Documents submitted with testimony: none.
--- Upon commencing on Thursday, September 14, 2017

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Today is September 14th. Can you believe that? We’re almost half way through September.

And so it’s Wendy van Tongeren and I’m here as part of the Port Alberni interview process. And the time now is about 19 minutes after 9:00 in the morning and we’re about to commence an interview.

And so I’m going to pass this recorder around and if everyone could just say their names. So it will just be like this: “My name is Wendy van Tongeren and I spell my name W-E-N-D-Y, V-A-N, T-O-N-G-E-R-E-N and I’m a lawyer with the legal unit with the National Inquiry.”

So you need to do something like that so that I know who you are as well.

MS. CATHERINE MARK: My name is Catherine Mark, C-A-T-H-E-R-I-N-E, M-A-R-K.

MR. THOMAS SAM: My name is Thomas Sam. T-H-O-M-A-S, S-A-M.

ELDER GERTIE PIERRE: My name is Gertie Pierre and I’m an elder working for the Inquiry for support for the family.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: How did you spell your last name?
MS. CATHERINE MARK: M-A-R-K.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: M-A-R-T?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: K.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: The way they proceeded here -- poor Thomas, all I can see is his baseball hat. Maybe that’s what he wanted. So either Thomas you can sit somewhere else, or Catherine, if you could sit back a little bit. But if that doesn’t work for you just find another seat to sit.

MS. CATHERINE MARK: M’hm.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Wow, now I can see the tattoo of the band; we’ve got Thomas in the picture.

MR. THOMAS SAM: Right.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Now the other thing is that this is -- right now this is private because there’s only four of us in this room. So that’s fine because no one else is going to join us that you don’t want to be here. But the thing is that this goes to the Commissioners. And there’s some people who actually are engaging in the statement taking process with us but they still -- I think everybody wants it to go to the Commissioners. But there’s still some people who still want it to be public.

So -- and it would be public, for example, if the transcript was made available for people, for example, to read what transpired. So is it your preference that it be public or would you prefer that your name, for example, wasn’t used or that people didn’t see the transcript or -- like, what is your thought?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: I’m comfortable with it being public.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Okay.
And do you feel the same way, Thomas?

MR. THOMAS SAM: Yeah.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Okay.
Okay, great. Thank you.
Now, I’m just going to give you some ideas about -- you’re going to start talking and I’m not going to interrupt you. But there’s a -- I’ll give you a bit of a framework so that you’ve got some ideas about what would be more helpful to Gertrude and myself and the Commissioners.

So number one, I don’t know your family; I don’t have any background information so it is helpful to give a family tree, provide a family tree. So what that means is just whoever it be the person is that you are going to be speaking of, we appreciate, in context, who they are to you. If it’s, you know, a relative -- I anticipate it is a relative.

And one thing that we did yesterday that worked is that we actually made a family tree up on the board so that as we spoke we could sort of see the dates of things and who was around at a given time. And sometimes there’s cousins, so we do a family tree for you, with your parents and your siblings and then if it was an auntie or something or a cousin then we would do a little family tree that shows the connection.

And then what I do is I make notes of that and I take a picture of it so that, so that we can put it into a typed form.

MS. CATHERINE MARK: Does that include like, the deceased brothers, or sisters?

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Yeah, yeah. And you just need to give their name and the date that they were born. Like, the year they were born if you know it, right?

So that’s one thing.

MS. CATHERINE MARK: Okay.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: The other thing is for names -- you know, we all have this experience, I think, where we hear somebody’s name and we don’t quite get it. So if you are going to use somebody’s name, it would be good if you slowed down a little bit and just spelled their name.

And same if you’re talking about places. We’re not always familiar with all the places of which you speak, so if you could just spell the name and we could look it up or you could describe to us where that’s located. I’m just speaking generally; you know, it would sort of be like, “Well I was in Nanaimo N-A-N-A-I-M-O which is on the island here and it’s -- that’s where the ferry goes.”

MS. CATHERINE MARK: So this person that I’m going to be talking about, the woman that’s deceased, and I do the family trees, like, just for my parents and me and my siblings and kids, but, or ---

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Yeah.

MS. CATHERINE MARK: --- do you want me to do, to try and do the whole family tree?

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: No.

MS. CATHERINE MARK: Okay, it would be almost up to 1000.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: No, no, I said that before that you would laugh at me, “You’re kidding, right?”
and we’re going to set the whole day on one family trees?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: The whole day on one.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: That’s a really good point, Catherine. If you’re going to do a family tree we’ll all do it together. All of us will help work on it.
And we’ll take a minimalist, like a minimum approach.
Like, the smaller we can keep it the better. Just the ones that are absolutely relevant.

MS. CATHERINE MARK: Yeah, m’hm.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: And I’ll show you how we’ve done that in the past. We’ve just sort of put a place for people but we just fill in -- like, if there’s 16 children or something you just -- and you’re going to talk about three of them you just kind of put the three of them on the tree. But you’d still indicate that there’s 16 children, for example.

And so the other thing that is really helpful to us, because we attempt to get records from people, like police and hospitals and coroners, and that type of thing to explain certain things. And so dates are important too. So if you don’t know a date you just tell us you don’t know it.

And sometimes there’s ways of figuring out dates. Like, you probably relate to this where you’d say, “I don’t remember the date but I remember that my son was three.” And then we just sort of do the math. “Well, when was your son three?” And then we can figure out a date. Alright? Like, ”I remember it was my father’s birthday and he was turning 70,” or something. So we can figure that out.

So eventually there will be questions that I have for you, but I’m going to try my best not to interrupt you. Because I believe that when I interrupt you I actually interfere with your train of thought. And I just want you to be left to tell us what you think is important.

MS. CATHERINE MARK: M’hm.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: And eventually I will ask questions that are kind of clarifying things and elaborating on things. And specifically you’ll hear questions from me about the systemic violence; in other words, what was going on in the life of these individuals that contributed to vulnerability or actually contributed to it -- you can contribute to vulnerability in a way that it makes an Indigenous women or girl more vulnerable. Or you can contribute to it in a way where it actually strengthens them so that they feel that they can protect themselves and they can carry on with life, feeling that they are safe.

MS. CATHERINE MARK: M’hm.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: So it goes both ways.

And there’s water here and there’s some fruit. And any time you need a washroom break, just let us know. You might know where the washroom is but it’s very, very close by.

MS. CATHERINE MARK: M’hm.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: For both of you.
So just let us know and we’ll just make sure that we do everything we can to treat you with the utmost respect.

I will be taking some notes and the main reason why I do that is just to help me remember things as we’re proceeding so that if you’d say something -- you were talking about a German shepherd dog and we write it here and then it comes up again and you’re talking about a poodle -- like, I would probably look at it and go, “I wonder if she’s talking about the same dog, because they look a lot different.”

Then I might ask a question about that when you finish. Okay. Do you have either a German shepherd or a poodle?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: Thinking about it now.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: And Thomas, are you going to be speaking today?

MR. THOMAS SAM: No.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: No, you’re here ---

MR. THOMAS SAM: Just supporting.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: --- just as a support person?

Okay, great. What is your relationship with Catherine?

MR. THOMAS SAM: I’m like a boyfriend.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Okay. That’s great, thank you so much for being here.

MR. THOMAS SAM: You’re welcome.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: You agree with him, right? That he’s your boyfriend?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: I’ll just leave him out of this one.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: But you know what?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: Yeah.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: It’s very nice that he’s here, right?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: Yeah. M’mhm.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Okay, start when you’re ready.

MS. CATHERINE MARK: Are you going to do my family tree?

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Okay, you want to start with that?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: Sure.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Okay. So I’ve got to move this over here. So can we start by -- by the way, those pens are pretty crummy so I’ve got a better one. These are all going out of ink.

So let’s start by putting the name of the deceased person on the board here.

MS. CATHERINE MARK: That would be my mother, Annabelle.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: And her name is?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: Annabelle.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Annabelle? Is it

A-N ---

MS. CATHERINE MARK: N-N-A-B-E-L-L-E.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: And was it Mark?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: Yeah.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Do you recall, or do you know was she missing or murdered?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: Murdered.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Okay. What was the date of that?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: First of all she was born in March 3rd, 1950.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Great, thank you.

MS. CATHERINE MARK: And I believe it had to be in 1980.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: What was the location?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: It was in Victoria,

B.C.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Where she was -- where she died?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: Yes, Victoria, Centennial Square.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Victoria what?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: Centennial Square.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Centennial Square.

Okay.

Where was she born?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: She was born -- I just know she was born on a boat up near Gold River.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Okay. That reminds me of a joke. What are -- these guys go fishing and they caught a lot of fish. They thought it was a wonderful place to go fishing so they said, “Jeez, this is so great I think we should do something so we can come back and catch more fish another day.”

So the guy said, “Okay.” And so they went back to the dock and he put an X on the bottom of the boat.

Anyway, most people are a bit smarter.

Okay, so how many siblings -- how many offspring are there of Annabelle’s?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: I believe there are about 15 of them.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Fifteen (15)?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: I think.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Okay, and is it -- we’ll put Annabelle here. You know how the (inaudible).

And your father was?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: Michael Ambrose.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Pardon?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: Michael Ambrose.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Did you say Nambert?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: Ambrose. A-M-B-R-O-S-E.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: S-E?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: Yes.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Okay. Okay, so was it 15 with those 2? Or was it different?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: There’s 15 on just my mother’s side, my mother’s siblings.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Oh, I see, I see.

Okay, so maybe they’re ---

MS. CATHERINE MARK: Yeah..

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Okay so why don’t we do that here. What was your mom’s mom’s name?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: [Grandmother].

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Is that how you spell it?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: [Spells name].

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: [Spells name]?
MS. CATHERINE MARK: M’hm.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: And what was her last name?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: She was married. Last name, I think it was probably [Grandmother’s last name].

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: [Grandmother’s last name].

MS. CATHERINE MARK: [Spells name].

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: [Spells name]? MS. CATHERINE MARK: [Spells name].

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: [Spells name].

MS. CATHERINE MARK: M’hm.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: And she was in partnership with somebody that resulted in the birth of Annabelle. Who would that be? Who was Annabelle’s dad?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: [Grandfather].

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: What are---

MS. CATHERINE MARK: [Grandfather].

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: [Question about name]?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: [Clarification about the grandfather’s name].

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Oh, okay.

[Grandfather] is the first name?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: Yeah.
MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Indicates (inaudible) of something.

MS. CATHERINE MARK: Yeah.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Okay. And you think there’s 13 of these names.

MS. CATHERINE MARK: I believe there’s 15 of them all together.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Okay. Anyway -- 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15.

Where would your mom be, approximately, in this?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: She would be the second oldest.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Okay, so she’s here and she was born in 1950. Okay.

Now do you think it’s important to put any other people there? Do they play a role somehow, or do they have information about her death?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: Actually, her sister [Aunt 1], I believe she seen her the day that she passed away, earlier in the day. She offered her -- I believe that she offered her to stay at her place.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Oh.

MS. CATHERINE MARK: And my mother chose to leave and then that’s when it happened where she went out drinking and she had someone follow her.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Wow.

MS. CATHERINE MARK: There was two different stories, like, that she choked on her puke, her vomit.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Oh, yeah.

MS. CATHERINE MARK: And that was from being strangled.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: M’hm. Okay, we’ll get into that.

MS. CATHERINE MARK: Okay.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: We’ll talk more.

Where does [Aunt 1] fit on here?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: Well, actually I think my mother is the third one, so ---

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Okay, that’s okay.

We can go to the ---

MS. CATHERINE MARK: Yeah.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Dry erase.

Okay, so is [Aunt 1] the second youngest?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: I think she’s the -- yeah, probably like the fourth or fifth one.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Do you know who these others are?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: I know there’s [Uncle 1], and [Uncle 2] ---
MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: And where do ---
MS. CATHERINE MARK: --- they’re the two oldest. Two older ones.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Oh, okay.
MS. CATHERINE MARK: [Uncle 1] and [Uncle 2].

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: [Uncle 1] and [Uncle 2]. Is it [spells name]?
MS. CATHERINE MARK: Yeah.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: And then Annabelle?
MS. CATHERINE MARK: Yeah.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: This might help you get through the names. I’m just not sure--- MS. CATHERINE MARK: They’re all (inaudible) the next one.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Okay. When we’re in doubt about those things we just put the name and then a question mark. She was born sometime after 1950?
MS. CATHERINE MARK: M’hm.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Do you remember how many years difference there was?
MS. CATHERINE MARK: I have no idea. I don’t remember.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Okay, so we don’t really know.
Okay, any other important names that you can think of?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: Could be the youngest one, [Uncle 3]. Those are the ones that lived in Victoria and still do.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Okay.

MS. CATHERINE MARK: [Uncle 3] and [Aunt 1].

And ---

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: They’re both still alive?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: Yes, yes.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Okay. So then Annabelle is born and then she ends up as a woman in a relationship with Michael Ambrose and then, somewhere around here there’s you. How many offspring were there?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: There -- first of all my mother married a guy named Francis Mark. And she was kind of in between -- she was married to one and then she met my dad.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Okay.

MS. CATHERINE MARK: They had -- their oldest one was my brother [Brother 3] that’s over here.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Yeah.

MS. CATHERINE MARK: And then there’s me on the second.
MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Okay. And what year were you born in?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: [Date of birth], ’71.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Everything here you’re talking to us about is -- you were nine years old when that happened.

MS. CATHERINE MARK: M’hm.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Is that right? Any other siblings that are -- like how many siblings were there between Annabelle and -- how many offspring of Annabelle and Michael?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: There -- my sister [Sister 1]. She was born on [date of birth] ’72. And then there is [Brother 4].

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: [Spells name]?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: [Spells name]. [Date of Birth] ’73.

[Sister 2]. [Spells name]. In [month of birth] ’73, same year.

Then my brother [Brother 1].

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Okay, [Brother 1].

MS. CATHERINE MARK: In ’77 -- or ’76, sorry, 1976.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Okay.

MS. CATHERINE MARK: [Brother 2].
MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: [Question about spelling]?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: [Spells name].

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: [Spells name].

MS. CATHERINE MARK: And he was born in ’77. They were both in [month of birth]. Both in [month of birth].

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: You know all your siblings’ birthdates. You probably played a role in changing diapers.

MS. CATHERINE MARK: I did; I actually did, because we were in and out of foster homes ---

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Okay.

MS. CATHERINE MARK: --- and we had another sister Tania but I didn’t -- I think she was in between -- or it was (inaudible). She passed away as a baby, so I don’t know what year.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: I put a “D” for deceased. Are all these people still living?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: [Sister 1] passed away and -- I think it was in May of ’88. And my brother [Brother 4] passed away as well. Probably -- like, it could be around 10 years by now, possibly.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Okay, so about 2007?
MS. CATHERINE MARK: Oh, 2011.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Oh, dear.

MS. CATHERINE MARK: (Inaudible) ---

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: It’s not there the first time ---

MS. CATHERINE MARK: Yeah.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: --- and then you take a few breaths and poof, like popcorn it shows up.

MS. CATHERINE MARK: My dad passed away in 2007 and we were going to have a memorial four years after his death and that’s when my brother passed away.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Oh. So is this right?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: Yeah.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Okay.

So you’ve had a lot of deaths in your family.

MS. CATHERINE MARK: M’hm. Yeah.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: For a young woman like you.

MS. CATHERINE MARK: I believe I have two other siblings but I’m not too sure of. I know my brother [Brother 3] would know about that.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Oh, when was [Brother 3] born?
MS. CATHARINE MARK:  [Date of birth]. He’s four years older than I am.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN:  Fours older, so four years away from ’71 would make it ’67. So how old are you now?

MS. CATHARINE MARK:  I’m 46.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN:  Okay. Anything else you think should go in there?

MS. CATHARINE MARK:  Maybe -- no, I can’t think of anything.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN:  Okay. So that helps because -- for example, if I said to you, “Did any members of your family go to residential school?” You look at that and you can tell; it helps a little bit. Like, [Grandmother] and [Grandfather], did they go to residential school? Or did your mom and ---

MS. CATHARINE MARK:  My dad did. My dad went to the residential. And I’m not too sure, but maybe --

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN:  Any of your siblings, here with us?

MS. CATHARINE MARK:  I’m not too sure if [Brother 4] did.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN:  Okay.

MS. CATHARINE MARK:  I know when we were all been in foster care except [Sister 3]; she was given up for adoption in (inaudible) took her as a little baby.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Okay so you were in foster care?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: Yeah.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: And Shaun was?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: Oh, you mean [Brother 2]?

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Ah, [Brother 4] was?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: No, he grew up in family’s home.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Families?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: (Inaudible) like my dad’s mom, he grew up with.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: And [Sister 2]?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: She was given up for adoption too. She ---

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Okay. And [Brother 1] ---

MS. CATHERINE MARK: [Brother 1] and [Brother 2] were both in foster care as well.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: And do you know -- your mom didn’t go through residential schools, as far as you know?
MS. CATHERINE MARK: Not that I’m aware of, no.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Okay. Do you know if [Grandmother], Francis or [Grandfather] did?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: I have no idea of that.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Okay. So I’ll just put down no.

MS. CATHERINE MARK: I think my older brother might have went to -- he might have went to residential school. I’m not too sure about this.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Okay.

So if I’ve put red under, it’s just -- like there’s a possibility that we don’t know.

MS. CATHERINE MARK: M’hm.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Yeah, okay.

So yeah, feel free to refer to that when -- you know it just helps a little bit like, “Just a minute, one minute, I have to look at the board. Oh yeah, now I remember!” You should probably sit where I’m sitting.

Okay, that was well done. Thank you so much, Catherine.

Okay. But now -- you started to talk about what happened that day because your mom had a conversation with [Aunt 1].

MS. CATHERINE MARK: M’hm.
MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Right. So do you want to start there? Or would you need to start before then or would you like to start about your mom’s life or your life or the kids in foster care or what -- where do you want to start?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: From what I remember is -- when I lived with my parents on Victoria -- I know it was [street name] -- I think street or avenue, I’m not sure. Near the Victoria Friendship Centre. I remember being apprehended from that place like two or three times and I remember a lot of drinking parties going on. And being sent down to the basement -- not to be around the drinking. There’s not too many good memories. We took care of my younger siblings [Sister 1], [Brother 1], and [Brother 2].

I witnessed a lot of things that I shouldn’t have seen as a child -- like sexual things and a lot of violence, arguing and fighting. There was just so much drinking going on that we didn’t even have food. And my dad always took us to the Food Bank.

When I was in foster care in Campbell River after the last time being apprehended from my mother I remember getting moved to Campbell River and then my grandma, Katie, my dad’s mom, picked us up and moved us to Ahousaht. That was ---
MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Do you mind spelling that? Where you lived.

MS. CATHERINE MARK: Campbell River?

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Oh, Campbell River, that’s one I know.

MS. CATHERINE MARK: Campbell River and then they moved us to Ahousaht. A-H-O-U-S-A-H-T.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Say it again.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Thank you.

MS. CATHERINE MARK: And that’s -- just before my mother passed away I know there was a lot of snow on the highway so it had to be close to winter. And I remember I was playing around at my uncle’s house -- because I lived my dad and his mom first and then there house was getting rebuilt or torn down and getting their house rebuilt so they asked me to go stay with my uncle [Uncle 2], who took me in.

And I remember playing around in the bedroom having pillow fights with my younger brother and then we heard some kind of -- something serious going on. Well, I did -- I went into the living room and I was told to go back in the bedroom and we didn’t play around anymore. We were just sitting on the bed and trying to keep it quiet to hear what was going on. Then my Uncle [Uncle 2] came in... and told me that my mother passed away. I don’t know how to react to that at first.

And not until I got older and [Aunt 1] was telling me that she seen my mother that day she passed away and she couldn’t believe it when she had to go view the body or identify the body. She -- I think she mentioned that she offered my mother Annabelle to go stay -- spend the day or night with her and my mother still went to town anyways where she always used to go drinking at the Centennial Square in Victoria.

I guess she got followed. She had one stalker, I guess; that’s what I was told. I first heard that she choked on her vomit until she died. She was so drunk she couldn’t -- and then I heard as I got older that she was actually murdered and -- choked her and -- so I’m not really quite 100 percent what the truth is because I don’t talk to my family anymore. I don’t -- there’s just really no connection.

It’s when I was like 12 years old I took my first drink of alcohol and I drank no matter what; even if I got in trouble I would still do it anyways. It was something to help me deal with -- kind of deal with what I was going through. Because I always wished my mom was there. I was tired of the way I grew up and I couldn’t handle it.
It was like I couldn’t seem to get a break and I wasn’t -- I couldn’t be a kid. No matter what I did I was always being watched and being told what to do and what not to do. And I always wished my mom was there. I used to think things would be different if she was alive and if she got clean and sober.

Taking care of my brothers and my sister and -- I see that the youngest one is really struggling and he’s really missing the ones that have passed away, my mother and my brother and sister, [Brother 2]. He at times does call me Mom. Now on the internet he tries to talk, and -- then he has all this hate, “You’re never there for me” or, you know.

Just as of last week I said, “Get on with everything, you know. I’m not your mother. I’m not going to be responsible for, you know, making you happy and feel love and comfort and all that because I’m hurting too and I’ve got to deal with it myself.”

And that’s where all my anger comes from, is not having a mother. And I almost didn’t even make it here because of all that.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Sorry, what was the last thing you said -- almost ---

MS. CATHERINE MARK: Almost didn’t make it to this -- what’s going on right now.
MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Well, thank you so much for making it.

MS. CATHERINE MARK: There's just a lot of bad memories and a lot of -- just a lot of abuse and -- because I gave birth to -- well, I was raped. I was molested by one of my mom's brothers at age five that I remember, but -- nothing. I guess that's why I was over protective of my siblings. I didn't want them to get hurt. And that guy's still alive today.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Is he on the Board?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: No, he isn't.

At the age of 12 I was raped and I think I was pregnant because I had an abortion. Seventeen (17) is when I got pregnant with my -- or I had a miscarriage. And then I had -- I got pregnant with my oldest child, my son.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: And how old were you or what year was that?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: I was 17 when I had him.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: So you had a miscarriage with ---

MS. CATHERINE MARK: Just before my oldest, yeah.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: In those sexual relations, was that consensual?
MS. CATHERINE MARK: No, not when I was 12, no.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Not 12.

MS. CATHERINE MARK: M’hm.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: And not five, obviously.

MS. CATHERINE MARK: No.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: But even -- you know the law says that it’s basically illegal if it’s understood not to be -- that you’re not consenting because you’re too young to consent when you’re five and when you’re twelve.

MS. CATHERINE MARK: M’hm.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: So any person -- and usually it would be a man or boy with the exception of the 12 if it were somebody of a similar age and it was apparent that you were consenting then that might be different ---

MS. CATHERINE MARK: The guy was -- he was a few years older than me.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: A few years older than you. So if it’s more than three then it -- he’d be in trouble.

MS. CATHERINE MARK: Yeah, I believe it’s more than three.
MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: M’hm.

But the 17, with the miscarriage, that was -- was that consensual?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: I started a relationship with him when we were about 15, I think.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Okay.

MS. CATHERINE MARK: And I had five kids with him.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: That’s the same man you later became pregnant ---

MS. CATHERINE MARK: Yeah.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: --- when you were 17?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: Yeah.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: And that was your eldest?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: Yeah, I got -- yeah, I married -- well my grandma forced us to get -- forced me to get married and -- at 18 years old.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: What was his name?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: [Husband’s name].

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: [Husband’s name]? Is he still living?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: Yeah.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: That’s so -- you have five children?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: Yeah.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Let’s see ---

MS. CATHERINE MARK: And we’ve got seven grandchildren.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: And seven grandchildren. That’s pretty neat, I think. As a -- I think grandchildren are a lot easier to look after, aren’t they?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: Yeah, I’ll say.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: (Inaudible) the light.

I’m sorry? Oh, I noticed that the -- thanks very much for reminding me about the camera.

I noticed -- I learned a lot more about the development of children through my grandchildren than my actual children because I think I was just so busy making sure that they had their creature comforts of eating ---

MS. CATHERINE MARK: M’hm.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: --- and sleeping, and looking after them that some of the things that they (inaudible) us, things that they were doing like ---

MS. CATHERINE MARK: Yeah.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: So that picked up when I started observing their kids.
So let’s go back to your mom; but it’s -- if you -- if there’s other violence that you’ve experienced in your life that’s really pertinent to this as well because it’s ---

MS. CATHERINE MARK: All my relationships -- I think there’s been a lot of violence and it allowed -- one of them was -- they were all different too. Like the kids’ dad was physically -- almost every kind of abuse there was, he was. And after the divorce in -- I think it was January of 2002 -- I think -- or when it was final.

I met someone else and he was much older than me, like 12 years older and the only thing with him was that he was the jealous type. And then I left him for a younger guy -- almost 10 years younger then me and he was physically abusive -- mentally. He’s the one that broke my leg slamming a big TV over my leg. A lot of times it happened when there was drinking going on.

After -- he ended up in jail so many times that I ended up leaving him finally and met an older gentleman -- or an older guy; I can’t call him a gentleman.
He was mentally abusive and he said harsh things like,
“Your dad would never forgive you.” Just because I didn’t want to do things that he wanted me to -- how he wanted me to live a certain way.

And he said, “You’re going to die just like your mom.” Things like that. He’d lock me out and change the locks and he was just really, really mean.

You know, two years I lasted with him on and off but things like that I’d tolerate it for so long and it took me, like, a long time to realize that I was probably just immune to violence. You know, like thinking it was just a normal thing and I had to quit feeling like the victim and start doing something about it and start thinking about myself instead of being there for everybody else and make myself stronger again.

It was in -- but in my mom’s drinking parties there was a lot violence going on and I even seen my own grandfather on top of my mother. A lot of guys that went to the parties -- I remember having to clean up the beer empties, wine bottles, and stuff like that.

A lot of movies I can’t watch because it triggers me. And, like, the drinking and violence.

Even it’s just about this, seeing the same thing everyday just a different crowd.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: M’hm.

How well do you remember your foster care situation? Do you remember the homes or were there ---

MS. CATHERINE MARK: I remember, I think, a social worker named Michelle Green.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Michelle Green?
MS. CATHERINE MARK: I think so, yeah.

Another foster home I remember -- or I don’t remember the foster mother’s name but I remember three girls named Jackie, and Jill, I think, and there’s another one; she started with a J but I can’t remember her name.

And I lived in Saanich with a lady name [L.S.], I think. She worked at the Victoria Friendship Centre and she had a daughter named [G.] and [T.].

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Did you have a connection with any of your foster parents?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: No.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Or their children?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: No.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Was it always in Victoria or Saanich?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: I think there might have -- there was one foster home in Nanaimo, on the reserve there. I don’t remember their names. Then there was a foster home in Campbell River with a First Nations lady in -- there was just a whole bunch of us there.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Describe your treatment in foster care.

MS. CATHERINE MARK: I know that when I was living with the one with the three girls there I was -- I don’t know, I guess kind of something I wasn’t used to. I recall strict -- you just like I couldn’t get off the table until I eat all my dinner. I was in bed early, which I wasn’t used to. Where I lived in Campbell River there was a whole bunch of us there and there was a little bit of freedom there. I guess it’s -- they watched other kids just to see them having fun. I was just a little bit too scared to. I was worried about my siblings more.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: And how did that work? When your social workers were dealing with you did they try to keep you together or were you separated or ---

MS. CATHERINE MARK: I was with my brother [Brother 1], and [Sister 1] and [Brother 2] were in another foster home and we all came together when they got us to Ahousaht.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: When they got what?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: They got us all together in Ahousaht.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Oh, okay.

MS. CATHERINE MARK: But yet we were still in separate homes but were on the same reserve.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Okay.

MS. CATHERINE MARK: We were all in the same pairs, anyways.

And school -- when I went to school I was pretty shy and scared and -- because they made it seem like
I didn’t know anything, or -- and just like being a -- like, I wasn’t a bed wetter but I was scared to go to the bathroom because I was scared to get my -- like, when I lived with my mom and them I was scared to go -- like leave the room because I was scared my uncle would attack me again. I remember running out of the house a few times, hiding in the bushes, hiding behind the house.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Like, which uncle was that?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: His name is [Uncle 4].

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: And that was the one that (inaudible)?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: Yeah.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: I’m just wondering about that bit. Did you -- what happened and what did the family do about the fact that you were raped by your uncle [Uncle 4]?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: My mom didn’t do anything and she -- for a long time I remember I felt it was a set-up because [Aunt 1] showed up and she -- and they went to go do laundry at a laundry mat together and she told me to take all my clothes off so she could wash it and she just wrapped a sheet around me. And I wanted to go and I was crying and she said that [Uncle 4] was going to watch me.
And I remember [Aunt 1] saying, “Why don’t you just take her?” And I was crying so hard and she told him to lock the door behind them or whatever -- and I -- that was one of the things that were -- I was so mad at my mom. Because she knew what was going on.

When I went to treatment -- I think it was in 2000 with my kids and my ex-husband and we went to this sweat. And I was trying to deal with that issue with my mother and asked, “Why, why, why? Why did you allow me to -- allow this to happen to me?”

And the answer that I felt that I got was that she didn’t want to be alone -- and just -- I was only five and -- you know how could someone do that to a child? I was -- I felt like I was just hurt and in a lot of pain and growing up I never thought -- whenever we were told we were going to go see our parents I always ran to my dad right away because he was the comforting one. To this day I never recall my mom saying, “I love you” to me. I don’t ever recall ---

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Is there anything you’d like to say, Gertrude?

ELDER GERTIE PIERRE: Pardon?

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Is there anything you’d like to say at this point?

You know, when I listen to you, Catherine, my heart hurts for you. What happened to you -- over and over and the idea that a little five-year-old girl would be raped by her uncle -- it’s a story that should inspire everybody to encourage change so that never happens.

MS. CATHERINE MARK: It was -- I’ve always tried to be on my own without a partner and -- but having that -- missing my dad and -- but at the same time with everything that I’ve been through with men it just makes me hate them so much. I have to teach myself that all men aren’t the same. I don’t -- I don’t like alcohol but it -- it was something that was there for me to help me hide my pain. I didn’t know how to deal with it.

ELDER GERTIE PIERRE: And I’d just like to say -- knowing you had a -- sharing your story about your abuse it’s helping you to let that go so you don’t carry it anymore because you shared it with us now and it won’t belong to you anymore. And that’s part of your healing and you’ve got to keep on, you know, going to see -- you’re seeing a counsellor or seeing someone to help you through the trauma that you went through as a child. You need to talk about it and keep talking about it until it doesn’t hurt you anymore. And then you can forgive and let it go.

The hardest part for us is to forgive someone for hurting us. And you know we don’t know why they did that or -- you know what made them do them things at that time. And well, you’re a very strong woman. You know just hearing you talking about -- you know, the trauma that you’ve been through that you’re going to be able to get through this and you’re going to be able to heal yourself.

And you’ll learn to love someone with all your heart and you have so much love in you. You have -- you have all your grandchildren you know that -- you know that you’re going to be able to teach -- you know teach the teachings to them and help them grow in a healthy way too.
So I’m glad you shared that; I know that was hard but, you know, it’s important for you to do that. I just want to let you know that I care about you and I want to see you grow up to be a healthy, strong grandmother to each of your grandchildren and your children. Okay.

MS. CATHERINE MARK: Because I went as far as I can go.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: This is as far as you can go?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: Yeah.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Would you like a break or should I just start asking you some questions?
What would you like?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: I can go on.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: You can carry on?
MS. CATHERINE MARK: Yeah.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Okay.

So you were only nine when your mom died but do you know whether or not -- do you know anything about whether or not the police were involved and if somebody was found to have done something to her?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: I don’t ---

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Or what do you know about that part?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: I don’t think that the person was caught, or -- if anyone should really know would probably be [Aunt 1].

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Are you still in touch with [Aunt 1]?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: No.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: But she’s still in Victoria?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: Yeah.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: And is her last name -- what is her last name?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: [Last name]. Yeah, but she’s married to [Aunt’s husband].

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: [Spells name] ---

MS. CATHERINE MARK: --- [Spells name].

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: [Spells name]?
MS. CATHERINE MARK: Yeah.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Okay. And it’s pronounced ---

MS. CATHERINE MARK: [Pronounces last name].

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: [Pronounces last name].

What’s his first name?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: [First name].

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Thank you, I remember you saying that.

Did the police ever talk to you?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: No, not that I can remember.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: And that’s when you were staying with your uncle that you were informed about that?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: Yeah.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: But a different uncle; it wasn’t ---

MS. CATHERINE MARK: [Uncle 2].

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: [Uncle 2], yeah.

Okay, so he was older than your mom?

The times that you saw your mom, can you give us some sort of a sample of what that was like? Like, where you would be, what she would be doing? You’ve talked about the parties and you said that those were on a regular basis.

MS. CATHERINE MARK: M’hm. Probably a couple times I remember where -- we were hardly ever in the same room. I remember one time when I was scared. Me and my sister [Sister 1] were in the same bedroom, or we had a bunk bed and she was on the bottom and I was on the top bunk bed. And I kept hearing this noise in the bedroom and I was getting more scared and I thought someone was trying to get in or -- so I went to go call my mom and I had -- I took me like three times to get her up to come see what was going on. She put the light on and it turned out it was my sister just kicking the closet door.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Well, that was good news.

MS. CATHERINE MARK: Oh yeah.

And another time when she took me to school and picked me up to bring me to -- to take me out to lunch when I was going to George Jay School in Victoria -- George Jay -- George Jay Elementary.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: This might -- if you can’t relate to this at all I’ll put a big X on this page and we’ll carry on, okay?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: M’hm.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: But sometimes this helps. So I started with your birthday which is ’71 and it was 1972 that you turned one and I’ve gone down to age 41 – you’re actually 46, so that’s a little while ago. So we go like ’71 -- so this is the year -- so I’ve got one column for the year, one column for your age, and I’ve got one column for your grade. Sometimes this helps map things out a little bit.

Do you mind if I come and sit beside you for a moment?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: M’hm.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Some things that we’ve talked about is -- let’s put a big one on here, which is the death of your mom in 1980. Then this is the rape by your uncle.

And just on the subject of rape -- and I don’t want you to describe the whole thing but I actually am aware that -- because -- I didn’t tell you this but I worked as a Crown prosecutor for 33 years and I specialized in prosecuting sex crimes. One thing that I learned is that different folks use different words to describe what happened and in fact there’s a study where some people -- teenagers are asked questions and they believe that you’re -- that if you even put the tongue in somebody else’s mouth that that’s having sex.

If you went to a doctor and said, “I have -- I’ve had sex and I want you to check it out.” And what you want them to check out was the mouth, the doctor wouldn’t assume that, you know. The doctor might assume that they wanted a genital exam.

So I’m just wondering, what do you understand rape to be? When you use the word “rape”. What do you understand that to be?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: I use the word molest when I talk about my uncle.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Okay.

MS. CATHERINE MARK: He was -- he used put his hands in my vagina and he just would be touching me all over and -- most would hurt me and -- literally force his fingers right up in my vagina and wouldn’t stop even if I was crying so hard. And he had this real -- a real evil smile on his face while he was doing it.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Okay, so you use the word “molest” ---

MS. CATHERINE MARK: M’hm.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: --- to describe that. Okay. Thank you so much.

MS. CATHERINE MARK: Okay.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: It’s all I needed to ask about that.

What were some other important things in INTERNATIONAL REPORTING INC.

here? Well, at 17 -- which is right here -- so you turned
-- your birthday’s in March, right?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: Yeah.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: March.

MS. CATHERINE MARK: When I was 12 I was raped.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Eh?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: When I was 12 I was
raped.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Okay. And so was it the same as the molest or was it different?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: Different.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Okay, and ---

MS. CATHERINE MARK: It was an older guy on the Ahousaht Reserve.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: You used the word “rape”, and what do you mean by rape?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: Well, pants was pulled down and he inserted his penis inside me and I bled for a couple of days.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: And can you just address what happened and did anything happen to him about
-- for doing that? Or did anyone intervene in any way and
---

MS. CATHERINE MARK: I was threatened by him and said if I told anyone that he was going to come for me again, that he was going to do it again.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Okay.

MS. CATHERINE MARK: In 2010, I think it was, when I was raped again when my leg was broken by my ex he was sitting -- a drinking party and I was in a wheel chair and I couldn’t -- my leg wasn’t healed yet and -- 2010 -- I was kicking everybody out and the last person to leave was the guy that raped me.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: And that was the same situation as this old guy in terms of ---

MS. CATHERINE MARK: It was a different guy; he lived on the Ahousaht reserve too but it happened in Port Alberni here.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Okay. So what I meant by that this -- the same action though.

MS. CATHERINE MARK: Yeah.

But it was like both sides and -- to the point where I left (inaudible) on the floor and -- because I was trying to get up get away from him and I couldn’t walk and -- so I just hopped to my wheel chair and try to get out real fast and went down the hallway and told my uncle who lived a few doors down from where I was and asked him to call the cops.

He was in such shock that he sat there and cried first before he ran out and couldn’t believe what he had just seen because I had my pants over my legs covering me; and they caught the guy though, later on that night.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: And what happened then?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: He -- they took him in custody and he served some time.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Did you go to court?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: Yes.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: And you told the judge the story?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: Yes.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: And your uncle probably testified too?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: No, it was just him against me. There were -- I went down to the hospital and Maureen Knighton was there and (inaudible) the victim’s worker.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: I just want to put that on the chart. What year was that and what -- how old were you?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: The year 2000 it happened.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: I need your pen.
What was that man’s name?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: [R.J.]. I think he goes by [alternate name].

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Like [spells name]? MS. CATHERINE MARK: Yes.

He actually just showed up before we came here at the gym.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Oh really?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: Yeah.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: So you’ve seen him in the last few days?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: I just seen him just today.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Just today. And how was that?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: Just as long as he keeps his distance and ---

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: You actually said that to him, to keep distance? No?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: I just feel that way, like, if he doesn’t try and approach me or anything. Because he did his time and he finished his probation or whatever and -- yeah.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Anything more you want to say about that?
MS. CATHERINE MARK: No.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Okay.

How were you treated by the authorities in that investigation, the rape and the prosecution? What did you think about all that? Was it -- how did they treat you?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: Well, they treated me alright and they were supportive and provided me with services where I can turn to, the women’s centre and Victims and who I can talk to and the services. They just provided a lot of services that I could turn to.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Okay. So at that time you were 29. Did you testify in the same room as Dicky John?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: Testified? Yeah I did.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: So if that happened again would you call the police?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: Yeah.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: The answer is yes?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: Yes. M’hm.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Anything else that we should put on this chart?

I was wondering if you could figure out the times that you were -- which I -- I think this is a stupid question so I’m already giving myself heck for it but I’m... just wondering if you can give any indication of the years that you were more with your mom and the time that you were more steadily in foster care. Or was it even like that?
So maybe it’s not even -- can’t even be recorded.

MS. CATHERINE MARK: No. I don’t know. As much as I wanted to be with my mom I wouldn’t know how to feel anyways because even though we were in the same house, we were in the same room because I didn’t feel acknowledged by her or maybe she was ashamed by what she was allowing to happen.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: And how could you tell as a kid growing up whether your mom had been drinking and she was sober or drunk? What did you learn as a kid about that?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: Can you say that again?

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: I’m trying to
or drunk or somewhere in between. So the first question I was going to ask is though -- as a child -- because I kind of remember when I saw the first drunk man and I was kind of shocked at the way he was behaving. But I remember to this day how he was behaving. You know, I remember because it was unusual to see somebody behaving that way.

I’m just wondering if you could describe how you learned about the difference between someone not drinking and how they behaved and someone who drinks and how they behave ---

MS. CATHERINE MARK: She ---

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: --- related to your mom.

MS. CATHERINE MARK: I remember my mom being -- like, loud, or in a happy mood. When she was sober she was quiet, distant, or getting angry easy. After getting angry she’d go out and not come back for hours and coming home drunk, in a different mood. And “Guys, go down downstairs.” Just because there was a party with a lot of people and strangers coming to the house.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: So sometimes the parties were at your house and sometimes they’re -- your mom went to other parties.

MS. CATHERINE MARK: She’d leave going out to the bar and then she’d come home with parties -- like bring people to the house.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Okay. And what houses do you remember that happening in?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: I just know there’s like either a couple of houses away from the Victoria Friendship Centre.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Okay. And that was in Victoria?
MS. CATHERINE MARK: Yes. I know we moved around a lot and I remember that house specifically because I think it was the last house we lived in.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: What do you remember about the apprehensions? How did they come about?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: I remember them coming in to come into the house and I’d be running and hiding or holding onto my dad and telling them I don’t want to go with them. I told them I wanted to stay with him. I remember running away from them -- I don’t know if it was called YMCA at the Victoria Centennial Square I think where (inaudible). We were all lined up ready to go inside the building and I ran away. As young as I was I found my way home to see my dad. Then not too long after getting there the social worker and the cops showed up to come pick me up.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Do you have a memory of about how old you were, like how fast you could run?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: I had to have been around seven or something then.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Now, do you know -- at that particular time -- and I appreciate that when your mom died you were nine -- but did you have a sense of whether or not you had money for things? Do you know where your mom and dad’s money came from?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: No, not very often.

After some parties I’d find some change and I remember running a couple of blocks up from where we lived to go grab something to eat, like, even if it was just a bag of chips. I remember my dad getting mad about my mom going out drinking all the time and my dad took us to the food bank -- or took me to the food bank. I remember finding a $100 bill and I thought it was just like a $10. “I found 10 bucks.” My dad said, “Let me look” and he said it was 100 bucks.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: I bet you went back to that couch.

MS. CATHERINE MARK: I found it outside a parking lot on our way to town.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: A parking lot.

MS. CATHERINE MARK: Yeah.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Okay. Well, you know what? You found a good memory.

MS. CATHERINE MARK: Yeah.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Okay. So here’s the situation where your mom found herself in a predicament where she -- somebody inflicted harm on her and she died.

And do you remember we were talking about, you know, the systems and things that contributed to your mom’s vulnerability? Or to women and girls who find themselves missing or murdered or violence being inflicted upon them. What do you think your mom’s vulnerabilities were? Like, where were they coming from, do you think?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: Alcohol is a big factor in our family. It’s, like, right from our grandfather that I know of because he was one of them that hurt my mom. And I remember they used to sing quite a bit when they were drinking because my grandfather played the accordion and the harmonica and he was a good singer as well and I remember hearing all that.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: He was a good what?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: He was a good singer.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Singer.

MS. CATHERINE MARK: Yeah. And he played the accordion and harmonica.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Where did you get the information from that your grandfather hurt your mom?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: I witnessed it sometimes.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Oh, was that when - - I remember that there was one time that someone was on top of your mom.

MS. CATHERINE MARK: Yeah, my grandfather, her dad.
MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: How old -- you were looking at that through the eyes of a child, right?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: M’hm.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: About how old were you about, do you think?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: Six, seven ---

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Oh, so you’d already ---

MS. CATHERINE MARK: --- eight, yeah six, seven, eight.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: --- been molested. So you had some information about that. You’d seen violence before that as well. Again, so you see this grandfather on top of your mom -- and how long did you stand around or look -- sit around and watch what was happening?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: I probably seen it all -- like just a few seconds and because my grandfather had like a big belly and they were like -- she was slightly off the bed and they were face to face. And I guess when they heard the door and -- I don’t know, I was going to go ask my mom something and she said, “Get out of here!” And I ran out and I stayed downstairs in the basement for a long time until someone came to get me.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: So from what you saw did you conclude anything about what they were doing?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: No.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: No. Did your mom say anything?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: No.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Okay. But you saw your grandfather’s fat belly, as you say. Do you recall what he was wearing?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: His pants were off and I know he had a shirt on; he had like a striped shirt on or something.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: And what part of your mom could you see?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: Her -- the whole side of her body. And she had no clothes on whatsoever, nothing.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Okay, so you’re saying from what you know of the situation that your grandfather’s behaviour towards your mother contributed to her vulnerability in a way that made her more vulnerable.

MS. CATHERINE MARK: Yeah.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: And how does that work for you? Like, what’s your understanding of that? How would a father mistreating a daughter make the daughter more vulnerable?
MS. CATHERINE MARK: I think he had more -- just being a parent is -- I guess I’d see it as that he had more authority over here and, you know, “I’m a parent and do as you’re told” kind of thing.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Right, okay. Any other things that you would think contribute to your mom’s -- like for example, you say that you went to the food bank. So is there anything that your family wanted that you could go and get because you had the money?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: I don’t know. I guess I’d never ever seen my mom grocery shop at all. My dad used to get mad at my -- I assumed at -- my mom always got cheques or money or whatever and she went and spent it foolishly. It seemed like alcohol always came first.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Was your mother connected to a First Nations community?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: Not that I know of, no.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Did she -- as far as you saw from when you saw her, was she connected with anyone who was providing her any type of therapy around her alcoholism or around instruction around how to care for children, or ---

MS. CATHERINE MARK: I believe the Ministry -- that she had told her to keep the house clean and would have to do certain things in order to keep us or get us
MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: M’hm.

Did she have any illnesses or anything that you know?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: No. I know my dad was an epileptic. I think he was a logger before and a log hit him or something and he started having seizures. I think that’s why my dad didn’t drink as much as my mom.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Okay.

MS. CATHERINE MARK: And then my dad moved up to Ahousaht with his mom Katie and my mom was left in Victoria. I remember then -- I remember her showing up in Ahousaht a couple of times.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Your dad’s mom?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: My own mom ---

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Oh, okay

MS. CATHERINE MARK: --- showed up from Victoria to Ahousaht to see my dad.

I think she was wanting at the time to quit drinking and get us back and it was already too late for that.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: When did they separate?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: I have no idea. I was already in foster home and I didn’t know -- I thought they were still in Victoria. But when my grandma came to get me
-- said that my dad lives there with her and he wanted to see me.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: How did your dad treat you?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: My dad was loving and caring. Somewhere around the late nineties when he asked me -- he said, “I need to ask you something.” He asked me if my Uncle [Uncle 4] did some bad touching with me as a child and I said, “Yeah.”

And he said “I knew it. I knew it.” He wasn’t too sure and I just said I was scared to tell -- tell somebody about it.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Are you all right with me sitting where I’m sitting? Or would you rather have me move somewhere else?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: You’re okay.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: I’m okay?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: M’hm.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Thank you. I like you sitting beside me, too.

So did your dad ever hit you or do anything?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: No.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: No.

MS. CATHERINE MARK: No.
MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: So I mean he died 10 years ago.

MS. CATHERINE MARK: Yeah.

MS. CATHERINE MARK: Yeah.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Did you have contact with your dad when you were in foster homes?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: Not so much. No.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Did anyone ever explain to you why you didn’t go live with your dad and your grandma instead of foster homes?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: No.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Okay. So your mom was quite young when she died.

MS. CATHERINE MARK: Thirty (30).

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: She was 30 years old.

MS. CATHERINE MARK: I’m thinking ---

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: You’ve already outlived her by 16 years.

MS. CATHERINE MARK: Yeah. I thought I was going to die when I was 30. That’s what I used to think when I was a kid. When I was getting closer to 30 years old I was getting scared for my life.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Well, do you the have same vulnerabilities that your mom had?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: I think it’s back then just learning on my own where my strength comes from. I have been suicidal in the past and the last time was about three years ago when I took a bunch of pills and just threw it up right away and I downed it with a beer, a can of beer.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: What are your drinking habits now?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: Every now and then I drink a two-litre cooler. Since I moved away from Port Alberni it’s -- I really cut down in two and a half months.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: And how old are your kids now?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: They’re all adults now, 21 to 27 or 28, 27.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: So do you help with the care of your grandkids?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: Yeah I do. I see them in town sometimes and seen them this summer -- I got to see them at the water -- or at the park there, the water park. My oldest grandchild recognized me right away even though it’s been a few years since I seen him.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: So do you know where you go for help when you -- well, did you go for help when you shared -- sorry, when you drank these pills that you selected with the beer? Did you get -- I mean, did you realize what you were doing and realize that you needed help? Or how did you deal with it?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: When I was at the hospital there Maureen Knighton came to see me from the Quu’asa Program. And I was already involved with the Mental Health Centre and the women’s groups and a group for violence against women and relationship issues. And I’ve been, like, involved off and on for a number of years.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: You know, I know that different things work for different people but what have you found that to be the most effective to -- first of all, what do you consider to be you at your healthiest?
Like what is it that when you look in the mirror and you say, “Well, you know what? I’m doing great. Things are good and I’m healthy.”

So what would that look like for you?

What’s important?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: Keeping myself busy and I notice a change in myself being clean and sober and, you know, having my own independence and grandchildren around, my own kids and grandkids. And that is something that’s kept me strong and sober.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Okay, great. Thank
And so with all this help that you’ve received plus the fact that you’ve just got older -- you know, like, as we get older we start to realize that pills and beer aren’t really a good idea.

MS. CATHERINE MARK: Yeah.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: But sometimes it’s a combination of things, isn’t it? It’s getting older, maturing ---

MS. CATHERINE MARK: M’hm.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: --- understanding life and then we hang out with people who’ve got good advice, like Gertrude.

MS. CATHERINE MARK: M’hm.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Like that. So what’s worked for you, do you think? Like, if your sister was in trouble or if one of your children which one would you say, “Well, you know, that worked for me and I recommend it.” What would it be?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: Just being in a different town and a different group of friends and finding other resources and just clean friends, clean people that are sober. After my moving to a town I didn’t really know and I walked around to find resources in Nanaimo. I’ve seen myself get a lot healthier with all that walking and seeing the colour come back into me.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Gertrude, tell Catherine how many steps you walk every day.

ELDER GERTIE PIERRE: I always walk about 10,000 plus steps a day.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Do you count them one by one?

ELDER GERTIE PIERRE: No, I have a Fitbit I wear and it counts my steps and I find that therapy for me, walking.

MS. CATHERINE MARK: Yeah, I had one of those on the phone and it was like over 12,000. And moving to Nanaimo was probably way more because it has to be -- like a 30-minute walk from where I was to into town. Then I’d walk around all over and then I’d walk back three times a day. So it’s ---

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Well, congratulations. Because the body, you know, the way it’s evolved, it’s evolved to move, not sit in our chairs the way we are this morning.

MS. CATHERINE MARK: Well, when I would be in Port Alberni or with all of my, well, toxic friends and I never used to go out and get out and walk unless I had an appointment somewhere. Being in a different town I walked everywhere from morning til nighttime. I was out from 8:00, 9:00 a.m. til 10:00, 11:00 at night. That was a big change for me and I felt a lot healthier, seeing different people -- even strangers. It was nice just to talk to them on the streets or at the waterfront.

With all the events going on there it lifted my spirits and I wasn’t in that down mode where I just wanted to be depressed and drink and whatever. I didn’t want to hear anybody’s drama. All I wanted to do was sit there and drink by myself. I didn’t have to drink to get drunk, but even just a little bit out of the bottle would just kind of tone me down. I like the changes that I’m making today.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: So if someone said -- came to you -- a woman friend about your age, maybe a bit younger and said, “I want to be busy, I want to be clean, I want to be sober, and I want to be able to hang out with my kids and grandkids so we have a good time. And I’d like to do it as quickly as I can.” What would you tell them to do?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: Go do it.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: And are there any of the services that you’ve been to that you would say, “And here, I’ve got a card” or “Go to that place because they’ll help you in there.” Would you recommend any place?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: Well, it would depend on what it’s for.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Yeah, okay. I’ll give you an example. If someone says, “Well, I just can’t do it because I just feel I have to drink every day.”

MS. CATHERINE MARK: I know the place in the town I’m staying in, it’s called the Tillicum -- they were pretty helpful as -- one reason why I found a lot of resources.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Okay, can you just say that again? Just so that we can identify what you said? Where was it located? In what city?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: In Nanaimo.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: In Nanaimo.

MS. CATHERINE MARK: Yeah.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: And did you say Tillicum?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: Tillicum. T-I-L-L-I-C-U-M.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Okay, and what do they provide there?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: They offer a lot of services there. There’s one lady that works there with the medical supplies; there are vitamins and stuff like that. Another one -- there’s just a lot of people in that centre that are pretty helpful. And one person that when you spoke to is the one that told us where the employment centre is and stuff like that, and the library with access to a computer and the women’s -- another service for people on disability.

I walk around so much that I found, like, a lot of properties -- rental properties because we’re still looking for a place. I just found Tillicum pretty helpful anyways. They provide bus tickets and let you know where -- what buses to catch, and stuff like that. That is one place that I would recommend to go see in that area.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: What if this woman said to you, “You know what, I’m just -- I just don’t think I’m a very good parent. I just feel like I don’t really know how to do it.” What would you say to her about that?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: I would try to support that lady as much as I can from my experience because my kids were apprehended a couple of times and I would never make that mistake again. I need to see my kids all grown up now; I missed out on a few years with them myself.

It was just a repeated pattern from what I’d seen with my mother and I didn’t want to put my kids through that -- going through foster care. I didn’t feel so well bonded with my family being in foster care it just -- nowadays I’m not very close with them. Not even on the Internet, they don’t say hi to me and I don’t say hi to them.

One of my -- one of my cousins passed away due to drugs and my family didn’t even inform me of when the funeral was or where.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: I just want to make sure that I understand this. Are you in communication with your five children?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: Yes, I am.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Okay.

MS. CATHERINE MARK: Me, I’ve seen -- just over two weeks ago now we had a little get together at one of the parks in Nanaimo. It was good to see all my kids together. We had, like, all the grandchildren -- there was seven.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Yeah, wow, okay.

And so if this woman said, “I think it would really help if I got a job.” You said that in Tillicum they also have employment services there. And have you used those?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: Yeah. I use as much resources as I can.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: How is the economy in Nanaimo? Can you find work fairly easy?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: Work is a lot easier to find than a place -- I know the places go to the college
Catherine Mark & Thomas Sam, (Annabelle Mark-Ambrose)

students pretty much. It’s pretty tough. Even the motels there they were asking like $1400 a month for a motel room to rent and that’s just way too steep for me. So I walk around in Nanaimo to look for — so a couple places I’m going to look at when I get back there today.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: That’s a current issue that you have is finding a place to live?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: Yes.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: M’hm. Yeah.

MS. CATHERINE MARK: If I can’t find one pretty quick I think I’m going to just go to the next town and try to find one.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Go to — what’s the next town?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: Well, I’ve been on the Internet looking for, you know, something I might be able to do as a job. I don’t know, it’s hard to say that -- where -- like Alberta, maybe, Vancouver -- you know, like I’ve only been off the island three times in my whole life and I’m willing to take this next step.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: So do you feel vulnerable?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: No, I don’t.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: No? You’ve been on a journey where you’ve learned a tremendous amount, haven’t
MS. CATHERINE MARK: M’hm.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: You have wisdom to give to others, even. It’s flowing out of you. Is there anything else you’d like to say?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: No, I think I’ve pretty much --you’ve got a whole lot more than I expected.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Let me just see whether or not -- did you -- how far did you get in school?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: I finished up to Grade 9. And I did some ---

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: And what -- how old were you when you finished up to Grade 9?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: Seventeen (17). When I got pregnant with my son. I finished that when I found out I was pregnant.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: How does that feel for you that you’re up to Grade 9. Like that’s really great that you did finish it.

MS. CATHERINE MARK: I waited a few years after my youngest child was born in ’95 and I went to college and I did the assessment there. I had a -- Grade 11, 12, and some college levels.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: That’s what I would have thought.
MS. CATHERINE MARK: I just about finished that but my husband was a little bit jealous and wondering who was all in my class, why I was so interested to get out of there. We didn’t have a good marriage and he was getting tired of being with the kids or whatever and I was trying to get my education. I wanted to be, like, a probation for -- like the young ones.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Yeah, okay. A child youth worker.

MS. CATHERINE MARK: M’hm.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Yeah, wow, you’d be great at that.

MS. CATHERINE MARK: Yeah, and I seen Patty Edwards a few times here and she’s an architect and she said that I’d be good to take over her -- a big compliment for me anyways. Because I helped out a lot of people with family maintenance and taxes and you name it. I knew my way around. (Inaudible), whatever it is, I’m always helping out people.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: M’hm.

Well, it’s an honour to meet you.

MS. CATHERINE MARK: Thank you.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: You’ve helped me today. Helped me understand things, helped me see right before my eyes an amazing story about a woman who brought so much to her life because of her own courage, and will, and kindness. So thank you.

MS. CATHERINE MARK: M’hm. Thank you.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: And I hope you find a nice place. How’s that work with Tom? Do you guys live near each other? Or are you staying at Tom’s? Is Tom going to have to move off the island too?

MR. THOMAS SAM: It was a lot more easier looking for work over there than it was here.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Yeah?

MR. THOMAS SAM: Yeah, I’m 42 years old and it’s real hard to get a job down here.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Yeah. You’re talking about it’s easier to find work in Nanaimo?

MR. THOMAS SAM: Yeah, well anywhere’s I went to the west coast in -- work is easy over there, I was cooking for 12 years over on that side. But (inaudible). All in a matter of 10 days in Nanaimo and I end up finding a job down there and people coming to me saying, “We need a worker.” A lot easier over there.

But like she was saying it’s hard to find accommodations down there. Even with the -- services and all that down there -- like the Mid-Island Métis and Tillicum and all that, it just -- they’ve got shelters there that will only do for men or women, right? They won’t do it for couples.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: I see. Yeah.

MR. THOMAS SAM: I think it’s one of the things they can work on though, too, you know -- is getting shelters for couples instead, you know.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Where are you guys staying then?

MR. THOMAS SAM: At her daughter’s.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Okay, so you do have a roof over your heads at least.

MR. THOMAS SAM: Yeah.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Yeah.

MR. THOMAS SAM: We’ll see what happens, like she said; we might go back, or maybe something like that.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Have you heard the story before, about how incredible ---

MR. THOMAS SAM: I’ve heard bits and pieces.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Yeah. So what do you think about what we can to protect Indigenous women and girls?

MR. THOMAS SAM: I -- this is the first time, you know -- I’ve never really heard much about this murdered and missing women before.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: M’hm.
MR. THOMAS SAM: This is the first time ever hearing about it, and you know I’m -- I wouldn’t know what to say right now, you know?

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: M’hm.

Well, a great start is even being here, isn’t it? So thank you, Thomas, for that.

ELDER GERTIE PIERRE: Yeah, that’s good.

MR. THOMAS SAM: It sounded all right to come check out.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: It’s kind of like now that, you know, one recommendation that we hear quite a bit is that -- well, the first thing is to let people know about it. Because there will clearly be a core group of people who will want to do something about it and start to figure it out in the working community to help.

So that’s interesting, and I think you said that you’re -- are you 40?

MR. THOMAS SAM: Forty-two (42).

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Forty-two (42).

MR. THOMAS SAM: Yeah.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: You’re 42 and this has actually been going on for decades.

MR. THOMAS SAM: Yeah.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: A long, long time.

I mean, I say decades but it could actually be hundreds of years or even more. So in your generation you’re finding out when you’re 42. What difference will it make to the country when more people know about it? Hopefully, we assume that people are compassionate and care about women and understand the important role of women in everybody’s lives in the community, but particularly with the children.

Maybe they’ll realize that we have to come together and think about how to protect them. But not protect them in a way where they say, “No, you can’t do that and you can’t do that.” Which is what it used to be like. Where a man’s way of protecting a woman was, “No, you’ve got to wear a dress, or -- and you’ve got to wear -- you got to bind your feet and you’ve got to stay in the kitchen.”

But, that actually makes them more vulnerable if they aren’t given the opportunity to learn what life is about and to be part of it equally.

MS. CATHERINE MARK: That’s one thing I’m afraid of because my granddaughter she’s only 10, my oldest, and she knows how to work the Internet. She -- I didn’t even know what that chat thing was -- Snapchat, I think it’s called. She said, “Hi, Grandma” to me and she even sends messages so fast I can’t even keep up.

I’m like, “What else do know about this Internet stuff; you know, it’s not safe all the time.”
She’s only 10 years old and she reminds me of me in a little kid because she’s a lot more mature for her age and I’m not happy about that. She can’t just be a kid, you know. Then when we had the get-together I was happy to see her be a kid, run around and play games with her cousins. But when she’s not around other kids she’s right there involved with the adult stories. She uses, like, big words.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Yeah, well, you know, I’m a grandma too and I -- things like that I consider this nose is going to be in that business, you know?

MS. CATHERINE MARK: Yeah.

MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: There’s certain things that we as grandmas need to do to protect our grandchildren too.

MS. CATHERINE MARK: Yeah, (inaudible) because I have one son and four daughters and I have three granddaughters and four grandsons. I watch how they sit and how they dress and -- you know, “Don’t sit like that.” I -- you know the tickle games; I don’t like them to have tickle games because that was a trigger for me too. I would just get so uncomfortable with them if they play tickle with you. But that’s how I (inaudible) overprotective. Yeah.
MS. WENDY VAN TONGEREN: Are you ready to go for a walk?
