

Safer Communities Initiative

We all want our clients to be safe.

Ignitech, Aware360, Telelink and BC SafetyLink have partnered to offer an easy-to-use phone app to help protect vulnerable people. Anyone at risk due to domestic violence, hitchhiking, work in the sex trade, mental illness, addictions, homelessness or any other situation can benefit.

How does it work?

- The Aware360 App works on any smart phone.
- It connects to BC SafetyLink, a professional response centre owned and operated by the Gitksan First Nation, who provide clients the ability to check-in and receive emergency response when needed.
- This service is supported by Telelink Emergency & Safety Response Center to ensure 24 / 7 / 365 support.
- Clients can check-in at regular intervals or set hazard timers if they are about to enter a risky situation.
- If they find themselves in trouble, they can send an emergency signal for immediate help.
- The client's location is only known after signing in to the app and social agencies can define the response plan to ensure the right balance between protection and privacy.

The Aware360 app is available to agency clients at no cost as part of the Safer Communities Initiative.
