 8           really important, it would be an important strength-based 9           approach to ending violence against First Nations, Inuit, 10          Métis women and girls, and two-spirit people. Next slide, 11          please.

12                            Okay. So, my second example is going 13          to be about the ceremony lodge. And, again, as I 14          mentioned, I wasn't born -- I didn't grow up hearing Cree, 15          but I'll say notokwew ahtyokan, a grandmother's lodge, and 16          it means "first grandmother".

17                            Our lodge is a community of people who 18          are connected through knowledge keeper Maria Campbell. We 19          come together at a place in the Saskatchewan River Valley 20          known as Gabriel's Crossing, the old homestead of Gabriel 21          Dumont located near Gabriel Dumont, located near Batoche.
22          It is a special place for First Nations, and Métis have 23          been gathering for centuries, possibly millennia.

24                            In case you don't know, Gabriel Dumont
25          was one of the most respected historic Métis community

1        leaders, a leader of the buffalo hunt, elected president
2        of the Métis government and military leader of the Métis 3        during the Battle of Batoche. Apparently, they still 4        study his strategies at West Point; right? And, again, I 5        guess that may matter more or less.

6                                For the most part, the members of the 7        lodge are not close biologic relatives, and our residents
8        are spread across the country. We consider each other 9        family, and we consider the Crossing home. When we come 10       together, we do ceremonies, visit, share information and 11       support each other in our communities.

12                              Under the direction and guidance of 13       her elders and mentors, Maria started our community about 14       35 years ago when she acquired the Gabriel's Crossing 15       property. Her vision was of a place where artists, 16       writers and intellectuals could come together, be inspired 17       and co-create. Over the years, there have been dozens of 18       writing retreats, story telling and cultural gatherings, 19       along with traditional gardening, and visits by groups of 20       students from grade schools and universities. We are 21       currently in the process of creating a foundation to carry 22       on the work.

23                              Maria founded our ceremony lodge about 24       20 years ago. As I mentioned, I've been involved probably 25       for about 10 to 12 years. And, the lodge is founded on

1 what in English is called "family" or "kinship".

2 Wahkohtowin in Cree; Tiyóspaye in Lakota. Wahkohtowin is 3 about much more than simply who we are related to by birth 4 marriage or adoption, which is how one might translate the 5 word "kin" in English or understand it. It is about how 6 we live with these relations within the context of the 7 broader ecosystem that we are a part of, including the 8 land, water, and non-human living things, and both the 9 physical and metaphysical aspects of these.

10 To quote Maria Campbell, family to our 11 people meant sharing all things: wealth, knowledge, 12 happiness and pain. It meant brotherhood, loving and 13 caring enough about each other to be honest. And, from 14 that honesty, gathering strength to change those things 15 which would hurt us all.

16 Wahkohtowin, or how we live with our 17 relations within the context of the broader ecosystem
18 we're a part of, is a world view; okay? Sylvie Miracle, 19 when I worked with her in Toronto, said, "Well, what does 20 world view mean? Stop using that; okay?" So, values, 21 beliefs, knowledges and skills that we live by; okay?

22 The intergenerational transfer and day-to-23 day application of and adherence to wahkohtowin was 24 historically built into all aspects of community and 25 family life. I believe that it was built into all aspects

1 of Métis community and family life, but I believe there's 2 other similar concepts that were built into the family and 3 community life of other First Nations, Inuit and Métis 4 people. And, I believe that wahkohtowin, if we could 5 understand those protocols, if we can remember those 6 protocols, because we do remember them and we do still 7 live ...them is key to addressing and stopping violence
8 against Indigenous women, girls and two-spirit people.

9 So, it was built into our languages where 10 we lived and what we did for "insiders" and those who 11 lived in this way. It, therefore, seems rather simple.
12 It might be taken for granted or sometimes even discounted
13 or undervalued; right? So, we all know of knowledge 14 keepers or elders in our communities who, like, think it's 15 funny, right, when we go talk to them, unless you're one 16 of those people; right? Like, so they're like, "Why is 17 this doctor coming to talk to me," right?

18 My grandmother was like that; right? I
19 would ask her -- she was really good at traditional food
20 preparation; right? And, I would ask her to teach me 21 that. Now, she may have known that that wasn't in my set 22 of aptitudes as well, but she just didn't think I needed
23 to learn it. She would go, "You're a doctor. You can go 24 buy your canned goods at the store."

25 So, it gets discounted or undervalued, but

1 it is incredibly complex and incredibly important. So, 2 even those stories I told about the simple ceremonies in 3 my home, maybe they do seem simple, right, and not 4 academic or scholarly, but actually I believe they are 5 complex and incredibly important.

6 So, in anthropology, this is known as an 7 emic perspective. Some aspects of the sophisticated 8 worldview resonate with people from different societies
9 and some aspects are different. So, for outsiders, key 10 aspects are commonly missed or breached. So, this is a 11 critical point, right, and I think it's really important 12 in terms of the policy relevance of what we do. It's one 13 of the key barriers that happens in health services. So, 14 what I see is my whole career has been founded at 15 recognizing that the common sense, the common knowledge
16 that First Nations, Inuit, Métis, urban Indigenous people
17 bring to health services is missed; right? And, that's a 18 real waste.

19 So, for example, the projects that I worked 20 on with the Inuit in Ottawa, I was trying to figure out 21 health promotion, how to spread health messages. The most 22 effective way was just to tell one community member, 23 because there was this huge and vibrant social network.
24 If you want to get a message out, tell someone; right?
25 But, actually, nobody was using that system to spread

1 information, like of the outsider health care providers
2 that I knew of.

3 One of the most disruptive parts of 4 colonial policies and processes, attitudinal and systemic 5 racism is when outsiders, and now sometimes insiders, have 6 not been exposed to these ways, that could be myself, 7 right, don't see or misunderstand or underestimate a piece 8 of this way of living and try to replace it with something 9 they do know, but something that won't work for us. This 10 is extremely common, and I see it every day in health 11 services in local, provincial and federal health policy.
12 It often comes from well-intention people who think they 13 are helping.

14 Well, it would take a lifetime to explain 15 all of the values, attitudes, knowledge and skills that 16 underlie our lodge, and I am ill-equipped to do this since 17 I am still learning, some important things about our lodge 18 that I can share and may or may not be distinct from the 19 way that people outside our lodge that their lives 20 include, our lodge represents an investment in each other 21 rather than an investment in things. We are encouraged to 22 remember that no one person or living thing is above 23 another. In English, this may be known as humility but, 24 again, the term doesn't translate well, and that everyone 25 "holds a piece of the puzzle." I.e. we all have some

1 knowledge or skills or gifts that are needed to put the 2 big picture of our lodge and our communities and will 3 (indiscernible) together.

4 And, the final piece is our leadership
5 lodge. And, Maria thought it was important to talk about 6 us being a leadership lodge. And so, by a leadership 7 lodge, what I mean is that we all came educated and 8 gifted, but looking for place identity and confidence in 9 who we were. So, those book learning qualifications 10 weren't enough for us to be leaders.

11 The reason for these unravelled threads can 12 be found in the multi-generational and day-to-day impacts
13 of the list of disrupters that I went over quickly
14 earlier. But, because this a strength-based presentation, 15 I won't dwell on how we got unravelled. I am going to try 16 to talk a little bit about how the ceremony lodge reweaves 17 and strengthens these connections to place, and 18 strengthens our identity and confidence allowing us to 19 step more fully into leadership roles within and outside 20 of the lodge community.

21 So, what does the lodge do? It teaches us, 22 it allows us to access and share knowledge, it grounds us 23 in history and practice, and in that way, we can learn who 24 we are; right? So, I understand who I am now as a Métis 25 woman. I understand that unbroken maternal kin line. I

1 understand that we're matrilineal and matrilocal; right?
2 So, then I can challenge that systemic and attitudinal
3 racism I face where people will say, "Well, your dad's 4 white. Like, you're mixed blood. Why would you even say 5 you're Indigenous," right? Which I heard when I was in 6 medical school.

7 We can understand what our gifts are. We 8 can understand how to work together because we practice 9 working together, and it doesn't always go smoothly. And,
10 it has been something that I didn't learn in my book 11 learning either, but a critical thing for me to learn how 12 to do if I'm going to take on a leadership role. And, it 13 helps us get the confidence to actually carry this out, 14 because we work together and do things together. There 15 are lots of bumps along the way, but eventually we get the 16 thing done; right? So, then we know that we can do it.

17 We grow Wahkohtowin and strengthen its 18 intergenerational transfer in our coming together, in our 19 visiting and working together, and we share and learn 20 about how to live a good life. But, we did this by work, 21 hard work; right? So, it's not really airy fairy. And, I 22 can't talk about the specifics of the ceremony, but I can 23 talk about the specifics of how we divide up tasks and get 24 them done. And, it includes unromantic things like 25 hauling water; cutting vegetables; preparing for and

1 leading the ceremonies, which includes a very long list
2 even when we don't talk about the ceremonies themselves, 3 because we have to do advanced outreach and communication 4 to the participants; collect and prepare the different 5 medicines and other equipment that might be needed;
6 mobilize the team that is needed to conduct and support 7 the ceremonies; making sure the sites are ready and all 8 the supplies have been gathered; and make sure that 9 everyone is physically, emotionally and spiritual ready 10 for the ceremony. And, that's just the prep list.

11           There's a lot of chores to do around the 12 home. I live in the city, but anyone who lives in an 13 acreage or has grown up on the land knows that there is a 14 lot of gardening and household maintenance to be done, 15 particularly when you're living without running water.
16 And then, of course, we do share and participate in 17 elder's teachings. And then we do all share the 18 responsibility of keeping the lodge going financially and 19 making sure that that sacred site is protected and the 20 buildings are maintained.

21           We get to have critical Indigenous 22 intellectual, philosophical and political discussions
23 around the kitchen table. So, before I do any research 24 project, I try to actually raise it at that kitchen table, 25 and that's where I actually can understand, because part

1 of what I do -- sometimes I find a useful tool on Public
2 Health. We talked about the Red River cart, I found this 3 tool called Respondent-driven Sampling. When I tried to 4 talk about white fragility, that didn't go over well at 5 the kitchen table, so there are things that get either
6 accepted -- story, medicine is another thing. That was a 7 good thing that hit some synergy.

8 So, while we're doing that work though, we 9 also share our current challenges and problems that we're 10 facing. So, of course because many of us are based at 11 universities, we face different challenges there as well.

12 Our children are welcome at the lodge. We 13 watch them grow up and celebrate milestones. Lodge 14 members come together for weddings, for naming ceremonies.
15 That naming ceremony was held by the lodge that you saw 16 the picture of my son.

17 In our day jobs at universities, we work
18 across a broad range of disciplines including history, 19 visual arts, Indigenous studies, gender studies, law, 20 medicine and midwifery at at least 10 universities across 21 the country. And so, one of the things that happens when 22 we come together is our disciplinary expertise gets woven 23 into a more holistic Indigenous perspective. And, again, 24 I think this is all purposeful; right? And, it's part of 25 Maria's application of a teaching that she had from her

1 elder about everybody carrying a piece of the puzzle and 2 how we need to bring it together.

3 And then the other piece that we are able 4 to do is weave together both this non-Indigenous -- mostly 5 non-Indigenous knowledge, the more Indigenous knowledge is 6 coming to university, and then the knowledge is the Cree, 7 Métis knowledge that we're gaining in the lodge.

8 We also support each other in diverse ways
9 when we're outside of the lodge. So, we're there for each 10 other when we need a hand or a listening ear about 11 personal or family challenges or workplace issues. So, my 12 dad passed away recently, and everybody was there to 13 provide me with support, but we also help with each 14 other's work. So, people do shared research projects and 15 presentations, co-organize community events and activist
16 events. So, as I mentioned, when I was preparing this 17 testimony, I relied heavily on Maria and other lodge 18 members to help me with it.

19 So, in summary, Notokwew Ahtyokan or our 20 Grandmother's Lodge represents a strength-based practice 21 that can promote what we need as human beings including 22 love, reciprocity, and relationships, and a sense of 23 belonging. And has actually promoted that for many of us 24 as adults.

25 What we call the Seven Laws and other call

1 Grandfather Teachings are really our laws about family, 2 community, and nations, and our lodge allows us to learn 3 in -- our lodge allows us to learn in practice these laws.
4 So it's an important strength-based example because it's 5 rooted in Indigenous knowledge and practice and represents 6 an upstream grassroots approach to addressing the trauma 7 and dispossession experienced by Indigenous people in 8 optimizing community health and well-being.

9 And the last piece is any group of people
10 can do this. And others of you are doing it in different 11 ways, and some of you might be doing it in ceremonial 12 lodges, some of you are doing it in other forms of 13 community collectives already; right? Anybody can do it 14 with hard work, commitment and a willingness to honour and 15 trust in local collective knowledge and practice, and to 16 see that that is something that is very worthwhile. It 17 doesn't require a huge amount of money, and it's self-18 sustaining.

19 MS. CHRISTA BIG CANOE: Chief Commissioner,
20 Commissioners, I'm wondering if we could just have a short 21 5 minute break? I anticipate that Dr. Smylie will be 22 about another 35 to 40 minutes, and we will then have a 23 larger break at that point. So this would just be a short 24 break.

25 CHIEF COMMISSIONER MARION BULLER: Yeah.

1 Five minutes, please.

2 MS. CHRISTA BIG CANOE: Thank you.

3 --- Upon recessing at 2:27 p.m./L'audience est suspendue à 4 14h27

5 --- Upon resuming at 14:40

6 MS. CHRISTA BIG CANOE: So, Chief
7 Commissioner, Commissioners, if we could proceed again.
8 Janet, where we had left off, you had already provided us 9 two strength based examples about the answers lying in our 10 communities and about the lodge. Can you proceed with 11 some of the other examples that you wanted to share with 12 the Commissioners and those in attendance today?

13 DR. JANET SMYLIE: I sure can. So, I will 14 just ask for my next slide, "When There is a Chance".
15 And, I have three or four more within community examples, 16 and then a couple of examples that are relevant for non-17 Indigenous individuals communities and organizations.

18 So, my third example is a favourite
19 example, and it's very appropriate for me to be speaking 20 about the example of Indigenous midwives working in 21 Indigenous communities here in Iqaluit, in the Inuit 22 Nunangat, because of course we have a strength of 23 Indigenous midwifery and the practice of Inuit midwifery
24 which is still very much alive and well. And, in fact, 25 the Inuit midwifery practice in Puvirnitug is actually the 1 oldest current day midwifery practice in the country.

2 So, again, we have an example, not only of 3 a strength based example that is Indigenous, but actually 4 a strength based example that is leading the country, all 5 of Canada, in this Indigenous midwifery practice in 6 Puvirnitug. And, in fact, I have been citing this 7 Indigenous midwifery practice in Puvirnitug since 8 2001/2002 as a best practice in my writings.

9 And, as I mentioned earlier on, I have 10 actually been really fortunate to be witness to, like a 11 recognition and a revitalization. Though, I say that 12 cautiously of First Nations, Inuit and Métis midwifery in 13 the country because, of course, it never stopped, though 14 it was disrupted and it continues to be disrupted.

15 So, this idea that -- actually we had 16 excellent First Nations, Inuit and Métis reproductive 17 health services in our communities and we always have.
18 And, of course what is wonderful about the practice of 19 Indigenous midwifery working in Indigenous communities is 20 it's all about supporting love, peace and joy for 21 Indigenous infants and their families.

22 So, if you look at the slide there, you can 23 actually see, now we have a National Aboriginal Council of 24 Midwives, I have encouraged people to have a look at their 25 website. And then you see, also, we have Indigenous

1 midwives not only working in Inuit Nunangat, but we also 2 have Indigenous midwives working in Toronto. So, as I had 3 mentioned, my current family practice is with an 4 Indigenous focus midwifery practice. It's been amazing to 5 see that grow. There's 15 to 16 midwives there, half of 6 them are First Nations, Inuit or Métis midwives. And,
7 shortly we will speak about our birth centre. And, you 8 can see this publication by the National Aboriginal 9 Council of Midwives about Indigenous midwifery. Next 10 slide, please.

11 So, again, Maria Campbell has shared some 12 knowledge about Indigenous midwives. So, from a Métis 13 perspective, in her community, she grew up helping her 14 grandmother, who was a midwife, and she describes midwives
15 as role models and the glue that held communities 16 together, and she says a strong and gentle, wise and soft 17 spoken, laughing and singing, they meant security for 18 children.

19 And, they had many interconnected community 20 roles, so not only did they attend birth -- and this is 21 very important, this is what Cheryllee Bourgeois said has 22 to be a key message. So, Indigenous midwifery is not just 23 about providing pre-natal care and attending births.
24 Historically and currently, it's about medicines to treat 25 sick children, counselling people, including counselling

1 people who were fighting. So, midwives in Métis 2 communities were important interveners when we did have 3 family violence. And, teachers of culture through 4 storytelling. And, actually, not only did they attend 5 birth, they also attended death and prepared bodies after 6 death. Next slide, please.

7 So, why for the last 15 plus years have I 8 been promoting Indigenous midwifery as a best practice or 9 a wise practice for health in Indigenous communities? I 10 like it because it's longstanding, it's continuous and 11 it's something that's happened in almost every First 12 Nations, Inuit, Métis, urban Indigenous community that 13 I've ever been aware of. I like it because of the 14 continuity of relationships.

15 Of course, I'm a family doctor and I
16 attended births, and that was one of the most rewarding 17 parts of my practice. I feel really blessed when some 18 tall person comes up to me, or their mother, and reminds 19 me about how I got to attend their birth. So I think I 20 attended about 400 births in my career, so a small, little 21 village.

22 But -- actually, Indigenous midwifery is 23 actually set up for even better continuity of 24 relationships than I could provide; right? And we spoke 25 about that need for love and security and a sense of 1 belonging. And we'll speak about how, if we don't get it

2 as children, and maybe even we got moments of it --
3 hopefully every baby got a little moment of it, right -- 4 that we can recover it; right? So in that relationship 5 with a midwife, it's a beautiful relationship to recover 6 that.

7           And I know that because I've worked with 8 Indigenous midwives for over a decade. And part of my 9 clinical practice is a counselling and mental health 10 practice now, and I can see when people come to me how 11 they've already been engaged in a beautiful and balanced 12 relationship and can learn about balanced relationships if 13 that's something that they haven't fully experienced in 14 their lives yet.

15           I love it because it's kin-based, and of 16 course, all of the teachings I've been getting from my 17 lodge are about the importance of these -- of Wahkohtowin, 18 kin in that Cree-Métis sense. And I like it because it's 19 about health and well-being across a lifecycle. So it 20 doesn't just start like when somebody's pregnant.

21           And in fact, there's beautiful examples in 22 Indigenous midwifery. There's a beautiful birth centre in 23 Six Nations and they have their own community-directed 24 midwifery practice. And they bring in pre-teens for 25 sleepovers to learn about reproductive and sexual health

1 and well-being.

2 It supports the intergenerational transfer 3 of the knowledge and practice that was disrupted at the 4 centre of our societies as Cree-Métis people with the 5 infants and their grandparents. And in fact, often a lot 6 of the childrearing was done by the grandparents because 7 the parents were busy; right? And the reason that the 8 infants and the grandparents are at the centre is because 9 if something happens all that you need to carry on your 10 society, to carry on your language and culture is the 11 children and their grandparents; right? So the men and 12 the women are disposable.

13 And then we've actually been doing quite a 14 bit of work in partnership with that urban Indigenous 15 midwifery practice, Seven Generation Midwives Toronto, and 16 had a couple of students, one of whom is now training to 17 be a midwife, interview clients. And we find out that 18 actually if we think about cultural safety as a health 19 service relationship where people feel safe, respected and 20 able to be themselves, Indigenous midwives in this 21 practice are able to provide it.

22 Next slide please.

23 Okay. And then there's linked examples.
24 So this Indigenous midwifery is this amazing movement that 25 builds momentum.

1                   So another beautiful story that I have to 2 share is about the Toronto Birth Centre. So several years
3 ago, in Ontario, there was a announcement made that we're 4 going to fund two birth centres in the province. It was a 5 re-election year, and there was high rates of caesarean
6 section in Toronto. So one was going to be in Toronto.

7                   And I'd been working with the midwives, and 8 they said, "We think they're going to fund the Indigenous 9 Birth Centre", and then I went to press release, and I'm 10 like, "No. It's not set up in a way that they're going to 11 fund an Indigenous birth centre."

12                   But we had been able and been working on a 13 project in the community. We had a birth visioning 14 meeting that was funded by the (indiscernible). We 15 actually had a documentary film in our report, and we'd 16 been able to support an Indigenous midwife to spend half 17 her time helping us gather knowledge about Indigenous 18 midwifery as a best practice.

19                   So what happened is that the Indigenous 20 midwifery practice, SGMT, actually won the competition, 21 and there was actually -- that -- there was a bit of a 22 kafuffle. The rest of the midwifery community was telling 23 these young brilliant Indigenous midwives, Sara Wolfe and 24 Sherry Bourgeois, that they were too young, they didn't 25 have the knowledge to build this birth centre. And they

1 built this birth centre. They built this birth centre in 2 about 14 months. And anybody who's been involved in 3 constructing a healthcare facility knows what a huge task 4 that is.

5 And so what we have in Toronto is this 6 Toronto Birth Centre. There's a picture inside. Again, 7 note the Christi Belcourt art. It's a birth centre that 8 is governed by an Indigenous governance model; right? But 9 it's turned midwifery around in Toronto.

10 So some of you will know that midwifery in 11 urban areas, because it wasn't covered, was primarily used 12 by fairly wealthy privileged people, but this birth centre 13 has delivered over -- a thousand babies have been born, 14 and it's a birth centre for everybody. So over half of 15 the babies that have been born there are Indigenous, 16 right, or they're coming from other racialized communities
17 that are experiencing social disadvantage. They are poor.
18 And they get access to this beautiful space.

19 So another example, like Puvirnitug, right, 20 about an Indigenous community creating a health service in 21 partnership with allies, but actually creating something 22 that's an outstanding model for everybody, a national best 23 practice.

24 Next slide please.

25 Okay. And then another spinoff of this

1 Indigenous midwifery momentum and this amazing group of 2 Indigenous and allied midwives at Seven Generation
3 Midwives Toronto is the Baby Bundles Project. Okay? So 4 it's an action research project for Indigenous families 5 during and after birth and pregnancy. And the goal is 6 around family strengthening.

7 So remember, we mentioned that at least 50
8 to 100 babies, in my estimate, are still being apprehended
9 in the first year of life, Indigenous babies, in the City
10 of Toronto. So we want to break that cycle. And remember 11 that sad circle that I showed you; right?

12 So what we think, and again, it's not 13 rocket science, right, it's just simple. If we could work 14 together in a good way as service providers and community 15 members, and research and respond to those unmet health 16 needs, the poverty, and the housing, and security, and the 17 need for safe places, our families will get stronger.

18 Next slide.

19 So what's going to happen is we're actually 20 going to try to reverse this cycle. So this is the 21 opposite of what I showed you before. So we're investing 22 in the underlying social determinants of health, so we're 23 trying to demonstrate.

24 And we're actually having an international 25 partnership. So we've had some colleagues in Brisbane,

1       Australia, amazing Aboriginal health service providers.
2       They were able to reduce the rate of apprehension to 3       almost zero in a period of 14 months by getting all their 4       health services to work together. It's a big job getting 5       us to work together. And then they provided wraparound 6       support.

7                       So our team is led by Indigenous midwives, 8       but of course, as all of you know, Indigenous midwives may 9       hold a big piece of the puzzle but it's not the whole 10      piece of the puzzle. So now we also have counsellors, 11      social workers, peer support workers, housing workers;
12      right? And most importantly, the family and the community 13      wrapping services around.

14                      And so then the idea is that this is an 15      upstream investment and we'll be able to break that cycle.
16      Because of course every time an infant is apprehended it's 17      a million dollars, if one believed in financial arguments 18      in terms of policy. Okay? And sometimes that's our very 19      real world, the two worlds; right? So -- yeah. It's a 20      very good investment.

21                      Next slide please.

22                      Okay. So I'm not supposed to talk too 23      fast, but this is a less concrete example. But if we're - 24      - if anybody in the audience is still thinking, okay, it's 25      all good that Indigenous people say that they want to be

1 in charge of their health services, right, and maybe it's 2 ethical, right, and maybe it's a human right. I believe 3 it's ethical and a human right. I guess what I'm trying 4 to say is it's also the most effective thing; right? And 5 I've been saying that over and over. I think -- like 6 probably, already, people came into this audience maybe 7 believing this; okay?

8 But unfortunately, in the real world, when 9 we say it's better if we do it for ourselves, people don't 10 believe us, right, and they think, oh, no, I have to help.
11 Biomedicine has to help; right? They see us through a 12 deficit lens.

13 So basically, what I wanted to just share
14 is working with the Indigenous midwives we actually tried 15 to say well, actually, we believe there's evidence, 16 evidence in the way that non-Indigenous people would view
17 it. So we looked at 10,000 articles in the published 18 literature and we looked at Indigenous, pre-natal, infant, 19 toddler, health promotion, and culture based parenting.
20 In the end, we found about 22 studies that we could 21 include in Canada.

22 And then we had -- we made up a theory.
23 And again, it's a bit of a common-sense theory; right?
24 But the idea was that if we had Indigenous people in 25 charge, right, they would actually -- the services will be

1 better. And we drilled it down a bit.

2 If you could show the next slide,
3 please. So, basically, we said, in the middle, you see 4 something called Community Investment. We use this -- 5 something called a Realest Review. We published it in 6 this journal called Social Science and Medicine that I
7 used to read in med school. So, apparently if you publish 8 in there, then maybe the policy makers will believe you.
9 So, find this article, and feed it to the ADM, or I think 10 it's in one of your exhibits there, but we already knew it 11 worked anyways; okay?

12 But, basically, most community members
13 here know, if you want to do anything in the community, 14 the first thing is you shouldn't try to do it all by 15 yourself; right? I had to learn that mostly the hard way, 16 because I grew up kind of reading books in my sleeping 17 bag; okay? But, like, you know that it's a good idea to 18 make it a collective effort; right? Like -- so community 19 investment and how do we do that in health services;
20 right? Well, first of all -- so -- like our lodge; right?
21 Nothing would happen with that lodge, even though Maria is 22 an amazing leader; right? But, we're all invested in that 23 lodge; right? Like, we all have spent time and energy and 24 effort.

25 If you can get to a critical level of 1 community investment, then the thing actually is owned by 2 the community; right? So -- and, again, even you could 3 look at something like this National Inquiry; right?

4 Because it's very hard, right, because it actually did get 5 started by -- like outside of Indigenous communities.
6 They said that they put us in charge. And, again, I'm not 7 going to drill down in that, and I think it's an amazing 8 process, but it's hard -- a big job of the Inquiry here is 9 to get that community investment; right? And, part of the 10 debate is it owned or not owned by the Indigenous 11 community, and we all do our best; right? But, that's a 12 point. If it comes from the federal government, it's 13 going to be hard to make it community owned. We can do 14 our best; right?

15 I work at a Catholic hospital; right?
16 So, again -- like it's hard sell in our community, right, 17 more or less, though that's why Maria said we'll get that 18 council of Indigenous grandparents; right? So, then 19 people can actually see; okay? So, that's a process that 20 we think about and we struggle with in this world, right, 21 where we have two different worldviews and these different 22 systems.

23 So, basically, most of us have gone to 24 a community gathering where there is someone that 25 organized it, but they didn't really get everybody in the 1 community onboard, right, or they were kind of grumpy, or 2 something like that, or weren't behaving very well. So, 3 you walk in and nobody came; right? And then you kind of 4 walk in, and then you walk out, right, versus another

5 community gathering. And, this happens all the time, 6 because at my university-based research or where I have 7 done my good job, right, of actually sharing resources, 8 and listening, and turning over the leadership to the 9 community partner, and then it's just going to be a go;
10 okay? So, that's where we get to this community
11 ownership. And, once that happens, it's going to be a go.
12 Your health promotion program's going to be a go.

13 And, in fact, nobody needed this silly
14 diagram for Indigenous midwifery, because all these things 15 were built-in; right? But, I tried to show in the 16 literature, in this theory, that if we can actually get to 17 this state of community ownership where First Nations or 18 Inuit or Métis or urban Indigenous people or some 19 combination actually believe it's their thing, so that to 20 participate in the thing is actually an expression of 21 self-determination, right, it will be better aligned with 22 what is needed and it will be better aligned with the 23 knowledge, skills, beliefs, worldviews, and then it's 24 going to work. It will be more likely to support us in 25 making the choices that we need to make about improving

1       our behaviours.

2                       Next slide. Okay. That slide is just 3       a little about what I said there about the theory, so we 4       will talk to the next slide, please, which is just about 5       some strategies. And, again, all of you know these 6       strategies; right? But, the community-based program, 7       governance or management, right, integration and program
8       with local community infrastructure, local community 9       programming and stuff, this is going through all those 10      articles what we found. Content and processes that 11      reflect local community knowledge, skills, values and 12      beliefs, and local community capacity building. So, all 13      of these best practices that I'm talking about, all of the 14      examples would have this built in.

15                     Next slide. Okay. So, just a couple 16      more community-based examples. Elder Lawrence Star 17      (phonetic), whose contact information is up there, gave me 18      permission to present a little bit about the workshops 19      that he is doing on traditional male parenting, (speaking 20      Indigenous language). I might need Elder Louis to help me 21      out there. But, again, because I have told the story of 22      my language -- yes, thank you for the laughter. It's 23      good.

24                     So, the thing is, I wanted to focus
25      specifically on male parenting because I have talked a lot

1 about midwifery. And, remember, I said I was like a 2 woman's health scholar, and everyone said, well, you
3 can't, like, have the health of women without the health 4 of the men. And, of course we need the health of our 5 gender diverse people as well, and to make sure that we 6 don't forget about them. But, like, I feel like the men 7 and, like, our gender diverse people get forgotten 8 sometimes.

9 And, actually, I looked across the 10 country now, it's really good, because I just heard about 11 a male parenting program in Six Nations; okay? And, I
12 have heard about one running out of Edmonton, though I 13 think it was linked to the prison system, which is also 14 good, but we would like it to be in and out of the prison 15 system. But, I have been looking around, and then I went 16 to the culture camp at Blue Quills in May, and I met 17 Lawrence Star, and I was just really struck by the work 18 that he was doing.

19 I think the reason that I am struck by 20 the importance of male parenting is I'm a two-spirit
21 person. I have had female partners, and I have raised 22 five sons; right? And then I mentioned that I delivered 23 all these babies, and I could see that, more or less, a 24 lot of times, like the male parents would feel less 25 confident, right, or maybe a bit afraid of being a dad.

1 Not all of them. There are some excellent dads out there,
2 including my oldest son, Alan, and I can actually see -- 3 he's a stay-at-home-dad, and I can see how healing it is 4 for him, like, to be with his daughter. But, actually, 5 that has been a long journey for him.

6 And, I think all those disrupters, we 7 know they interfered with our parenting and our 8 grandparenting. But, the thing is, like, for those 9 biologic parents, right, that we have the babies; right?
10 And then they heal us. They are programmed to heal us and 11 learn how to bond, even if we're scared; right? But, the 12 men -- and, again, traditional male roles is not my area 13 of expertise, right, but as our families and communities 14 got split apart, right, the rules for the men in providing 15 and protecting were undermined. And, somehow, some of the 16 knowledge about how the male parents actually interacted
17 with the infants, I think, got a bit shattered as well, 18 though of course Lawrence and others are trying to recover
19 it.

20 But, what I loved about his workshop
21 is he talked about the role of male parents. So, even 22 though they traditionally may have been working out of the 23 house and the home might have been the domain of women, I
24 think that he talked about the swing, and he said how it 25 was the responsibility of the male parent actually to set

1 up the swing. And, he really encouraged us and he really 2 wanted adult men to be talking to their sons about the 3 importance of parenting.

4 And, in his workshop, he hands around 5 babies, toy babies wrapped in their moss bags. And, he 6 encourages all the men and the women, and then gender 7 diverse people to hold the babies in the workshop. And,
8 he talks about the bundling of the babies. So, he talks 9 about an active role for the male parents and the infant
10 care, and I thought it was really beautiful and I wanted 11 to share it. And, I think it's very strength-based to be 12 doing that, and I think we need to balance out our 13 investments for both female, male and gender diverse 14 parents.

15 Next slide, please. Okay. So, just a 16 couple more examples. Another thing that we can do and we 17 always have done, and the ceremony lodge is one example, 18 is we can network together. So, I talked about in my 19 first CIHR grant I had that opportunity to work with 20 diverse First Nations, Inuit and Métis communities,
21 Tunasuvvingat Inuit in Ottawa.

22 My second project, I said to Maria
23 Campbell and Kim Anderson in my office, I was in 24 Saskatchewan, then I said, "Well, I have to write another 25 grant. What should I write it on?" And, they said,

1 "Write a grant to try to get different knowledge keepers
2 together to talk about, like, infant health, infant, child 3 and family health and wellbeing."

4 And, they reminded me -- so some of you
5 will remember on the Prairies in the '70s and '80s, there 6 was a set of gatherings where different knowledge keepers
7 and elders came together, and it was a very powerful time 8 where traditional prairie knowledge could be shared. And, 9 there was just a bit of a synergy because, of course, we 10 being back and forth between these mainstream and 11 Indigenous ways of knowing, and they had this idea of 12 knowledge network, so that was, like, the fad at that 13 time, knowledge translation, knowledge networks. Now, 14 it's intervention or implementation research, so I have to 15 try to figure out how I can synergize with those things, 16 that the mainstream research policy makers come up with.

17 So, a group of experts who work together on 18 a common concern strengthen their collective knowledge
19 base and develop solutions. What I liked about it is it 20 set up an opportunity for social learning. So, here, you 21 see a room full of 10 amazing people, and they are elders 22 and knowledge keepers who work in the area of pre-natal, 23 infant and child health, from First Nations and Métis 24 communities in Saskatchewan and Ontario. So, they are the 25 actual, like, health promotion workers, there are some

1 Indigenous midwives, some program managers in there.

2 And, what we did is we came together for 3 five years. So, they were paid one day a week from the 4 research grant, and the first half was to actually gather 5 stories from knowledge keepers in their communities. Next 6 slide. And, in a minute, I think you will see -- so 7 that's a collection of all the stories. But, then, the 8 second half, they applied the knowledge and the stories to 9 their programs; right? But, it just speaks again to that 10 transformative impact of where we're actually taking the 11 time, because another challenge that we have already been 12 talking about all the way through this is time; right?
13 I'm talking too fast because I'm worried about time.

14 And, when I'm busy, like, doing my day job 15 -- actually, a lot of my day job draws me away from 16 spending time with knowledge keepers that would actually 17 help me learn what I need to learn, what's essential for 18 me to learn, okay? So, here was a program where, for a 19 modest investment, the very people that are doing the work 20 in the communities, who are often then very busy because 21 they're caught in this interface of mainstream health 22 services and Indigenous ways of knowing and doing, and the 23 First Nations, Inuit and Métis knowledge often has to be 24 incorporated at the side of their desk. They have the 25 time, one day a week, to sit with those elders. And, it

1 was very transformative on our leadership as well, it had 2 these huge ripple effects that we never would have known.
3 Next slide.

4 Okay. I think this is the last example --
5 second last example within our communities. So, I 6 mentioned that I was a counter, so one of the things that 7 I worked a lot on. I'm concerned -- and maybe it's 8 because I'm Métis; right? But, I'm concerned, I want to 9 count, I want our experiences as First Nations, Inuit and 10 Métis people to be counted. It's like a winter count.
11 It's an honouring; right? And, of course we are always 12 more than numbers; right? And, I did focus on what might 13 be seen as a deficit. I was concerned that babies were 14 dying and nobody was witnessing it. The counts were 15 wrong. They were under counted, okay? But, then, I 16 learned -- and I've learned actually that they're not even 17 counting us probably as First Nations, Inuit and Métis 18 people.

19 So, what happened is -- I worked and 20 partnered over time in communities, one thing that is very 21 challenging is when we move to cities like Iqaluit,
22 Toronto, right, we don't really know -- because we're 23 often quite mobile as First Nations, Inuit and Métis 24 people; right? And, in a city like Toronto and Iqaluit,
25 I'm sure too, because there's housing crisis, we move

1 around a lot. And, the way that the government counts us
2 is by something called household enumeration; right? So,
3 it looks at the houses. But, if we are moving all around 4 the houses, and then sometimes we're going back to a home 5 community and sometimes back to the city, it's hard to 6 count us.

7 So, we started this project called Our 8 Health Counts in Ontario, and we have worked with six 9 cities. That was the project we did, Our Health Counts, 10 First Nations, Inuit in Ottawa. And, actually, in that 11 project, we showed -- because this is how it all started.
12 Again, starting with Inuit community because I was working 13 with the Inuit community. I said, okay, what should we do 14 next? And, they said, well, we are having trouble with 15 the government because they're saying there's only 400
16 Inuit in Ottawa and we know there's at least 2,000; right?
17 And, they said, can you help me with that? And, I'm like, 18 okay, I don't know how to do that. But, I talked to a 19 colleague and she said, oh, there's this new way of 20 finding people. It's called respondent driven sampling 21 and it uses social networks. And, remember I said that 22 social networks are strong in Inuit community in Ottawa, 23 like as far as I'm aware of them. Extremely strong. And,
24 it's amazing, because as people know here better than me, 25 people come from 2,000 miles away to Ottawa, right, but

1 they still find each other.

2 So, actually, this respondent driven
3 sampling is a big thing. Basically, you find people 4 through social networks and they find other people, and 5 you use some fancy probability statistics to actually get 6 to what's a population-based estimate.

7 And, the sample in Ottawa is probably the 8 fastest, best respondent driven sample that's ever 9 happened, because I got to work with the people that 10 started the method, because there's a strength there in 11 that community connection. Next slide, please.

12 So, basically what we're doing is we are 13 trying to find population health for urban First Nations, 14 Inuit and Métis people. And, actually, it's the community 15 that does it. It's the Inuit community that did that in 16 Ottawa. In Toronto, we partnered with the birth centre, 17 we hire local Indigenous people, we find each other and we 18 talk to each other. When it happens outside of Indigenous 19 community, you can get about 20 minutes for an interview.
20 But, when we do it ourselves, people take their time and 21 they spend an hour. Next slide.

22 There it is. I promised Sesame Street, 23 okay? And, why would we do that with the counting? But, 24 as I mentioned, if we don't count, then we get discounted;
25 right? So, it's what counts -- what's counted that counts

1 most of the time, even if Einstein didn't quite think 2 that. Next slide. I think he says we don't count the 3 things that count. But, anyways.

4 And then there we go. And, again, we 5 actually were able to publish in a fancy journal. And, 6 again, that's not always relevant in our community, but 7 here, we have actually showed now in Toronto and we have 8 showed it in Ottawa, with the Inuit, and that's actually 9 in press now. And, we have showed it in London. And, we 10 will be releasing these results on Friday in London, 11 Ontario, that there's actually two to four times more 12 First Nations, Inuit and Métis people living in cities
13 than the Census is counting. That actually means there 14 could be 50 percent more Indigenous people living in the 15 whole country. And, we're actually finally engaging -- 16 Stats Can thought I was some kind of data witch for a 17 while, but they are actually meeting with me now because 18 we published it in this journal. Next slide.

19 So, to me, that one might be a bit more, 20 kind of, techy, but it actually shows we've always been 21 good counters. That's how we survived; right?
22 Traditional ecologic knowledge, I think, is all about 23 counting; right? And, I think that what's really 24 important is its strength based, because the community is 25 taking over the counting. And, I'm trying to make it even

1 more exiting because I would like to see more First 2 Nations, Inuit and Métis people go into counting and data 3 systems, because I think it's clean work, I think that is 4 actually part of our -- I think it's ecologic work. It's 5 a resource for us.

6 Okay. And then the last example from 7 within community is around story medicine. Okay. And, I
8 have talked a little bit about this to some of the people
9 from the National Inquiry earlier on, just because another 10 thing that was brought to my attention is actually, in 11 mainstream, they're now using storytelling to help people 12 heal from psychotrauma. And, of course, that is one of 13 the serious impacts of all those disruptors that we talked 14 about. And, that one I took to Auntie Maria's kitchen 15 table and it got uptake, because of course she said, we've 16 always been using storytelling to deal with trauma.

17 And, she reminded me of a story and it's 18 been written down. So, some of the European settlers used 19 to think on the prairies that we were, like, kind of 20 obsessed with violence; right? Because they would see, 21 when our warriors came back from battle, even if it was 22 from another First Nations -- with another First Nations 23 community, if we were fighting over land. What would 24 happen is they would be met on the outside by the 25 community members, and they would be walked back in. But,

1 that night, they would re-enact what happened in the war,
2 right, and that was perceived by some of the European 3 writers as really violent.

4 But, actually, it fits with these ideas 5 that, if in a very supportive and safe way, right, we go 6 through what happened at a difficult time, we can actually 7 unpack it. It's like cleaning an infected wound; right?
8 So, it's still always going to be a scar there, it can 9 still be troubling, but if you can do it in a way where 10 you feel safe and protected, right, then you can unpack 11 that threat and it can help you as you go further in life 12 so that the wound heals versus, like, something reminding 13 you of that threat and then having trouble understanding 14 what is the here and now and what that threat is about.

15 So, we're actually working with some 16 families who have lost loved ones, to see if we can use 17 this narrative exposure therapy that was actually 18 developed in Holland after the war, which is interesting.
19 They have done psychotrauma quite well in Holland. Okay.
20 So let's just talk about a couple more examples that could 21 be useful for non-Indigenous individuals, communities, and 22 organizations.

23 Of course, non-Indigenous is a horrible
24 word so I hope -- it's not used with any disrespect 25 because, of course, everybody comes from somewhere and

1 everybody has a very rich history, right? And I'm 2 thinking, I'm focused on some things from a Cree Métis 3 perspective but I think if I was to delve into my European 4 ancestry, you know, things have changed after the 5 Industrial Revolution but I'm sure at the root of any 6 successful society, would be, like, families and 7 communities where we nurture these early relationships.

8 So here's just an interesting poster I was 9 able to get on the rather slow internet connection, 10 because I wanted to show some visuals. If we have the 11 next slide, please?

12 I liked it because it's said Ally Equals
13 Action, though I didn't actually go to that rally so I 14 don't know how it was or how it went, right?

15 But one of the things -- and I've done a 16 little bit of writing; actually, over my career worked and 17 talked and written extensively and worked with colleagues, 18 heroic, amazing colleagues in healthcare who are not 19 Indigenous, who want to work and support First Nations, 20 Inuit, and Métis communities. And often one of the 21 troubling points is they don't know what to do; they don't 22 know how to act. So I have a very popular talk and I give 23 people homework right away in terms of that, because 24 there's lot of things that you can do.

25 Next slide, please.

1                   And of course the good news is because we 2                   have the Truth and Reconciliation Calls to Action, the 3                   marching orders are there for health right? So basically 4                   cultural safety training or cultural competency training 5                   is a large part of the recommendations, the calls to 6                   action in health.

7                   So what is this cultural safety? Does it 8                   mean like, workplace safety, or you get a ticket or 9                   something like that? No. What it means is you're 10                  actually advancing relationship, this word, 11                  "relationship"; so fundamental across difference. And 12                  you're using the skill of self-reflection.

13                  And, of course, there is an understanding 14                  of power differentials. So if you don't agree that we 15                  have power differentials in our societies, then you might 16                  want to reflect or think about that, right? Because the 17                  cultural safety training's not going to work too well if 18                  you are not grounded on the assumption that unfortunately 19                  even though Canada is a beautiful country, a beautiful 20                  diverse country, we're not sharing properly; we didn't 21                  listen to that first rule of sharing, right?

22                  So there's an unequal distribution of 23                  health and social resources, right? And we all play a 24                  part in that, right? So I play a part in that; I'm a 25                  family doctor. I have a lot of financial resources,

1 right? I'm not sharing that in the way that perhaps I 2 should, or I have to reflect and think about that.

3 So it takes us beyond cultural awareness or 4 sensitivity. People get hung up on the terms, right, 5 because the awareness is the acknowledgement of 6 differences is one way to think about it. And, again, I
7 draw on some work done by the National Aboriginal Health 8 Organization and Indigenous Physicians Association of 9 Canada.

10 Cultural sensitivity, that's when I say 11 that's kind of like an allergy or something like that; 12 "Oh, I have to, like, deal with my allergy"; I'll be 13 sensitive, right, like, to cultural difference.

14 Competence is a bit of a problem. I think 15 competencies is helpful when you work in health 16 professions, like a competency to be self-reflective. But 17 to be competent; how would be I competent? I work I 18 Toronto, right, so there's tens of thousands of 19 sociolinguistic presentations that people come in. As I 20 mentioned, I'm just learning and developing in my 21 competence as a Métis woman, right? So how could I be 22 competent? But I can have a competency; I can start to 23 think and try to reflect on what I don't know.

24 Next slide.

25 And so we borrowed this slide from the

1 San'yas Program in UBC. I'd encourage you to have a look 2 at their Web site. I think they're a leader in this 3 field, and again, people indicated that this was a helpful
4 kind of graphic. So you can see we're trying to go up 5 here to get to this cultural safety.

6 Next slide.

7 So another strength-based practice that 8 people can engage in as individuals is to take a cultural 9 safety training program. So we have programs in Ontario;
10 we have programs in B.C. Most provinces and territories 11 are starting them. There's a big range of them. I would 12 encourage you to think about a program that's interactive, 13 right? There are some very good programs that can engage 14 people in an hour or two, but if you really want to get at 15 knowledge you might need to engage in something like that 16 actually involves, you know, several sessions.

17 Next slide, please.

18 And, again, we're just doing these things
19 quite briefly because of time, but I want to try to finish 20 by 3:30; I think we'll get close. And hopefully I've 21 slowed down my rate of talking just a little bit, but I 22 think there's some translators that hopefully won't beat 23 me up after this.

24 It's better when I see you; it's better in 25 clinic because I can see you and I can read the body

1 language. I'm looking over now.

2 Okay. So there's just two more things I
3 want to talk about before I get to the recommendations.
4 So they're all going to be along this kind of training 5 around race bias preference and cultural safety.

6 So there's this other thing that I found
7 out, like, in the last five years, and I've thought a lot 8 about it. I found out when I was preparing my testimony 9 as an expert witness in the inquest for Mr. Brian 10 Sinclair, who, of course, is a lost loved one, but he died 11 from the systemic violence in the Winnipeg Health Sciences
12 Emergency Department.

13 But actually one of the things that it 14 quite troubling is I actually think nobody woke up that 15 morning, of the 100 people that saw him and said, "I want 16 to hurt somebody," right, "today," or, "I'm really mad," 17 right, or frustrated, right, or I have -- nobody had an 18 existing troubled relationship with Brian Sinclair that 19 we're aware of that day.

20 So in fact, these were health and social 21 service workers that actually probably went into health 22 care because they wanted to help people, right? And 23 actually think a fair number of those people, like, killed 24 him with kindness, right, because I think that they 25 misdiagnosed him. But I think their intentions were to be

1 good that day. I really believe that their intentions
2 were to be good and to help people.

3 But I think what happened is they had 4 faulty logic happening in their brains that they weren't 5 even aware of, right? And they assumed he was homeless, 6 and they assumed he was intoxicated, right? And there was 7 also system things happening as well. And compassion 8 fatigue and burnout, right?

9 So the scariest part about racism in 10 healthcare systems is I actually think the scariest kind 11 is racism that's happening when the healthcare providers
12 aren't even aware of it, right? So that's called implicit 13 or unconscious race preference bias, okay? But what's 14 really important in a strength-based best practice is 15 actually for us to become aware of it, right, because we 16 still have the opportunity to choose.

17 So there's actually quite a lot of evidence 18 that healthcare providers suffer from this implicit or 19 unconscious race preference bias, so we in-group and out-20 group people based on their appearance.

21 If you want to test that tonight, you can 22 actually go online and there's something called the 23 Harvard IAT Web site, and you can do the Black White Race 24 Preference Test, okay? And we've actually made one at our 25 research unit and it'll be freely available; and so if you

1 want to just email me. And so it's an Indigenous White 2 Race Preference Bias Test. And what it does it uses the 3 fact that our brain sorts things that are similar faster 4 than things that are different.

5 So if you go what'll happen is you'll see 6 -- on the Harvard Web site you'll see a whole bunch of 7 faces that you -- most people would identify as Black 8 faces and other faces that people would identify as White
9 faces and you sort those. And then there's words that you 10 would think about as positive words and negative words.
11 And then you see faces and words at the same time, and 12 then it catches you in your unconscious race preference 13 bias.

14 Next slide.

15 So like I said -- and unfortunately this is 16 a fact, and it's very interesting to me because another 17 thing that I found in this work is that in Canada we're 18 too polite; we think it's wrong to talk about racism or 19 race preference bias. So that's good because we think it 20 means that we think it's wrong, particularly in 21 healthcare. But just like any other big problem, like 22 violence, right, family violence, community violence, if 23 we don't talk about it -- and this is a form of violence, 24 unintentional violence -- it's not going to go away, 25 right, so we have to face this elephant in the room.

1 There's probably a better Indigenous analogy for that.

2 So the majority of physicians in the 3 U.S., actually, have a Black White race preference bias, 4 except for the Black physicians, right? So, I can 5 remember when I was first learning this from social 6 psychologists. I think there was a radio show, and I
7 actually called my Auntie Maria, and I was upset. I said, 8 you know, "Do you believe this? Do you believe that we 9 have this human tendency to in-group and out-group based 10 on visual appearance," right? But, as far as I can tell, 11 it looks like this is a very common human trait.

12 The strength-base piece of it is that 13 I have never met any -- or been aware of any society 14 anywhere that doesn't actually have mechanisms to 15 mitigate. So, in the same way that we have tendencies to 16 violence, right, there's also ways to mitigate the 17 violence. So, if we have tendencies to in-grouping and 18 out-grouping -- and the problem with it is actually we end 19 up treating people who we in-group better than the people 20 who we out-group. But, the good news is we can interrupt
21 it.

22 Next slide, please. So, the way that 23 we can interrupt it is actually by -- you can interrupt it 24 -- my colleagues, Patricia Devine (phonetic) and William 25 Cox (phonetic), who actually are now on a team, we're

1 working at St. Michael's Hospital trying to test best 2 practices in Indigenous race, bias-preference training for 3 health care providers. Actually, we have just the 2-hour
4 intervention where people, like, do the implicit
5 association test, and then they just talk a little bit 6 about how racism is bad, and then they get these five 7 exercises. So, this is another thing. And, even people 8 here, you could look at this and you can pick one that you 9 work on; right?

10 What's funny is in science and in 11 medicine we take simple concepts and make fancy words, and 12 then they get published in a journal; right? So, that's 13 what we're talking about here. Something seems simple, 14 but they're really complicated, right, but we took them
15 for granted; okay? But, they need to be put in whatever 16 language or fancy words so that we can get policy uptake 17 and make good change.

18 I like this contact; right? That just 19 means getting out of your comfort zone; right?
20 Perspective taking, for me, that might be walking in 21 somebody else's shoes or moccasins, or mukluks.
22 Individuating, don't judge a book by their cover. The 23 first two get a bit tricky. The counter-stereotypic
24 imaging is why Buffy Sainte-Marie went on Sesame Street; 25 right? It's kind of what I do. I actually have

1       anticipatory racism, so I try not to be late, right, 2       because somebody might assume an Indigenous person is 3       late. Remember I say I talk a lot; right? At least I'm 4       countering a stereotype. I don't know if that's good or 5       bad though. I'm sure I could benefit from being a bit 6       quiet.

7                        Stereotype replacement. That's the 8       one I say I do in Toronto. And, again, it's a funny
9       analogy to use here in Iqaluit because there isn't a 10      subway, but many of you might have been on the subway in 11      Toronto anyways. It's a pretty busy place. It's a very 12      diverse place; right? And, what I do sometimes, because I 13      have a busy mind, is I start making up stories about 14      people I see on the subway; right?

15                      So, this stereotype replacement would 16      be about me catching those stories. And, of course, I'm 17      very uncomfortable talking about my own internalized
18      racism or racism against other groups of people that I
19      think are different but, as I mentioned, because I have a 20      little bit of a financial privilege -- and I actually grew 21      up middle class, my mom was a nurse, my dad was a teacher, 22      like -- again -- so safer for me to talk about that.

23                      So, I might see somebody and I'll 24      think, oh, I think they don't have as much money as me; 25      right? Like, so I make an assumption. How do I know how 1 much money somebody has just by what they wear; right?

2 And then I actually make it even worse because I assume 3 they're not as happy as me, because I assume they don't 4 have as much money. Both of those are faulty logic
5 things. They're faulty logic. Like, people assume that 6 Mr. Sinclair was intoxicated and he had nowhere to live; 7 right?

8 So, what I do is I say I have to 9 interrupt that. That's my exercise for the day. So, I'm 10 working on this critical thinking and reflexivity as an 11 intervention; right? So, I think we need to think about 12 doing that. And, if we do that together and talk about 13 it, then maybe we can address this big problem of 14 Indigenous race-preference bias.

15 Next slide, please. We can go quickly 16 over this slide. It's just to show that when people have 17 that race-preference bias, using those implicit 18 association tests, they actually are less likely to give 19 lifesaving treatment to black people compared to white 20 people. So, it's pretty scary it translates.

21 Next slide. Okay. And then the last 22 piece is in your organization -- and, again, this is hot 23 off the press from Sanyas. I'm working hard. So, Cheryl 24 Ward, some of you might know her, you can call her up and 25 say, "Hey, Cheryl, she's giving me permission to use

1       this." She actually has drilled down each of these 2       circles.

3                       So, this could be your organization
4       and you could say, "Okay. I want to do an organization 5       level assessment." We've talked about individual level 6       cultural safety, so then you have to go through all these 7       areas of organization, right, from the administration to 8       the governance, to the planning, to the communications, to 9       the HR; right? And, she's drilled down each one of these 10      sectors into a series of questions; right? So, you could 11      actually work and build organizational awareness tools.

12                      Next slide. Okay. So, before I get 13      to the recommendations, just some final words about common 14      pitfalls, because people have said this is helpful. And, 15      again, I've said many of these things multiple times now, 16      but underestimating or under using local Indigenous 17      community knowledge and skills; right? So, the strength-18      based approach is actually to put those at the centre, 19      right, and put local community members who understand 20      those skills at the centre.

21                      Underestimating time and investment 22      that might be required to build relationships and to 23      bridge all of those disrupters; okay? Underestimating the 24      complexity of Indigenous community knowledge systems and 25      protocols, so people could call that beads and feathers,

1 sash it up. I think we had one that I worked on with some 2 of my Inuit friends; right? And then underestimating the 3 importance of context to health services including the 4 social determinants of health; right? So, that 5 obstetrician that called Child Protection Agency, right, 6 those obstetricians that haven't taken public transit with 7 three kids under the age of 5.

8 So, if I might, I'll just spend my 9 last five minutes or so speaking briefly to the 10 recommendations.

11 Next slide, please. I want to set the 12 context for the recommendations. So, again, I think I 13 have located myself. I am just one Métis person. I work 14 as a family doctor and a research scientist. I am trusted 15 by a lot of people in terms of providing health care over 16 time and to do collaborative work, but I'm not a 17 representative. I'm not -- I'm here representing this 18 ceremony lodge, right, but I don't hold a political 19 position. I don't have any authority particularly in this 20 beautiful Territory of Nunavut; okay?

21 But, I guess what I think might be 22 important -- so I put it in that context, so any of you 23 who are actually do have those leadership roles where you 24 represent groups of people or have been elected, you can 25 take it or leave it; okay? And, I don't mean any

1           disrespect by suggesting them.

2                           But, I guess I would like to -- if you 3           thought it was a good idea, you could acknowledge and 4           recognize the importance of strong early relationships and 5           the fact that as First Nations, Inuit, Métis family in 6           communities, we have always had these protocols in our 7           different and diverse ways. And, maybe not. Maybe I'm 8           wrong.

9                           I don't know every First Nations, 10          Inuit and Métis community, but I would be surprised to 11          hear about one that didn't have built-in protocols that 12          ensured every person experiences love, security and 13          belonging, and that these protocols actually discouraged 14          and addressed violent behaviours, and that colonization 15          disrupted these ways, but they're not lost. They're still 16          here so that family- and community-led strengthening of 17          the protocols is key to addressing violence.

18                          Next slide. Okay. And so, then I'm 19          just one Métis person; right? One voter, I guess, in my 20          City of Toronto, Province of Ontario, Country of Canada, 21          Member of the Métis Nation of Ontario. But, anyways, all 22          of the different governments could consider them, or not, 23          to formally recognize the importance of these protocols;
24          right? Because I think that they probably are, but I 25          don't know. I know sometimes I look to see what the

1 health research parties are at least of our national First 2 Nations, Inuit and Métis organizations. I know at least I
3 haven't seen family and community on one of them. But, I 4 know others are working hard.

5 We have Pauktuutit Inuit -- national 6 Inuit organization working on these things. But, yes, 7 wouldn't it be interesting to come together, too, and 8 recognize how important they are, and then, like, work
9 together on a national initiative; okay? And, one thing
10 is, we did have the Aboriginal Healing Foundation here, 11 and many of you may have participated in some of those 12 programs and a lot of those programs were about family and 13 community strengthening. And, again, it's weird to draw 14 examples out of context, and again, I think the way we 15 always did it is we gathered together and someone could 16 share, and then you could take it or leave it because 17 everybody knows their own context the best. But, I know 18 New Zealand has invested in a national strategy around 19 family strengthening for the Māori.

20 If that was to happen, of course there
21 would need to be a series of regional and First Nations, 22 Inuit and Métis specific meetings and joint gatherings;
23 right? That would be funded and supported, but I know -- 24 I hear elders speaking about the need for this. And then, 25 of course, for the federal and provincial and municipal

1 governments, any kind of investments -- so we do have a
2 big investment already; right? In First Nations, Inuit
3 child health, maternal health, like our Head Start
4 programs. I know with different federal governments, 5 they've been on the chopping block. I know I wrote a big 6 report once just to provide evidence that it was 7 worthwhile.

8 And then we do have current federal 9 investment in Indigenous midwifery, so I'd like those to 10 continue. And then I also will raise this issue about the 11 need to develop and implement fathering programs.

12 Okay. And, second last slide here.
13 So, now that I've gone around making recommendations for 14 everybody else, as an educator and an academic, I guess I 15 could encourage myself and my colleagues to continue to 16 work with First Nations, Inuit, Métis parents, children, 17 youth, elders and service providers so that we can 18 document and share wise practices, or support the 19 communities in documenting it themselves, which is what we 20 did in that knowledge network project.

21 And then, finally, the last two come 22 with this cultural safety training. So, as the TRC has 23 told us, in health, we should work on cultural safety
24 training. I think it would be important for health policy 25 makers and research funders to support research that will

1 actually tell us what kind of cultural safety training is 2 going to be the most effective; right? Because the last 3 thing we want is, like, the people with the good 4 intentions who woke up in the morning but are still 5 hurting people with their misinformation. They think, oh
6 okay, I went to the one-hour cultural safety training, now
7 I'm good; right? Or, for somebody who is well-8 intentioned, right, and trying really hard to go to 9 cultural-safety training given by somebody who is not 10 skilled and feel angry after that. And then the last one 11 is about further developing and applying those cultural 12 safety organizational and assessment tools.

13 Okay. Last, I guess, two slides. So,
14 I guess I talked for a long time, so that's not really 15 good pedagogical practice, but I guess you're supposed to 16 say what you said. So, I hope over the last couple of 17 hours I talked a little bit about why we need strength-18 based approaches.

19 Some of my thoughts about what we need 20 to optimize individual family community well-being with 21 that focus on early relationships, a perspective on how we 22 got there, how we get there, how we always have, and some 23 disruptors. And then the core of the testimony was these 24 strength-based examples both from within Indigenous 25 communities and for non-Indigenous individuals,

1 communities and organizations. And then I made some 2 recommendations.

3 Last slide. As I started with, I
4 wanted to acknowledge lost loved ones and their families
5 and their communities; my family and my kin past, present 6 and future; the elders and the knowledge-keepers who 7 continue to be very generous in sharing even here today 8 and very patient. And then the communities and 9 individuals who have trusted me; the amazing team of 10 people I get to work with in Toronto, and then all my 11 academic colleagues and mentors.

12 Last slide. So, I guess we're at 13 break and then -- yes, apparently, it's not questions; 14 it's cross-examination.

15 MS. CHRISTA BIG CANOE: Actually,
16 maybe I'll do this part.

17 DR. JANET SMYLIE: Yeah.

18 MS. CHRISTA BIG CANOE: Before we 19 actually get to that, I just have a couple of small 20 housekeeping things relating to your testimony, Janet, 21 that I want to make sure go onto the record so that my 22 colleagues, when they do cross-examine you, if they'd like 23 to ask questions in relation to those articles, it is 24 actually in the evidence before the Commission.

25 So, one of the articles, it's called

1       Land, Family and Identity - Contextualizing Métis health
2       and well-being. It was by Brenda Macdougall. It was 3       listed under Schedule B. You're very familiar with this 4       article?

5                       DR. JANET SMYLIE: Yes.

6                       MS. CHRISTA BIG CANOE: And, you're 7       comfortable answering questions ---

8                       DR. JANET SMYLIE: Yes.

9                       MS. CHRISTA BIG CANOE: --- in 10       relation to the topic?

11                      DR. JANET SMYLIE: Yes.

12                      MS. CHRISTA BIG CANOE: On that basis, 13       Chief Commissioner, Commissioners, I ask that we make this 14       an exhibit.

15                      CHIEF COMMISSIONER MARION BULLER:
16       Yes. Land, Family and Identity - Contextualizing Métis
17       health and well-being by Brenda Macdougall, Ph.D. is 18       Exhibit 16.

19                      MS. CHRISTA BIG CANOE: Thank you.

20       --- EXHIBIT 16:

21                      "Land, Family and Identity:
22                      Contextualizing Metis health and 23                      well-being" by Brenda Macdougall, 24                      National Collaborating Centre for 25                      Indigenous Health, 2017 (32

1 pages)

2 MS. CHRISTA BIG CANOE: We've already 3 put in First Peoples and Second-Class Treatment, but what 4 was listed as Schedule D in the summary and before you was 5 review article. It's called Understanding the role of 6 Indigenous community participation in Indigenous prenatal
7 and infant/toddler health promotion programs in Canada, a
8 realistic view. You'll see the lead author is Janet.
9 And, obviously, you will be able to answer questions in 10 relation to this particular article. On that basis, may I 11 please enter it as an exhibit?

12 CHIEF COMMISSIONER MARION BULLER:
13 Yes. Understanding the role of Indigenous community
14 participation in Indigenous prenatal and infant/toddler
15 health promotion programs in Canada, a realistic view by 16 Dr. Janet Smylie, et al, will be -- I'm sorry, I just 17 don't see the year here, but...

18 MS. CHRISTA BIG CANOE: 2016 at the 19 top header, and Social Science and Medicine. The citation 20 is very tiny. I'm sorry.

21 CHIEF COMMISSIONER MARION BULLER:
22 Real small.

23 MS. CHRISTA BIG CANOE: Yes.

24 CHIEF COMMISSIONER MARION BULLER: Is
25 Exhibit 17, please.

1            --- EXHIBIT 17:

2            "Understanding the role of 3            Indigenous community
4            participation in Indigenous 5            prenatal and infant-toddler 6            health promotion programs in 7            Canada: A realist review," by Dr.
8            Janet Smylie, Maritt Kirst, Kelly
9            McShane, Michelle Firestone, Sara 10           Wolfe, Patricia O'Campo, in 11           Social Science & Medicine 150,
12           2016, (pp. 128-143)

13                    MS. CHRISTA BIG CANOE: During the 14            presentation, Janet actually, in that chart, that 15            organizational chart you saw with circles, how you 16            can do the organizational assessment, it's actually 17            taken from what was marked in Schedule E, the 18            Operationalizing Quality - Creating an organizational 19            cultural safety framework. It's a presentation by 20            Brad Anderson and Cheryl Ward. It's like a slide
21            deck, and Dr. Smylie, you'll be able to answer 22            questions in relation to this, like, generally?

23                    DR. JANET SMYLIE: I can, and we also 24            got permission from Cheryl Ward to use it.

25                    MS. CHRISTA BIG CANOE: Yes, thank

1 you. On that basis, may I have this also entered as an 2 exhibit?

3 CHIEF COMMISSIONER MARION BULLER:

4 Yes. Operationalizing Quality - Creating an 5 organizational cultural safety framework by Brad Anderson
6 and Cheryl Ward, March 1st, 2017, is Exhibit 18.

7 --- EXHIBIT 18:

11 Cultural Safety Framework," by 12 Brad Anderson and Cheryl Ward,
13 dated March 1, 2017 (35 slides)

14 MS. CHRISTA BIG CANOE: And, Chief
15 Commissioner, the actual presentation that Janet has 16 presented, it's in electronic format. I do have one hard 17 copy here. I would ask and request that this also be 18 marked as an exhibit, and I will provide Mr. Registrar the 19 hard copy.

20 CHIEF COMMISSIONER MARION BULLER: Yes,
21 certainly. The PowerPoint presentation by Dr. Smylie is 22 Exhibit 19, please.

23 --- EXHIBIT 19:

5 2018 (64 slides)

6 MS. CHRISTA BIG CANOE: And, just for ease
7 of reference in our record, I know that the slide
8 presentation included Janet's recommendations, but I do 9 have a single sheet, and it was -- it was listed in the 10 summary as F, and it's simply titled, "Dr. Janet Smylie's 11 Recommendations", and it's two pages. And, I know that 12 for ease of reference, it might make it easier for other 13 parties just to pull this up or for us to find it in the 14 future, and if I could have that marked an exhibit as 15 well?

16 CHIEF COMMISSIONER MARION BULLER:
17 Yes. Dr. Janet Smylie's recommendations, that will be 18 Exhibit 20, please.

19 --- EXHIBIT 20 :

20 Dr. Janet Smylie's
21 Recommendations
22 (14 recommendations, two pages)

23 MS. CHRISTA BIG CANOE: Thank you very 24 much. So, I only have a couple of questions before I 25 close the examination-in-chief, if I may?

1                   So, Janet, everything that you've 2 presented today and discussed, you're comfortable and have 3 fluency to be able to answer questions of my colleagues
4 through the Commissioners?

5                   DR. JANET SMYLIE: Yes.

6                   MS. CHRISTA BIG CANOE: Okay. And 7 then there was -- sorry, I left myself a note because 8 there was one thing. I just have one question for you in 9 relation to when you were talking about community 10 ownership of programs, projects and a number of things, 11 one of the phrases or one of the things that you explained 12 was that when people like councils of elders or people can 13 come together and see, it becomes an expression of self-14 determination.

15                   I was wondering if you could just help
16 me understand that concept a little more? So, I know you 17 used the chart, but if you could just maybe in some few 18 words help me understand the jump between community-owned 19 and how that's an expression of self-determination by the 20 people who have owned the project?

21                   DR. JANET SMYLIE: Sure. And, I think that 22 I understand the term "self-determination" in multiple 23 ways, because I think about it within the context of, 24 like, individuals and families and communities so within 25 the health care context, because I think within the legal

1 and political context, it often relates to defined 2 collectives of people, but I'll cover it in each of those 3 aspects.

4 Like, as an individual person, if we think 5 about the choices that we get encouraged to make 6 historically, right, to maintain our own health and the 7 choices that each of us make every day; right? And then 8 in the field of health promotion, right, like we know that 9 the hardest part is to get to the behaviour change; right?
10 So, what will trigger the behaviour change; right?

11 So, it's easy for me to say, oh, I should 12 go for a walk every day, right, or I should drink less 13 diet pop; right? But, then, what's going to trigger the 14 behaviour change? Like, it's important to me to express 15 myself as Métis woman; right? Like, it's an act of, like, 16 self-determination; right? It's an extension of my 17 ancestral lines; right?

18 So, if going for a walk is linked to 19 that, I am more likely to do that; right? So, if I get -- 20 I go up to my room and see a ParticipACTION ad on TV, 21 right, like that I think was sponsored by the federal 22 government; right? I can also -- yes, and it has people 23 that I can't relate to on the ad; right? Like, that's 24 going to be a weak way for me to go for a walk; right?
25 But, if, like, other Indigenous women say to me, let's go

1 for a walk; right? Or maybe a local person invites me to 2 go for a walk; right? To me, that would be a respectful
3 thing to do. Or when I went for a walk this morning, I 4 did it partly because, in my understanding of how to 5 balance my life and do a good job collectively here from 6 the (indiscernible).

7 If I go for a walk just out of a sense of 8 respect for the opportunity I have to visit this 9 territory, actually getting out and looking around, like 10 that would be for myself as I can have a little bit of a 11 relationship, understand a tiny little bit about what it 12 means to walk on this land; right? Then, that is 13 individually an act of self-determination. So, if we can 14 build our health promotion programs, and in fact all of 15 those things were built into our protocols, that will help 16 me as an individual; right?

17 Then, on the collective piece of it, if it
18 can be built in, again collectively, to what I think I 19 need in my family and my community. So, we have a birth 20 centre in Toronto. I love going to the birth centre, I 21 love working with Indigenous midwives; right? So, I go in 22 there, right, and I also see the midwives role modeling, 23 like, ways of being in community that I see a lot
24 different than I might see, like, at St. Michael's 25 Hospital; right? There's good things happening over there

1 too; right? So, then, that encourages me to change my 2 behaviours because there is collective role modeling.

3 So, then, of course it's empowering within,
4 like, communities and -- like, legally defined communities 5 and organizations, right, to be able to support, and 6 demonstrate and govern, like, their own health promotion 7 programs. So, then, in all of those ways, that's where 8 this community investment; right? So, we have, in Toronto 9 then, like an investment -- like, there's Indigenous 10 midwives that are governing this birth centre, and we can 11 all go there, and learn from that and have our families 12 there. So, I think there's huge ripple effects. And, 13 they cut across those lines.

14 So, really, the act of having a baby in 15 this Indigenous birth centre, right -- and the first baby
16 that was born there was Indigenous, and I think some of us
17 as community members were actually at a community event
18 above there and we could hear the drumming. So, to me, 19 that is an example of -- where we're really getting at how 20 these community led, community owned activities are acts 21 of self-determination in a very old way.

22 MS. CHRISTA BIG CANOE: Thank you for 23 explaining that. At this point, Commission Counsel has no 24 further questions in the examination-in-chief. I do have 25 just a couple, sort of, technical announcements, reminders

1 in relation to -- before we transition into cross-
2 examination, and it also just helps the witness.

3 At this point, now that I'm complete cross-4 examination, I am no longer able to talk to Dr. Smylie in 5 relation to her testimony. I obviously can ask her if she 6 wants water or what she needs, but just the rules don't 7 allow me to have conversations with her until the end of 8 cross-examination in relation to the evidence that she has 9 provided. And, I would also like to request a 20 minute 10 break, and the purpose for that is so that we could do the 11 verification with the parties in terms of order.

12 And, on that basis, I would ask that we 13 please take the time, at the beginning of the break, for 14 the parties with standing to meet us in the Health and 15 Elders room so that we can do that verification process.
16 And, when we return, we could then proceed with cross-
17 examination.

18 CHIEF COMMISSIONER MARION BULLER: Okay.
19 20 minutes, please.

20 MS. CHRISTA BIG CANOE: Thank you.

21 DR. JANET SMYLIE: Thank you.

22 --- Upon recessing at 15:52

23 --- Upon resuming at 16:19

24 MS. CHRISTA BIG CANOE: If we can start 25 again. At this time, Commission Counsel would like to

1 that invite the parties for cross-examination. We have a 2 total of 12 parties that will be doing cross-examination.
3 The first one is NunatuKavut, and I believe it's Ms. Sarah 4 Baddeley who will be representing -- counsel representing.
5 Ms. Baddeley will have 15.5 minutes.

6 --- CROSS-EXAMINATION BY MS. SARAH BADDELEY:

7 MS. SARAH BADDELEY: Good afternoon. Thank 8 you very much, Dr. Smylie, for your testimony, and thank 9 you to the people of Iqaluit for welcoming us all to 10 Nunavut this week. I am here on behalf of the NunatuKavut 11 Community Council which represents 6,000 Inuit in South
12 and Central Labrador.

13 Dr. Smylie you mentioned that contemporary, 14 non-Indigenous medical research as well as Indigenous 15 knowledge of health care recognizes that child bonding 16 when children are newborns is at its greatest potential 17 when it is a communal process.

18 A member of the NunatuKavut community
19 shared with me a story just yesterday of how her daughter 20 had to travel by herself when she was two weeks away from 21 her due date to St. Anthony, which is hundreds of 22 kilometres away from her home community of Mary's Harbour.
23 When she was there, she had to stay at a hostel before 24 giving birth alone and far away from her family and other 25 community members. She was away from her community for 1 three weeks, and it would have been longer if there were 2 any medical complications.

3 This is the normal way that Inuit women in 4 NunatuKavut give birth due to the lack of local midwifery
5 and other medical services. Would you agree that being so 6 far away from your community would disrupt the process of 7 bonding in the early days after a child is born?

8 DR. JANET SMYLIE: Yes.

9 MS. SARAH BADDELEY: In your opinion, would 10 there be negative impacts on the mother or child as a 11 result of being deprived of community bonding in the early 12 days after childbirth?

13 DR. JANET SMYLIE: Yes.

14 MS. SARAH BADDELEY: Would you like to make 15 any comments on what resources could offer a solution to 16 this problem?

17 DR. JANET SMYLIE: Sure. So, I think 18 looking at the Inuit Indigenous midwifery practice in 19 Puvirnitug, though I don't understand the geography, like, 20 of your community quite as well, but I would look there 21 first. So, I think that this is one of the big 22 disruptions that has happened as a result of -- like the 23 imposition of non-Indigenous health services on Inuit and 24 First Nations and Métis communities, though your community 25 will understand the local impacts better than I within

1 your Inuit context.

2 I think that one of the strengths that I
3 talked about is we still have a lot of knowledge around 4 Inuit midwifery. The practice in Puvirnitug, one of the 5 problems with my profession of biomedicine is they think a 6 lot about risk. And, of course about one-third of birth 7 emergencies can't be predicted, but that needs to be 8 weighed against the risk of, like, being isolated, right, 9 and having birth away from home. And, the risks -- 10 actually if people won't buy into the risks that are 11 caused by the interruption, like of culture, language, 12 community and bonding, there's this emerging literature 13 showing about the long-term risks as well to health and 14 wellbeing.

15 So, like, to me, the solution is to support 16 local Inuit midwifery practice, and it's actually a very 17 economical investment as well. And, it's evidence-based 18 as well, because in Puvirnitug, the local Inuit midwives
19 work with local family doctors and other health care 20 providers so, like, the majority of women then can birth 21 close to home. And, there's been longstanding evidence to 22 show that the outcomes are just as good in that context.

23 So, unfortunately, still, like, some women 24 and their families might decide that it would be safer to 25 have a birth further away from home, but there would be

1 far fewer, and then maybe those resources that are put 2 towards making every single woman leave the community
3 could be put to making sure the smaller number of women 4 are accompanied by other family members. And, also, the 5 family that's left behind gets the supports that they 6 need.

7 MS. SARAH BADDELEY: Thank you. This might 8 be slightly repetitive, but I would appreciate if maybe 9 you could elaborate. So, you talk about how Indigenous 10 midwifery practices are so important and you mentioned 11 earlier how they can be an important form of care and 12 community in a broader sense than just assisting with 13 childbirth. Can you give any suggestions for how our 14 community that has lost its midwifery practices due to 15 these colonial disruptions can reintroduce the practices
16 into the community? How to get started?

17 DR. JANET SMYLIE: Sure. And, again, I 18 would defer to other local people and Inuit midwives, but 19 I know that they're -- like talking -- even though this 20 community I realize is quite far away and, like, distinct 21 -- like language dialects, but connecting with other 22 groups of Inuit midwives and Indigenous midwives. If the 23 community was interested, they could connect with that 24 Canadian Association of Aboriginal Midwives, and there are 25 Inuit midwives there as well as other First Nations and

1 Métis midwives. They travel to communities and would 2 support the communities.

3 I know the federal minister -- and two 4 years ago, there was actually a budget commitment from the 5 federal government to support Indigenous midwifery, so I 6 imagine contacting Minister Philpott now at Indigenous 7 Services would like to find out if there was some 8 resources to support that initiative. But, yes, first, 9 maybe talking to other Inuit midwives in other regions.

10 MS. SARAH BADDELEY: It sounds, like, kind 11 of implicit in that answer is there may be funding 12 available to help sharing Indigenous knowledge in this 13 kind of strength-based way. But, just to be clear, do you 14 agree that government resources, financial contributions 15 to helping knowledge sharing between Indigenous 16 communities would be helpful and continuing that funding 17 that would help?

18 DR. JANET SMYLIE: Yes, that would be,
19 like, a priority. And, again, it's a demonstrated best 20 practice, like this idea of knowledge networks. And, it 21 requires, like, face-to-face visiting. Like, it can't be 22 -- the information and the revitalization of Inuit
23 midwifery or Indigenous midwifery can't happen over a 24 video conference or a telephone call; right? It's got to 25 happen -- like people have to build and rebuild those 1 relationships.

2 And, like, there was an investment, like,
3 in the budget two years ago in Indigenous midwifery. But,
4 again, everybody understands, like, there is a big gap 5 between a little investment. And then we actually have to 6 think about the remedies; right? So, one investment and 7 one budget year, like -- and the amount of that investment 8 isn't equal, like, to the actual damage that's been done 9 by this disruption of this practice.

10 So, I would suspect there needs to be a 11 substantive investment over a number of years. But, if we 12 think about the costs even of all those flights and med 13 evacs, right, and if we're trying to think about upstream 14 approaches, if one had to make an economic argument, which 15 sometimes one has to, I think one could make a compelling 16 one.

17 MS. SARAH BADDELEY: And, just, again, to 18 be clear, based on your experience working with remote 19 communities and providing services there, would you agree 20 it's very expensive to travel between communities and it 21 does require a considerable degree of resources?

22 DR. JANET SMYLIE: That's correct. And, I 23 thought of one other person that it might be useful for 24 your community to contact. Dr. Vicki Van Wagner, right, 25 is an ally midwife and a professor at Ryerson University,

1 and she has been involved in Puvirnitug for a long time,
2 and she's a big advocate and ally, so that would be 3 another useful person that might be helpful in providing 4 more information to your community.

5 MS. SARAH BADDELEY: That's wonderful.
6 Thank you. Oh, we went through a lot. So, I'm going to 7 kind of shift topics a little bit. The NunatuKavut 8 community has experienced erasure of their identity as 9 Inuit people. And, their subsequent -- as a result, they 10 have subsequently been excluded from resources available 11 to other Inuit people. We see this as a form of colonial 12 violence.

13 Based on the materials you have provided,
14 especially Exhibit 16, I understand that the Métis people 15 have also struggled with exclusion from access to 16 resources as a result of an erasure of their identity.
17 Would you agree that the exclusion of Indigenous groups 18 from various resources due to government assignments of 19 identity is part of an example of erasure and cultural 20 violence?

21 DR. JANET SMYLIE: Yes. I always like to 22 say that it's an attempt at an erasure ---

23 MS. SARAH BADDELEY: Yes.

24 DR. JANET SMYLIE: --- because your 25 community is here and you're presenting some information,

1 so the attempts haven't worked. But, one thing I like to 2 do is think about how absurd it would be if we thought 3 about it within the context. And, in fact, I think 4 President Trump made some remarks about specific ethnic 5 and racialized groups of immigrants who were singled out;
6 right?

7 So, if we thought about it with another
8 context, it just seems absurd to me that -- because I also 9 think about population health; right? So, we're always 10 interested in including its -- we're lucky we have a rich 11 and diverse Indigenous population in this country that 12 includes First Nations, Inuit and Métis people. So, it 13 seems absurd to me that some populations, like Inuit and 14 Métis, would get excluded.

15 Though of course, I understand there's a 16 long and complex history. I also think that the policy 17 frame that was created purposefully divided, like, at 18 least First Nations and Métis. So I know that history
19 better.

20 And you saw the examples of the half-breed
21 script. So in the Treaty making times there would be 22 siblings, right, and because of their choice of marrying
23 maybe a First Nations person versus a Métis person, right?
24 Then they would be on other opposite sides of the Indian 25 Act. So yes, I find that this is a form of systemic

1 racism and colonial violence against Indigenous People.

2 MS. SARAH BADDELEY: Thank you, Dr. Smylie.
3 And thank you, in particular for clarifying this attempted 4 erasure. NunatuKavut women are very proud of their 5 resilience in the face of it. So are you familiar with 6 the non-insured health benefits that are available to some 7 groups through the First Nations and Inuit health branch?

8 DR. JANET SMYLIE: Very, yes.

9 MS. SARAH BADDELEY: Yeah. FNIHB. Are you 10 aware that the Inuit People in NunatuKavut have been 11 denied access to non-insured health benefits through 12 FNIHB?

13 DR. JANET SMYLIE: I was aware that some 14 Inuit were denied access to some services from non-insured 15 health benefit when they lived in urban areas of -- like, 16 Ottawa. But I wasn't aware about the exclusion of your 17 community members from the plan. And I'm certainly aware 18 of the exclusion of my own family and Métis People from 19 the plan.

20 MS. SARAH BADDELEY: So based on that 21 experience, would you describe the exclusion of an 22 Indigenous group or individuals, from FNIHB health 23 services on the basis of the government's failure to 24 recognize them as Indigenous People, despite their own
25 lived experiences and identity as Indigenous People, as a

1 form of cultural violence?

2 DR. JANET SMYLIE: Yes, and I would also 3 find it in tension with the Constitution Act that 4 recognizes First Nations, Inuit, and Métis People as 5 Indigenous People. So I find it intention with the 6 inherent rights of Indigenous People as recognized in the 7 Constitution.

8 MS. SARAH BADDELEY: Do you think that the 9 recognition of Indigenous groups, so they can access 10 health resources, can be important for healing?

11 DR. JANET SMYLIE: Yes.

12 MS. SARAH BADDELEY: Can you speak to how 13 it might be important for healing?

14 DR. JANET SMYLIE: Well, just in basic 15 material sense. So I'm aware that Métis community members 16 who live away from tertiary health care services and who 17 suffer from cancer, for example, sometimes have to 18 hitchhike, or can't travel to get their chemotherapy. So 19 there's -- I'm aware that like, within the Métis community 20 commonly people can't afford to buy their prescription 21 medications.

22 But also, I think that there's bigger, kind
23 of collective issues, so I'm aware that non-insured health 24 benefits also provides programs that are now focussed in 25 First Nations on reserve communities. And I think those

1 are very important and needed programs and often 2 inadequate. I was actually in practice when they cut
3 those programs to off-reserve First Nations People. So 4 benefits as simple as foot care for people with diabetes,
5 and that actually is a very evidence based best practice
6 to prevent limb amputation.

7 MS. SARAH BADDELEY: Dr. Smylie, that 8 pretty much wraps up my time. Thank you so much for your 9 responses.

10 MS. CHRISTA BIG CANOE: Thank you, Ms.
11 Baddeley. Next we'd like to call up the Assembly of First 12 Nations, Ms. Julie McGregor is counsel on behalf of the 13 AFN, and Ms. McGregor will have 15 and a half minutes.

14 --- CROSS-EXAMINATION BY MS. JULIE MCGREGOR:

15 MS. JULIE MCGREGOR: Thank you, Dr. Smylie.
16 I don't think I'm going to use up all of my 15 minutes
17 because after listening to your wonderful presentation, I 18 was thinking about, what am I going to ask Dr. Smylie?
19 Because honestly, and this has happened before in all 20 these hearings.

21 I've been to almost all of these hearings
22 so it's always a challenge when you're questioning a 23 witness like yourself, who is part of the solution and not 24 part of the problem. And as lawyers here we're trained 25 the cross-examination is supposed to be to you know, pick

1       apart and take -- and pick holes into your opponent's
2       case. And as a lawyer for the Assembly of First Nations, 3       we want to see more of your type of work happening out 4       there and we want -- and there's nothing that I really 5       have to pick apart about it.

6                So I just want to say thank you for the 7       good work that you are doing, and thank you very much for 8       being in a forum like this where, you know, more people 9       can learn about the good work that's being done.

10              So I don't have any criticism, but when I'm 11      in this sort of a circumstance, I think about it back to - 12      - and I relate it back to my own situation or my own 13      community. So I come from a First Nation that's located 14      in Quebec, but we're an English speaking First Nation.
15      And we have -- we're very blessed in many ways, and some 16      of the ways we are blessed is that we have midwives in our 17      community. We have doctors now and we've -- you know, I 18      have family members who are nurses.

19              And the struggle always is that we want our 20      own people providing our own services because it's -- A, 21      it's culturally appropriate; B, we know each other, we 22      trust each other, and we speak the language. But there's 23      always the stumbling block, the midwives can't work in our 24      community because, you know, they don't speak French, and 25      we're all -- we're Anglophones, but we're located in

1 Quebec. Same thing with the doctors and the nurses. And 2 we always have to stumble across some sort of, level of 3 government bureaucracy, or accreditation to get things 4 going.

5 And it's -- and while I look at your work
6 and I think about what you're -- the work that you're 7 doing, it's sort of almost idealistic in a sort of way, 8 that we want to get there. But how do we, you know,
9 maneuver what are some major hurdles in First Nations 10 specifically, I guess? I mean, I'm not sure that's 11 necessarily the same situation in urban areas, but 12 definitely in First Nations it is because you have the 13 dual jurisdiction problem. So I was wondering if you had 14 any comments about that?

15 DR. JANET SMYLIE: So firstly, yeah. Thank 16 you for viewing my testimony as friendly. That means a 17 lot. And yeah, that's why we all hold a piece of the 18 puzzle.

19 So I agree, the issue of respect for First 20 Nations autonomy of their health services is a political 21 issue and it's going to require approach A, versus 22 approach B, right? Because we already know that we have - 23 - like, you do have skilled people in your community, 24 right? Midwives, physicians, nurses, but they can't work 25 there because the provincial licensure requires them to be

1 French speaking, right? So that's a type A problem, 2 that's a colonial system that's interfering in your 3 ability to do what you're already know how to do.

4 Ontario was able to get an exemption clause
5 for Indigenous midwifery, so I don't know if you're 6 familiar with that. So that's how Six Nations operates, 7 and actually Sherri Lee Bourgeois is going to start 8 practicing again in the City of Toronto. She'll be the 9 first urban midwife, I'm aware of, in Ontario that's 10 operating under the exemption clause.

11 So I don't understand health law in Quebec 12 as well as I do understand the regulations that I have to 13 follow as a doctor in Ontario, under the regulated Health 14 Professions Act, I believe. But this exemption clause is 15 something to look at and perhaps lawyers who are fighting 16 for recognition and in the system can work on that.

17 And that I -- like, I could put you in 18 touch with people that understand that exemption clause.
19 That did happen, kind of in a fortuitous, kind of, policy 20 window where Ontario was actually developing its 21 provincial midwifery legislation. And there was 22 Indigenous activists I think, so Sylvia Miracle I 23 mentioned was one of them who was able to negotiate and 24 get that legislation built in. I think Ontario Native
25 Womens Association was part of that, Carol Terry was a

1 part of that.

2 They wrote background papers to show that 3 there was a tradition of Indigenous midwifery in the 4 province, and they were able to legislate an exemption
5 clause into the Ontario midwifery legislation so that 6 Indigenous midwives working in Indigenous communities 7 actually don't have to be regulated by the provincial 8 legislation. They can choose to practice and be regulated
9 by the Indigenous community. So that's how Six Nations 10 actually has its own training program.

11 We haven't succeeded in doing that for 12 doctors or nurses anywhere in the country yet.

13 MS. JULIE MCGREGOR: And I guess that 14 that's what my question was getting at, is that obviously, 15 in my circumstance, it's a Québec thing, but you know, 16 there's -- you have to have willing partners, I guess, in 17 all of this, and that's kind of what I'm trying to tease
18 out is that, you know, we need those connections, we need 19 those willing partners. We -- I guess we can't always be 20 at the mercy of whatever government is in place at the 21 time and whether they're progressively willing to look at 22 these sorts of things, you know. The government has 23 changed in Ontario, so....

24 I think -- I guess I was trying to see how 25 do we get out from having to worry about that, that level

1 of...? And maybe that's like a big question that's beyond 2 this. But you know, in looking at that, we always have 3 those same struggles with trying to get recognition from 4 outside, and I realize that that's a political sort of 5 area of questioning.

6 Which brings me to my next question. You 7 had in your presentation, in your -- the number of 8 recommendations that you had, you talked about 9 governmental acknowledgement. Is that enough, really, in 10 your opinion, that it would be -- that they acknowledge 11 this, or...? Because they acknowledge a lot of things.
12 They acknowledge our rights, and then, you know,
13 subsequently, they get trampled on. So is acknowledgement
14 enough, I guess is my question?

15 DR. JANET SMYLIE: No. And I'm digging for 16 the recommendation.

17 MS. JULIE MCGREGOR: Yeah.

18 DR. JANET SMYLIE: So, no. Walk -- talk is 19 cheap; right? So -- like apologies, like aren't -- alone 20 are also, like important, but actually, restitution and 21 not doing that thing again, right, like -- can actually -- 22 I think a lot of, like, justice where I come from would 23 actually be making amends, as well as offering the 24 apology.

25 So -- yeah. I have -- yeah. I say ensure

1 that support that for their revitalization is included
2 across all policies, when it gets to the government ones.
3 But then again, I had to go softly because of course some 4 -- I don't want to tell the AFN their business, so maybe 5 I'll be as a academic okay with trying to tell the federal 6 government their business.

7 MS. JULIE MCGREGOR: Thank you. I wanted - 8 - and then another part of your presentation sort of 9 struck me, as when you were talking about visiting.

10 DR. JANET SMYLIE: Yeah.

11 MS. JULIE MCGREGOR: I did that a lot as a 12 kid, and I wasn't -- it wasn't at my own volition. I was 13 taken to places and people and they -- you know, while 14 people were having tea I was, you know, playing with my 15 toys or whatever, or visiting other cousins, or whatever.
16 It doesn't happen anymore, I have to say. We don't do 17 that anymore. And I'm not trying to make a broad 18 assumption, but it's happening less and less and it's 19 probably because people are on their phones a lot and 20 connections are made now through social media and 21 virtually.

22 And it's really hard to get back to those 23 sorts of important, like you say, little ceremonies, when 24 we're -- you know, we're surrounded by cultures who are 25 evolving and changing the way we actually interact with

1 each other. Do you think that there is a way in which we 2 can promote those sorts of connections again, and is it a 3 public awareness [sic] -- is it public awareness, because 4 it's in our own communities or in our own cultures, is 5 that something that's possible these days, I guess?

6 DR. JANET SMYLIE: Yeah. I think that it's 7 going to be critical for us to think about how fast paced 8 technologies and social media are changing society. Even 9 in non-Indigenous research context we can't keep up. I've 10 had the opportunity to sit on a circle called Healthy Kids 11 Community Challenge in Ontario, and actually one of the 12 themes was around reducing screen time; right? The 13 mainstream literature, public health literature can't keep 14 up to the impacts with respect to how fast the screens are 15 evolving.

16 But using that model, right, the same way 17 that we revitalized breastfeeding in some of our 18 communities, right, and still are, I think that we could 19 lead the way. Because I also think if you look at 20 non-Indigenous specific business and other media in 21 literature and science, yeah, there's this whole new 22 science and promotion of, like becoming unwired, right, as 23 we realize the impacts. I'm sure if you go to the 24 bookstore, you can find one or two books that are top 25 sellers now.

1                   So like I said, in the urban context,
2                   again, like me and my sister try to get together once a 3                   week to have a meal; right? Like -- and so that's even a 4                   little example. We can adapt and think about ways to do 5                   it; right?

6                   So as part of that challenge there's some 7                   Indigenous communities working, like you have a little 8                   locker, right, or you make a family commitment not to have 9                   your handhelds, like at meals; right? Or however we adopt 10                  it and actually how would it work in the community.

11                  So the world is changing quickly. We're 12                  good at adapting to worlds that are changing quickly; 13                  right? So how can we build that in the same way that -- 14                  you know, in First Nations, Inuit, and Métis communities 15                  we may be making choices about eating more traditional 16                  foods, right, and being conscious like in remembering 17                  those things. So yeah, maybe we can have a theme around 18                  visiting.

19                  MS. JULIE MCGREGOR: And I guess my -- 20                  okay. And related to that -- and this is my last 21                  question; I don't have much time left -- is that in doing 22                  those things and trying to get everybody back to the some 23                  of the same values we shared a long time ago, in terms of 24                  -- like if we look here in the north, there's climate 25                  change issues here. I come from a fairly southern 1 community and there's a lot of encroaching on our land.

2 And you know, getting back on the land is a challenge;
3 right?

4 I'm just wondering, is that enough? Is 5 there going to be -- is it enough to just promote that or 6 do we -- is there much greater things that need to happen 7 in order for us to get back to that? I realize that's 8 kind of a big question.

9 DR. JANET SMYLIE: I guess, I don't know
10 the answer, but we all have to start somewhere and feel 11 empowered that we can start somewhere. So -- like I'm in 12 my hotel room, like spending 10 hours in front of my 13 laptop trying to get this ready. I wanted to get out for 14 a walk yesterday, I didn't. So I made time to get out for 15 a walk this morning. I didn't get out on the land for 16 several days, but at least I got out there; right? And I 17 can only speak for myself.

18 I guess we could lead the way in the same
19 way that Indigenous midwives led that Toronto Birth Centre
20 in the revitalization of Indigenous midwifery. Puvirnitug 21 is leading the way with Indigenous midwifery in this 22 country. So we can lead the way. We've been leaders like 23 in environmentalism for millennia. We can lead the way, 24 right, like around the importance of visiting because many 25 of us have lived experience of that, right, and we never

1 lost it despite a whole bunch of attempts at disruption.

2 MS. JULIE MCGREGOR: Well, those are all my 3 questions. I'd like to congratulate you on your work and 4 say miigwech to you. Thank you.

5 DR. JANET SMYLIE: Thank you, Ms. McGregor.

6 MS. CHRISTA BIG CANOE: Thank you.

7 Next, we'd like to invite up Ms. Catherine
8 Dunn, who is counsel for the Murdered and Missing
9 Indigenous Women and Girl Coalition of Manitoba. Ms. Dunn
10 will have fifteen-and-a-half minutes.

11 --- CROSS-EXAMINATION BY MS. CATHERINE DUNN:

12 MS. CATHERINE DUNN: Dr. Smylie, I would 13 like to ask you a few questions with respect to 14 Exhibit 19, which is your PowerPoint.

15 DR. JANET SMYLIE: Yes.

16 MS. CATHERINE DUNN: And at page 11 of your 17 PowerPoint, which in the upper left hand corner of that 18 particular page, it says, Primary Care. You talk about 19 the importance of early bonding ---

20 DR. JANET SMYLIE: Yes.

21 MS. CATHERINE DUNN: --- in your 22 PowerPoint?

23 DR. JANET SMYLIE: Yes.

24 MS. CATHERINE DUNN: And I have a couple of 25 questions, and I'd ask you just to sort of expand on that

1 point, because you've come to that a number of times in 2 your discussions this morning and this afternoon.

3 How crucial for a human being is the 4 ability to bond with one's parent or one's primary 5 caregiver?

6 DR. JANET SMYLIE: I would say it's very 7 important.

8 MS. CATHERINE DUNN: Okay. Does it
9 affect the ability, for example, to attach to partners 10 when one is an adult if you haven't been able to attach to 11 your primary caregivers or to your parents?

12 DR. JANET SMYLIE: I think if one had 13 disrupted attachment as an infant, there's good evidence 14 to show that it could interfere with attachment to 15 partners later on in life, but it's not insurmountable.

16 MS. CATHERINE DUNN: Okay. And, does 17 it also have an effect on the ability to learn in an 18 educational environment?

19 DR. JANET SMYLIE: That I'm not 20 drilled down on.

21 MS. CATHERINE DUNN: Okay.

22 DR. JANET SMYLIE: But, I would 23 suspect yes.

24 MS. CATHERINE DUNN: Okay. And, what 25 -- if I understand your evidence correctly, Indigenous

1 organizations know how -- what the problems are and how to 2 address them; is that fair to say?

3 DR. JANET SMYLIE: That's a -- well,
4 Indigenous organizations is a broad term.

5 MS. CATHERINE DUNN: Okay, I'm sorry.

6 DR. JANET SMYLIE: But, yeah. I would 7 ---

8 MS. CATHERINE DUNN: People.

9 DR. JANET SMYLIE: --- say that within 10 First Nations, Inuit and Métis communities, there is still 11 existing knowledge about what is required. There's just - 12 - again, there's a -- colonization has been long-standing 13 and diverse. So, there would be some diversity. But, I 14 don't believe there's a single First Nations, Inuit or 15 Métis community that has been -- had a complete erasure of 16 that.

17 MS. CATHERINE DUNN: All right. And,
18 obviously, your evidence is that it is extremely important 19 that these community-based services be provided by the 20 community, by these Indigenous people?

21 DR. JANET SMYLIE: Yeah. So, mostly, 22 like, I -- when I start speaking about the specific 23 community experiences, I know best my experiences as a 24 Métis woman.

25 MS. CATHERINE DUNN: Right.

1                   DR. JANET SMYLIE: Like, who has ties
2 to the Prairies but has spent my life in southern Ontario.
3 But, yes, I think it is of optimal benefit that Indigenous 4 people, local Indigenous people, play a major role in 5 planning, in managing, in directing the services.

6                   Often, it depends. Again, I believe 7 there's a lot of skills there, but there's a lot of 8 diversity as well because of all the disruptions. There 9 can be times where we need some hands-up as we're getting 10 there.

11                   MS. CATHERINE DUNN: Okay. And, 12 particularly dealing with the issue of child 13 apprehensions, I am from Winnipeg. My clients are in 14 Winnipeg. You have yourself mentioned the high rate of 15 apprehensions of newborns, particularly in Winnipeg.

16                   DR. JANET SMYLIE: Yes.

17                   MS. CATHERINE DUNN: And, in rough 18 numbers, I think you said 50 to 100 apprehensions take 19 place in Toronto versus 365 in Winnipeg, and we are one-20 third the size of Toronto. Can you comment on why you 21 think that happens?

22                   DR. JANET SMYLIE: So, Winnipeg is 23 one-third the size of Toronto, but I think your First 24 Nations and Métis population might be better. But, I 25 think it happens because there has been multi-generational

1 interruptions of Indigenous parenting, First Nations, and 2 Métis, and Inuit parenting. Again, there's diversity of 3 those experiences and some individuals and communities 4 have had a higher degree of exposure if we think the 5 interruptions are a toxic kind of interference with 6 Indigenous parenting. I also think that the basic social 7 determinants of health make it very hard to be providing 8 the supportive environments that children need. So, you 9 could have the perfect parents, right, but I they have 10 nowhere to live and, like, no money, then that's going to 11 be very stressful.

12 I also think racism has a huge role,
13 both attitudinal and systemic racism and colonial 14 violence. So, in my experience, 25 years providing 15 primary care, including maternity care to diverse First 16 Nations, Inuit and Métis families in diverse urban, and 17 rural and remote settings, I find that First Nations, 18 Inuit and Métis parents get constantly misjudged.

19 So, for example, even for myself
20 coming from a relatively privileged position in my later 21 life, and also having many mitigated circumstances with 22 twin boys, me and my partner would get people off the 23 street criticizing our parenting skills. So, the classic 24 example is my partner trying to get two boys out of a car
25 seat; right? And, again, we have, like, an SUV and fancy

1 car seats, but you can't actually remove twins from a car
2 and be touching both of them at the same time; right? So, 3 like, someone jumping out of the shop and yelling at her,
4 and she gets yelled at more than me, so I have to assume 5 that attitudinal racism is having something to do with it 6 because she's more visibly identifiable than I am.

7 MS. CATHERINE DUNN: And, can you
8 comment -- this is something that happens quite a bit in 9 Winnipeg, is that if a mother has one child that goes into 10 care or is apprehended at birth, it's very regular that 11 future children that she may have are fated to being 12 apprehended at birth. Can you comment on that as a 13 medical doctor?

14 DR. JANET SMYLIE: Yeah. So, I would 15 agree in my experience providing care that it seems that 16 once there's one apprehension, it seems to be a black mark 17 on people's files and they're deemed, like, to be 18 inadequate parents for life. And, again, I'm not always 19 privy to the insider discussions that are held in the 20 child protection agency services, but it's very 21 interesting because even in our criminal justice system, 22 we believe that people can change; right? And, be 23 rehabilitated, even though I hesitate to use that word 24 within the context of parenting.

25 MS. CATHERINE DUNN: And, were you --

1 I believe you were an expert witness in the Brian Sinclair 2 case?

3 DR. JANET SMYLIE: That's correct. In 4 the second half, yes.

5 MS. CATHERINE DUNN: Yes. And, Dr.
6 Lavallee has testified before at other hearings with 7 respect to that matter, and would you agree that racism
8 was a fundamental reason for the death of Brian Sinclair?

9 DR. JANET SMYLIE: Yes. And, I
10 presented that in my expert witness testimony.

11 MS. CATHERINE DUNN: All right.

12 DR. JANET SMYLIE: And, I think one of 13 the recommendations, though, of course some -- yes, there 14 are only small changes is that the Winnipeg -- like, 15 health authorities instituting cultural safety training.

16 MS. CATHERINE DUNN: And, do you think 17 that racism is a factor in the hospitals when children are 18 apprehended?

19 DR. JANET SMYLIE: Yes.

20 MS. CATHERINE DUNN: And, for example, 21 would you say that a child who is newborn to an Indigenous 22 woman might be looked upon, or the mother caring for her 23 newborn might be criticized more than another woman by the 24 medical system?

25 DR. JANET SMYLIE: It's definitely my

1 experience that I've seen Indigenous mothers be treated in 2 an inhumane manner that it's hard for me to imagine a non-3 Indigenous mother would ever get treated. So, for 4 example, in my clinical practice, there was an Indigenous 5 mother whose child was apprehended, and she wasn't given a 6 private room, and she had been breastfeeding that child
7 and it happened after hours. And, the nursing staff paged 8 me, and they were asking me to talk to my patient because 9 she looked angry. And, I asked if I could talk to her to 10 find out what was going on, and then she told me, and I 11 was stunned.

12 Even though I provided care and 13 experience, lots of attitudinal and systemic racism in my 14 25 years of practice, I couldn't believe that nurse, who 15 I'm sure when she went into healthcare training wanted to 16 do good things, like, couldn't think about -- couldn't 17 have that thing that we talked about in terms of being 18 able to walk in somebody else's shoes or moccasins, and 19 imagine how it would feel or make you feel to have your 20 baby apprehended after hours, and to be in a mixed room 21 with three other mothers who were breastfeeding their 22 infants, and then not to be able to -- and to have your 23 breastfeeding interrupted in that manner.

24 MS. CATHERINE DUNN: And then to be 25 described by the social worker as having an anger-

1 management problem?

2 DR. JANET SMYLIE: It was actually the 3 staff nurse. Yes.

4 MS. CATHERINE DUNN: It also seems to 5 be relatively common in Winnipeg in terms of newborn 6 apprehensions that the children are apprehended almost 7 immediately, within day three. Is there some medical 8 reason that suggests that after day three, newborn 9 children don't need to be breastfed by their mothers?

10 DR. JANET SMYLIE: No. In fact,
11 that's a critical time of breastfeeding because as you may 12 know -- well, everything is important, but actually, we 13 begin producing substantive breast milk between 48 to 72
14 hours. So, of course, the colostrum that comes before 15 that is very nourishing and important for the infant to 16 have access to.

17 But, as we saw, like, the biomedical
18 literature is talking about how there's important, ongoing 19 impacts over the first two years of life that follow us 20 through our life.

21 MS. CATHERINE DUNN: So, the fact that 22 you are removed from your mother's breast at day three can 23 have a significant impact on newborn development?

24 DR. JANET SMYLIE: Oh yes. So, even 25 if one was just relying on the mainstream medical

1 literature, and one didn't take into account, like, the 2 importance that is highlighted by the Knowledge Keepers
3 and Elders who supported me in providing this testimony, 4 in terms of the importance of feeling safe and secure and 5 a sense of belonging and Indigenous identity; that if we 6 discounted that, if we just looked at mental health 7 outcomes and health outcomes over the lifespan, that is 8 definitely critically interfering with the development of 9 the child. And that doesn't account for the health and 10 mental health of the mother.

11 So, to me, having a child apprehended in 12 that manner would be comparable to the death of a child, 13 both on the family and the mother.

14 MS. CATHERINE DUNN: And is it the case
15 that -- you'd mentioned in your direct evidence that each 16 apprehension costs $1 million. Can you expand on that; 17 what do you mean by that?

18 DR. JANET SMYLIE: so I would have to maybe 19 defer to others who are more drilled down in economic 20 analysis.

21 MS. CATHERINE DUNN: Okay.

22 DR. JANET SMYLIE: But I think that that is 23 my understanding, that the lifetime expense on, like, the 24 social service system, right, has been costed out at 25 around $1 million, the lifetime costs of, like, fostering

1 that child and adopting that child, and then the future
2 social costs because we know that the outcomes for 3 children who've been adopted in that manner are -- may 4 require additional social services over time. And some of 5 the people end up in the criminal justice system as well.

6 And I don't want to undermine, because 7 there's also many amazing and resilient leaders who have 8 had made it through that and recovered from it.

9 MS. CATHERINE DUNN: So decisions made with 10 respect to the life of a newborn can have ramifications 11 throughout a lifetime.

12 DR. JANET SMYLIE: Of course. And it's 13 social ramifications. So to me -- like, again, as I 14 mentioned in my testimony, doing sheer economic analyses 15 isn't my preferred way to approach issues of the health of 16 young families but it is a way that we can sometimes 17 implement policy. So surely it would be better to invest 18 in supporting the families upstream, right? And that's 19 the argument that we're actually trying to make in that 20 Baby Bundles Project in Toronto.

21 MS. CATHERINE DUNN: And I was in 22 interested about the midwife program, baby hospital and 23 you saying that the individuals who created that facility 24 did it within 14 months, which seems amazing to me in 25 terms of the funding arrangements. Were they dealing with 1 government?

2 DR. JANET SMYLIE: Yeah, I think.

3 MS. CATHERINE DUNN: If so, which 4 government? What's their number?

5 (LAUGHTER)

6 DR. JANET SMYLIE: I think the timeline
7 might have actually been getting the birth centre open 8 before the election. I'm not quite sure that happened.

9 MS. CATHERINE DUNN: Okay.

10 DR. JANET SMYLIE: And, yeah, we would.
11 And, yeah, it was the Kathleen Wynne Liberal government.

12 MS. CATHERINE DUNN: So there was some 13 political will to make that happen.

14 DR. JANET SMYLIE: That quickly, yes.

15 MS. CATHERINE DUNN: Yes. And if there was 16 political will to make things happen, it can happen very 17 quickly, and that's a concrete example.

18 DR. JANET SMYLIE: That's correct.

19 MS. CATHERINE DUNN: All right. Thank you
20 very much, Dr. Smylie.

21 DR. JANET SMYLIE: Yes, thank you.

22 MS. CATHERINE DUNN: Those are my 23 questions.

24 MS. CHRISTA BIG CANOE: Thank you, Ms.
25 Dunn.

1                   Next we would like to invite up the 2 Association of Native Child and Family Services. I 3 believe that Ms. Sarah Beamish is counsel and will be 4 cross-examining.

5                   Ms. Beamish will have 15 and a half 6 minutes.

7 --- CROSS-EXAMINATION BY MS. SARAH BEAMISH:

8                   MS. SARAH BEAMISH: Thank you.

9                   All right. Good afternoon, Dr. Smylie,
10 Janet. I'm here on behalf of ANCFSAO, and it's a 11 provincial association of member agencies that work for 12 Indigenous child wellbeing in Ontario.

13                   So I mainly want to focus my questions on 14 two topics. You've spoken about high-quality early 15 relationships for infants and children with family 16 community and land; those were your words.

17                   So I want to ask you a set of questions
18 about breastfeeding, I guess building on the questions you 19 just answered; and then also a set of questions about the 20 child welfare system.

21                   So starting with the child welfare system, 22 there is going to be another hearing on this so I'm not 23 going to go into too much detail but I think your 24 testimony and materials made some important points.

25                   So you've identified ongoing family

1 disruption and deficit-based understandings as major
2 wellbeing disruptors. Would you agree that the mainstream 3 child welfare system is a place where these disruptors are 4 often working hand in hand? And what I mean by that is 5 perceived deficits in Indigenous families are used as 6 justification to disrupt those families through 7 intervention, monitoring, and apprehension.

8 DR. JANET SMYLIE: Yes, and unfortunately 9 I've seen them within Indigenous child protection 10 agencies, as well.

11 MS. SARAH BEAMISH: Okay. I believe you've 12 testified to this a bit but would you agree that 13 Indigenous involvement with the child welfare system 14 sometimes happens as a result of interaction with the 15 medical system? So you've talked about apprehensions of 16 -- because of birth alerts, and it may also be that visits 17 to hospitals for other things result in calls to child 18 welfare agencies; have you seen that?

19 DR. JANET SMYLIE: Yes, extensively.

20 MS. SARAH BEAMISH: Okay. Are you aware of 21 Indigenous women making choices between seeking medical 22 care for themselves or their children and perhaps taking 23 medical risks by not getting treatment because they are 24 afraid of engagement with the child welfare system?

25 DR. JANET SMYLIE: Yes. In fact, at times

1 during my medical practice I've set up clinics
2 specifically for women who were afraid to get medical care 3 elsewhere because of the risk of child apprehension, 4 services. So when I practiced in Ottawa, I actually set 5 up a clinic before we had opened Wabano Health Centre
6 established called the Polar Bear Clinic at Somerset West
7 Community Health Centre; that was specifically set up 8 because there was Indigenous women in Ottawa who were 9 pregnant and who were afraid to get prenatal care.

10 And I'm also aware in Toronto that Seven 11 Generation Midwives Toronto has actually talked about 12 setting up a mobile midwifery unit so that they can 13 provide care to Indigenous women who are afraid to 14 otherwise access prenatal care because they're afraid that 15 child services will get called.

16 MS. SARAH BEAMISH: Can I ask; how did you 17 deal with the duty to report in that setting?

18 DR. JANET SMYLIE: So what I did is I told 19 clients that I would never report them behind their back 20 unless they disappeared for more than two months, and 21 that's an easy thing to say but people believed me. And 22 if I identified with a client that there was something 23 going on in her life that was interfering with her ability 24 to care for her children, then I would encourage her to 25 get the support that she needed, and if that included

1 calling, like, the preventative arm of a social service
2 agency, we would make that call together. So that's how I 3 did it.

4 The other thing is the law in Ontario is 5 that you don't have to call before the baby is born; 6 though, of course many times pregnant women had other 7 children.

8 MS. SARAH BEAMISH: So those kinds of -- 9 that kind of service where you give that guarantee, do you 10 know if those kinds of services would be available to 11 indigenous women across Canada or is it sort of an ad hoc, 12 doctor's discretion kind of service?

13 DR. JANET SMYLIE: I think we need to 14 continue to negotiate these things.

15 It's striking to me that people think it's 16 still okay to send a birth alert to the hospital without 17 informing a woman. So I'm aware that other prenatal 18 providers have actually gotten scolded by, like, social 19 service agencies, child protection agencies, both 20 Indigenous and non-Indigenous, because they actually found 21 out about a birth alert and told a woman that there was a 22 birth alert, right?

23 So to me, like, I don't understand how that 24 could be conceptualized, right? Because it would seem to 25 me that it would be very important to tell people, like,

1 if there was that kind of legal intervention happening.
2 Like, I don't think it's acceptable in Canadian healthcare 3 systems to hold that kind of important information and not 4 let people know.

5 MS. SARAH BEAMISH: Would you give as a
6 recommendation to the Commission that healthcare practices 7 and systems be -- I guess, ensure that these kinds of 8 services are available to all women; that they can access 9 services with the type of guarantee that you gave?

10 DR. JANET SMYLIE: I think we also need to 11 work together to integrate our health services, and that's 12 what we're trying to work together to do in Toronto, 13 though it's hard work. So -- because I also find in my 14 experience that those of us who provide care before birth, 15 right, and those of us who provide care after birth can 16 kind of get caught in advocacy for the Mum and the family 17 and advocacy for the child.

18 So we need to think about the family 19 as a unit and we need to work very hard to figure out what 20 kinds of safety nets we can create with respect to 21 protecting confidentiality and protecting people's legal 22 rights. That service in Brisbane, where they reduced -- 23 they actually have a bit of a different system. But, over 24 90 percent of the Aboriginal women had the equivalent of a 25 birth alert as far as I can understand when they were

1 giving birth at the local hospital. But, they had reduced
2 apprehension to almost zero over 14 months. But, what 3 they did is they got all the service providers and 4 agencies to work together to provide, kind of, seamless 5 care.

6 So, I think we need to get more
7 conversations happening. I do think having more 8 Indigenous and allied service providers who are committed 9 to supporting accessible care and meeting people where 10 they're at and strengthening families would be helpful.

11 MS. SARAH BEAMISH: Okay. That's a
12 good segue into my last question on this topic. So, I
13 want to just read a sentence or two from the Métis Health 14 Report that you submitted, then I will ask you my 15 question. So, Exhibit 16, the Métis Health Report it says 16 -- it talks about how the emphasis on the extended family 17 was fostered through the creation of physical and 18 spiritual relationships between people, living ancestral 19 and those still to come, the land, the spirit world and 20 creatures with whom they shared physical space. This 21 understanding of the world ensured the health and 22 wellbeing of communities through its emphasis on shared 23 responsibility.

24 So, when I read that, I wondered what 25 can the child welfare system learn from this understanding

1 of family health and wellbeing. Would you recommend that 2 child welfare systems, whether mainstream or Indigenous, 3 pay attention to a child's relationships not only with 4 their immediate family, but also with their living 5 extended family, their ancestors and unborn descendants, 6 their tribes, their nations, their land, the spirit world
7 and the creatures around them?

8 DR. JANET SMYLIE: Yes. And, I think 9 there's actually a best practice in the Province of 10 Alberta that my uncle, Will Campbell's been involved in 11 where he works to advocate and actually find out -- like 12 before a child is given up for adoption, he works with the 13 family, because often people are at a place where, 14 perhaps, they're not at their best place to be able to 15 provide that safe, supportive environment, but he works 16 with them as an elder and with a circle to find out every 17 single living relative. And, sometimes those 18 relationships have been disrupted, but I think the 19 province has agreed and all those people get called into a 20 room; right?

21 MS. SARAH BEAMISH: Wow.

22 DR. JANET SMYLIE: Because often there 23 could be somebody that could provide that environment, but 24 maybe they're not in communication with that parent. But, 25 it's lovely to actually think even more broadly and think

1 about relationships to land and identity and all living 2 things.

3 MS. SARAH BEAMISH: Okay. Thank you.
4 So, my next set of questions is about breastfeeding. You
5 have spoken about your work with Māori people, and that's 6 my Indigenous people, and we have -- there's an important 7 insight in the language, which is that we use the same 8 word for land and placenta. And, there is a -- that 9 points to a knowledge that I think is shared by a lot of 10 Indigenous people, including here, that the body of the 11 mother is the child's first environment; would you agree 12 with that?

13 DR. JANET SMYLIE: Yes.

14 MS. SARAH BEAMISH: Okay. So, I ask 15 you this question as both a medical expert and a knowledge 16 holder. Would you say that there was a parallel or a 17 connection between the way an infant gets nourishment from 18 its mother's body and the way we all get nourishment from 19 Mother Earth?

20 DR. JANET SMYLIE: Yes. And, I also 21 think there's an analogy. And, I'm struck, right, because 22 that was what I saw in the Christi Belcourt painting, 23 right, which was a painting about Mother Earth, but it was 24 also a painting about the uteran environment and a 25 placenta. But, I would think that the other pieces,

1           there's a collective responsibility to support that mother
2           and her body; right? In the same way, there's a 3           collective responsibility for us to support the land.

4                       MS. SARAH BEAMISH: So, I have never 5           breastfed, but am I correct in my understanding that the 6           taste, the smell of the nutritional composition of breast 7           milk is influenced by the foods that the mother eats? And 8           so, it may be the first taste that an Indigenous infant 9           gets of their traditional food or their country food?

10                      DR. JANET SMYLIE: Yes. Yes.

11                      MS. SARAH BEAMISH: Would you agree 12           that breast milk itself is a traditional food for 13           Indigenous children?

14                      DR. JANET SMYLIE: Yes.

15                      MS. SARAH BEAMISH: Now, recognizing 16           that there might be valid reasons that people choose to or 17           must use formula, I'm not asking these questions as a 18           judgment on that, would you agree that breastfeeding is 19           generally the ideal source of nourishment for infants from 20           a health, nutrition, development and bonding perspective?

21                      DR. JANET SMYLIE: Yes. And, I have 22           been told it's also a medicine.

23                      MS. SARAH BEAMISH: Okay. Would you 24           agree that the dramatic reductions in breastfeeding rates 25           among Indigenous people have been an impact of 1           colonization?

2                           DR. JANET SMYLIE: Yes.

3                           MS. SARAH BEAMISH: And, are 4           breastfeeding rates generally lower in Indigenous 5           communities than in non-Indigenous communities?

6                           DR. JANET SMYLIE: It's actually -- 7           like it depends on the community. And, actually, one of 8           the articles that led that whole theory of Indigenous 9           community ownership and development was a community-led 10          project around breastfeeding. I think it was in 11          Khanawake. It's in the article, so I would have to check.
12          But, actually, a community auntie tripled the 13          breastfeeding rates in that community.

14                          So, we do actually find, in some 15          studies, like the First Nations Regional Health Survey, 16          similar rates now of breastfeeding initiation. But, like, 17          the sustainability is a little bit lower, and I would 18          suspect that could be because of some challenges that 19          Indigenous women might be experiencing in their homes even 20          if we just looked at the social determinants of health 21          that can impact -- I breastfed twins for 15 months, so it 22          takes a whole community to breastfeed twins, I think.
23          Yes.

24                          MS. SARAH BEAMISH: Can you -- I'm 25          sure you could speak about this for an hour but, briefly,

1 can you summarize a bit about some of the health impacts
2 that are related to breastfeeding? So, I know that 3 breastfeeding can both mitigate certain -- reduce or 4 mitigate certain health conditions, and then not 5 breastfeeding can lead to higher risks of certain health 6 conditions. Can you summarize a bit of that for us?

7 DR. JANET SMYLIE: Sure. And, of 8 course, I like how you pointed out that, yes, some people
9 just can't breastfeed; right? And, that's not always a 10 choice. But, yes, there's antibodies that are carried in 11 the breast milk, so that breast milk can actually bring 12 immunity to the child. The mother's immunity can get 13 transferred to the child as the child's own immune system 14 is developing.

15 Breast milk has the ideal
16 concentration, like, of nutrition and fluids that the 17 child requires. Breastfeeding has -- actually releases
18 hormones in the mother that support her mental health. I 19 have lots of theories about oxytocin and the wonderful 20 things that it does. I think there's still more medical 21 research to be done on that. And then, of course, the 22 close bond between mother and child is optimized through 23 breastfeeding. And then as we see, there's this huge 24 burgeoning literature of how important that bond is.

25 MS. SARAH BEAMISH: Okay. Now, you

1 have spoken already about situations where Indigenous 2 women may want to breastfeed, but they can't because their 3 children are apprehended. Would you agree that sometimes 4 Indigenous women who want to breastfeed their children 5 can't because they are detained or imprisoned in 6 institutions that won't support breastfeeding?

7 DR. JANET SMYLIE: Yes.

8 MS. SARAH BEAMISH: Okay.

9 DR. JANET SMYLIE: To my knowledge,
10 yes.

11 MS. SARAH BEAMISH: Would you say that 12 systems and services that separate Indigenous parents and 13 children, and can prevent, disrupt or end the 14 breastfeeding relationship are an act in colonial 15 violence?

16 DR. JANET SMYLIE: Yes.

17 MS. SARAH BEAMISH: Would you 18 recommend that all government services that have the 19 potential to negatively impact on breastfeeding
20 relationships, and that could be child welfare, policing, 21 corrections or others, should adopt policies and practices 22 that protect and promote breastfeeding?

23 DR. JANET SMYLIE: Yes.

24 MS. SARAH BEAMISH: Okay. And, would 25 you recommend that governments develop alternatives to the

1 separation and institutionalization of breastfeeding
2 Indigenous parents or children wherever possible?

3 DR. JANET SMYLIE: Yes.

4 MS. SARAH BEAMISH: Okay. I want to 5 ask you one last question in my minute about cultural 6 safety. Now, in your documents about cultural safety, it 7 talked about the relationship between the service provider
8 and the person receiving service. But, I recently visited 9 the Wabano Centre, and I was really struck there by how it 10 wasn't -- what made it different wasn't just the service, 11 it was the space, it was the architecture, the aesthetics, 12 the spacial relationship of the building to the person in 13 it.

14 And so, I'm wondering, when we talk 15 about cultural safety, can that pertain also to the 16 cultural norms that are expressed not just through the 17 service provider, but in the space, in the rules, in the 18 culture of a place?

19 DR. JANET SMYLIE: Yes. And, in fact,
20 we say places and spaces. Yes, that nurture, peace, love
21 and joy, like, for Well Living House -- and, in fact, I 22 mentioned -- so there's a master's thesis done by 23 Mackenzie Churchill at SDMT that we supported at Well 24 Living House, and it's a qualitative thesis that 25 interviewed Indigenous clients of Seventh Generation

1 Midwives Toronto. We asked them both about culturally 2 safe service provider relationships and spaces. And,
3 actually, we found there was an overlap in the way that 4 Indigenous women were thinking about that.

5           So, just, like, in the way, when we talk 6 about Wahkohtowin and it involves relationships with 7 people, that quote that you read, right, and the land and 8 all living things, right, I think that at least in this 9 group of people, and then from a Cree, Métis perspective 10 there would be an overlap and that actually the space and 11 the relationship with the space so that -- because 12 culturally safe relationships happen in a home; right?
13 Like in a home is about the relationships with the people
14 as well as the space. So those things are tied together.

15           MS. SARAH BEAMISH: Okay. Well, I'm out of 16 time, but thank you so much. Marsee.

17           MS. CHRISTA BIG CANOE: So at this point, 18 it's probably the most opportune time to break for today, 19 and tomorrow, we will be calling as the first party to 20 examine will be Regina Treaty Status.

21           I kindly request, and I just -- for 22 purposes of my colleagues to understand -- Dr. Janet 23 Smylie has a tight deadline in terms of when she must 24 depart because of her flight, so there will be a hard stop 25 at 12:00. And on that basis, I'm asking that we please

1 start very sharply at 8:30, in which point I'll be calling 2 Ms. Erica Beaudin up to begin her cross-examination, so we 3 can stay on schedule and take advantage of having the 4 expertise of Dr. Smylie with us.

5 And on that basis, I ask that we please 6 adjourn until tomorrow to commence sharply at 8:30 7 tomorrow morning.

8 CHIEF COMMISSIONER MARION BULLER: We'll 9 close for the day, but we are going to start with our 10 opening at 8:00 a.m. and commence evidence at 8:30 11 tomorrow.

12 MS. CHRISTA BIG CANOE: Thank you very 13 much.

14 CHIEF COMMISSIONER MARION BULLER: Okay?
15 So 8:00, and then 8:30, and a hard stop at 12:00.

16 MS. CHRISTA BIG CANOE: Thank you.
17 --- Upon adjourning at 5:22 p.m./L'audience est ajournée
18 est 17h22

19 MS. LISA KOPERQUALUK: Hi. So we'll have a 20 closing prayer, and a closing of the flame. Micah Arreak 21 will do the honour for us. Okay. Louise is back. We're 22 going to be shutting up the Qulliq for today; it's been on 23 all day. And thank you very much. Alors, on va fermer la 24 journée avec Louise. And we'll be closing with a prayer.
25 Lead us in a prayer to close the meeting.
