Statement – Public
Shirley Christmas
(Emma Ann Paul)

Membertou, Nova Scotia

--- Upon commencing on Monday, October 30, 2017 at 12:45 p.m.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: So I will have the video recorder and the audio recorder on. So again I’ll repeat that my name is Debbie Bodkin, and I’m a statement taker with the Commission. And my job here today is to help you bring forward whatever your truth is, whatever your story is, in whatever manner’s comfortable for you.

The date is Monday, October 30, and I have it’s 12:45. And we’re in Membertou, Nova Scotia. And, are you comfortable introducing yourself? (indiscernible) [Giving] your full name?

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: My name is Shirley Christmas. My maiden name is Paul.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: Okay. And where are you from, Shirley?

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: Membertou.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: Membertou. Okay. And we also have present -- sorry, Jackie, if you’d give your full name?

MS. JACKLYN PAUL: My name is Jacklyn Paul (ph) and I’m from Sipekne’katik First Nation here and help [as a health] support.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: Wonderful. Wonderful.
So our cell phones are off. We got the recording’s on. If you see me take any notes, it’s only to remind myself of questions that we might go through. And I’m not taking notes of your interview, it’s just to keep myself on track.

So again, I’ll repeat that everything that’s recorded, and audio taped goes to the Commission, it stays with them there. So this -- consider -- please consider this a safe place, a comfortable place. If you need a break, you know, if we go on for quite a time and you need a break, just let me know. There’s no problem with that. So basically, you’re in charge here. And I’ll just help you out as best I can as we grow[go] through.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: I remember hearing those words before.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: Oh, okay. Well hopefully I’m saying them and there will be a good outcome in the end with your statement.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: Well, the other one was a good outcome.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: Oh, okay.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: It’s just --

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: Good to know.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: Yeah.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: So any other questions before you kind of launch in? So wherever you want to begin -- you’ve got your coffee. If you need water, let me know. We have --

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: Yes.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: -- Kleenex here. We also have a bag here for Kleenex if --

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: No. I guess I want to start with my younger sister.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: Okay.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: Her name was Emma. Emma Ann Paul. And that day -- and she was just 24. She was a mother of three, and she lived across from me. Well, she did for a while.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: Here in Membertou, you said?

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: Yeah. And we got along very well. And you know, we -- we like sort of supported each other of whatever dreams or goals we had. And she always called me Sho-Sho (ph). I don’t know where she got that name from, but that’s what she called me, Sho-Sho. Anyway, she -- I don’t know, I can’t remember exactly days or months or things like that, but she no longer lived across the street from me anymore. She -- she gave her children to her -- to the children’s father. She met this other dude. And I guess she didn’t want children or things, I don’t know what it was, but anyway, she -- the father took the children.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: And how many children?

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: Huh?

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: How many children?

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: Three.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: Three?

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: Yeah. And she moved in with this guy, [Boyfriend]. It’s okay to say the name is it?

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: Absolutely, yeah.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: [Boyfriend] -- I guess they were together for a while. I don’t really know because I lost touch with her. I only see her every now and then. And a couple days before -- before...

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: You have all the time you want so don’t rush yourself.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: Couple of days before they found her body, she came to (indiscernible) [visit me]. Just to (indiscernible) I guess. And she had a scarf on her neck. And this was in the summer, quite warm. And I -- I’m not one for asking questions, you know? But I’m one for observing and I noticed that on her neck -- well, at first, I thought they were hickies, but they weren’t. They were marks like, bruises. I didn’t question her and -- and we talked for a while and -- and I asked her, I said, “Are you okay?” She says, “Yeah.” I said, “You guys get along all right?” She was quiet for a minute, and then she said, “Yeah.” I said, “Are you sure?” Says, “Yeah.” She said, “Don’t worry.” Says that she was planning to leave him, you know? And that she found someone else who really care -- cared for her. And I said, “All right.” And that was the last time I saw my sister alive when she left home. When she left my place.
Shirley Christmas
(Emma Ann Paul)

It wasn’t until a couple of days later when they found that [her and] she was murdered and left in the back out -- she was strangled. And -- and the guy, he was no where’s to be seen or you know, couldn’t find him. And he -- I was angry with myself. I felt guilt for a really long time. Because I should have said something. I don’t know what we [if it] would have done anyway, you know? But maybe if I had said something, maybe she’d be still with us. I don’t know.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: Yeah.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: I feel like I failed her as a big sister. And I don’t think I ever forgave myself that. I still think about it. Especially when I see her. She looked (indiscernible) [children]. I don’t know why I can’t forgive myself. I don’t talk to anyone. I don’t even talk to my mom about it. I don’t talk to any of my sisters. I don’t talk to my kids. I don’t talk to anyone. I just keep it in. Maybe ‘cause I’m afraid that you know, they’ll say, “Well, you should have said something,” sort of thing. You know, you’re -- you’re the older sister, you’re supposed to do this. Supposed to doing that.

But the thing is, I don’t usually -- how do you put it? Interfere with other people’s relationships. And even with my own trauma back then, I didn’t discuss it with anyone either, you know? Because I always believed in privacy, you know? What goes on in your own home goes on in your home. Nobody else should know about -- sort of thing. And -- but I still kicked myself in the ass for that, because I didn’t say anything, and I should have.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: It’d be difficult carrying all that guilt.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: Now, with my granddaughters who are grown, and so far, two of them are with abusive partners. Well, one left hers, but the other one, she keeps going back. And it’s hard for a grandmother to see.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: M’hm.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: And you could talk to them, you know? Because I didn’t want to make the same mistake I did with my sister. So I talked to them.
finally caught on so she’s out of the relationship. Her and her daughter are -- well, she’s now into another relationship. But the [other] one, she keeps going back. You know, and I keep telling her, “He’s not going to get any better.” I said, “Each time it happens it’s going to get worse.” “No, no granny. He’ll be -- he’s just tired. He was working.” And I said, “There’s no excuse. If a man truly loved his girlfriend or wife or whatever, he would not raise a hand on her.”

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: M’hm.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: You know, let alone his own voice, you know? So I -- I told her about her grandfather and the life I had with him. I told her a few things, I wouldn’t tell her everything, just a few things. And I told her that it took me years, but I finally -- I said, “After one certain incident,” I said, “I had enough. When he started attacking my children,” I said, “your father and your uncles,” I said, “that was it.” So I couldn’t -- I would stay and take the abuse. But when it came to my children, I said, “No. That was enough.”

And that was only just a minor one, you know? When I think about it, if I had’ve (sic) stayed I think I would have been with my sister.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: M’hm.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: I would have been Shirley Christmas
(Emma Ann Paul)

ekilled. You know, I think about that a lot. And I feel grateful that I had enough courage to walk out. Although, I could still hear my mom in the background that you’re married for life and you should stick it out and all this, you know? But I didn’t care anymore. I just didn’t.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: M’hm.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: When it came to the safety of my children, I had to do something. Yeah. It’s hard to talk to my mom about things, ‘cause my mom is very old-fashioned. And it took her a while to speak to me after I filed for a divorce. You know, it took couple of years, but now we’re close.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: That’s good.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: You know, took -- well, we didn’t get close right away. It’s just the past, I don’t know, past six, seven years I guess, my mother and I are close.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: That’s good.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: I spent a lot of time with her. You know, and she’s always talking about her childhood and you know, she had such a different childhood than I did.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: And tell me about that. What was hers like?

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: Her childhood was more -- childhood more happier and more like a child should be.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: M’hm.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: I didn’t have that. There’s so much in my life that went on, there’s so much pain in my life. I don’t remember my childhood because of most of my childhood I was in residential school. That’s why I always say I don’t have a childhood.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: M’hm.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: I -- and I -- and when I hear my mom’s I always feel it’s me. It’s my childhood, you know? I -- and I love listening to her stories. And I know I’ll never get that.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: M’hm.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: I know I’ll never get that back. Maybe that’s why today I -- I’m a child at heart. I love Halloween. I never had Halloween. The first Halloween in my memory was when I was 12, 11 or 12, and I was no longer in the residential school. But that was my first Halloween in Membertou.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: Can you tell me a little bit as our time frame when you were in the residential school and when you weren’t?

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: Huh?

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: The -- the years, can you tell me a little bit of a timeline like, when were you taken into residential school?

  MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: When I was five.

  MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: Five? And whereabouts was it? Which school? Which school? Whereabouts was it?

  MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: In Shubenacadie.

  MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: Okay. And then when you were 12 you were allowed to go back home?

  MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: Well, when I was 11, I -- I guess they closed the school down and I was home. And that was my first Halloween. And that’s why I love Halloween.

  MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: M’hm.

  MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: I decorate my house to the fullest.

  MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: I love Halloween too.

  MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: And when my children were growing up, I always made sure that they had Halloween, they had -- that they were happy. That they had a childhood.

  MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: M’hm.

  MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: Even though my ex-husband now was an abusive person, but I had my children. And I think that’s what kept me going.

  MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: Yeah. Providing them a childhood you missed out on.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: I wanted them to have a childhood.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: Yeah.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: You know? Including Christmas. Christmas --

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: Yeah.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: -- is another time when I become another child.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: M’hm. That’s wonderful.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: You know, you just feel so --

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: Feel the love and --

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: Yeah. The Christmas part I got from my mom, because my mom was the same way with us. She always wanted to make sure that we had a good Christmas.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: M’hm.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: Like, joy, you know?

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: M’hm.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: And so I just passed that on to my kids. My kids are the same way with their own.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: Wonderful.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: You know? And I still celebrate Halloween, I still celebrate Christmas.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: M’hm.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: You know? With a difference nowadays --

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: M’hm.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: -- this would be -- I think this Christmas is the fifth -- it will be -- I have a -- an annual dinner for -- for the regional police in in Membertou.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: Oh really?

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: And this would be my fifth year.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: Of hosting this dinner?

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: And I have a Christmas dinner for them. They come over you know, and it’s -- I call it appreciation dinner.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: That’s wonderful.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: You know, that’s me.
I -- I like to -- I’m a giver, and I like to see people happy. Maybe because, I don’t know, I, I always say I was never a happy person when I was growing up. It was always something that always took me down and -- and -- but as -- but as I got older I just realized that you know, I had to think about me.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: Yeah.
MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: I always wondered why people say, “You got to think about yourself.” And I felt so selfish --

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: Yeah.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: -- when somebody used to tell me that. You know, “Think about yourself.”

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: M’hm.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: And you’re saying here, “Why in the name of God would you want to think about yourself?” You know, and I see -- and -- but today, I understand what they mean.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: And what’s that hounding [how do] you?

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: I guess that’s the real me, you know? When you’re -- well, I always felt that I had something to give to others. But I could never show it. I had a difficult time showing you know, I was just since I started talking about my childhood, the residential school that I started realizing who I am, you know? What makes me tick.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: M’hm.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: It’s just too bad the rest of them [the world] can’t see it.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: Yeah. And did you -- do you have siblings that also went to residential school as well?

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: Yeah. I protected them as much as I could. The girls anyway, because my brother was on the other side, and I hadn’t seen him. You’re not allowed. And he was -- we are very close today, my brother and I.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: M’hm. And your sisters as well, are you very close with them too?

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: Not really.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: You’re not as close?

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: No.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: And how many sisters?

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: There were 11 sisters.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: 11.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: Five passed away. They were all younger than me. And I still have two brothers, so I’ve got, I think, five sisters left. Or four sisters. You know, four sisters. I have four sisters left. I got married when I was 23. Yeah. (Indiscernible) to [Ex-Husband]. And we had three sons. I had two children before [I met him] and -- before (indiscernible).

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: M’hm.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: Of course, most [those] relationships are like one-night stand [things] (indiscernible). That was -- that was my life. Like I said, I -- my whole life I think was not good.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: So you had five -- five children of your own, right? Is that what you said?

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: Well, I adopted my youngest daughter.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: Oh, okay.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: Yeah. She was my sister’s daughter.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: M’hm.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: But my sister asked if I could take her because she was an alcoholic. And she said, she can’t. And she didn’t want Children Service to take her. [Back then it was] That maybe wasn’t sitting well for the (indiscernible) Children Service in Sydney, you know?

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: M’hm.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: The ruthless ones you know? And so I agreed to take her (indiscernible) and that was, I was still married to --

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: Okay.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: -- to [Ex-Husband], you know?

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: M’hm.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: And we owned the store and things like that. We were (indiscernible) [but he was still an abusive man] was drinking.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: And do you know where that came from? This -- was his childhood [and so on] (indiscernible) where that abusiveness came from in him as
-- as his childhood or anything or?

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: No. His parents got along very well. You know, I don’t know where he got it from.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: Was he in residential school do you think, himself?

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: I don’t know.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: Oh, no? Okay.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: He wasn’t abusive when we first started dating. It wasn’t until after we got married. And I already had one son from him. And when we got married and my other two were born after, I remember when my youngest son, [Son 1] was just let’s see. He was born in January. January, February, he was just three months old. And we were living at my -- my great-uncle’s place. We didn’t have a house. He was building the house.
It took him three years. He still never finished it.

But anyway, I was living with my uncle, my great-uncle and one night he -- my mother-in-law called me and she says, “Get out of the house.” She said, “[Ex-Husband] is coming over and he’s got a lightbulb.” And I did not have time to dress my children or dress myself. And it was a winter storm.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: M’hm.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: I went out in the back door, took my babies with me. None of us had shoes on.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: M’hm.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: None of us had coats on. And I went behind in the woods. I had nowhere to go. And he was there hollering, and you know, you could hear him. So I went around the back of the woods, all the way to my in-law’s and I got there, and then we tried to call the police and -- and the police wouldn’t come up because it was a Mountie jurisdiction or something. And then I called the Mounties. They said they can’t come up because it was city. So I called back the city and -- and they -- I don’t know what they said.

Anyway, I -- I was at my mothers-in-law’s and we were talking. And then my ex-husband came over to the house and my father-in-law told him, you know, got mad at him and started hollering at him in Mi’kmaq. Telling him to settle down and all that stuff. And -- and so my father-in-law told me -- and told me to go home, back home to the house. So I did.
MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: Do you remember what year this was around about? Just in --

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: huh?

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: Do you remember what year this was around about? Like, how old your little ones were and --

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: Let’s see. [Son 1] was born in ’77. January.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: And it was that year just you said he was just little?

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: Yeah.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: Yeah.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: Yeah. And so I did, I went back to the house. And I figured he -- they -- they keep him over at his place, but he came back to the house. And -- and then the cops came in. And they were friendly with my ex. They knew him like a book, and they knew him better than I did, I guess.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: M’hm.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: I don’t know. But they told him to settle down, and they took the rifle. And --

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: And was this the city cops or the RCMP?

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: The city. So he
Shirley Christmas
(Emma Ann Paul)

settled down. And he was quiet for a couple months. And then we moved into the house on Maillard Street. And that’s where he started a business, having a store. And -- and it was then that we -- well, I don’t know how to put this. We were married. But I never seen him. He would come home after we’re all in bed. The kids were good night, when [were in bed and] I go to bed. And the only time we see him is in the morning. Well, the kids. Well, I -- the kids don’t see him. I see him.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: M’hm.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: ‘Cause he’s asleep. And then I get up with the kids, get them ready and send them off to school and stuff like that. And when they get home at dinner time, he’s not around, you know? This went on for years. And every time he got drunk and if somebody got mad at him in town, he comes home and well, I’m the punching bag.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: M’hm.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: You know? Like I said, we had a store. And I had to look after the store ‘cause it was open -- he would have that store open at 8 in the morning. And I had to get my kids ready for school and things like that. So that was fine. He had an obsession with money. There was a certain way the money had to be when you put it away at nights. You had to have all the money accounted for. The bills had to be like brand new. No wrinkles. The corners -- there were not supposed to be corners. You had to, you know, make sure there were no corners.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: M’hm.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: So I did all that. Then I started getting tired because I, you know, my days are long. And with four kids it was not easy. And I had no one to, you know, to go to. I didn’t have friends. You know, no special friends. No --

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: You didn’t have time.

You were so busy.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: No. So there was one night I -- I just said, “No.” I said, “I had -- I can’t do anymore,” you know? So I didn’t count the money. I didn’t do anything. I just left it there. Went to bed. He comes home, and he wakes me up. And he tells me to -- he says, “Where’s the money at?” I said, “I left it,” I said. He says, “You’re supposed to put that money away.” So he drags me out of bed and down to the store. And I had to go and get the cash and do what I’m supposed to do, have done with it. And then he says, “Well, where’s my supper?” I said, “It’s in the oven,” you know? Well, he says, “Warm up my supper.” There was no microwaves then.

So this went on. And then one night I heard something, and I felt something on my head here. And then he -- he was there hollering at me to wake up. So I woke up. It was a rifle. Where did that (indiscernible) [pointed at my head] He wanted me to get up and do the cash and things like that. He did that for about two years. Every night. Same thing. I was beginning to hate that man.

Anyway, one day I got up. Then I went down in the basement. And I found the rifle. And I made sure that it wasn’t (indiscernible) [was emptied]. And I went upstairs with the rifle. He was sitting on the couch. And I pointed the rifle and -- then he looks at me and says, “What the?” You know, I don’t like to swear.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: I think that’s [can guess] what he said.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: And he says, “What are you doing?” And I told, I said, “Do you know now what it feels like to be woken up with that pointed at you?” “Put that damn thing away.” “Don’t be so foolish.” I said, “The next time you do that make sure that there’s a bullet in there and make sure you pull the trigger.” My kids were still in there.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: M’hm.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: I don’t know what they thought of their mother. So he jumped up and he grabbed the rifle and he started pushing me around. But that was just another (indiscernible) [day]. You know?

(Emma Ann Paul)

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: And what year did you finally tell him to get out and you leave him?

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: What?

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: What year did you finally go through? You did, did you? Didn’t you say you left and you finally told him you’ve had enough?

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: No. I just stayed, and then one -- he -- he was home for a change. First time ever home early.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: M’hm.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: The kids were watching TV and I guess they had a little argument, the kids. You know how boys are.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: M’hm.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: And he was in the room I guess trying to sleep or something. I don’t know what he was trying to do. And then he comes out. He was ripping mad. And he was telling the kids to keep quiet ‘cause he’s trying to sleep. And he grabbed the oldest one, [Son 2] and he started beating him up. And that’s when I broke. I got -- I couldn’t do it anymore. Those were my babies.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: M’hm.
MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: [Son 2] was 14, but it’s still my baby. I was so furious with him. I took him to my floor and I started fighting with him and I told him, “No more. I can’t do this.” But he started fighting back at me. He started kicking me and he left. Walked out and he says, “I’ll be back.” So I -- that night, I said to my son, my [myself, I] -- “No. Can’t do no more.”

So I called [R. C.]. She was (indiscernible) [working with] alcohol and drugs.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: Okay.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: I think. I told her I didn’t know what I -- what to do no more. And then she said something about this place, transmission. Well, transition, but we call it transmission.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: Okay.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: And that’s the first I ever heard it. And she said, “I’ll put you there.” So that night I packed the kid’s clothes, and I put them in the car. I had my own car. And yeah, I just [and he had his]-- and I was going to school. I went back to school. So I told my children, I said, “You guys go to school. And I’ll pick you guys up.” I didn’t tell them we were -- that I was taking them.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: Right.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: I just told them to go to school. I’ll just go pick them up at dinner time, ‘cause they usually come home dinner time. So the youngest one, she was in daycare. And [Ex-Husband] wasn’t even home. God only knows where [indiscernible] believe me [but anyway] -- I wasn’t going to back down anymore. So I -- I went to school like, you know, like nobody’s business. I went to school. Then [R.C.] called me and she -- she said, “I can’t get you in a transition house like that.” She said, “But if you know how to get to [New] Glasgow,” I didn’t even know where the hell [New] Glasgow was. She said, “They have a place there like transition house.” And it was called [indiscernible] house. So I said -- I said, “Okay.” She said, “Get on the highway. Just stay on the highway until you see the sign Glasgow.” She said, “They’ll meet you at the gas station at the red barn.” I said, “Okay.”

So I went there, at the gas station red barn. And they took us to transition, the [indiscernible] house. And that was a Native woman there, working there, [C.N.] --

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: M’hm.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: -- [C.N]. And she knew [Ex-Husband], and I was so scared.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: M’hm.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: But she said, “Not to worry," she said. "I have a job. And my job is to protect the kids and..."

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: M’hm.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: You know? She said, "I would never, ever do that." So we stayed there -- we were there like, three months. And then finally, they got room at transition, so we came back. And for some I don’t know how he did -- no. We -- he won -- he won the request to see the kids. So we agreed to go to the -- in the public place. I think --

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: M’hm.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: -- the park. And I had somebody with me and -- and he had the kids. And -- and then they were -- he was with the kids for a while, and then we went back. And then the kids said, "We want to move home with dad," ‘cause I just started getting tired of being in --

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: M’hm.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: -- you know? So I went home with him. And that. He said and that everything is going to be okay. Didn’t last.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: M’hm.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: You know? So this time I said, "Well, I’m not going to run away to the Glasgow," but I did. Because he didn’t know anything about -- but he knew where the transition house was.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: Right.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: So I got my kids and my -- at the time, my youngest daughter, she was visiting her uncle and her aunt in the campground. So you know, I had to leave without her. So we only stayed in there like, for that weekend, and then we came back to Sydney, to here. And my brother, my sons were -- they wanted their sister, you know? They wanted her with us. So I said, “I don’t know how we’re going to do this,” he says. “Well, here -- here’s like this, mom. We’ll go and keep me and [Son 3] we’ll go and keep auntie busy and uncle; go talk to them. And then [Son 1] is with [Daughter] he’ll take [Daughter] to the -- bring [Daughter] to the car.” He says, “You don’t go in the campground, mom. You just sit right there.”

So that’s what we did. They went in to visit their aunt and their uncle, and just before they left they told [Son 1], “Start walking with [Daughter] to the car,” ‘cause she wanted to see mom too.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: M’hm.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: So they did. They got her -- they got her, and they left. They got in the car and we left, you know? And then [Ex-Husband] was having a fit because I got my daughter back. And another -- another three months in transmission house.

Then we had a court hearing. I was there, and we waited, and we waited, and no [Ex-Husband]. His lawyer was there, and he was flipping because [Ex-Husband] wasn’t there. So the judge reviewed my -- my files and he says, “Mrs. Christmas,” he says, “you’ve been in the (indiscernible) house for three months.” I said, “Yeah.” He says, “Well, I’m granting you the divorce.” He says, “You have children. It’s no place for children. You need a home. I’m also going to tell [Ex-Husband] that he has to move out of that house. I’ll give him 24 hours. And he is not to come to that house while you’re there. He has to ask for visitation rights.”

And so that was fine. The police issued him a warrant, you know, telling him and he said, “Fine. Let her have the damn house.” So he left. And then a couple weeks later he came to the house. So I called my brother ‘cause he always said, “If he comes to the house, I want you to let me know.”

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: M’hm.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: So I called him. And he came over. He pinned my husband up to the wall and he told him, “You were ordered never to enter this house. You lay one hand on my sister, there won’t be anything left of you.” So he left, and he never came back. I guess he also included no child support either. But I never went back after that. That was -- that was that.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: And what year was that?

How long ago was that?

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: That was -- in 1986 I got my divorce. I was legally divorced. It was 1985.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: Yeah.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: And in 1986 he came to the house with the divorce papers. Because I guess they must have mailed them to him.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: Right.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: And he says, “Oh,” he says, “I’m going to take you out to dinner. We’re going celebrating,” I said. Celebrate? What the hell are we going to celebrate? Oh, you got your divorce. Here, I’ll say, “Thank you and go to hell.”

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: Good for you.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: Oh, boy.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: You are one strong lady.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: You know, I haven’t been with anyone after that for I don’t know, ten years. I started going out [with another fella] when (indiscernible). Five. [Finally] And we were together for four years. And then we argued about something. I don’t know what it was. Something stupid. But everything sort of came like a wave crashing. Wave. And everything in my head went to my ex-husband reactions. Once his voice raised, I got so scared, you know? And I told him that -- to leave ‘cause I couldn’t.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: Hard to trust.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: No. So it took four years, another four years, and then he came back into my life. You know, well, he said he was sorry and all that stuff. And we got along, and we got married August 15th, 2004. And we used to go out to [K.]’s mom. We used to camp there.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: M’hm.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: All the time. So that’s where we got married. So, on our first anniversary, we went to Lunenburg ‘cause he was one of those with the -- that did that program they have on now about the pirate’s stash. God, (indiscernible) [what was the name of that thing]? It’s a weekly show they have on.

UNIDENTIFIED SPEAKER: Oak Island?

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: Oak Island.

UNIDENTIFIED SPEAKER: M’hm.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: Oh, he -- he was --

UNIDENTIFIED SPEAKER: Treasure hunt.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: -- obsessed with Oak Island. You know and oh, he was non-Native by the way.
He’s Irish from Banakade (ph). And so we went there, and we spent a weekend up there. And then he says, “You know,” he says, “when we go back we have to stop at Moose Cabin.” He says, “It’s going to be our first anniversary.” I said, “Yeah. I know.” So we went and came back. We went to the Moose Cabin and that day, and that day he says, “I’m going to the cave.” I said, “All right.” So we start up walking together. And I know that that happened ‘cause I had -- my legs were bad then. So he says, “You know, you sit here and rest,” he says. “I’m going to go the rest of the way.” I said, “Fine.” So he went.

When he came back, it was hard to explain what he looked like. I don’t know what it was, but there was something very strange about -- and it just didn’t click in my head until later. About two -- two weeks later. We were supposed to return to the mountain. Then one day he says, “I’m going over to my mom’s.” I said, “Yeah.” He said, “I might,” he said, “I have somewhere to go.” I said, “Okay.” So that was fine.

So the next day was Sunday. And I tried calling there, and I know Sunday his mother goes to church, you know? So I figured well, he must have took her to church or something. So I tried to call. Still couldn’t get a hold -- nobody wouldn’t answer the phone. So I called his sister, [Husband’s Sister] and I said -- I said, “Tried -- I tried calling your mom’s place.” I said, “I can’t get no answer over there and John’s over there.” So she called, she got a hold of her mother. And her mother says, “John is upstairs sleeping.” And [Husband’s Sister] told me, “Yeah, you should go wake him up. ‘Cause Shirley’s trying to get a hold of him,” he says. Oh and she’s one of those old-fashioned. She will not enter a man’s room. Not even her own son’s. So she went to her neighbour’s and asked if they were there to go to John’s room to get him up. He was dead.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: Oh.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: He had a heart attack. I missed him. He was the only one that I guess knew me. Understood me, you know? He never raised a hand. Maybe his voice at that --

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: Right.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: -- (indiscernible), but, he --

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: -- treated me like a person. I don’t think I’ll ever find one like that again.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: M’hm.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: That was 2005, he passed away.
MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: I’m so sorry.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: You know? When I keep going now, I am too scared to look around or be with anyone. ‘Cause I don’t know what -- what to expect from people.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: Yeah. Understandable.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: Huh?

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: Understandable.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: Yeah.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: Yeah. You’ve had a lot of (indiscernible).

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: I, sure I want somebody to -- to call me companion, but when it comes to actually someone talking to me I get sort of, you know? I get scared.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: Yeah. And that’s likely normal when you’ve suffered losses like that.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: Well, my son says, “Mom, the right one will come along eventually, and you wouldn’t even notice.”

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: I -- I totally agree with him. That’s usually how it happens.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: You know? So, but right now my sons are my protectors.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: That’s wonderful.
MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: It wouldn’t work anyway. Every time I even talk to a man my sons would (indiscernible).

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: They’ll be interviewing you first.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: All three of them. They know. It’s a wonder I can’t find nobody? Oh, but I think my abusive days are over.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: That’s good.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: You know, I won’t tolerate anymore.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: That’s right. You shouldn’t. Do you mind if I bring you back to tell me a little more about your sister?

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: Emma?

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: Yes. Yeah? Okay. So let’s just go right back to -- what year was it when she was living with the man, and who he was and?

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: Huh?

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: What year was it when she was living with, I don’t think you said it was her husband. It was an abusive relationship with who?

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: Boyfriend.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: Boyfriend. And what was his name?
MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: [Boyfriend].

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: [Boyfriend]?

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: [Boyfriend]...

UNIDENTIFIED SPEAKER: [Boyfriend].

[Boyfriend].

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: He’s still in prison.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: Well, they found him in -- in Florida. That’s where he --

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: And what -- like, what police department investigated her?

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: Sydney.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: Okay.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: Yeah. And we wouldn’t give up, we kept asking you know, to keep, we just didn’t let go. We just called until they found him. And when they did he was in Florida. He moved his sister up there.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: M’hm.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: So they had him transported down here. Then they had to call the thing, thingy. It was a rough time then. Oh my God. No wonder his sisters wanted to get the hell out of that house, but they kept us -- you know how police are they keep us (indiscernible).

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: There’s just some (indiscernible).

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: Then --

UNIDENTIFIED SPEAKER: Yeah.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: Yeah.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: -- guaranteed it [barricaded] or something.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: M’hm.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: Oh my God.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: And what year was that that he was taken to court? Do you remember?

UNIDENTIFIED SPEAKER: I think his sister was -- was taken in 1992. Was that?

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: Yeah, she -- it was either ’92 or ’93. I can’t remember.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: Okay.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: ’93 I was in my new house in October. So I think it was ’92. ‘Cause I was still in the old house.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: So things turned out well? Like, her murder was handled properly? And the investigation, that he was found guilty of it obviously if he’s still in jail?
MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: Yeah. M’hm. But the main reason for me to be here I guess is my concern for my grandchildren. My granddaughters, you know?

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: How so? Can you explain that?

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: Well, I don’t want to fail them as I did with my sister.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: I don’t think you failed your sister, but I understand how you’re carrying that [guilt].

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: Do you? I’m -- I was hoping that they would come here. But one is back in school, and the other one, well, she’s with that (indiscernible). Her boyfriend, you know? That’s the strange thing too about like, about -- is that when you’re a in a relationship, but you don’t go anywhere’s (ph).

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: M’hm.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: They don’t go to movies. They don’t go --

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: They don’t go out like, at all.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: No.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: M’hm.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: You know?

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: I think that might be a common thing in domestically violent relationships.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: Yeah. Like, he -- I don’t know if it’s a trust issue or what, you know? And if she wants to go north [anywhere], then he’d get so teed off about it. You know, he doesn’t want to (indiscernible) take and [her, and yet he can] go to work and he can go out and --

UNIDENTIFIED SPEAKER: M’hm.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: M’hm.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: -- do whatever.

UNIDENTIFIED SPEAKER: That’s not a life.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: Yeah.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: M’hm.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: You know? And I want her to see -- to see that.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: And have police been involved in any of her situations? No?

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: No. She won’t call.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: She won’t call?

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: She goes to her mama.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: M’hm.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: Then her mama tells me. I said, “I would have loved to see that young fellow myself.”
MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: Yeah.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: You know? I won’t get -- I won’t get violent, but I would talk to him.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: M’hm. Say your piece.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: Yeah. As I did that with -- with my oldest with her sister.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: M’hm.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: When she was in a nasty relationship with her boyfriend, and then I told -- when I spoke to her.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: Do you see any -- if you have an opinion as to why the -- the -- the domestic violent relationships, like, why they’re ending up in them? Or why there is so much domestic violence obviously?

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: I don’t know. I don’t believe in drugs and alcohol.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: M’hm.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: As my husband and my ex-husband was a druggie and he was an alcoholic, but he won’t see that.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: Right.

UNIDENTIFIED SPEAKER: M’hm.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: You know? And her -- my granddaughter, you know, she’s an alcoholic. And so was her boyfriend, he was an alcoholic.
MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: Are these Emma Ann’s?

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: Emma -- Emma, I don’t know if she was an alcoholic.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: But these are her children that you’re talking about who have --

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: No.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: Oh, okay.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: No. [One line redacted - personal information].

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: M’hm.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: [One line redacted - personal information].

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: M’hm.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: -- but to not -- like you would see most alcoholics and drugs. No, they’re sort of -- I guess there’s limited. They don’t know, but it’s not an every day thing.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: Right. Right. Yeah.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: Yeah. I believe alcohol and drugs have (indiscernible) major factor.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: M’hm.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: Even with all this -- because when people get drunk, they get crazy.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: Yeah.

UNIDENTIFIED SPEAKER: M’hm.
MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: Those aren’t usually very good things.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: They do. They’re totally different people, you know? In my family, it’s a long line of alcoholics. I’m an alcoholic myself. But I haven’t drank any (indiscernible) over three [in forty-three] years.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: Congratulations. That’s a win.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: Yeah. I just happened to see myself one day. I woke up, my son was -- the oldest one, he was -- he was just two. Was he two? He wasn’t quite -- yeah, he was two. And I was living with my -- living at my uncle’s house, [Uncle]’s place. And I know, me and Ron were [we were on a] drunk that weekend. And I’m one of those mean drunks, you know? I always say I wasn’t really [was a mean] drunk. I don’t know, can’t remember what I all said. And so that morning, (indiscernible) the weekend, so come Monday morning I woke up, and I was on the couch. And then I woke up, I was sitting on the couch. And my two-year old comes out of the room. He places (indiscernible) [The place is beer bottles everywhere, broken glass everywhere. Place stunk like hell. (Indiscernible) [And he comes out of the room and I look at him]. I don’t know how old that diaper was on him.
Could have been all weekend, I don’t know.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: M’hm.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: He had a bottle of milk, sour as can be. You (indiscernible) [He was standing there and he was looking at me and I was looking at him and I said]. “Oh my God, what the hell is wrong with me? You know, you just think. [It just hit me] And I felt so bad.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: M’hm.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: ‘Cause I was looking at my son [standing there], and you know, [and there was no need for it] he knows (indiscernible). And here was, here (indiscernible) [beer bottles everywhere] the house was a mess. And I said, “That’s it.” I said, “I’m never going to touch another rum [bottle] again.” And that was it.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: That’s amazing.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: I still have that imagination. I still have that --

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: Picture of him?

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: -- picture of him standing there at the door. Holding his bottle.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: M’hm.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: And that was that. And my second youngest mind you, he asked him. [Son 3] he says, he -- he did a paper in school on -- on [me] and on there he says, “My mom gave up drinking because of me.”
And he wasn’t even born. But that’s what he believed.

UNIDENTIFIED SPEAKER: Yeah.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: Right. Yeah.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: You know?

UNIDENTIFIED SPEAKER: He was just out of baby diapers.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: I still have that --

I still have that paper in my -- in my -- the letter that he wrote. Oh my God. Yeah. So now, today my boys are very protective of me.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: M’hm.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: Very protective.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: That’s based on what they see happen and so --

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: Well, there was a time a few years back, before -- before John and I got back together again; there was a time that we -- [year] 2000, early 2004. And [Ex-Husband] came over and we were talking. And we are civil to each other, you know? I -- I don’t -- I don’t --

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: Oh, good for you.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: -- I don’t have no hate for the man, you know? And we do talk to each other, but --

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: Yeah.
MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: -- just as ordinary people.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: M’hm.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: Anyway, that day, he decide he wants to move back, he wants to come back into my life. Well, I said, “Well, I better think about this.” “Oh, take all the time you want, dear.” (indiscernible) all day, [I said alright] so I talked to (indiscernible) [the boys]. And (indiscernible) said, “Hang on.” [the boys said, “no mom”] He says, “And if you do, (indiscernible).” “Your mind,” he says, “so why,” [well never mind] he says, “call dad, tell him to come over.” So I did. Told him to come over, and the boys were sitting in there. And (indiscernible) [they told him, they] says, “Dad, I’m not young anymore. We’re all adults, and if you lay a hand on mom, I’m going to get you this time.” So he (indiscernible) [walked out the door]. That was that. Yeah. Because the boy said it’s not going to (indiscernible) [happen]. And they said, “We’re only doing this to protect you.” And they met John. Poor John.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: He had to be interviewed by them, I presume?

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: But they did like him, you know? They got to know him, and they did like him.
MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: Well, you are one strong lady. I have to say.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: Well, that’s what people keep telling me.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: Well, it’s --

UNIDENTIFIED SPEAKER: M’hm.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: But sometimes I don’t feel strong. But lately now like a lot of my bad days, I call them my bad years are out in the open, and then I find that I’m a total different person.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: I think it’s a (indiscernible) [weight off you].

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: Because I’ve learned how to let go of the negativity in my life. Let go of my past. I’ve learned to -- to accept it and it does not run my life anymore.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: Good for you.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: You know, I have a responsibility to myself. So I have to do things for me and not everybody else, including my children.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: M’hm.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: You know, I -- I love my children dearly, but I do have allowing [a line] that where my life is just as important as anybody else’s. You know, so now I’m -- I do a lot of things for myself. I do (indiscernible) art [I write]. I -- I’m -- I have -- I’m reviewing three of my books. I have four books, but I’m only doing [reviewing] three. I -- John had a -- a company, a publishing company which is called (indiscernible) Books. And when he passed away, before he passed away, he gave me the rights to (indiscernible) Books. The first 11 years of (indiscernible) I couldn’t do nothing. I -- I just couldn’t.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: M’hm.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: It was an emotional thing.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: Yeah.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: I found it very hard, and I couldn’t do it because every time I tried, I think of John, you know? So there was the day I said to myself -- this was about -- this was about a year ago. I decided if I want to do my own thing, I’m going to have to change the name of -- instead of (indiscernible). So I did my spiritual -- I smudged, I prayed. I talked to John, you know? I went up to the mountain where I let his ashes go.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: M’hm.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: And I went up there and I talked, I told him that I wanted (indiscernible) [to revise] books. I also wanted to start writing again. I said, “But,” I said, “each time I do so under (indiscernible) name I feel it’s not mine. I think it’s yours.” I said, “I want to change owner with [I want to put] a name Sweetgrass and Sage.” I said, “I know you’re not going to answer me.” So a couple weeks after that I got my answer in a dream. And -- and he, he was quite happy.

So I tried. I tried to do it on my own. Then I got this overwhelming feeling that it’s not the same. It’s not going to turn out, it’s not going to be like John’s, you know?

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: M’hm.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: And so I -- I -- I stopped. I only did one book. (Indiscernible). [My new one] Yesterday, what was that? The Me of Yesterday and the Me of Today, that’s my fourth book. So I did that. And but I still -- I don’t know what it was. It was just something that wasn’t -- and then a few weeks ago I was saying, I said, “Shirley Christmas, get off your ass and do something.” I says, “You can’t keep being negative about that.” I says, “You have to start. If you want something, get it done.”

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: Yeah. [Make it happen]

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: So I started. And you’ve got to hear this. Last week I was looking through books. I have boxes of stuff way back before John passed away.  This was way back in the 90’s.
Shirley Christmas  (Emma Ann Paul)

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: M’hm.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: This was ’93, ’94. ’94, ’93. No, ’93. And there were boxes there. So I was looking through the boxes. There was -- I see this title. I was looking, you know that. So I kept looking at it, and then it dawned on me. That title was supposed to be the first book that I published; Sons of Membertou. Sons of Membertou was not the original name, but I forgot about that. I couldn’t find it, you know? If I don’t see something I don’t remember.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: M’hm.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: And John wanted the name for the book to get done (indiscernible) write it [because he wanted them printed]. So he says, “Well, how about we go with Sons of Membertou?” I said, “Yeah. Okay. Fine.” You know? And I did not find that paper until October 16th, 24 years after the day the book was put out.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: Wow.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: And I found that title. So I was sitting there. And I said, “When I revise Sons of Membertou, it’s going to be called, The Dawn of My Beginning,” because that’s what that’s poetry is all about.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: M’hm.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: It’s all about me learning about my Mi’kmaq roots. All the (indiscernible) [torments] and all the -- the heartbreaks and stuff. That was the original. So I talked to the (indiscernible) [Sons of Membertou, I told them and they agreed].

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: Good for you. That’s (indiscernible) [Congratulations].

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: So that’s my -- that’s what I’m doing nowadays.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: Good for you.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: You know, I’m a writer. I know I’m a writer, and I write stories. I do poetry, you know? I’m not famous, but I’m doing what I like to do.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: And that’s important.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: So --

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: Really important.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: But when it comes to sales stuff, I’m lousy.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: That’s hard work.

Before we just chat any further, is there anything else you want to say on the record that you want the commissioners to know about this Inquiry? You know, what changes you hope come from it, you know?

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: Well, I know I have a friend, a close friend. She lost her sister in Shirley Christmas
(Emma Ann Paul)

(indiscernible) five [about twenty-five] years, and they still haven’t found her. And I think about her a lot. And I know she’s not getting [giving up] -- and I wish, I really do wish with all my heart that this -- whoever these people are --

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: The commissioners?
Like...

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: Yeah -- would help her.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: Would you want -- what’s her name and we’ll put it on the record?

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: Agnes Gould.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: Gould?

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: Yeah.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: Just, how do you spell her last name?

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: G-O-U-L-D. Her -- her sister, Virginia.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: Gould as well?

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: Yes.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: Same -- same name?

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: I don’t know what her last name is. But she disappeared. She was in a bad relationship.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: M’hm.
MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: And to this day, they haven’t found her.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: And do you know, does, is Agnes, does she know about the Commission and?

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: Agnes? No. She’s -- she’s downstairs.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: Okay. Good.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: She -- she -- she’s -- I guess in a way --

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: (Indiscernible)

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: -- she had helped me to speak out about my own traumas, you know? Because like I said before, I would never spoke to anyone about my ordeals and my --

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: M’hm. Well, I really appreciate you taking the time to tell me today.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: You know, and with my younger sister, I just kept that to myself because I felt guilty about it and about letting her down.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: Well, you’re a strong woman. And (indiscernible).

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: I try -- I try to convince myself. Eventually I will. Except that I --

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: It wasn’t your fault.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: -- and that I wasn’t
MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: Not at all.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: -- you know? But right now I still feel bad.

UNIDENTIFIED SPEAKER: M’hm.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: It takes time.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: But with this Inquiry, I hope that it would give answers to a lot of questions that people are looking for --

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: M’hm. Yeah.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: -- to find their loved ones.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: I wish the same.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: I know it’s not easy. I know it’s a rough road for a lot of them.

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: M’hm.

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: You know?

MS. DEBBIE BODKIN: Okay. I’m going to shut the camera off now. It is five after 3, and I’m going to shut the cameras off and we’ll --

MS. SHIRLEY CHRISTMAS: Holy crap, I got a big mouth.
