OVERVIEW OF INDIGENOUS SERVICES CANADA INITIATIVES FOR THE INFORMATION OF THE COMMISSIONERS OF THE NATIONAL INQUIRY INTO MISSING AND MURDERED INDIGENOUS WOMEN AND GIRLS

Introduction

Housing is a fundamental need and all Canadians, including Indigenous peoples, should have access to adequate, safe and affordable housing. Nearly one in five Indigenous people live in housing in need of major repairs, and one in five also live in overcrowded housing.¹ It is understood that overcrowding and poor housing conditions can be a contributing factor to family violence, sometimes causing people to leave their communities.

Households in Canada's north, particularly Inuit women and girls, are more likely to be in core housing need and face the most crowded living conditions in all of Canada. This situation contributes to homelessness, particularly among Inuit women, and has a direct negative impact on a number of health concerns such as family violence, respiratory illnesses, and children's ability to learn.

Indigenous Services Canada (ISC) and Crown-Indigenous Relations and Northern Affairs Canada (CIRNAC) work collaboratively with partners, including the Canadian Mortgage and Housing Corporation (CMHC), to improve access to high quality services for First Nations, Inuit and Métis. The Government of Canada's vision is to support and empower Indigenous peoples to independently deliver services and address the needs and challenges in their communities.

ISC welcomes the opportunity to share its initiatives in this area with Commissioners of the National Inquiry into Missing and Murdered Indigenous Women and Girls (the Inquiry), and will focus on what we are providing now along the housing continuum, and our plans going forward, to support better outcomes for Indigenous peoples, particularly women and girls.

First Nation Community Infrastructure

ISC works with First Nation governments and communities to support adequate and sustainable housing, clean drinking water and community infrastructure such as schools, roads, and wastewater systems, which are essential to healthy, safe and prosperous communities. Budget 2016 announced approximately $4 billion to improve First Nations community infrastructure through ISC programs, about $3.4 billion of which is provided through the Government of Canada's long-term infrastructure plan Investing in Canada. In2016-2017, Budget 2016 began investing:²

¹ Statistics Canada – 2016 Census. https://www12.statcan.gc.ca/census-recensement/2016/as-sa/98-200-x/2016021/98-200-x2016021-eng.cfm.

- $1.8 billion over five years to improve on reserve water and wastewater infrastructure
- $409 million over five years to improve solid waste management on reserve
- $969.4 million over five years to First Nations education infrastructure on reserve
- $416.6 million over two years to address housing needs on reserve
- $255 million over two years to the First Nation Infrastructure Fund
- $76.9 million over two years to support cultural and recreational infrastructure on reserve

Budget 2017 invested an additional $4 billion over 10 years through the Investing in Canada Plan, starting in 2018–19, to build and improve housing, water treatment systems, health facilities and other community infrastructure in partnership with Indigenous peoples.³

Housing Support for Indigenous Peoples

ISC provides indirect support to First Nations through the Housing component of the Capital Facilities and Maintenance Program,⁴ providing approximately $143 million per year to improve housing on-reserve.⁵ Beyond this core annual funding for housing, ISC is providing time-limited funding (through Budget 2016, 2017 and 2018 investments) to First Nations to address urgent housing needs on reserve, and support capacity development and innovation projects.⁶ In many of these initiatives, ISC works closely with the CMHC. ISC'sinteractive infrastructure map provides a visual indicator of funding provided across Canada for First Nations community infrastructure, including housing.⁷ These targeted investments are intended to help communities in addressing pressing housing needs and supporting improved access to adequate, safe and affordable housing for vulnerable persons, including First Nations women and girls.

In parallel with these investments, the Government is working with Indigenous partners on distinctions-based housing strategies, under the National Housing Strategy,⁸ intended to improve housing conditions over the long term, and to ensure that Indigenous peoples have greater control over housing in their communities.

Through investments made in Budget 2017 and Budget 2018, the Government dedicated funding to support the successful implementation of each of the distinctions-based housing strategies, including:

- $600 million over three years to support housing on reserve as part of a 10-year First Nations Housing Strategy that is being co-developed with First Nations;
- $400 million over 10 years to support an Inuit-led housing plan in the Inuit regions of Nunavik, Nunatsiavut and Inuvialuit. This is in addition to the $240 million over 10 years announced in Budget 2017 to support housing in Nunavut; and,
- $500 million over 10 years to support the Métis Nation's housing strategy.

These investments in housing are crucial to begin addressing some of the root causes of poverty, for promoting opportunity and inclusive growth, and to help lay the foundation for community development.

Social Housing/Affordable Housing

The Government of Canada provides funding to support First Nations in the provision and management of safe and affordable housing on reserve as a matter of social policy. Since Budget 2016 announcements, as of June 30, 2018, Indigenous Services Canada has provided $439.5 million in targeted funding, primarily to support the construction, renovation or servicing of 5,601 units located in 541 First Nations communities serving more than 434,000 people. Of this amount, 3,546 units/lots are completed and 2,055 new, renovated or upgraded units and lots being serviced are in progress.⁹

Through Budget 2017 and Budget 2018, the Government of Canada will invest $600 million over three years (through ISC) to support First Nations housing on reserve. Funding will support the same investment categories as Budget 2016, with a continued focus on social housing for vulnerable population groups within communities (e.g., elders, single-parent families, low-income households) and supporting First Nations with pressing health, safety and overcrowding issues. First Nations can also use core funding received under the Capital Facilities and Maintenance Program (detailed previously at $143 million annually) to help meet their social housing needs.

⁹ Please see Annex B for a list of completed projects and those underway.

In addition to core funding and any budgetary investments in housing on-reserve, First Nations communities can secure a guarantee through ISC for CMHC loans and other lenders under the Ministerial Loan Guarantee Program.¹⁰ Under this program, the Minister of ISC has the authority to guarantee up to $2.2 billion in outstanding housing loans to First Nations. Ministerial Loan Guarantees enable some 80 per cent of First Nations communities to secure housing loans despite the fact that they cannot give a lender rights to the collectively-owned reserve property.¹¹ The default rate on guaranteed loans is very low – approximately 0.05 percent compared to a national average of 0.5 percent. Along with its partners, ISC is committed to working collaboratively with First Nations in achieving safe and affordable housing on reserve. Ministerial Loan Guarantees support all of CMHC's on-reserve social housing programs, and are also used to support access to market-based housing.

The Government of Canada, led by the Métis National Council and Governing Members and CIRNAC, have co-developed a Métis Nation Housing Strategy to address the Métis Nation's housing needs and foster their vision of self-determination.¹²

Spotlight

"The signing of the Housing Accord highlights Canada's commitment and recognition of the Metis Nation's self-determination. Through this accord Canada is helping our Housing Programs, like Métis Urban Housing Corporation and Métis Capital Housing Corporation, provide affordable and culturally-appropriate, sustainable solutions for our citizens."¹³

-Audrey Poitras, President of the Métis Nation of Alberta

In keeping with principles outlined by the Canada-Métis Nation Accord, implementation will address the Métis Nation core housing gap by embedding authority and funding to design, deliver, and administer distinctions-based housing services within the Métis National Council's five Governing Members (Ontario to British Columbia) in a manner that is flexible to respond to regional and local needs.

Indigenous Services Canada

The $500 million Métis Nation Housing Sub-Accord¹⁴ was signed on July 20, 2018 and supports three core activities to meaningfully reduce Core Housing Need: the purchase or construction of new housing units, the repair of existing housing units, and the provision of rent-supplements.

Skills and Capacity Development

Through Budget 2016 and Budget 2018 investments in First Nation housing, ISC has provided funding for 577 capacity development and innovation projects (as of June 30, 2018), intended to support improved housing outcomes on reserve.¹⁵ These targeted budgetary investments are expected to help First Nations' economies by supporting job creation, skills training, and business development.

ISC also supports innovative programs for housing, such as the New Approach for Housing Support (NAHS) in British Columbia, designed to help smaller First Nations better and more effectively leverage funding, develop housing plans and policy, and manage housing in their communities.¹⁶

A number of innovative initiatives by First Nations, addressing housing, are included at https://www.aadnc-aandc.gc.ca/eng/1311690384630/1311690676440. For example, initiatives to combat and prevent mould by adapting construction practices to their geographic location at the Wikwemikong Unceded First Nations,¹⁷ and the Piikani Nation five year housing strategy to address a housing crisis in the community.¹⁸

ISC continues to work with First Nations partners to improve access to housing that is culturally and geographically-appropriate. Examples and photos of capacity development and innovation projects supported through federal investments since 2016 can be found in Annex C. These examples highlight projects in First Nations communities that have chosen to incorporate energy efficiency, accessibility,¹⁹ fire protection, and/or climate adaptation into the design or renovation of housing in their communities.

¹⁹ Such as access ramp improvements, and the incorporation of housing design elements that enable "aging in place", supporting Elders and people with reduced mobility to continue living in their home community.

The Government of Canada provides funding for skills and capacity development, and investments along the housing continuum to support improved housing outcomes and options for Indigenous peoples. With these investments, and in partnership with Indigenous peoples, ISC and CIRNAC are working to address some of the systemic causes of violence against First Nations, Métis, and Inuit women and girls.

Distinctions-based Housing Strategies

Recognizing that current funding levels and programming supporting on-reserve housing are not addressing the housing gap, ISC is engaging with First Nations and other partners to co-develop an effective long term strategy that is founded in principles of self-determination, reconciliation, respect, cooperation, and partnership. Engagements will inform the co-creation of a First Nations Housing Strategy with the Assembly of First Nations Chiefs Committee on Housing and Infrastructure, and proposed options for on-reserve housing reform, in order to better respond to First Nations' housing needs and aspirations.²⁰

The Government of Canada and the Métis Nation will work together to identify and advance opportunities including potential investments to improve Métis access to, delivery and control of, affordable and social housing.²¹ Areas for co-development and negotiation for first year priorities include poverty reduction, homelessness, education, youth and employment and training. The Canada-Métis Nation Accord also identifies priorities in future years, such as Child and Family Services, Employment Equity, Justice and Policing, and Métis Women.

The federal government, led by CIRNAC, is working with Inuit Tapiriit Kanatami and Inuit land claim organizations/governments to co-develop an Inuit Nunangat Housing Strategy through the Inuit-Crown Partnership Committee. It is anticipated that the strategy will be put forward for consideration by Inuit and federal leaders at the fall 2018 Inuit-Crown Partnership Committee Leaders Meeting. The final strategy will include a long-term vision for Inuit housing, a business case for improved housing outcomes, a housing needs analysis, and recommendations to strengthen Inuit capacity and selfdetermination in housing.

As part of the implementation of the Inuit Nunangat Housing Strategy, federal officials are working with Pauktuutit, Inuit Women of Canada, to undertake an Inuit-led GBA+ analysis of Inuit housing, including the impact of recent federal investments. This collaborative work respects and strengthens the Inuit-Crown relationship and will help achieve the common goal of addressing housing needs in Inuit Nunangat as well as developing long-term solutions that reflect Inuit lifestyles, traditions and culture.

Shelters

The link between housing and family violence is particularly relevant as safe and affordable housing is an important component for women leaving a violent situation, especially when there are children involved. Recent Budget investments will help improve housing outcomes and options for Indigenous households, which is expected to have a positive impact for Indigenous women.

With funding from the Government of Canada, Pauktuutit Inuit Women of Canada has commissioned a study on Violence against Women and Shelter Service Needs across Inuit Nunangat, which addresses the shared priority of increasing the safety and well-being of Inuit women and children. The study is anticipated to be completed in the fall of 2018.

Through the Family Violence Prevention Program (FVPP), ISC provides funding for eligible services designed to ensure the safety and security of Indigenous women, children and families. This includes funding for the day-to-day operations of a network of shelters that provide services for women and children living in First Nations communities on reserve in provinces, and in Yukon.²²

The FVPP reimburses the Governments of Alberta and Yukon, where service delivery arrangements currently exist, for the actual costs of maintaining an individual or family ordinarily resident on-reserve in Alberta or Yukon in a provincial/territorial family violence shelter at provincial/territorial per diem rates and rules.²³

Total funding for the FVPP in 2017-2018 was approximately $36.4M while for 2018-2019 the total is estimated at $37.8M. This increase is attributable mainly to additional monies supporting the Budget 2016 commitment to build and operate new on-reserve shelters. The Program collaborates with the Canada Mortgage and Housing Corporation's (CMHC) Shelter Enhancement Program to support the Budget 2016 commitment to build and operate five (5) new on-reserve shelters. Budget 2016 announced, beginning in 2016-2017:

• up to $33.6 million over five years, and up to $8.3 million in ongoing additional funding to better support shelters serving victims of family violence in First Nations communities.

 ²² Please see Annex D for a complete list of shelters and key program-related documentation.
 ²³ https://www.aadnc-aandc.gc.ca/eng/1386520802043/1386520921574

• $10.4 million over three years to support the renovation and construction of new shelters for victims of family violence in First Nations communities.

Planning and construction activities for five new shelters in five different provinces have begun.²⁴ All five are anticipated to be completed by March 31, 2019. They will be added to the existing network of 41 shelters serving women and children living on-reserve for a total of 46. The Canada Mortgage and Housing Corporation provides funding for shelter construction while ISC provides operational funding.

In addition to funding for the FVPP, Budget 2017 announced an investment of $118.5 million over five years in the Urban Programming for Indigenous Peoples, which maintains program funding at $53 million annually (2017-18 to 2021-22). Funding supports organizations across the country, including friendship centres, in providing a wide range of holistic and culturally appropriate programs and services to Indigenous peoples living in or transitioning to an urban centre.²⁵

Closing

The Government of Canada will continue working with Indigenous partners on distinctions-based housing strategies intended to improve housing conditions over the long term through innovative Indigenous-led initiatives, and to ensure that Indigenous peoples have greater control over housing in their communities.

Annex C

Housing

Construction of 8 Mini-Houses

Lac Simon Anishnabe Nation in Quebec developed an innovative plan that meets the specific needs of vulnerable people living alone through the construction of eight semi-detached mini-houses.

Annex C

Renovations of 10 Units

The community of Liard First Nation in Yukon received renovations for 10 homes with a focus on health and safety repairs, energy efficiency, and fire protection. The community will benefit from new energy efficient windows and doors, proper ventilation systems, roof replacements, access ramp improvements, and more.

Construction of a sixplex

Daylu Dena Council completed the construction of a sixplex in fall 2017 for elders and people with reduced mobility. The First Nation held a grand opening ceremony in Lower Post, British Columbia/ Yukon on September 28, 2017. Daylu Dena Council managed the construction of the housing complex through investments in Budget 2016. The Council hired a local architectural firm to design the sixplex with the northern climate in mind, and to promote the aging-in-place concept by providing more options for aging citizens to continue to live and play a vibrant role in their home community.
