Message from the Co-Chairs

We are pleased to present the 2009/2010 Annual Report of the Policing with Aboriginal Peoples Committee (PWAPC).

Over the past year the fledgling PWAPC worked on:

- Revitalization of the committee to ensure a consistent and balanced representation of committee members;
- Contributing to public policy on the First Nations Policing Program (FNPP); and
- Examining effective strategies for dealing with Aboriginal protest and conflict.

It has been a challenge to ensure consistent and committed representation on the PWAPC. The PWAPC has been successful in attracting a core group of people to enable the revitalization of the committee.

The Federal Government is currently undertaking a comprehensive review of the FNPP. Stakeholder engagement is currently underway. The PWAPC Federal Representative has assured the committee the opportunity to review and to provide input prior to the completion of the final report.

Through various meeting formats including a meeting held in Calgary April 12 & 13, 2010 the committee identified the need for broader representation. The Co-Chairs have sent out invitations to ensure representation from coast to coast including urban, provincial/territorial and regional representation.

Issues relating to Missing and Murdered Aboriginal Women continue to be topical as well as Police Response to Aboriginal Protest.

The current PWAPC members believe that to move ahead there is a need to have a full understanding of the work that the PWAPC has completed since its inception. To accomplish this a workshop has been proposed for Fall of 2010.

Over the course of the next year PWAPC will focus on the following priorities:

1) Missing and Murdered Aboriginal Women; and
2) Police Response to Aboriginal Protest.

Missing and Murdered Aboriginal Women Objectives:
- Build community trust and address public perception
- Ensure consistent response and standard process
- Address gaps in current system
Action Items:

1. Examine, identify gaps and make recommendations to the CACP on the Federal Government response to the Missing and Murdered Women issue:
   - Proposed enhancements to CPIC
   - Public access website
   - Support centre

2. Workshop
   OBJECTIVE: Inform and educate PWAPC members on police response to Missing and Murdered Aboriginal Women
   - Strategically examine issues
   - Better understand current issues
   - Identify gaps and opportunities to address them

Police Response to Aboriginal Protest
Objective:
   - Facilitate the constitutional right to peaceful protest

Action Items:

1) Workshop
   OBJECTIVE: Inform and educate PWAPC members on Police Response to Aboriginal Protest:
   - Strategically examine issues
   - Better understand current issues
   - Identify gaps and opportunities to address them

These issues will continue to be challenging for Aboriginal communities and police. CACP must continue to address these issues to enable a universal police response.

Message from the Co-Chairs

We are pleased to present the 2010/2011 Annual Report of the Policing with Aboriginal Peoples Committee (PWAPC).

Over the past year the fledgling PWAPC worked on:

- Revitalization of the committee to ensure a consistent and balanced representation of committee members;
- Contributing to public policy on the First Nations Policing Program (FNPP); and
- Examining effective strategies for dealing with Aboriginal protest and conflict.

It has been a challenge to ensure consistent and committed representation on the PWAPC. The PWAPC has been successful in attracting a core group of people to enable the revitalization of the committee.

The Federal Government is currently undertaking a comprehensive review of the FNPP. Stakeholder engagement is currently underway. The PWAPC Federal Representative has assured the committee the opportunity to review and to provide input prior to the completion of the final report.

Through various meeting formats including a meeting held in Calgary April 12 & 13, 2010, the committee identified the need for broader representation. The Co-Chairs have sent out invitations to ensure representation from coast to coast including urban, provincial/territorial and regional representation.

Issues relating to Missing and Murdered Aboriginal Women continue to be topical as well as Police Response to Aboriginal Protest.

The current PWAPC members believe that to move ahead there is a need to have a full understanding of the work that the PWAPC has completed since its inception. To accomplish this a workshop has been proposed for Fall of 2010.

Over the course of the next year PWAPC will focus on the following priorities:

1) Missing and Murdered Aboriginal Women; and
2) Police Response to Aboriginal Protest.

Missing and Murdered Aboriginal Women
Objectives:

- Build community trust and address public perception
- Ensure consistent response and standard process
- Address gaps in current system
Action Items:
1. Examine, identify gaps and make recommendations to the CACP on the Federal Government response to the Missing and Murdered Women issue:
   • Proposed enhancements to CPIC
   • Public access website
   • Support centre
2. Workshop
   OBJECTIVE: Inform and educate PWAPC members on police response to Missing and Murdered Aboriginal Women
   • Strategically examine issues
   • Better understand current issues
   • Identify gaps and opportunities to address them

Police Response to Aboriginal Protest
Objective:
   • Facilitate the constitutional right to peaceful protest

Action Items:
   1) Workshop
      OBJECTIVE: Inform and educate PWAPC members on Police Response to Aboriginal Protest:
      • Strategically examine issues
      • Better understand current issues
      • Identify gaps and opportunities to address them

Although a Workshop was not conducted in the fall of 2010, the PWAPC held a Committee Meeting at Wendake, Quebec and addressed these priorities and committed to following up with subject matter experts, through invitations, for the 2011 Spring PWAC Meeting.

At the 2011 Spring PWAPC Meeting held at the Ontario Provincial Police Offices in Orillia, Ontario in April 26-27, 2011, presentations were provided by the Vancouver Police Department (VPD) and Native Women’s Association of Canada (NWAC) on the topic of Missing and Murdered Aboriginal Women. Great strides were achieved in this area; yet more work needs to be done by both the PWAPC and law enforcement agencies across Canada.

Committee Representatives from the Ontario Provincial Police Service and the Edmonton Police Service had synthesized information pertaining to Police Response to Aboriginal Protest. However, due to operational exigencies the ‘draft’ resolution pertaining to this item has been ‘tabbed’ to the 2011-2012 Reporting Year.

These issues will continue to be challenging for Aboriginal communities and police. CACP must continue to address these issues to enable a universal police response.
We are pleased to present the 2011/2012 Annual Report of the Policing with Aboriginal Peoples Committee (PWAPC).

From an almost dormant Committee in 2009, our committee has been revitalized and the Committee is now comprised of 22 representatives from all regions of Canada; this includes representation from: Public Safety Canada, Federal, Provincial, Municipal, and First Nation Police Services.

PWAPC members have met with Public Safety Canada’s – Aboriginal Policing Directorate and contributed to the continued development of First Nation Policing Policy, as well as contribute to the formulation of the Comprehensive Review of the First Nations’ Policing Program.

PWAPC members have enhanced awareness in the Police Community of Missing and Murdered Aboriginal Women by:
- Meeting with the Native Women’s Association of Canada
- Learning about the SisterWatch Program (Vancouver Police Department) and discovering the Downtown Eastside of Vancouver, BC
- Meeting with the Aboriginal Front Door Society
- Endorsing CPIC changes to missing persons category
- Meeting with Missing Persons Unidentified Remains (MPUR)
- Meeting with (MMWA) Database Project;

PWAPC members have examined effective strategies for dealing with Aboriginal protest and conflict. Ontario Provincial Police have offered their Operational Policy related to Aboriginal Protest and Conflict. PWAPC is in the process of reviewing and providing input in the development of a model policy for Canadian Police Services to use as a resource.

Over the course of the next year, PWAPC will focus on the following priorities:

1. CACP-PWAPC National Conference – April 22 – 24, 2012
   Fairmont Queen Elizabeth Hotel – Montreal, Quebec
   The current PWAPC members believe that to move ahead there is a need to have a full understanding of the work that the PWAPC has completed since its inception. To accomplish this workshop has been proposed for the spring of 2012.
2. Missing & Murdered Aboriginal Women
   Continue to examine, identify gaps and make recommendations to the CACP in response to the Missing and Murdered Women issue:
   1. Ongoing review and input to CPIC enhancements (missing persons category)
   2. Public Access Website – Analyze & Review to determine recommendation for CACP endorsement

3. Aboriginal Protest and Conflict
   PWAPC members are examining effective strategies for dealing with Aboriginal protest and conflict.
   1. Ontario Provincial Police have offered their Operational Policy related to Aboriginal Protest and Conflict.
   2. Review and provide input in the development of a model policy for Canadian Police Services to use as a resource.

4. Prescription Drug Abuse in First Nation Communities
   The illegal abuse and use of prescription drugs are plaguing our First Nation communities.
   1. Engage key stake holders at the Federal and Provincial levels to develop mitigation strategies to curb the abuse of prescription drugs.
   2. Recommend to CACP to endorse mitigation strategies (resolution required)

PWAPC now enjoys broad police representation from across this country, of which will enable the Committee to move forward. PWAPC will continue to address contingent priorities of CACP.

CACP Policing with First Nations, Métis and Inuit Peoples Committee
Annual Report to the President
2012-2013

Committee Mandate / Objectives:

The CACP, through the Policing with First Nations, Métis and Inuit Peoples Committee (formerly Policing with Aboriginal Peoples Committee), is committed to ensuring that the needs and circumstances of First Nations, Métis and Inuit peoples are recognized and addressed in keeping with the mission of safety and security for all Canadians through innovative police leadership.

The Policing with First Nations, Métis and Inuit Peoples Committee has a mandate to advise the CACP on matters relating to sustainable policing services and enhanced public safety for indigenous peoples and their communities throughout Canada.

Executive Summary:

At its meeting in June 2013, the Committee’s structure and strategic focus were renewed with the election of Committee Co-Chairs: Chief Doug Palson (Dakota Ojibway Police Service) and Superintendent Susanne Decock (Commander, Aboriginal Policing Bureau, Ontario Provincial Police); and the adoption of a motion from the membership to change the Committee name to Policing with First Nations, Métis and Inuit Peoples Committee.

Further to the renewal discussion, it was determined that consideration should be given to approaching police services serving the Northwest Territories, Toronto and Ottawa for representation to the Committee as either members or technical advisors.

The Committee acknowledges the contributions of previous co-chairs Stan Grier, former Chief of Police, TsuuT’ina Nation Police Service, and Chief Superintendent Brenda Butterworth-Carr, Director General, Aboriginal Policing, RCMP and Inspector Mike LeSage, National Aboriginal Policing Services, RCMP.

Strategic Priorities for 2013-2014:

1. Sustainability for policing with First Nations, Métis and Inuit peoples.
   Action Plan:
   - Report on Resolution #04-2008 – First Nations Policing
   - Review and revise previous resolution.

2. Crime prevention, reduction, detection and investigation of all matters that specifically affect First Nations, Métis and Inuit communities.
Action Plan:
  o Seek expertise and support of RCMP Insp. Carol Bird to continue work on missing and murdered Aboriginal women and girls.

3. Build and sustain respectful partnerships, addressing social welfare issues to enhance First Nations, Métis and Inuit policing.
   Action Plan:
     o Create a directory to share successful education models from across Canada.
     o Gather and disseminate information on the diverse approaches of service providers to policing First Nations, Métis and Inuit communities.

Committee Highlights 2012 - 2013:

The Committee contributed to the planning and delivery of the Aboriginal-focused sessions at the 2012 CACP Conference “One Nation, Many Peoples: The Full Circle of Policing in Canada.”

The Committee Co-Chairs prepared an updated resolution concerning the sustainability of First Nations and Inuit policing for presentation at the 2013 Annual General Meeting.
  o Policing for First Nations and Inuit Communities – Resolution #05 - 2013

The Committee identified the need for the CACP to profile and speak on First Nations, Métis and Inuit policing issues and to build stronger relationships with federal and provincial governments to enhance First Nations and Inuit policing services.

The Committee continued its work in relation to a model policy for protests and occupations. Precipitated by Idle No More actions in 2012 - 2013, the Committee reviewed the range of associated activities, issues and challenges and agreed to follow up on discussion among police leaders across Canada in relation to operational processes and policies.

The Committee held three meetings in 2012 – 2013:
  o August 2012 – Cape Breton, Nova Scotia
  o October 2012 – Halifax, Nova Scotia
  o June 2013 – Ottawa, Ontario

Introduction

The Policing with First Nations, Métis and Inuit Peoples (PFNMP) Committee is actively pursuing a renewed mandate with an enthusiastic membership that brings together broad representation of Canadian police services and stakeholders. This Committee offers an important mechanism to ensure that the needs and circumstances of Canada’s indigenous peoples are recognized and addressed in keeping with the Canadian Association of Chiefs of Police (CACP) mission of safety and security for all Canadians through innovative police leadership.

Committee Mandate:

The PFNMIP Committee mandate is to consider matters relating to sustainable policing services and enhanced public safety for indigenous peoples and their communities throughout Canada. This focus reflects a strong alignment with the CACP’s new mission and objectives, as adopted at the Association’s Annual General Meeting in August 2013. The Committee is intent on working collaboratively and meaningfully toward the common purpose of the CACP.

Committee Structure and Priorities:

Building on the revitalization process undertaken through the previous term (2012 – 2013), the Committee retained its Committee Co-Chair structure through 2013 – 2014 and successfully added to its membership through representation from urban areas with significant indigenous populations. The Committee meeting schedule includes fall and spring meetings, with the possibility of additional meetings, either in person or via teleconference.

The Committee’s strategic priorities for 2013 – 2014 were reviewed and confirmed at its fall meeting:

1. Sustainability for policing with First Nations, Métis and Inuit peoples.
2. Crime prevention, reduction, detection and investigation of all matters that specifically affect First Nations, Métis and Inuit communities.
3. Build and sustain respectful partnerships, addressing service delivery and social welfare issues to enhance First Nations, Métis and Inuit policing.

Committee meetings through the 2013 – 2014 term provided the venue for information sharing in terms of common interests, challenges and priorities with particular emphasis on strong, issue-based content and discussion and collection of best practices in relation to the identified strategic priorities.
2013 – 2014 Highlights:

The PFNMIP Committee sponsored Resolution 2013 – 04: Policing for First Nations and Inuit Communities at the 2013 Annual General Meeting reflecting a priority concern for the long-term sustainability of effective and culturally responsive policing for First Nation and Inuit communities. The Resolution seeks acknowledgment that First Nations and Inuit policing is an essential service that requires appropriate levels of support, funding flexibility and predictability. The Committee continues to work with the First Nations Chiefs of Police Association and others to find opportunities to address this significant issue at both the provincial and federal levels. Your Committee Co-Chairs discussed this matter with the CACP Board of Directors in March 2014.

The fall and spring Committee meeting agendas included detailed and informative presentations on subjects relating to crime prevention, reduction, detection and investigation specifically affecting First Nations, Métis and Inuit communities. These included:

- Update on the national website for the National Centre for Missing Persons and Unidentified Remains;
- Overview of Ontario Provincial Police (OPP) review of historical and current Ontario cases of missing and murdered aboriginal women and men;
- Discussion of human trafficking from a national perspective;
- National overview of First Nations issues from Canadian Security Intelligence Service (CSIS);
- OPP presentation: First Nations Protests and Police: Crown Consultations and Lessons Learned;
- Overview of policing in Inuit communities from the RCMP;
- Discussion of draft Justice Framework on Violence against Aboriginal Women and Girls from Public Safety Canada;
- Overview of Vancouver Police Cadet Program focused on prevention, intervention and education; and
- Overview of federal Matrimonial Real Property Legislation.

The Committee continued to support the sharing of best practices and program information, and the development of a repository for both, as an interim measure in anticipation of implementation of the CACP website. Committee members took full advantage of meeting roundtable discussions to bring initiatives, including partnerships and service delivery practices, to the attention of fellow Committee members.

The Committee meeting schedule for 2013 – 2014:

- October 2013 – Ottawa, Ontario
- March 2014 – Toronto, Ontario
- August 2014 – Victoria, British Columbia
Strategic Priorities 2014 – 2015:

In keeping with the CACP mission and objectives, the PFNMIP Committee will address key priorities in the year ahead with the objective of furthering the Committee’s previously identified strategic priorities. These include:

1. Sustainability for policing with First Nations, Métis and Inuit peoples:
   - examine and promote opportunities to address issues of long-term sustainability of effective and culturally-responsive policing for First Nations and Inuit communities, in keeping with Resolution 2013 – 04.

2. Measured and consistent approach to protest management:
   - examine and canvass police service best practices and pertinent legislation governing protest management across policing jurisdictions to support development of:
     i) best practice resource;
     ii) training opportunities;
     iii) model policy / guideline for Canadian police services.

3. Violence against indigenous women and girls:
   - advocate for and contribute to work that would increase the safety and security of women and girls, including prevention of crime and victimization, examining and sharing best practices and procedures, continued support for sustainability of First Nations / Inuit policing.
   - seek to work collaboratively with other CACP Committees, including Victims of Crime and Crime Prevention Committees.

Introduction

The Policing with First Nations, Métis and Inuit Peoples (PFNMIIP) Committee is actively pursuing a renewed mandate with an enthusiastic membership that brings together broad representation of Canadian police services and stakeholders. This Committee offers an important mechanism to ensure that the needs and circumstances of Canada’s indigenous peoples are recognized and addressed in keeping with the Canadian Association of Chiefs of Police (CACP) mission of safety and security for all Canadians through innovative police leadership.

Committee Mandate:

The PFNMIP Committee mandate is to consider matters relating to sustainable policing services and enhanced public safety for indigenous peoples and their communities throughout Canada. This focus reflects a strong alignment with the CACP’s new mission and objectives, as adopted at the Association’s Annual General Meeting in August 2013. The Committee is intent on working collaboratively and meaningfully toward the common purpose of the CACP.

Committee Structure and Priorities:

The Committee retained its Committee Co-Chair structure through 2014 – 2015 and successfully added to its membership through representation from urban areas with significant indigenous populations. Co-Chair Chief Doug Paulson was replaced by Inspector Dan Jones. The Committee meeting schedule includes fall and spring meetings, with the possibility of additional meetings, either in person or via teleconference.

The Committee’s strategic priorities for 2014 – 2015 remained unchanged from the previous year and were reviewed and confirmed at its fall meeting:

1. Sustainability for policing with First Nations, Métis and Inuit peoples.
2. Crime prevention, reduction, detection and investigation of all matters that specifically affect First Nations, Métis and Inuit communities.
3. Build and sustain respectful partnerships, addressing service delivery and social welfare issues to enhance First Nations, Métis and Inuit policing.

Committee meetings through the 2014 – 2015 term provided the venue for information sharing in terms of common interests, challenges and priorities with particular emphasis on strong, issue-based content and discussion and collection of best practices in relation to the identified strategic priorities.
2014 – 2015 Highlights:

Committee meetings on November 27, 2014 and May 12/13, 2015. Highlights include:

1) Presentation to Committee on the May 2014 RCMP Operational Overview on Missing and Murdered Aboriginal women and a subsequent presentation on the Update to the RCMP Operational Overview at the May 2015 meeting. Agreement that the over-representation of Aboriginal women as victims of disappearance and homicide is an issue that requires alignment of the police community and a multi-disciplinary response from all stakeholders. CACP committee members reinforced the need for continued dialogue between the RCMP and CACP partner agencies in public communications efforts that reinforce the need for integration and broad partner support. Continued CACP engagement and dialogue resulted in Clive Weighill, the President of the CACP, issuing a simultaneous press release relative to the 2015 RCMP Update to the National Operational Overview on June 19, 2015 (CACP Press Release attached for reference).

2) Committee meetings have focused on police preparedness for large scale protest activities and continued situational awareness of Aboriginal issues that may stimulate a ripple of protest events across the country. Presentations from RCMP SME’s on the RCMP’s Measured Approach and the tactical considerations in the Elsipogtog, New Brunswick shale gas protests were provided.

Committee participants also discussed and were also provided the OPP and RCMP Protest Frameworks, as well as awareness of the OPP’s Provincial Liaison Team (PLT) role at protest events and the nature of the training received by PLT members. Awareness was provided that the RCMP is modeling a similar training standard, rolling out an RCMP Division Liaison Team (DLT) course in the near future.

There is much interest in the protest frameworks of the OPP and RCMP, as well as the training products available and it has been expressed that these products have been meaningful contributions to the alignment of the police community response to protest activity. The committee has reinforced the ongoing need for alignment of the police community in preparedness for protest activities. The committee has lauded the efforts of the RCMP Commissioner of engaging with the major police chiefs when protest events escalate in Canada, ensuring situational awareness and consistency of approach.

3) RCMP participation on the committee has contributed to a diversity of perspectives and policing considerations responsive to enhanced service delivery in Aboriginal communities. Presentations from RCMP members servicing First Nations, Metis and Inuit communities from isolated and rural communities have complemented experiential feedback shared by municipal police chiefs, as it pertains to maximizing service delivery to Aboriginal peoples.

Planned initiatives for 2015-2016

• The need for broad multi-sectoral engagement on the issue of Missing and Murdered Aboriginal women is a point of agreement. The CACP is being proactive in contributing to the alignment of stakeholder effort responsive to this priority and has initiated plans for a conference in Winnipeg in 2016 entitled “Moving Forward Safer Future – An Inclusive Dialogue Among Police, Policy Makers and Canada’s Aboriginal Peoples. This committee will continue in the coordination efforts for this 2016 Conference.
• The CACP President and this committee have been complimentary of RCMP research efforts on the issue of Missing and Murdered Aboriginal women. The RCMP efforts have provided meaningful recommendations and informed the prevention efforts of the police community. There is alignment of CACP committee participants and a desire to collectively contribute to multi-sectoral prevention efforts to impact root causal factors that contribute to the over-representation of Aboriginal women as victims of disappearance and homicide.

• The committee has expressed a desire to be responsive to the Calls To Action that came out of the Truth and Reconciliation Commission. Consideration of the TRC recommendations and steps that the police community should consider in service delivery to Aboriginal peoples is a matter that will be discussed and explored this year.

• The committee has expressed a desire to continue the work on protest management, identifying national best practices as it pertains to frameworks, training and operational response.

The Committee meeting schedule for 2013 – 2014:
• September 2014 – Ottawa, Ontario
• March 2015 – Ottawa, Ontario
• August 2015 – Quebec City Quebec
• November 2015 – Ottawa Ontario

Highlights include:

1) Moving Forward Safer Futures Conference. The First CACP National Conference on working with the Indigenous Community

2) Focus on a National Best Practice for Protest Management

3) Presentations and Action towards working with the MMIW Inquiry. Having the CACP support the inquiry

4) Review of research conducted in Edmonton with the cities Indigenous population

Planned initiatives for 2015-2016

- Continued and ongoing engagement as it relates to MMIW
- Improved Recruiting and Hiring in the Indigenous Community
- Roll out best practices nationally on protest management
- Additional sustainable engagement

The Committee acknowledges the support of the CACP Board of Directors and staff, as well as that of members who have left the Committee in the past year, and thanks them and all other contributors for their valuable insight and commitment to the work of the CACP Policing with First Nations, Métis and Inuit Peoples (PFNPIP) Committee.
Introduction

The Policing with First Nations, Métis and Inuit Peoples (PWFNMIP) Committee is actively pursuing a renewed mandate with an enthusiastic membership that brings together broad representation of Canadian police services and stakeholders. This Committee offers an important mechanism to ensure that the needs and circumstances of Canada’s Indigenous peoples are recognized and addressed in keeping with the Canadian Association of Chiefs of Police (CACP) mission of safety and security for all Canadians through innovative police leadership.

Committee Mandate

The PWFNMIP Committee mandate is to consider matters relating to sustainable policing services and enhanced public safety for Indigenous peoples and their communities throughout Canada. This focus reflects a strong alignment with the CACP’s mission and objectives, as adopted at the Association’s Annual General Meeting in August 2013. The Committee is intent on working collaboratively and meaningfully toward the common purpose of the CACP.

Committee Structure and Priorities

The Committee retained its Committee Co-Chair structure through 2016 – 2017 and successfully added to its membership through representation from urban areas with significant Indigenous populations. Co-Chair Chief Superintendent Shirley Cullierrier of the RCMP was replaced by Inspector Kim Taplin of the RCMP. The Committee meeting schedule includes fall and spring meetings, with the possibility of additional meetings, either in person or via teleconference.

The Committee’s strategic priorities for 2016 – 2017 were reviewed and confirmed at its spring meeting:

1. Working with the Missing Murdered Indigenous Women’s Inquiry, and assisting all Canadian Police Agencies in their support of the inquiry.

2. Sustainability for policing with First Nations, Métis and Inuit peoples.

3. Focus efforts on diversion from incarceration practices that will contribute to a reduction in the number of Indigenous People in the Criminal Justice System.

Committee meetings through the 2016 – 2017 term provided the venue for information sharing in terms of common interests, challenges and priorities with particular emphasis on strong, issue-based content and discussion and collection of best practices in relation to the identified strategic priorities.
2016 – 2017 Highlights

Highlights include:

1) In response to the Government announcement on the pipelines in November 2016, there were discussions on police preparedness for large scale protests and continued situational awareness that may stimulate a ripple of protest events across the country.

2) Information sharing and discussions focused on common challenges of participating Police Agencies primarily around the First Nations Policing Program (FNPP), recruitment, restorative justice, youth engagement and community wellness including life preservation, and the drug crisis (fentanyl) in Indigenous communities.

3) Status update presentations, and Canadian Police Agency role supporting the MMIW Inquiry.

The Committee meeting schedule for 2016 – 2017:

- November 2016 – Toronto, Ontario
- March 2017 – Toronto, Ontario
- July 2017 – Montreal, Quebec
- November 2017 – Toronto, Ontario

Planned initiatives for 2017-2018

- Continued and ongoing engagement as it relates to MMIW
- Roll out best practices nationally on protest management
- Examine diversion from incarceration promising practices

Strategic Priorities 2016 – 2017

In keeping with the CACP mission and objectives, the PWFN MIC Committee will address key priorities in the year ahead with the objective of furthering the Committee’s previously identified strategic priorities. These include:

1. Sustainability for policing with First Nations, Métis and Inuit peoples:
   - Examine and promote opportunities to address issues of long-term sustainability of effective and culturally-responsive policing for First Nations and Inuit communities, in keeping with Resolution 2013 – 04.

2. Measured and consistent approach to protest management:
   - Examine and canvass police service best practices and pertinent legislation governing protest management across policing jurisdictions to support development of:
     i) best practice resource;
ii) training opportunities;

iii) model policy / guideline for Canadian police services.

3. Violence against indigenous women and girls:

- Advocate for and contribute to work that would increase the safety and security of women and girls, including prevention of crime and victimization, examining and sharing best practices and procedures, continued support for sustainability of First Nations / Inuit policing.

- Seek to work collaboratively with other CACP Committees, including Victims of Crime and Crime Prevention Committees.

Policing with First Nations, Metis and Inuit Peoples Committee

Mandate

Consider matters relating to sustainable policing services and enhanced public safety for Indigenous peoples and their communities throughout Canada.

Objectives

1. Support a measured and consistent approach to large-scale protest management.

Significant Accomplishments 2017-2018

- Supported the First Nations Policing Program (FNPP) and the Assembly of First Nations commitment to make community safety and policing a priority in an MOU signed with Canada.
- Started the development of a best practices document to ensure police preparedness for large-scale protests and continued situational awareness for protest events across the country.
- Continued support of practical and culturally competent training and policing services that Indigenous people support. For example, the Royal Canadian Mounted Police’s Eagle Feather Initiative was created in the spirit of reconciliation and community engagement to offer witnesses, victims, suspects, and officers an alternative form of swearing to an oath. Committee members were provided with materials to support implementing similar initiatives in their police services.
- Continued support for the Missing and Murdered Indigenous Women and Girls (MMIWG) Inquiry.
- Discussed research that can be used to help Canadian police to become better equipped to address higher incarceration rates for Indigenous populations and address the Calls for Action as outlined by the Truth and Reconciliation Commission.

Initiatives Planned for 2019

- Develop a large-scale protest best practices document that will address any and all protests and will not be limited to Indigenous protests.
- Provide continued support to the MMIWG inquiry throughout their 6-month extension.
- Identify, in consultation with Public Safety Canada, sources of funding that could benefit First Nations Policing Services.
This status report summarizes CACP activities between April and the end of July, 2008 on 2006 and 2007 resolutions. Seven resolutions (#01, 06, and 08 of 2006 and #04, 05, 07, and 11 of 2007) have been concluded. The status of the remainder is ongoing.

Summary of progress since initiation:
- CACP President Jack Ewatski raised this issue at a meeting with the Minister of Justice Vic Toews in 2007.
- Committee recommended that each Provincial Chiefs of Police Association consider and adopt the resolution
- Approach was promoted by A/Comr. Madill at the Manitoba Association of Chiefs of Police. The Saskatchewan and Manitoba chiefs have both developed provincial public missing persons websites linked to their Association websites so that the public can easily access details about who is missing. Discussion about recommending a similar approach to the CACP is on the agenda for the next Policing with Aboriginal Peoples Committee meeting.

April – July, 2008
- The Ontario Provincial Police Lost/Missing Persons Manual has been posted to the members only portion of the CACP website.

Summary of progress since initiation (includes roll-up information from Resolution 2008-04):

At the Committee’s June 2013 meeting, Director General Mary Donaghy (Aboriginal Policing Directorate, Public Safety Canada) provided an overview of the funding model for the First Nations Policing Program (FNPP), describing it as funding in support of enhanced police services and confirming that the next five years will be a restrained budgetary environment.

The Committee remains interested in the outcomes of the comprehensive review of the First Nations Policing Program. It understands the review is complete, but that Public Safety Canada does not intend to release it publicly.

The federal, five-year, $400-million Police Officer Recruitment Fund (PORF) expired on March 31, 2013 and was not renewed. In May, the Ontario government committed funding to maintain the 40 additional First Nations policing positions previously funded through the PORF. Ontario was the only jurisdiction to provide such support to First Nation police services.

At the Committee’s October 2013 meeting, members received a presentation on policing in Inuit communities in Nunavut from the RCMP, National Aboriginal Policing Services, followed by a discussion of external / internal challenges.

Resolution: 2013-05 Commit CACP Agencies to Participate in Research Projects in Furtherance of the Canadian Police Executive Research Agenda

Summary of progress since initiation: Association has sent letters outlining CACP resolutions and issues to the Ministers of Public Safety and the Minister of Justice and Attorney General.

October 2008 – February 2009 No change in status.

March – July 2009 President Chabot met with Public Safety Minister Van Loan on May 25, 2009 to discuss this issue. The Minister recommended that the President meet with the Parliamentary Secretary to continue discussions.

August - October 2009
Ontario government committed $4 million annually over next five years to fund 40 additional officers for First Nations Police Services from its share of the federal Police Officers Recruitment Fund. Ontario's Safer Communities -- 1,000 Officers Partnership Program has provided First Nations Police Services with $1.6 million in funding to hire an additional nine (9) police officers.

November 2009 – February 2010
The First Nations Policing Program is currently undergoing a comprehensive review which is being led by Public Safety Canada through the Aboriginal Policing Directorate. This review will look at many of the issues raised in the resolution and may lead to some resolve. Next meeting of the Committee is scheduled for April 12-13, 2010 in Calgary, AB.

March – June, 2010
The comprehensive review of the First Nations Policing Program, led by the Aboriginal Policing Directorate of Public Safety Canada is ongoing. The review has included extensive consultations with stakeholders across the country and a final report is expected the fall of 2010. It is not known at this time if this particular resolution will be addressed until the report is completed and available for the public at large.

Resolution: 2013-03 Cannabis Enforcement cont’d

July 2016 – June 2017

- It is expected that the new law will come into effect July 1, 2018.
- The proposed legislation would permit persons over the age of 18 to possess marijuana for personal use.
- Those under the age of 18 would be subject to a police citation for possession.

Therefore, the Drug Advisory Committee has determined that this resolution is no longer necessary. It is recommended that this resolution be concluded.
